War or Peace Word by Sukarno Due Soon

INDIAN LEADER RESTRAINED—Security men hold back Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to prevent him from plunging into disorderly crowd at Patna, India, in personal effort to restore order. Dutch Agents Are Blamed for Threat

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio indicated today that President Sukarno will decide the question of war or peace over Dutch-occupied West New Guinea "within a week or 10 days."

Subandrio told newsmen after a conference of Indonesia's top military policy-making body—the National Defense Council—that Sukarno "has come to the conclusion that at present there are still no signs that diplomatic moves can be of help in solving the West Irian (West New Guinea) problem."

Blames Vague Attitude

Subandrio blamed the "vague attitude of the Dutch."

Sukarno heads the National Defense Council and presided over the meeting following a four-day speaking tour of the Celebes, where he escaped a grenade explosion in Makassar. He blamed the attempt on his life—the fourth in four years—on the Dutch.

"Within one week or 10 days," Subandrio said, "we will have arrived at a conclusion, and will have the certainty whether steps in the diplomatic field with the Dutch can be of help in solving the West Irian issue."

An Army spokesman announced during the defense council conference that Sukarno has appointed one of his top military officers, Brig. Gen. Suharto, to head the West New Guinea "Liberation Command." Suharto has been commander of the Army Corps General Reserve.

Returns to Capital

The Indonesian president returned to his capital from the South Celebes tour late Monday. Col. Yusuf, the military commander there, assured Sukarno before he left Makassar that he would "leave no stone unturned" in apprehending those responsible for the assassination attempt. Several suspects have been arrested, he said.

The explosion reportedly killed four persons and wounded 27 others, including an army commander. One of the dead and 14 of the wounded were children.

Although the Celebes, Sumatra and other outer islands were the scene of a determined revolt against Sukarno's rule in 1958, the president told a reception in Makassar that preliminary investigation showed "Dutch henchmen" were behind the latest assassination attempt.

"This is the fourth attempt on my life," he said. "I pray to God for His grace."

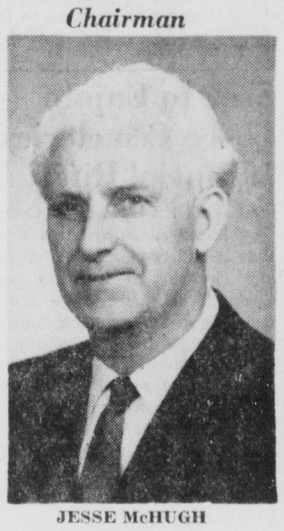

Regains Composure

Sukarno looked composed at the reception, apparently having recovered from the initial shock. Aides said he was badly shaken by the blast. U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones, who was traveling with Sukarno's official party, said he "looked a little pale" afterward.

"Investigations indicate Dutch-inspired agents are behind this outrage," Yusuf said. "The aim

McHugh New Chairman, Other Supervisor Officers Elected

Jesse McHugh (R), Town of Shawangunk, former Majority leader of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, was named chairman of the board Monday night at an organization meeting. He succeeds Supervisor Robert F. Phinney of the 11th ward.

McHugh has served as a member of the board since 1950 and is also vice-chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee. His election is for a one-year period.

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties was named Republican majority leader to succeed McHugh.

Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties, a former supervisor, was re-elected clerk of the board and also budget officer.

Arthur A. Davis Jr., Kingston Republican, was re-elected County Attorney.

Joseph Gentile, (R) Ellenville, was re-elected auditor and county purchasing agent.

Dr. Sidney C. Pauker of Kingston was named jail physician.

Supervisor John J. Gaffney, Lloyd Democrat, was again designated minority leader.

Delayed an Hour

The meeting Monday was the first one attended by the newly-elected supervisors, and, as usual, was delayed over an hour before getting underway when the Democratic members caucused. Republican members had caucused on Friday.

In the absence of Clerk Snyder, who suffered fractured ribs last Friday in a fall, former Deputy Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer acted as clerk and called the session to order. There were 32 supervisors present. Supervisor Peter F. Simpson (D), Sixth ward was absent.

On motion of Supervisor Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, seconded by Supervisor James A. Rapp (R), First ward, Lester A. Davis (R), Olive, was named temporary chairman.

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, nominated Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), Ninth ward and Supervisor Francis Vertetis (D), Third ward, seconded.

On the roll call Davis received the 19 Republican votes and McCardle the 13 Democratic votes. Supervisor Roger Mabie (D) Esopus, moved for unanimous election and Supervisors Robert A. Phinney and John C. Quimby, Marlboro, were named to escort the temporary chairman to the rostrum.

McHugh Praised

Former Chairman of the Board Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, nominated Supervisor McHugh for chairman, saying that for 12 years McHugh had been a member of the board and "never once have I seen him lose his temper" and he referred to McHugh's conduct of business as majority leader and his expert conduct of all matters from the floor. Supervisor Alexander Banyo (R), Ulster, seconded, referring to McHugh as a man "respected by us" and "members on the other side of the aisle." Banyo said many times when tempers had flared on the floor McHugh has "mellowed tempers" and the problem was "more easily solved." He said the board was fortunate in having such a man.

Supervisor John Glennon, 13th ward Democrat named Supervisor John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro and Supervisor George Mollenhauer (D), Rosendale, seconded.

The roll call was 19 for McHugh and 13 for Quimby and Supervisor Quimby moved to make the selection unanimous. Supervisors Charles Relyea (R),

Williams Covers 5 Big Items

Says Cooperation Key to Progress

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties, named Republican Majority Leader of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Monday night, in accepting the floor leader position outlined the Republican "platform" for 1962.

Among his outstanding points were:

1. Top priority for the Community College.

2. To expedite the County Office Building program by reactivating the Building Committee and holding public meeting on the matter.

3. Establishment of "physical standards" for county law enforcement officers.

4. A re-study of the county salary schedule which has had little revisement following the report of the Salary Study Committee some four years ago.

5. A study of the ever increasing tax problem, particularly the school tax problem, by the appointment of a committee from the Board of Supervisors, augmented by outstanding private citizens to make a study and report on the matter.

Minority Leader John J. Gaffney spoke on the Democratic hopes and said his party would later submit its platform suggestions. However he said many of those mentioned by Majority Leader Williams had been high up on the Democratic party recommendations.

College Important

Williams in discussing the Republican platform for 1962 said that one of the first steps is to appoint a board of trustees for Ulster County Community College. The board names five and the Governor four.

"We intend to appoint outstanding citizens of proven merit, and irrespective of political affiliation," he said, "they will all be persons dedicated to providing a good college program for the youth of our county."

Williams stressed that careful planning rather than speed should be the keynote.

"Students who graduate should be able to obtain full college credit for work at our college," he stressed. "To accomplish our aim requires very careful planning by a conscientious board of trustees."

New County Office Building

"I think there is a general agreement, on both sides of the aisle that there is a crying need for a new county office building," Williams declared. "In other words, it is my belief that the minority as well as the majority fully agree that we badly need

73 Other Appointees Upheld

Legislature Confirms Root as Boss of Banks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's appointment of Oren Root of Bedford Hills, Westchester County, as state superintendent of banks, won unanimous Senate approval Monday night. The post pays $25,486 a year.

Root took over the office last June.

The Senate also confirmed 73 other appointments, mostly to unsalaried commissions.

Those confirmed included:

Board of Visitors, New York State Training School for Girls at Hudson — Jack Guterman, Catskill.

Port of Oswego Authority—Earl D. Brown and Earl E. Manwaring Jr., both of Oswego.

Board of visitors, Willard State Hospital—Mrs. Gertrude L. Ennis of Lyons and Dr. J. David Hammond of Auburn.

Saratoga Springs Commission—Carl S. Hallauer of Rochester and John Hay Whitney of Manhasset.

Niagara Frontier State Park Commission—Joseph Davis, Buffalo.

Board of Visitors, Marcy State Hospital—Mrs. E. Arnold Evans, Rome.

Board of Visitors, Hudson River State Hospital—James L. Lumb, Poughkeepsie.

Herkimer Home Commission—D. Gordon Little of Little Falls and Albert J. Woodford of Herkimer.

Board of Visitors, Warwick State Training School for Boys—Mrs. Etnah R. Boutte, New York City.

Board of Trustees, Cornell University — Donald McMaster, Rochester.

Named to Wassaic Post

Advisory Board of the Office for Local Government — Addison Mallery of Saratoga Springs.

Board of Visitors, Wassaic State School—Mrs. Helen Christiana, Hudson.

Adirondack Mountain Authority—Galneau Pond of Malone.

Niagara Frontier Port Authority—George J. Lenahan of Buffalo and Charles J. Hauser of Cheektowaga.

World War Memorial Authority Advisory Council — Thomas Savage of Rome, Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart, William O'Brien Sr., of Waverly, Robert A. Schumacher of Plattsburgh, Cornelius A. Van Deusen, Claverack and Everhardt Von Reyn of Jamestown.

Committees Will Report Prior to Albany Sessions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Joint legislative committees will report their recommendations in advance of future sessions of the Legislature so that lawmakers, press and public will have more time to form opinions.

This change in procedure was ordered Monday night in a resolution passed unanimously by both houses of the Legislature. It was evidence of increasing concern on the part of legislative leaders about the public image of the state's law-making process.

Pay Boost Criticized

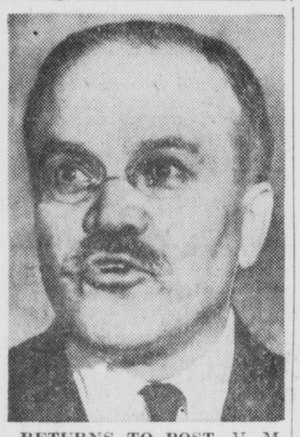

Senators and Assemblymen were subjected to widespread criticism last year when they raised their pay from $7,500 annually to $10,000, effective next Jan. 1.

At present, committees set their own dates for reporting, some of which are near the end of the session. As a result, major proposals sometimes are rushed through in the closing days.

The joint committees prepare the bulk of the major bills emanating from the legislative branch of government. Other major bills come from the governor.

Under the new plan, the joint committees must be organized by May 7 and their recommendations made by Dec. 15. The Legislature convenes in early January.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said in a statement that, under the change, "many important bills can be started through the legislative machinery earlier in the session."

RETURNS TO POST—V. M. Molotov, former Soviet foreign minister, has returned to his post with the International Atomic Energy Commission in Vienna, the Soviet foreign office said in Moscow. Forced Down in Armenia

Belgian Plane Will Be Released by Russians

All 27 Safe

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasilyv Kuznetsov told Belgian Ambassador Hyppolite Cools that all passengers and crewmen were safe and staying at a hotel in Grozny, north of Yerevan, where the plane was reported forced down.

Kuznetsov delivered a routine formal protest about the violation of Soviet air space by the Caravelle jetliner.

Kuznetsov referred to 18 passengers and a crew of eight. But Sabena, owner of the airliner, had said there were 19 passengers. Three passengers are Americans.

In Tehran, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weimer, first reported to be Germans, are Americans from New York City. Weimer is an engineer with a construction firm in Iran. He and his wife, Maria, were being transferred to Tunis.

The third American is Fred Holden, bound for Athens from the Far East. His home address was not immediately available.

Other passengers were Belgians, Germans, South Africans, Lebanese and Greeks.

Kuznetsov said instructions had been sent to Grozny to release the airliner as soon as technical details can be taken care of. These details will be worked out between Sabena and the Soviet airline Aeroflot.

T. H. Theroy of Sabena will fly to Grozny tonight.

There was no further word on how the plane, en route from Tehran to Istanbul, strayed so far off its course. Nor was there any word on just how it was forced down.

Pursued by Jets

Grozny is a big oil center 275 miles north of the Iranian border and is in the Russian Federated Republic. Earlier reports had said the plane landed in Soviet Armenia.

The plane landed after radioing that it was being pursued by Soviet MIG jet fighters.

Bitter Cold Hits Rockies, Plains After Snow Blanket

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bitter cold moved into Colorado and Wyoming today in the wake of one of the winter's heaviest snowfalls.

The storm which blanketed the two mountain states with 12 inches or more of snow Monday moved eastward into Kansas and Oklahoma.

Up to 6 inches of snow was expected in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Roads in northwest Oklahoma were icing. Snow in the Oklahoma City area was pushed around by winds of 28 to 35 miles an hour.

The storm, second in a week, pushed as far south as Amarillo, Tex. Blizzard conditions struck Monday night in the Texas Panhandle. At Amarillo the temperature dropped to 20 from a daytime high of 40.

More than a half foot of snow fell in western Kansas. Tribune reported 7 inches, Garden City 6 and Dodge City 3.

Some of the coldest air of the season swept across the northeast plains of New Mexico westward to the Continental Divide.

In Wyoming, the mercury fell to 24 below zero at Casper and Laramie and to 15 below at Cheyenne. Temperatures hit subzero recordings in Colorado. At Butte, Mont., it was -32 before daybreak.

Bus and airline schedules were disrupted in Colorado and Wyoming as snow covered all major highways.

Two deaths were attributed to the storm in Denver, both resulting from heart attacks induced by over-exertion in trying to cope with the city's 13½-inch snowfall.

Snow slides blocked two mountain passes, Loveland west of Denver and Monarch in south central Colorado. Monarch has been cleared. Other major highways were snow packed, icy and dangerous, even with chains.

Hundreds of schools were shut in Colorado. Many stores in downtown Denver closed early Monday.

Deferred Action Expected On Parking, City Budget

Common Council action on the city's 1962 budget, on off-street parking and on other legislation introduced at the Jan. 2 meeting is expected to be deferred again at Wednesday night's recessed meeting, it was indicated today.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, still working today on the budget, said he is hopeful of proposing reductions, and it is expected that Democratic aldermen will request further time to study whatever changes are listed.

Legislation on off-street parking is also apparently due to be postponed because of two plans to be considered, and because the mayor has requested a meeting with the special off-street parking on Jan. 15. One plan has already been reported on by the committee and the other is proposed by the mayor.

The committee met last night, as scheduled, and Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, its chairman, today reported a spirit of cooperation in an attempt to arrive at the best possible plan.

Hastings, in a letter to the mayor, apparently written as a result of last night's meeting, indicated that the majority party councilmen feel a need for decision on the parking lot proposal before approval of the budget.

After expressing disappointment as to the mayor's inability to attend last night's meeting and indicating that his proposals could have been as well received from Council Minority Leader Joseph F. Carroll Jr. Hastings wrote:

"However, the point which this committee would like to stress is the fact that off-street parking facilities will most decisively figure in the final formation of the budget and tax rate, pertain-

Gizenga Ouster Possible, Leadership Is Disclaimed

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga's political party today disclaimed his leadership as moderate forces converged for a showdown to oust Gizenga from an active role in the Congolese government.

Felicien Kimway, vice president of Gizenga's African Solidarity party, announced that Gizenga is no longer president of the party.

Kimway's announcement followed a resolution by Parliament Monday demanding that Gizenga —a deputy premier backed by the Communist bloc — return from self-imposed exile in Stanleyville to answer parliamentary accusations of secessionism.

The vote indicated clearly that disenchantment is growing among those leftists who once supported Gizenga as the legal head of the Congolese government after Patrice Lumumba's death.

If Gizenga fails to return, observers felt action might be started to oust him from the post of deputy premier he accepted last August in the central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Gizenga has secluded himself in Stanleyville for months. Reports from that northeast Congo city indicate he has lost much of his local and even foreign support.

In a resolution approved Monday by a vote of 66-10 with 7 abstentions, the central Congolese Parliament gave Gizenga 48 hours after notification by Premier Cy-

McCormack Feels Congress to Pass Bulk of Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic leadership of Congress predicted today that the bulk of President Kennedy's heavy legislative program will be passed in the new session which starts Wednesday.

The House majority leader and speaker-to-be, Rep. John W. Mccormack, D-Mass., told reporters after a White House breakfast that the President scored a "tremendous record last year."

McCormack Confident

"I have every confidence that Congress will enact into law the greater part of the President's program," he said.

McCormack was speaking of the domestic side of the administration's want list.

That program includes tax revision, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education and other controversial proposals.

McCormack left in deep doubt, however, the outlook for the proposal for health care under the Social Security system.

When newsmen quizzed him on the point he said: "I have every confidence that if the bill comes out of the Ways and Means Committee it will be approved by the House."

He was asked: "What do you think of the chances of its coming out of the committee?"

McCormack paused a moment, then said in a tone of finality: "Well, thank you, gentlemen."

To Pursue Message

The session with Kennedy was billed as a preview of the State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress in person Thursday. Cabinet members were summoned to a later session to go over the message.

The leaders of House and Senate, with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, gave Kennedy their formal invitation to deliver his State of the Union to a joint session.

Kennedy accepted, of course, and then dates were set for the other two major session-opening presidential messages.

The budget message will be delivered Jan. 18, it was announced, and the annual economic report Jan. 22. Neither of those is to be delivered in person.

The Senate's majority leader, Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and McCormack told newsmen the bulk of this morning's breakfast talk was about the legislation which must pass through the Ways and Means Committee and its Senate counterpart, the Finance Committee. The chairmen of both, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., attended the session.

Seeks Bipartisan Support

Monday Kennedy made unusual efforts to enlist bipartisan support for his foreign policies.

A White House briefing of Democratic and Republican leaders of both houses on world conditions was supplemented by a more detailed rundown at a luncheon given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a bipartisan senatorial group.

Dirksen Gives Views

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who attended both sessions, said in an interview it seems obvious to him that Kennedy's batting average in the new session which opens Wednesday will be affected by international developments.

"If the world situation becomes more intense, it will tend to strengthen the President's hand," Dirksen said.

Others who sat in on both meetings reported that the administration feels it is holding its own in the never-slackening battle with world communism.

But as an indication of the conflict that may lie ahead on issues with domestic and foreign impact, Rusk was reported to have run into sharp questioning from Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee. This centered on Kennedy's forthcoming request for authority to buy $100 million in United Nations bonds.

Byrd was said to have contended that the floating of the bonds, to be paid off out of U.N. general funds, would force France and Belgium to contribute to the costs of Congo operations—which they and the Soviet Union have declined to do—or to take the alternative of getting out of the United Nations.

Aiken Forecasts Row

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a Foreign Relations committeeman, forecast a row over the bond request. Several senators have attacked the United Nations' use of force in efforts to bring secessionist Katanga back into the central Congo government.

Aiken, who did not join in such criticisms, called the proposed bond purchase a device to "have this country pick up Russia's tab" for the Congo operations toward which the Soviets have refused any contribution.

Kennedy's domestic proposals are expected to be wrapped up in a $92 billion-plus budget the President has promised will be balanced unless there are emergency increases in defense outlays.

$1.2 Billion for Aid

Congressional sources said it was understood the defense budget of about $52 billion would include $1.2 billion for foreign military aid.

Republican leaders have joined Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, in advance promises to cut non-defense spending.

Dirksen said that no one now can forecast what Congress will do about Kennedy's forthcoming request for broad authority to negotiate tariff adjustments in dealing with the European Common Market.

In the only Senate leadership contest of the new session, Republicans will select a successor Wednesday to the late Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire as chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Saltonstall Hopeful

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, who now heads the conference of all GOP senators and is a candidate for the policy chairmanship, said he thinks he has a good chance of getting the job.

Saltonstall is regarded as less conservative than his opponent, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. Hickenlooper's supporters predicted he will win the chairmanship by a margin of four or five votes.

House Democrats were called together to name Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts as speaker to succeed the late Sam Rayburn of Texas. Republicans have yet to decide whether they will run minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana against him just for the honor of it.

The House Democrats also probably will name Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., as majority leader to succeed McCormack.

Report Damage Caused by Jet Breaking Barrier

Complaints of property damage were received at the Sheriff's Office today from area residents after a blast persumably caused by a jet breaking the sound barrier.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro said he received a call shortly before 11:30 a. m. from Mrs. Alda Mainetti, St. Remy, who reported the blast broke 12 storm windows and several leaded windows at her home. A few moments later, Marino Mainetti reported the same damage.

Conro said a call also was received from the Pleasure Yacht in Eddyville but the extent of damage, if any, was not reported at that time. Conro said many other calls were received regarding the explosion.

An officer at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, when informed of the complaints of damage, told Conro that any resident in this area who claims property damage due to the explosion should write to the Claim Office, BOCJA, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, setting forth in the letter the address of the property owner, telephone number and estimated amount of damage.

Held on Burglary Count for Accord Diner, Feed Mill

A 27-year-old Granit man was arrested Monday night by State Police Investigator Charles Teelon of Ellenville BCI on a third degree burglary charge.

Teelon said Carlton Whipple waived preliminary examination at arraignment before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

Whipple was committeed to Ulster County jail pending grand jury action.

Teelon said Whipple is accused of entering the GLF Feed Store at Accord and taking an unestimated amount of cash last Saturday. Whipple was also accused of entering a luncheonette on Route 209 and taking cash and a quantity of cigarettes.

Revival Attempts Fail on Woman Found in Garage

Gladys M. Lambiase, 51, wife of Emil Lambiase, of 3 Westrum Street, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Benedictine Hospital this morning after she was found apparently unconscious or lifeless in the family garage by her teenage sons.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle said he was withholding his verdict pending the outcome of tests to be made after an autopsy.

She was found in a car inside the garage shortly after 8 a. m. the coroner said. She was taken into the house from where she was removed to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance after revival attempts failed.

Besides her husband, two sons, Lawrence and Robert survive.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 9 a. m. from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home Inc. 411 Albany Avenue, and at St. Joseph's Church at 10 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Fair Enough

NEW YARK (AP)—By special agreement, Noel Willman is appearing in "Isle of Children" that reaches Broadway later this season.

Willman was busily directing the recently arrived hit "A Man for All Seasons," when he was approached about performing in the upcoming venture. Its director, Jules Dassin, was unfamiliar with Willman's work as an actor, and requested that he read.

In exchange, Dassin promised that if Willman ever wanted him to act in a play he was directing, then he (Dassin) would read for the part.

Seek to Enjoin Three Cemeteries In Burial Rift

NEW YORK—The State Cemetery Board announced this week that it had requested the Attorney General to institute proceedings to enjoin three cemeteries in the New York Metropolitan area from discontinuing Saturday burials.

The board said it is seeking injunctions to assure normal funeral services at The Evergreens, Lutheran and Greenwood Cemeteries, which had indicated earlier their intention to eliminate Saturday burials.

The action was taken after the Cemetery Board met with representatives of several cemeteries at the office of the Secretary of State Caroline K Simon, who is chairman of the board of which Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz and Commissioner of Health Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe are members.

Following the meeting, the Cemetery Board stated that its attempt to make certain that the cemeteries which have announced their intention to close Saturday would continue as formerly to serve the public was successful with several cemeteries.

In its statement the board said, "To protect the pubic interest, the board, acting in conformity with the rules and regulations of the Division of Cemeteries, turned to the courts to help in this situation affecting the emotions of so many people. The board has consistently made clear that cemeteries under its jurisdiction may not make any changes in days on which they are open for burial without board approval.

"There are many facets to this question. The religious element and the emotional state of the bereaved at a most difficult time in their lives has importance to the board. The board does not contemplate any move permitting changes in the rules and regulations administering cemeteries under its jurisdiction until all phases of this question are fully aired and examined in each instance."

The board suggested strongly that cemeteries submit any changes desired for board consideration. The cemetery representatives were assured that applications would receive sound, thorough and thoughtful consideration with the best interests of the public in mind. Mrs. Simon, as chairman, pointed out that the board is scheduled to meet Wednesday to pass on such matters, and would review pending applications.

The board pointed out that unilateral action, wherein rules and regulations are concerned, by several cemeteries could not be condoned.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. Simon with Samuel A. Hirshowitz, first assistant to the Attorney General, and Burr W. Marshall, representing the Commissioner of Health, in attendance.

Disaster Program By Regional CD Set at Rhinebeck

A regional Civil Defense disaster program will be conducted Friday, Jan. 19 at Rhinebeck in cooperation with the Northern Dutchess Hospital medical staff.

Rhinebeck Town Hall will be the disaster site. Fifty "victims" from the northern Dutchess area will be taken to the hospital in station wagons, ambulances and other approved vehicles.

Dr. David Block, Tivoli, is chairmen of the disaster committee. Walter W. Warner, Barrytown, will direct the disaster program.

Others assisting during the program will be Dr. Frederick Zipser, Red Hook, associate director; James F. Loftus, chief of auxiliary police; Peter Troy, Red Hook, communications, and S. Richard Lloyd, transportation.

Dr. Reuben T. Lapidus, chief of medicine, and Dr. Elvin Gottdiener, Northern Dutchess Hospital chief radiologist, will observe the incident and write critiques for discussion at the next medical staff meeting.

Library Board Meets Saturday

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mid-Hudson Libraries System which was postponed last Saturday because of storm and highway conditions, will be held at the Poughkeepsie headquarters Saturday, according to Hugh Elwyn, Kingston, president of the board.

Elwyn said the board plans to interview candidates to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Harold O. Harlan, Rhinebeck, director of the system. Elwyn said no action is expected on a successor at Saturday afternoon's meeting.

Until a director is appointed, Leon Karpel, 20 Fulton Avenue, Poughkeepsie, is serving in the office.

Centralization Vote of Dutchess School Units Set

Voters in the Staatsburg Union Free School District and the Hyde Park Central District will decide at the polls on Tuesday, Jan. 16, whether to form a new central district of the present two districts.

Ray F. Barnum, president of the Hyde Park Board of Education, and Abbott W. Salter, president of the Staatsburg board issued a joint statement urging all voters in the two districts to vote in favor of the proposal.

The district officials stated that both boards of education have unanimously endorsed the proposed merger because of educational and financial advantages.

Voting hours will be from noon until 8 p. m.

Police Deputy Suspended

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Police Chief Harold F. Kelly today suspended Deputy Chief Bernard A. Nelson and filed formal charges against the 50-year-old Nelson, the third in command of the Syracuse Police Department.

Kelly said he had information "which leads me to believe" Nelson may, among other things, have violated police-department regulations barring members from connections with establishments that sell liquor.

Canadian Caught On Thruway With Stolen 1962 Car

A 17-year-old Canadian youth, who authorities said admitted two convictions for car theft in Canada, was apprehended Monday 5:45 p. m. on the Thruway at the Kingston exit in a 1962 Thunderbird, which troopers said was stolen in Montreal on Jan. 4.

Trooper Fred Cooper of the Thruway patrol, who made the arrest, identified the defendant as Graeme Webster of Monte St. Halaire, Quebec.

Webster was charged with speeding and driving a car without a license. He also was committed to the Ulster County jail as a fugitive from justice to await arrival of Canadian authorities.

Justice of the Peace Robert E. Ferrigan suspended sentence on each of the motor vehicle charges.

Trooper Cooper said Webster was driving the Thunderbird 85 miles an hour in a southerly direction, when he overtook him. The trooper said Webster admitted to him that he was convicted in Canada of stealing two 1961 automobiles, both of which were later recovered.

Webster, the trooper said, admitte the theft of the 1962 car he was driving.

The trooper said Webster admitted stealing an unestimated number of credit cards from parked automobiles and from the vehicles he stole. Cooper said "the glove compartment of the Thunderbird was full of credit cards."

Webster, the trooper said, told him that when he left Canada in the stolen 1962 vehicle he had no funds. He used credit cards to make purchases on the way, and said he was on his way to New York City "for a good time," Cooper said. Webster had $6 in his pockets when taken into custody.

Cooper said Canadian authorities were expected to arrive here tonight to return Webster to face grand larceny charges.

Weekend Rainfall Helps Bring Up City Water Supply

Weekend rains reported at a total of 2.12 inches in the Mink Hollow watershed is bringing up the supply in Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent said today.

Down 8.6 feet as of last Friday, the reservoir has gained considerably from the rains and by Monday was approaching an even eight feet below spillway crest.

The weekend rain in New York City's Ashokan Reservoir area was reported at 2.16 inches and new water is flowing into that supply which was also badly depleted at the start of winter.

Cooper Lake, Cloonan noted today, has been several feet below spillway crest at the start of a new year only twice in some 30 years. The last time it was down several feet was in 1941 and it was low again 10 years before that. Spring rains in years of low supply have usually brought the reserve at high crest in time for heavy summer usage of water.

The city engineer's office reported the weekend rainfall here at 1.55 inches.

Opposes Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Argentina apparently opposes any collective sanctions against Cuba, Latin-American diplomats say.

They said that seemed to be the essence of a series of proposals forwarded to President Kennedy by Argentina's President Arturo Frondizi.

The diplomats based their estimate of the Argentine proposals, which have not been made public, on news dispatches and on attitudes expressed by Argentine diplomats.

Dispute Over Pa. Reapportionment Near Agreement

HARRISBURG (AP)—Prospects brightened today for an agreement between Republican and Democratic policy makers on reapportionment of Pennsylvania's congressional seats.

Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse and Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom reported Monday night they had agreed to present a half dozen alternative plans for reapportionment to a meeting Wednesday night of a special legislative committee.

The two chairmen expressed hope that the 14-member bi-partisan legislative group would endorse one of the proposals.

Atlas Nose Cones Offer No Threats

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif., (AP)—Marshall Islands residents needn't worry about those Atlas nose cones soon to go screaming over the Pacific as targets for Nike-Zeus antimissile rockets.

A new tracking device, installed here a few miles south of the Atlas launch pads at Vandenberg Air Force Base, is capable of predicting nose cone impact within a few feet and destroying the missile if it goes wild.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller pressed forward today with a key part of his labor program while Democrats unveiled what they termed a "People's Program" for 1962.

A bill incorporating the governor's proposal for raising to $55 a week the maximum weekly payment to injured workers was introduced in both houses as the Legislature began regular, working meetings of its new session. The maximum payment under workmen's compensation now is $50.

Democratic minority members submitted a program that party leaders said was "one of positive action (that) contrasts sharply with Gov. Rockefeller's no-action program."

The Democrats called for increased state spending for education, housing and medical care for the aged, urged a $1.50 minimum wage, compared with Rockefeller's proposal for $1.25, and creation of a Department of Consumer Protection in state government.

The proposals went far beyond Rockefeller recommendations in the same fields. The governor's suggestions have been criticized by the business community as going too far and by the Liberal Party, as well as the Democrats, as not going far enough.

Rockefeller's program has been interpreted as a bid for labor and Liberal support.

Rockefeller's workmen's compensation bill was introduced shortly after he again defended his program from business criticism. He said in a radio interview that "I don't think we're going to have a prosperous state living off low wages or the underprivileged."

In another development at the Capitol, a bill to prevent New Jersey from taking over $27 million a year in income taxes now paid to New York was cleared by legislative committees for a formal passage next Monday night. The money is paid by New Jersey residents working in New York.

New Jersey imposed its own income tax on these commutters in an effort to acquire the funds.

The program announced by Democrats included many recommendations their party has made repeatedly in the Legislature, without success, for many years.

The only parts of the program likely to win passage are those that coincide with Rockefeller recommendations. Even these will be contained in legislation submitted under Republican sponsorship. The Democratic bills with the same ends will die in committee, if past practice holds.

IBM Names Manager Of Poughkeepsie Dept.

International Business Machines Corporation has announced the promotion of Bruce Smith, formerly manager of systems testing at the Western Data Processing Center at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), to the new post of manager of programming testing in the IBM Data Systems Division Product Testing Laboratory at Poughkeepsie.

Programming testing is a new function that was established at IBM Poughkeepsie in 1961. Function is to provide realistic tests for applied programs developed for use with new IBM products, and for the completed applied programs. It is a means of providing IBM customers with perfected computer programs for newly-developed IBM equipment faster than was previously possible.

Smith joined IBM in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1955 as a customer engineer. After schooling at Poughkeepsie, he went to Los Angeles, Calif., in 1956. He was promoted to his previous position in 1960.

Smith is married and the father of three daughters and two sons. His family plans to join him in the Poughkeepsie area near the end of January.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to have a new official handbook on nuclear weapons effects ready for issue in April, it was learned today.

The volume on effects of blast, heat, radiation and fallout has been in preparation for about a year.

Potato Assn. Leader Dies

DEXTER, Maine (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow in the Dexter Universalist Church for Millard G. Otto, former president of the Maine Potato Commission.

Otto, a native of Atlanta, Steuben County, N.Y., died Sunday in a Bangor Hospital. He was 67.

Otto was a potato grower and broker and headed the state potato commission for 12 years.

Solon Seeks More Data on Plans to Cut Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will recommend to Congress a dairy production quota program in an effort to cut surpluses, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., reported today.

But, Laird said, "I am not willing to buy this program" until answers are provided to questions raised in his mind.

Laird said the program was outlined by Freeman on Dec. 19 to the National Dairy and Milk Production Advisory Committee which he had appointed. The group will meet again with Freeman Jan. 31.

"The program outlined by Secretary Freeman," Laird said, "would affect 1,700,000 dairy farms in the United States.

"There are indications, however, that in the final analysis producers having three or less cows would not have to take quotas and this would eliminate 1,300,000 dairy farms. That would leave 400,000 such farms."

Quotas to be assigned to participating dairy farmers would be on a pound basis for milk rather than on the number of cows they own, Laird said. He said Freeman estimated a 6 per cent reduction in milk production would be required to bring production in line with consumption. Dairy farmers would receive higher price supports to offset production declines.

Like various other farm programs, dairy farmers would have to approve the program in a referendum by a two-third majority vote.

Laird said he did not believe it would receive a favorable vote.

Drumm Is Named Head of Industry, Labor Committees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assemblyman Willard C. Drumm, R-Columbia, is the new chairman of the Assembly Labor and Industries Committee.

He was appointed to the post Monday night by Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, who also named two other committee chairmen.

Carlino selected Assemblyman Luigi R. Marano, R-Brooklyn, to head the Aviation Committee and William Sadler, R-Erie, to direct the committee on Public Printing.

Drumm succeeded John Ostrander, who resigned from the Assembly after his election last November as Saratoga County surrogate.

Marano replaced Palmer D. Farrington, who left his Assembly post to become presiding supervisor of the town of Hempstead, Nassau County.

Sadler succeeded Drumm as chairman of the public printing committee.

HISTORY'S DRAMA

Most people in the free world are used to thinking of the struggle with communism as the great fact of their lives, now and in the foreseeable future.

To say the least, it is arresting and provocative that someone should assert that 1962 "finds mankind in the midst of an upheaval of much broader scope than the mere conflict between the East and the West."

The man who says this is Dr. Eugene Rabinowitch, research professor of physical chemistry at the University of Illinois and editor of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists. He worked on the original atom bomb project in World War II.

The upheaval he refers to, in the latest issue of the Bulletin, is the scientific revolution. The penetration of the atom nucleus and man's surge into space are simply the most spectacular marks of this revolution. As Rabinowitch sees it:

"Never before have so many outstanding men of all nations devoted themselves to parallel or concerted activities based on commonly acknowledged truths, and dedicated to the common aim of better understanding and more effective mastery of nature."

He is saying, then, that the great breakthroughs in science spring from a broad common base that exists despite cold war differences. These sweeping changes, says Rabinowitch, not only dwarf the conflict but are in fact outmoding it. He adds:

"This revolution . . . is destroying the justification of aggressions and conquests which have been in the past the normal means by which nations could increase their power and prosperity.

"It destroys the rationale of exploitation of man by man as the only means to maintain a high standard of life for certain small social groups. It opens the path to health and economically secure existence for all men everywhere."

Rabinowitch does not paint the world's whole future in bright colors. He foresees immense new challenges stemming from the revolution in science: overpopulation, vast amounts of human leisure, the increasing proportion of aged in many lands, the problem of making automated, depersonalized industrial tasks interesting to human beings.

Nor would he have us ignore the vital urge to freedom and independence which is at the core of the East-West conflict. He says:

". . . If man succeeds in mastering this (scientific) challenge, the ideals of freedom on the one hand, and of economic justice on the other, will survive and grow, whatever the next phase of the conflict between the Communist and libertarian societies may bring."

Rabinowitch seems to think that science, quite suddenly, has transferred the whole drama of history to a far bigger stage where the rules of human movement and interaction are radically changed.

His propositions undoubtedly are arguable. They are also sufficiently fresh and interesting to deserve that argument.

Cigar makers fear a ban on Cuban tobacco imports. Sales here amount to 25 million dollars annually—about enough to keep Castro and his cronies in cigars.

PRECANCELED CANINES

Postmaster General J. Edward Day inherited from his predecessor, Arthur Summerfield, the hot war between mail carriers and biting dogs.

Starting shortly, the Post Office will simply telephone—not write—the owner of a troublesome dog to come in and pick up his own mail.

In any other realm today, falling back and setting up a buffer zone like this would be quickly labeled appeasement. But the charge doesn't fit here. It's one case where retreat is the tough line. You can't have your mailman and bite him, too.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

SECURITY AND POLITICS

It is impossible to mix security and politics. J. Edgar Hoover succeeded in his management of the FBI because he stayed out of politics. Allen Dulles, while he has not been able to build the CIA as efficiently as Hoover did the FBI, came through a very tough situation without his personal integrity being attacked. The Secret Service in the Treasury is a very responsible agency of security which has never been involved in scandal of any kind. It is strictly non-political. The little Narcotics Bureau does an amazing job with few men and little money but it has nothing to do with politics.

The Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs of the State Department has been in hot water since its organization. One of its earliest chiefs was Scott McLeod, an able man who was a supporter of Senator Joe McCarthy and was active in the Pro-American Underground in the government. The Pro-American Underground has been forgotten; it was a group of officials in various departments of the government who risked their positions by fighting the pro-Communists. It was their efforts which produced the material for the McCarthy and McCarran Committees.

The Pro-American Underground was not an organized body, but there were meetings in various homes from time to time and when data of the greatest importance had to be provided a Committee, it was often sent to trusted anti-Communists in New York and through them passed back to the counsels and investigators in Washington. Those engaged in these activities were known to each other and in many instances to the government investigative agencies and even to the police of many cities, including New York and Los Angeles. Some of the figures have permitted themselves to be publicized; others have maintained their secrecy and have never ceased to serve their country ardently.

Many of the pro-Communists have found their way back to Washington. Some are today bona-fide anti-Communists; others have devoted themselves to scholarly pursuits and are antagonistic to Communists. Surprisingly some are found in Right Wing anti-Communist movements where they are doing very well. Some have provided the FBI and similar defensive organizations with valuable data; some work with investigative Congressional Committees; some have just disappeared into private life where they do good work. The most effective anti-Communists come from this group.

Except for the top officials of the Communist Party, most current Communists and pro-Communists have no personal history in the Party that goes back to the days of McCarthy. The present personalities are new and younger. The number of spies rather than Party members has increased. There has been a very strong infiltration of Right Wing movements with the object of breaking them into segments by internal quarrels as well as by giving them a ridiculously extremist facade. The Rightist extremists will ultimately have the effect of breaking up conservative movements by stimulating internal quarrels.

The State Department Security Bureau is a very important agency of government, requiring expert management for the protection of the property and secrecy of American diplomatic establishments in the United States and abroad. Since its organization, this Bureau has not been headed by a professional, except Scott McLeod who was a former FBI operative.

He was succeeded by John W. Hanes, Jr., a Southern businessman engaged in textiles but without any background in security practises. Hanes was appointed in the Eisenhower Administration. Salvatore A. Bontempo, a New Jersey Democratic politician, was appointed to head the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs in the Kennedy Administration. He has already resigned. The attack upon him was made by Representative Francis E. Walter, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, also a Democrat, who regarded Bontempo as inefficient and solely political. Bontempo has had no prior experience in handling spies and security checks.

Since Bontempo's resignation, the Bureau is being reorganized in the office of Ralph S. Roberts, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Management who serves under William J. Crockett, Assistant Secretary for Administration. It is rumored in Washington that a committee of Foreign Service Officers work under them. Substitute the word team for the word committee and you have it approximately right. Some on the team are under investigation.

This is not the end of this story which is in the developing stage. The best solution is the reorganization of security forces by experienced men.

Red Nose Doesn't Come Out of a Bottle

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a red nose that some people call a "whisky nose". But I don't drink and never did. What can cause it except whisky? Why can't I get rid of it? I've tried most everything.

A—The condition you describe is probably acne rosacea. Unlike the acne of adolescents, it rarely appears until the 30s, and then more often in the female.

As you might guess from the meaningless name, we know almost nothing about it except what you've already found out, namely, that it has nothing to do with alcoholic beverages and is resistant to treatment.

I wish I could give you some positive recommendation. But failing that I can warn you to avoid adding to your distress and expense by letting yourself in for panic treatments including X-ray exposures and burning with chemicals.

Q—I have lateral sclerosis. Is there a cure for it? Where can I find out more about the condition?

A—Write the Multiple Sclerosis National Society, 257 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.

Q—Just what is the present opinion about low-cholesterol diets for the prevention and treatment of hardening of the arteries?

A—Constant readers of these columns may remember that I limited my dietary recommendations to a simple reduction in the total caloric intake of the foods, and especially the fats, of the basic American diet.

I was quite prepared to spread my butter a little thinner, take one strip of bacon on my eggs instead of three and settle for one scoop of ice cream instead of a plateful.

I could see no reason for deserting the dairy farmer because some of my colleagues failed to realize that our bodies can manufacture cholesterol from substances other than cholesterol itself, just as the pig manufactures bacon from swill, as the cow provides us with the makings for butter and cream out of pasturage and the hen gives us egg yolk out of back yard pecklings.

So you can imagine how pleased I was to receive a pamphlet from the American Heart Assn. in which it is stated that "even when an individual eliminates cholesterol-rich foods from his diet, his body can manufacture cholesterol from other substances."

Please note that this is not a rejection of the need for weight reduction by those threatened with or suffering from atherosclerosis or any of its consequences.

It IS a plea for weight reduction by the simplest and least expensive method. Namely, a reduction in the total calory intake provided by the basic American diet.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — A search for new ways and means to achieve closer co-operation and greater unity in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is to be made at the Atlantic Convention meeting in Paris Jan. 8-20.

THE HOPE IS that the 98 leading citizen delegates from the 15 NATO countries will come up with something more than high-minded resolutions emerging usually from such sessions, to which no one pays much attenion.

The United States delegation of 20 is headed by former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and former Under-secretary Will Clayton.

It includes Elmo Roper, William A. M. Burden, Eric Johnston, William F. Knowland and others of comparable stature. Britain, France and Germany have 10 delegates each. Canada 7, others fewer, down to Iceland and Luxemburg's 2.

This parley was dreamed up after the 1959 Atlantic Congress of 650 citizens of NATO countries in London. That group was too unwieldy, so it recommended this smaller gathering.

Both of these meetings were called by the NATO Parliamentarians Conference, made up of representatives from the law-making bodies of the 15 NATO countries. Their assignment to the nongovernmental leaders is to find a fresh approach to strengthen the Atlantic Alliance politically.

The parent NATO is supposed to supply the military unity for international defense against aggression.

IN THE ECONOMIC FIELD, there is close co-operation through the new Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development—OECD. This will be strengthened by the Common Market, which is being enlarged and expanded to increase trade.

The Atlantic Convention is sure to talk about that, particularly since the two chairmen of the U.S. delegation are also authors of the Congressional Economic Committe"'s brilliant report on Foreign Economic Policy.

But major attenion will be given to the weakest link in the Atlantic Alliance. This is that it cannot present a united front to the world, militarily or economically, unless these policies are backed by greater political unity.

THERE IS NO FIXED AGENDA. The convention's function is exploratory, to find new answers. But among the problems it will tackle, these are considered important:

One admitted shortcoming of the present NATO is that its decisions must be made by unanimous vote. The smallest country can thus veto its 14 partners. Some System of weighted voting may be considered to get majority decisions. It could be based on population, gross national product or NATO contributions:

This problem will become increasingly important if NATO is made a nuclear power, with missiles and warheads of its own not under one-country control. To prevent misuse of these weapons, there must be civilian political control over the military. The problem is how to set it up.

This is only one part of the bigger question of what form of political organization can best achieve the aims of the Atlantic Community—what it shall have for executive, legislative and judicial authorities and how much power each should have.

FROM HERE THE SUBJECT ENVOLVES into how the NATO countries can achieve a common foreign policy. Certainly the present disagreements over an approach to Russia on the Berlin issue and the U. N. Congo policy did not show the world an Atlantic Community united for common objectives.

Co-ordination of monetary policies is considered essential if NATO military, economic and political objectives are to be properly financed.

Pooling of NATO aid to underdeveloped countries has been talked of, but there is no thought yet of creating one NATO aid agency. The idea is just to coordinate the 15 aid programs so that they do not conflict.

CREATION OF A SYSTEM OF NATO COURTS has been proposed. They would take disputes not only between NATO countries but also handle suits between citizens under international law. Such a regional court — by-passing the World Court which nations avoid because of Communist judges on its bench — might provide a new basis for establishment of world rule by law.

All these ideas are bound to arouse some fears that what is afoot here is some diabolical internationalist plot to create a supergovernment to supplant the 15 separate governments in the Alliance not working together too smoothly.

That is merely another problem which the Atlantic Convention in Paris and its successors will have to solve.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Seeing that the library is making the front page lately, I found the following, among Van Deusen's "At a Century Turn" Freeman items. "In the years at the turn of the century, the present Kingston Library, was located on the second floor of the City Hall, in rooms now used as offices by the Mayor."

Van Deusen further wrote: "Early in 1902, Andrew Carnegie, who sponsored the Carnegie libraries throughout the nation, made an offer to contribute $30,000 to the City of Kingston, to be used in erecting a library building, provided that the city authorities agreed to appropriate money for the running expenses, after the building was placed in use."

"The Common Council, on May 16, 1902, accepted the offer of Mr. Carnegie and agreed to appropriate $3,000 yearly for the support of the library."

In the December 27, 1961 Freeman appears the death notice, of Shirley Hazen Vigard, who died at Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 24, 1961. She was the daughter of Max and Fannie Hazen, and wife of the late Abel A. Vigard, and sister of Joseph H. Hazen of New York City. Mrs. Vigard was buried in Kingston at Montrepose Cemetery. Max Hazen, her father, had a shoe store at 38 Broadway, and they lived at 22 Abeel Street. I think, at the time, the Broadway property was known as Hazen Block, for he owned that and, I think, the Abeel Street property. Shirley Hazen may be remembered as a teacher at School No. 5 back in the early 1920's.

Both Shirley Hazen Vigard and her brother Joseph Hazen were students of the Kingston schools. Joseph Hazen and Alfred Schmid, to my knowledge, were the advertising editors of the first Maroon of the new high school.

Joseph Hazen's name has been mentioned in the theatrical columns, for he was an official of Warner Brothers, and later with Hal Wallis in moving picture productions.

Mrs. Vigard used to write to me, several years ago, and sent me clippings in which she was mentioned as an experienced talent scout, while in Florida. Both Joseph Hazen and Abel A. Vigard were lawyers and later connected with Warner Brothers. I understand they were roommates in college. Many prominent people have come from the Rondout section of town, and so I like to mention them, especially if at one time they were neighbors from my block.

Older readers may recall, that one of the decisive steps which was taken which resulted in the construction of the Kingston High School, was the decision of the board of education, at a meeting held on January 31, 1913, to buy the O'Reilly property on Broadway, opposite the City Hall for $55,500. It is said, there was some strong opposition to the purchase of the O'Reilly property, but the deal finally went through.

Dedication of the Kingston High School was held Monday afternoon, September 6, 1915. Charles K. Moulton was the first principal of the new high school. The cornerstone of KHS had been laid Saturday afternoon, May 30, 1914, at which time, Myron J. Michael was superintendent of schools.

Kennedy School Stand Seen Alienating Catholic Voters

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—When a national Catholic publication comes out with an editorial which makes it possible to draw an inference that maybe Catholics generally would have fared better on certain public questions if a Protestant had been elected President of the United States last year, this is political news of prime significance.

"America," a weekly review edited by a group of Jesuit fathers, says in its latest issue that, "for understandable political reasons, Mr. Kennedy has not been inclined to parade or in any way make much of his Irish or his Catholic background." It then makes the following comment:

"Unlike the late President Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy has not sought out the advice, assistance, companionship and friendship of highly placed Catholic dignitaries. Catholic prelates and Catholic clergymen pay few if any calls these days at the White House. . . .

Costly Photos

"It is significant, for instance, that there were no photographers present for the relatively little-publicized visit to the White House of the (Vatican) Secretary of State early in December. Every published photograph of that brief meeting would have cost Mr. Kennedy 10,000 votes in the Bible belt in 1964, and Mr. Kennedy, who is an experienced politician, can scarcely be asked to overlook such hard facts of public life in America. . . .

"Photographs of the President with Protestant spokesmen like evangelist Billy Graham, on the other hand, are pure 14-karat gold, to be laid away at 5 per cent interest till the day of reckoning in 1964."

The same editorial says that "these Presidential ventures onto the high wire of tightrope walking in the field of religious public relations cause no appreciable adverse reactions among his coreligionists," and that "in view of his peculiar position, Mr. Kennedy is not expected to make excessively friendly overtures to any one connected with his church."

Incident to Criticize

In its review of Mr. Kennedy's first twelve months in office, however, the magazine finds "one major incident to criticize." This arose in the President's stand in barring Federal aid to parochial scools on constitutional grounds. The editorial reaffirms its judgment that Mr. Kennedy was "clearly out of line" in "attempting to settle, by Presidential dictum, a thorny and complicated constitutional issue like that of aid to private schools." The editorial finds there is a "distinction that is very much to the fore in Catholic minds as they ponder the dilemmas of the first Catholic President." It then adds:

"The distinction lies between clear understanding, on the one hand, of the political circumstances and contingencies which might make it personally expedient for a Catholic President not to be in the reviewing stand at a St. Patrick's Day parade—and, on the other hand, failure to understand and refusal to countenance a positive act of discrimination."

All this is but another way of saying that the President's stand on aid to parochial schools is being widely discussed among Catholics. It is being questioned already by some political observers whether Mr. Kennedy will have as solid support from Catholics in 1964 as he had in 1960.

Exceptions Cited

The President has antagonized many citizens of the Catholic persuasion because he had said flatly that Federal aid to Catholic schools cannot be justified under the Constitution. Yet, under the administration of Protestant Presidents in the past, Congress has enacted laws that allow Federal funds to be used for the construction of dormitories and laboratories in Catholic colleges and for the payment of tuition of war veterans and scholarships for students who wish to attend Catholic-operated institutions.

Perhaps the most striking statement on the subject that has yet been made by any legal authority comes in an exhaustive analysis of all the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States throughout its history touching on the powers of the states and the Federal government as they relate to education in religious and non-religious schools. It was written by Philip B. Kurland, professor of law at the University of Chicago, and was published recently in the university's law review. He says that the question of whether the national government "can contribute financially to parochial education, directly or indirectly," is a continuing one. He concludes as follows:

"Anyone suggesting that the answer to the question as a matter of constitutional law, is clear one way or the other is either deluding or deluded."

So the issue is bound to be discussed in the next campaign, and it may be added that, because so many of the members of Congress now are finding it a hot political issue back home, there is little likelihood that for a long time to come any broad measure of Federal aid to education will be passed.

Will Not Deliver Fallout Booklets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't wait for the mailman to deliver your copy of the government's booklet on radioactive fallout and how to survive it.

If you want a free copy you can pick it up at your local post office or your nearest Civil Defense center.

The Pentagon said the Government Printing Office contracted with 21 printers over the country to print 25 million copies of the 48-page booklet.

Each individual will be limited to one copy and he must go after it.

Like Ireland, Newfoundland is free of snakes.

Birds Fall Off Roof After Eating Berries

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (AP) — If robins can get hangovers, thousands of them may have the classic symptoms Monday — splitting headaches and turbulent tummies.

Giant flocks of robins descended here over the weekend, and stripped pyracantha bushes of their winter-ripened red berries.

Well-ripened berries apparently take on an alcoholic charge through fermentation. After the gorging, birds began falling off rooftops and wandering drunkenly in the streets.

Rats are not mentioned in the Bible nor in Greek and Roman literature of ancient times.

Former Albany Publisher Dies, Arthur D. Hecox

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur D. Hecox, one-time secretary to Theodore Roosevelt and publisher of newspapers in Albany and Saratoga Springs, died Monday in an Albany hospital. He was 87.

Hecox was Roosevelt's secretary when the former president was elected governor of New York in 1898.

Hecox was publisher of the old Knickerbocker Press and later of both the Knickerbocker Press and the Albany Evening News for 28 years. He left the post in 1935. The two dailies since have been combined as The Knickerbocker News.

In 1935, Hecox became publisher of The Saratogian in Saratoga Springs. He retired from that position about 20 years ago.

Funeral services and burial will be Thursday in Cobleskill, where he lived after his retirement.

A son, John Hecox of Albany, survives.

Cripple Dies in Fire

NEWARK, N.Y. (AP) — Benjamin Mittiga, 48, of Newark, a muscular dystrophy victim, died Monday in a fire at his home. His wife and five children were out of the house at the time.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately learned.

Human Chain Saves Lives of Fishermen

HONOLULU (AP)—Thirty Japanese seamen, their 350-ton, 152-foot fishing vessel aground on a slashing coral reef, formed a human chain life line to safety Sunday through a heavy surf just outside Honolulu harbor.

The Hiroshima Maru No. 2, was driven onto the coral reef by gale force winds Saturday. The craft began to break up Sunday and the crew was ordered to abandon ship by captain Kazuo Nagatomo.

Her 104th Birthday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Miss Sara Perry, a former schoolteacher and milliner, was honored on her 104th birthday Monday by nurses and the staff of Onondaga County Hospital.

She is a patient there.

Miss Perry had taught school in Fulton and operated a hat shop in Syracuse.

As a newcomer to your area,

we take pleasure in presenting this brief look at our company

One day soon at a service station near you, you'll be seeing a new and perhaps unfamiliar sign. Featuring the giant numerals "66", this sign identifies the products of Phillips Petroleum Company. We're pleased to be new neighbors in your community. We're sure you'll be pleased at the friendly spirit and wonderful service offered by your local Phillips 66 Dealers. Now, a few facts about Phillips 66.

Phillips had its beginning in 1917 when the company was formed at Bartlesville, Okla., to produce crude oil and natural gas.

Still a comparatively young company, Phillips record of growth, accomplishment and service is unique in American industrial history.

Emphasis on Research

From the start, Phillips Petroleum Company has emphasized research. The success of this research is reflected in Phillips diversified line of products that includes gasoline, lubricants, jet fuel, LP-Gas, high nitrogen fertilizers, synthetic rubber, carbon black, plastics and many other chemical products from petroleum hydrocarbons.

Out of a total of 25,000 employees, Phillips Petroleum Company has over 3,000 scientists and engineers. A Phillips employee team was first in the petroleum industry to operate an atomic reactor.

Among Top Twenty Companies

Phillips achievements in research, production, manufacturing and marketing have made Phillips the eighth largest oil company . . . placed it among the top twenty American manufacturing corporations in terms of total assets. Phillips 66 petroleum products are sold through more than 21,000 marketing outlets in 40 states.

"It's Performance that Counts!" This Phillips motto applies to both Phillips 66 products and service. You'll appreciate what we mean when you drive in at stations with the new sign—"Phillips 66".

We look forward to meeting you—soon.

FAMOUS PHILLIPS FIRSTS

High Performance Fuels. Phillips was first to manufacture HF Alkylate and Di-isopropyl for high test aviation fuels . . . and introduced these components to motorists in gasoline for your cars.

Controlled Volatility. Phillips pioneered controlled volatility to give motorists a gasoline matched to their climate and driving needs.

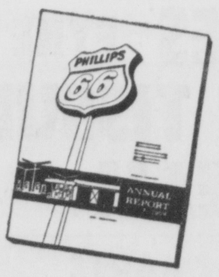

Trop-Artic* Motor Oil. First all-season motor oil to meet the most severe test standards established for automobile oils.

Synthetic Rubber. Phillips earned the coveted Award for Chemical Engineering Achievement for its contributions to the development of cold synthetic rubber and carbon blacks.

Plastics. Phillips was the first American company to discover, develop and commercialize a successful process to make high density polyethylene and related polyolefin plastics.

Release Two Held in Still Operation; Bail Is Posted

Two Saugerties men held on charges in connection with the operation of an illicit still which was raided Saturday on a secluded farm in the Canoe Hill section of Saugerties, were released on bail Monday afternoon.

Carl A. Annucci, 47 of Canoe Hill, Saugerties, owner of the farm, who was released on $1,000 bail bond, waived preliminary examination to await action of the federal grand jury, Southern District of New York and the U. S. attorney. He appeared before U. S. Commissioner Thomas F. Saccoman of Kingston, on a federal charge of possession and operation of an unregistered still.

Also Released on Bail

Arthor A. Fiore, 23 of West Saugerties, held on a similar federal charge, was released on $500 bail bond pending federal grand jury action.

Annucci, originally arraigned before Saugerties Police Justice Ernest E. Schirmer, waived examination Monday and awaits Ulster County grand jury action on a state charge of violation of the ABC Law, section 153, possession of an illicit still.

The location of the still was tipped off to BCI investigators of the state police when a truck loaded with sugar skidded and stalled on Route 9 in Columbia County early Saturday morning. The two Saugerties men allegedly involved and the New [illegible] of the truck were arrested as a result of the raid by Kingston and Highland troopers and Saugerties Special Town Police.

The truck driver, James DeFeo, 21, who gave his address as 341 Broome Street, New York City, was committed to Columbia County Jail pending grand jury action following arraignment Saturday on a charge of second degree forgery. Clavarack troopers said his chauffeur's license was a forgery. Action on federal warrants is pending for DeFeo.

Arrest Leads to Raid

Alertness of Claverack Troopers V. R. Campbell and G. T. MacGilvry at 2:30 a. m. Saturday led to the arrest of DeFeo. Questioning of DeFeo by BCI Investigator W. G. Wolfe of Claverack revealed information which led to the still raid in Saugerties at 3:40 p. m.

The Claverack troopers investigating a skidding accident on Route 9 north of Valatia, Columbia County, became suspicious when they found over 10 tons of bagged brown sugar in the 2½-ton rented truck.

BCI Investigator Wolfe's interrogation of DeFeo brought out that the sugar was to be transferred to East Greenbush for reshipment to the Saugerties farm at Canoe Hill.

The still, known in the bootleg trade as a St. Louis type, is capable of producing 500 gallons of 180 proof alcohol daily.

Annucci was arrested when he arrived home about two hours after the still was uncovered on his property.

Second Man Caught

Fiore was apprehended later by BCI investigators, Treasury Department men, Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and Kenneth J. Kreminick and Special Town Police Officers Charles Riley and John Pavlak. BCI men in charge of the investigation were Senior Investigator Edward Shannon and Investigators Joseph Ventriglia of Kingston and Joseph Franke of Highland, Troopers John J. Salters and W. E. Wiedemann of Kingston and Trooper P. M. Luongo of Highland also participated in the raid Saturday.

Investigators estimated that the product brings about $15 per gallon on the bootleg market. A Treasury Department agent said on the basis of 180 proof alcohol found at the still, the federal government was losing about $19 per gallon in tax money.

T-Men assigned to the investigation were from the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, New York City.

Secrecy Shrouds

agency. He said Molotov "definitely has not yet arrived."

In making the surprise announcement Monday, a Soviet Foreign Office spokesman in Moscow said Molotov left Moscow for Vienna by train "probably on Saturday." Departing Saturday, he would have arrived Monday.

Austrian police officials normally in charge of security for high Soviet resident officials had no word on Molotov's return. Austrian border police had no report of his crossing the frontier.

A score of newsmen and photographers were at the Austria-Czechoslovak border town of Hohenau today to meet the train that left Moscow Sunday. Passengers said Molotov had not traveled with them.

Denounced Earlier

Molotov's journey to Vienna took on the air of secrecy that shrouded his departure Nov. 12 after Soviet Premier Khrushchev bitterly denounced the old Bolshevik as a Stalinist at the Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress in October.

Believed destined for oblivion then, Molotov apparently slipped out of the Soviet Embassy in Vienna by a side exit during a mysterious power failure in the embassy area and sped to the train station.

IAEA officials were as amazed as diplomats in Moscow by the Soviet annoncement of Molotov's return.

In contrast to the arctic blasts which swept the mountain and Plaines states, San Francisco with 79 and Oakland, Calif., with 75 chalked up record highs for January Monday. The old San Francisco record was 78 in 1899. The Oakland record for January was 75 in 1948.

Elsewhere, 5 inches of new snow was on the ground at Buffalo, N.Y., and Muskegon, Mich., had a new 3-inch fall.

Midwest Dry, Cold

Generally fair weather prevailed in the Far West, with temperatures in the 40s and 50s. In the South, temperatures ranged from around the freezing mark to the 60s.

In the Midwest, dry cold readings were the rule. The mercury slid down to zero in Illinois, Kansas and Missouri, and below zero in Minnnesota.

Nearby when the grenade went off as Sukarno's motorcade passed was Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, a member of Sukarno's party. He was not hurt and his car was undamaged. Titov looked relaxed and smiling when he attended a student rally addressed by Sukarno shortly after the assassination attempt Sunday night.

Holdup Man Slain

NEW YORK (AP) — A holdupman carrying a toy pistol was shot to death by a Transit Authority detective Monday night after the man robbed a change-booth operator in a subway station of less than $20, police said.

Police identified the holdupman as Joseph L. Salley, 26, Negro.

McHugh New . . .

Hurley and John J. Gaffney (D), Lloyd were named to escort Chairman McHugh to the rostrum, He expressed his appreciation, paid tribute to former Chairmen Phinncy and Reylea and said they were hard men to follow, so well had they conducted the sessions. He thanked the board for its support while he was serving as majority leader, paid a tribute to Minority Leader Gaffney, whom he said was always "very understanding and fair" which had made the job of majority leader much easier. McHugh said times were "trying" and 1962 was a real challenge" which he said he hoped with the support of all members could be met.

Snyder Elected 19-13

A former deputy clerk of the board, now supervisor from Plattekill, Joseph Martorana (R), named Robert A. Snyder for clerk of the board, saying he had worked with him and knew his ability and qualifications. Peter Savago (R), New Paltz seconded.

On behalf of the Democratic members, Supervisor Michael Ward Jr., Seventh ward, named former Democratic City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew and Supervisor Roger Mabie, (D), Esopus, seconded.

Election of Snyder as clerk was 19 to 13 and Supervisor George Mollenhauer (D), Rosendale moved to make it unanimous.

Davis Returned to Office

Arthur A. Davis Jr., Kingston was named by Supervisor Joseph J. Turck (R), Fourth ward, for county attorney and the second was by Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward. Hubert Richter was nominated by Supervisor George Majestic (D, and Supervisor James J. Carroll (D), Tenth ward seconded. In naming Davis, Supervisor Turck said by his keen sense and knowledge of the law Attorney Davis had saved the county "thousands of dollars" during his past term. The vote was 19 for Davis and 13 for Richter. The election was then made unanimous.

Supervisor Peter Savagi (R), New Paltz nominated Joseph Gentile for auditor and purchasing agent and Supervisor Benjamin Storms (R), Second ward seconded. Supervisor Richard Hinkley (D), Eighth ward named former City Treasurer Orrie Riehl and Supervisor George Barthel (D), Wawarsing seconded. The vote was Gentile 19 and Riehl 13. It was made unanimous.

Dr. Pauker was named jail physician by James A. Rapp, (R), First ward, and Supervisor Storms (R), seconded. Dr. Henry C. McNamara of Hurley was named by Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), Ninth ward and Supervisor John J. Lucci (D), Fifth ward seconded. The vote was Dr. Pauker 19 and Dr. McNamara 13.

Official Papers Named

The Kingston Daily Freeman was named official Republican newspaper and The Kingstonian was named the official Democratic paper.

Dr. John B. Krom, Kingston was named a member of the Ulster County Health Board for a six-year term commencing January 1, 1962. Supervisor Benjamin A. Storms, (R), Second ward was named a member for a two-year term, commencing January 1, 1962.

A communication from the State University of New York, signed by Dean Paul B. Orvis, informed the board that the board of trustees of the State University of New York on December 14, 1961, had officially approved the board's plan for establishment of a Community College in Ulster County. Dr. Orvis had notified the board orally at its December meeting.

A letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Nick Radakovich, 76 Chapel Street, urging that the board "take full advantage of the Cornell Building which had been purchased by the county. "Since the present facilities of the various departments of Ulster County are overcrowded and scattered wouldn't it be feasible to renovate this building and make use of it," they said.

"I am sure most taxpayers resent the fact that the building is still unoccupied," the letter concluded.

Historians Named

Ira V. D. Warren, Kingston, was re-appointed county historian and Kenneth Hasbrouck of New Paltz was named assistant historian.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the distribution of dog license money surplus to the towns and city.

A. Richard Terwilliger (R), Rochester, was named representative from the board of supervisors on the Ulster County Extension Association. Minority Leader Gaffney objected, saying the appointment usually went to a "farmer" who actually farmed. He named Supervisor George Barthel (D), Wawarsing. Terwilliger was elected by a 19 to 13 vote.

Consent was granted for employees of the County Health Department to attend conferences in Albany, New York, White Plains and at Cornell University in January.

$3,000 for SPCA

A $3,000 appropriation to the Ulster County Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to be used for payment of a full time agent, bills and upkeep of the animal shelter was authorized paid by the County Treasurer. An account of disbursements must be made to the board before December 31, 1962.

Attorney S. James Matthews of Kingston was re-named Sportsman representative for the local district Fish and Wildlife Management Board for a two-year term.

Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons requested reinstatement of the position of food handler at the Infirmary at a salary of $2,560 and a case supervisor at a salary of $4,520. Referred to Budget Committee and Welfare Committee.

The board authorized employment of a deputy clerk of the board, to be named by the clerk. It is expected John E. "Jack" Marquardt will be named. Marquardt was present at the session Monday acting as assistant to clerk.

Authority to appoint an assistant budget officer was also granted. This position usually goes to the deputy clerk.

On motion of Supervisor Williams, majority leader, the following banks were named as depositories for Ulster County funds. The maximum amount which may be deposited in any of the institutions is:

Kingston Trust Company, $3,000,000; State of New York National Bank, $3,000,000; Saugerties National Bank & Trust Company, $250,000; First National Bank of Highland, $200,000; First National Bank of Milton, $50,000; First National Bank of Marlborough, $150,000; Valley National Bank of Wallkill, $350,000; Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz, $300,000; Kerhonkson National Bank of Kerhonkson, $100,000; Kerhonkson National Bank of Stone Ridge, $100,000; Ellenville National Bank of Ellenville, $125,000; First National Bank of Ellenville, $125,000; Rondout National Bank of Kingston, $300,000; Rondout National Bank, Port Ewen Branch, $100,000; The National Bank of Orange & Ulster County, Rosendale Branch, $100,000;

The National Bank of Orange & Ulster County, Woodstock Branch, $150,000; Kingston Trust Company of Phoenicia, $150,000; Kingston Trust Company, Central Branch, $150,000; State of New York National Bank, Wall Street Branch, $150,000.

Tank, Truck Collide

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—A tank and a truck collided at Ft. Hood today and a resultant explosion killed four soldiers and injured 19 others, 11 seriously.

The tank belonged to the 67th Armored and the truck to the 35th Armored of the 2nd Armored Division.

They hit at the gate of the motor pool of the 67th Armored.

No names have been released.

Deferred Action

ing to bond interest and principal payments, plus anticipated revenues.

"For your ease in anticipating this most important figure in the budget, I stand ready at any time to call a meeting of the off-tsereet parking committee before our recessed meeting tomorrow evening rather than vote on a cold budget at that time.

To Meet in Planning Office

"In the event that you do not see fit to call upon this committee, our next meeting will be held at your request on Monday, Jan. 15 at 7:30 p. m. Your kind invitation to use the mayor's office is appreciated and well taken, but the committee has already secured the use of the planning commission office where all maps, aerial photographs and the master plans are available."

Mayor Schwenk said today he did not plan meeting with the committee before Wednesday night's council session and said he will ask that when the committee discusses off-street parking with him that it be done in his office. He said he has received no official report on the parking plan as proposed by the past administration.

Plans on Reduced Rates

The mayor also said today that he hopes before the end of year to restore the penny and nickel parking meter rates. The rates were changed from five to 10 cents an hour in the city's main business areas during the Radel administration.

The full off-street parking committee, with Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, met last night. On it besides Hastings are Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward; Donald E. Quick (D) 10th Ward; Joseph F. Carroll Jr. (R) 11th Ward, and Clark W. Myers (R) Second Ward.

The city budget, which is expected to at least be discussed again Wednesday night as reported by former Mayor Edwin F. Radel, fixes $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes and a tax rate of $63.38. It is $3.28 higher than the 1960 rate.

May Meet Jan. 17

Local Law No. 1 of 1962 dealing with changing the title of the mayor's secretary and creating a stenographer post, introduced at the Jan. 2 meeting, cannot be dealt with at Wednesday's meeting because it will be a recessed session.

It was indicated today that if the council recesses again, it will meet Jan. 17.

Alderman Hastings said today he hopes to propose earmarking a sum to be used in conjunction with preparing downtown lime caves for fallout shelters.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon, making a partial recovery of its sharp losses of 1962. Trading was fairly active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 256.50 with industrials up .60, rails up .60 and utilities up .40.

Gains of most key stocks ran from fractions to well over a point.

The recovery was fairly general, taking in most steels, rails, oils, motors, nonferrous metals, aircraft-missiles, rubbers, electrical equipments and mail order-retails.

Chemicals, building materials and tobaccos were mixed.

High-priced International Business Machines, which has lost much ground, recovered 10 points or so. Amerada was up about 3.

Ford advanced around 2 and General Motors a point while Chrysler added a fraction.

Prices were at their best in the morning and were shaded thereafter. Du Pont halved an early 2-point rise.

Steels were content with moderate gains. The rails mounted a string of fractional gains.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.78 at 710.76.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

GOP Program

a new centrally located office building to house various of our county departments which are now scattered about the City of Kingston in old, outworn and antiquated structures.

"But if there are any who doubt the need for such a building let him make a cursory inspection of our existing facilities. Perhaps the worst is our County Clerk's Office. There thousands of our county's most valuable records are sandwiched in files and books stored in four small rooms and in a balcony of one of these rooms. Other ancient, but valuable records, are stored in the cellar. The space limitations of these quarters, to say nothing of the fire hazards, are such that there is no room for the installation of modern record keeping facilities.

"Our County Highway Department is really the only one that is adequately housed.

"To expedite our program for the new county office building I am going to ask our building committee to re-activate itself and to hold open public hearings at which the members of this board, as well as citizens generally, will be afforded an opportunity to air their views.

Physical Standards

"I think for the protection of life and property it is essential that certain physical standards for deputy sheriffs be instituted. Those standards to be based upon similar or comparable standards now in effect with law enforcement agencies of other municipalities. A deputy sheriff should be a person who is physically fit. I propose that an appropriate committee be named to set up and recommend a set of physical standards for these employes.

Need for New Salary Study

"In 1958 a committee of this board made a comprehensive salary study for various county employes. The committee did an excellent job. However, the lapse of four years has rendered many of the findings obsolete and outmoded. To bring the county up to date, I am going to recommend a new salary study by a committee of this board.

On New Tax Sources

"For a long time it has been my feeling that real estate pays a disproportionately high share of the tax burden. The burden has become greater in recent years with the ever increasing school tax bills. But we have absolutely no control over school taxes. Yet our property owners must pay three taxes, that is county, town, and school taxes.

"We can be indifferent about this problem by merely shrugging our shoulders and taking the position that we are not responsible for high school taxes . . . But I prefer to take a broader approach. I feel that the total tax burden of our average home owner is becoming alarmingly high. High real estate taxes also means higher rents.

"We cannot ignore the plight of our people. We must at least try to find some way of easing their real property tax burden. My specific recommendation on this subject is the appointment of a committee of this board, supplemented by a committee of out-standing private citizens, to study and report on the matter.

Invites Public Views

"Throughout the year I will have occasion to discuss other parts of the majority party program with you. On any part of our program I invite the views and suggestions of the minority as well as the majority of this board. Views of private citizens will be equally welcome. The composite opinion of many is always better than that of an individual or a small group of individuals."

CommonStocksTooRisky If High Return Needed

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am a master sergeant in the U. S. Army with two dependents. I'll be forced to retire in February, 1965, due to the age limitation of 55 years. I have ample life insurance, $4,000 in Soldiers Deposits drawing 4 per cent, and $1,700 in the bank for emergencies.

"There are also 240 sharess of a mutual fund, which I'd like to keep for my daughter's college education or as a start in her marriage, according to the direction her life takes at this time. How should I invest the $4,000 in Soldiers Deposits to give me the best return between now and then? Upon retirement, we plan to settle in San Diego and will need this money for a down payment on a house, some furniture and a car." S.G.

A) Many servicemen have written to me with a problem similar to yours, and if you don't mind, I'd like to make this into a sort of group reply.

With retirement only three years away, it is natural for you to want to build up your capital for the coming period when the family income will probably be reduced. However, it also follows that you must be careful to conserve what money you've already been able to save.

A number of common stocks will undoubtedly move higher in price between now and 1965, but many will also give ground. In your postion, you can't afford to take on the risks that exist in all common stock investments, especially when a time limit is involved.

My advice is that you leave your $4,000 in Soldiersss Deposits where it draws a reasonable return and will be ready for use when you need it.

Q) "Should I continue to hold St. Regis Paper?" V.M.

A) St. Regis Paper (NYSE), like many in its group, reacts to the ups and downs of the business cycle. With our economy progressing is it is, the shares may again begin to show signs of strength. I think that you should hold for higher prices.

Gizenga Ouster

rille Adoula's government to reach Leopoldville.

During the heated debate, deputies accused Gizenga of secessionist activities in Stanleyville and refusing government demands to return here and take up his post. The resolution was introduced by a member of Gizenga's own party, which obviously misses his leadership in the capital.

As the self-proclaimed political heir to slain Premier Patrice Lumumba, Gizenga was recognized for months by the Communist bloc and some neutralists as the Congo's legal premier. After Parliament met last summer and confirmed Adoula as premier, Gizenga's leftist supporters gradually deserted him.

AP correspondent Peter Grose, on a visit to Stanleyville, reported Monday that the Communist influences that once worked on Gizenga are largely absent. The last Communist diplomat, a Yugoslav, has left.

Antiwhite feeling has evaporated, at least on the surface, and inhabitants of Stanleyville are puzzled by Gizenga's position. Grose reported Gizenga rarely appears in public and the local newspaper, a pro-Lumumba organ, seldom mentions him any more.

Much of Thunder Stolen

Gizenga had hoped to use the secession of President Moise Tshombe's Katanga Province as a lever to overthrow the central government and to declare himself the only leader capable of unifying the Congo under Lumumba's old program. The Adoula government, with the support of the United States and the military aid of the United Nations, stole much of Gizenga's thunder by taking steps toward bringing Katanga back into the fold.

Things Really Buzzing

NEW YORK (AP)—Things were buzzing for a while Monday in the studio of WPIX, television station of the New York Daily News.

An educational program was on the air, and a hive of bees was used to demonstrate how bees communicate with each other.

Some birds also were in on the act.

Suddenly, a big black hen kicked over the glass-paneled hive and sent 2,000 bees buzzing.

The show went on, and the bees finally were vacuumed or bugbombed.

New Food Fair Opens Tomorrow; Ceremony 9 A.M.

Three Women's club leaders will join with Alexander J. Banyo, supervisor, Town of Ulster, in cutting the traditional ribbon Wednesday, January 10 opening the ultra-modern Food Fair supermarket in the Ulster Shopping Center, Route 9W and Stahlman Place in the Town of Ulster.

This will be the 45th Food Fair supermarket in the state and the 458th in the firm's ten-state, Rhode Island-to-Florida chain.

Assisting Supervisor Banyo in the 9 a. m. ceremony will be Mrs. Gifford Beal, president of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Karl Pitcock, president of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, and Mrs. William J. Cranston, president of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary.

Alfred Bresiger is manager of the 22,000-square-foot supermarket. He will supervise a staff of some 75 persons, all of whom were hired locally.

Free gifts, samples and "specials" will highlight the opening of Food Fair's first supermarket here. In addition, the first 1,000 women shoppers tomorrow each will receive a free vial of perfume.

Merchants Green trading stamps, redeemable for hundreds of useful and valuable gifts, will be given with food purchases at the new supermarket. The stamps also are given by a variety of other merchants in the area. They can be redeemed in the Food Fair.

Exclusive Feature

An exclusive feature of the new Food Fair is a 104-foot-long wall directory which lists the aisle location of every item sold. In addition to serving as a guide to fast selection, the directory also serves as a shopping reminder.

There are eight conveyor-type and two "express" booths for fast check-out service; parcel pick-up facilities, and ample free parking throughout the Center.

The schedule of store hours is as follows: Monday through Friday 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturday 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Founded in Harrisburg, Pa. in 1920, Food Fair Stores, Inc., opened its first supermarket in that city in 1933. Today, with 458 supermarkets, the firm is the nation's fifth largest retail food chain and the tenth largest of retailers of all types. In addition to supermarkets, Food Fair also operates a chain of 38 J. M. Fields discount department stores.

Last year Food Fair was named Retailer of the Year by the National Brand Names Foundation, Inc. This is the second time—a rare accomplishment—that Food Fair has been so honored. Its first award was received in 1952.

Gifts of Stocks to Minors May Be Used for Them

BY FAYE HENLE

Q—If stock gifts are made to minors, may this custodial property be used for the support, maintenance, education or general use and benefit of the minor? — M. C.

Dear M. C.: Yes. Generally any part or all of the custodial property may be used for these purposes as the custodian deems proper with court order and without considering other property belonging to the minor. In addition, a law called the "Uniform Act" states the parent or guardian of the minor—or the minor if he has reached the age court for an order calling upon of 14—may petition the proper the custodian to pay over a part or all of the custodial property necessary for these purposes.

Q—I understand there are some plans that allow a college student to work part of the year, get academic credit for his job as well as pay, study part of the year and that these are called co-operative education plans. Where can I get details? — C. C.

Dear C. C.: First, write the college of your choice to see whether they offer a co-operative education plan. Write to Dr. Henry H. Armsby, Division of Higher Education, Office of Education, Washington 25, D. C., for a free pamphlet called "Co-operative Education in the U. S." Also, contact your local U. S. Civil Service Commission office. Under Civil Service various plans are available in a wide range of job classifications.

Q—When I was forced to discontinue premium payments on my insurance policy two years ago, the agent advised me to select what he called "the extended insurance" option. Now I am told I cannot borrow against the policy even though I am covered for the next nine years. Is this true — B. W.

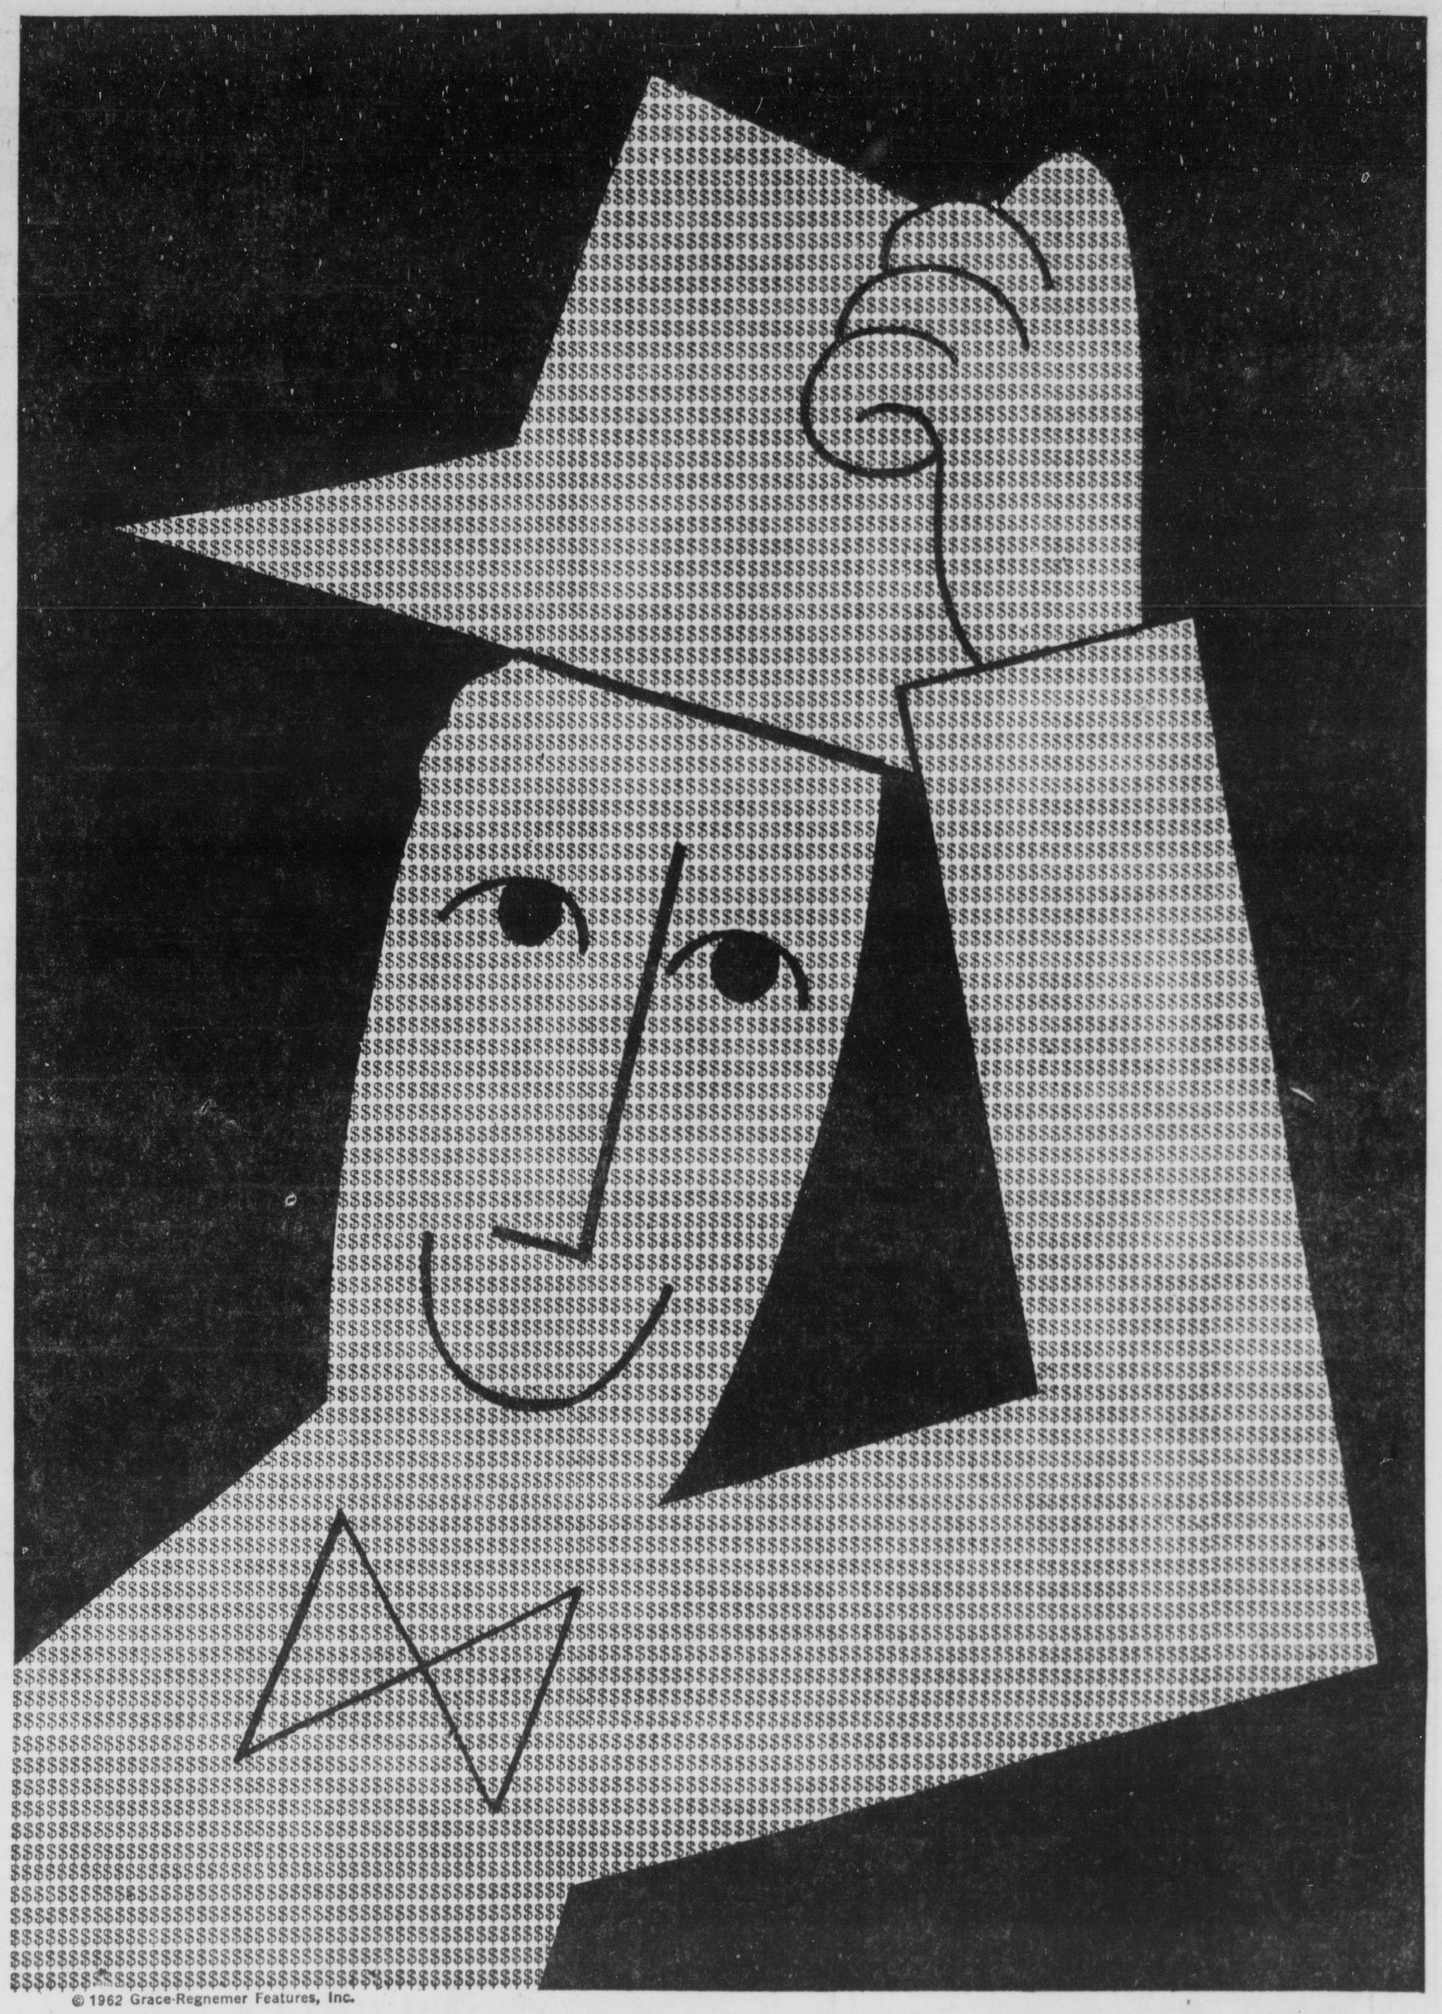

Dear B. W.: Yes, this is true and your agent did not give you very good advice or else you did not understand what he was suggesting you do. What you did in taking the "extended option" plan was to authorize the insurance company to use the cash value in your policy to buy a term policy for you for the next 11 years. Term policies do not build cash values; that is one reason their premiums are lower. Now you have no cash value from which to borrow.

You coul surrender the policy for cash but I am told that the amount of cash you would get would only be a fraction of what the policy is worth.

Justice Breaks Leg

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Newly elected Justice William G. Easton didn't show up for his first day on the State Supreme Court bench.

Easton broke his leg at his home here Monday, prior to his scheduled appearance at the opening of the court's new term at Waterloo in Seneca County.

Justice G. Robert Witner of Rochester substituted for Easton, who was taken to a hospital.

Pleads Innocent

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Nicholas J. Conte of Rome pleaded innocent Monday to a charge of stealing two reels of telephone cable at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, Oct. 10.

Conte entered his plea in U.S. District Court. Judge Stephen WM Brennan continued him in $1,000 bail.

GOP Claims Foes Ignoring Shorter Pa. Fiscal Year

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican legislators claimed today the Democratic state administration was ignoring the fact that the 1962-63 fiscal period will be one month shorter than the present fiscal year.

"They budgeted every nickel they could scrounge out of revenues and they're determined to spend it," said Rep. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, in an interview.

"So far I'm inclined to think the departments don't understand that we're on a 12-month budget, not a 13-month budget," added Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins of Cameron County, assistant House GOP floor leader.

The 1961-62 budget is on a 13-month basis because the state is changing its fiscal calendar from a June 1-May 31 basis to July 1-June 30. Both June of 1961 and 1962 are included in the present budget.

A man was exuberant because, he said, he had done three good deeds the day before. He had met a poor woman on the street. The woman held a sickly-looking child in her arms, and she was weeping. Inquiry showed that she was weeping because she was convinced that her child was dying, and unbaptized.

Man—But, why don't you have the child baptized?

Woman—Because I have no money, and the fee for baptism is one dollar.

Whereupon the good Samaritan handed the woman a ten dollar bill, gave her his address so that she could bring back the change—which she did return—and went his way.

Friend—That is one good deed. Now for the other two.

Man—Oh, they're all three in that one. First, I relieved the sorrows of a weeping woman; second, I assured the child of eternal salvation; and third, I got rid of that counterfeit ten dollar bill I'd been carrying for more than a year.

New Device May Halt Nuisance Telephone Calls

A new electronic device recently developed in Rochester will eventually eliminate nuisance telephone calls of anonymous callers who make obscene remarks to women and report fire calls which prove to be false alarms.

Such calls reported to county law enforcement agencies have been plaguing the area for the past few years. Some of the calls threaten violence and break into a diatribe of profanity.

The new device developed by General Dynamics Telecommunication engineers in Rochester can trace calls even if the anonymous party calling is on the line only a few seconds.

Those residents who have been bothered a number of times, when the device is available, may have the installation made which will permit the party called to push a button which signaling the alarm in the local telephone company office. The device permits instant indentification of the line from which the call originated.

The circuit is trapped, if one or both parties hang up. It also permits the person receiving the nuisance call to hang up and call police or the phone company, General Dynamics reports.

Freight Contract Rate Decision Is Upheld by Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has affirmed today a decision against railroad freight contract rates proposed by the New York Central Railroad.

The decision was given by a special three-judge U.S. District Court in New York. It supported an Interstate Commerce Commission finding that such rates were unjust and unreasonable and constituted a destructive competitive practice within the meaning of the National Transportation Policy.

The Central sought to establish a contract rate on rugs and carpeting in carloads from Amsterdam, N.Y., to Chicago. Such rates provide for a reduction from the normal charge if the shipper signs a contract to move at least 80 per cent of his product in a one year period over Central's lines. Water and motor carriers protested Central's proposal, leading to ICC condemnation of the rate.

NEW YORK (AP) — Even the Yankee dollar—long the kingpin of world currencies—is subject to raids by international speculators.

Americans found this out to their amazement a little over a year ago when foreigners — and probably some Americans working through overseas banks — rushed to turn in their dollars for gold.

That discovery is what's behind Monday's announcement of a proposed $6-billion kitty to defend the dollar and the currency of nine other nations.

Other currencies — the once dominant English pound sterling, the French franc — had been subject since the war to periodic sinking spells. Americans shrugged this off as the other fellow's problem.

Would Prefer Gold

The dollar, they thought, would always be as good as gold everywhere. Maybe it would buy a little less in the market place from year to year, but everyone would as soon have it as gold.

Then Americans found out that many people didn't think the dollar was as strong as it once was, even worried that it might lose enough prestige to force devaluation in relation to gold and other currencies.

The price of gold, legally $35 an ounce, soared for a time in October 1960 on the London free market to a peak of $40.60.

After this shock, Americans moved fast to do something about it. Both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy administration scotched the rumors about devaluation. Checks on the outflow of dollars were proposed, and some put into effect.

Form $6-Billion Pool

But one of the steps taken was to join nine other powers in forming a $6-billion pool to defend themselves against unusual drains on their gold and foreign exchange reserves.

The pool would be administered by the International Monetary Fund. The plan is subject to ratification by Congress and the other national legislatures.

The 10 would put up cash only as the funds are needed, but would be pledged as follows in dollars:

United States two billion; Britain and Germany one billion each; France and Italy 550 million; Canada and the Netherlands 200 million each; Belgium 150 million; and Sweden 100 million.

The proposed pool is for use in protecting the dollar or other currencies from any temporary raids. The beleagured nation could borrow other countries' currencies from the fund to settle foreign claims without using its gold or own currency reserves.

This would work temporarily. It wouldn't cure any deep seated or persistent weakness in a nation's fiscal or economic condition.

Lioness Is Ordered To Leave Township

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—There'll be no lion in the streets in Plainfield, even if the beast really is just the playful pup its owner claims it to be.

James Trimble has been given a week to get his pet lioness, Moira, out of town. A court order issued by Magistrate Warren J. Lynch ruled that the presence of Moira, 10 months old and 100 pounds, doesn't square with the Plainfield zoning code.

Trimble, 31 has been housing Moira in the cellar of his home, but he lets her out in the back yards for an occasional gambol. Neighbors began getting edgy.

Drivers Blame Wage Loss to Juggled Lists

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Several truck drivers contend they lost wages because their employer and the Teamsters Union 'juggled" seniority lists.

Their attorney alleged in State Supreme Court Monday that some of the drivers had lost up to $4,000 in earnings because eight men who had not worked for Inland Express Inc. of Syracuse as long as the plaintiffs were given seniority in driving assignments.

Hugh O'Neil of Syracuse and about seven other drivers brought suit against Inland Express, Local 317 of the Teamsters Union, Fred Maggio, the local's president, the State Teamsters Joint Council and its president, Rocco DePerno of Utica.

The drivers asked that the company and the union be required to use an original seniority list.

Some Labor Groups May Use New Forms

A majority of the approximately 2,100 labor organizations in New York City, Long Island and Eastern New York State required to file annual financial reports with the U. S. Department of Labor may now use a new simplified one-page form according to William O'Loughlin, New York Area director of the department's Bureau of Labor Management Reports

The annual financial reports are required by the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959. It is expected that approximately 80 per cent of the more than 52,000 reporting labor organizations in the country will be able to use the revised form. Labor organizations whose total receipts, regardless of source and without any exceptions, were less than $30,000 in the 12-month period covered by the report and who were not under trusteeship at the end of their fiscal year, may use the new form. Formerly, unions could use a short form report only if their receipts were under $20,000.

Libassi Is Joining U.S.C.R. Commission

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—F. Peter Libassi, regional director of the State Commission Against Discrimination, will join the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Libassi, 31, will become deputy director next month of the Division of Liaison and Information of the federal commission. His duties will include coordination of the commission's work with that of the White House, Congress and other federal agencies.

He has been director of the 22-county, Northeastern New York region of SCAD for five years.

No successor has been named by SCAD.

Park Eyes Increase

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Gen. Chung Hee Park, chairman of the ruling military junta, declared today that the government seeks a 5.7 per cent increase in the nation's economy during this first year of its five-year development plan.

Park said in a policy speech before a group of civilian and military officials that the plan envisages an average annual increase of 7.1 per cent.

Emphasis this year will be placed on development of basic industries, electric power, coal mining and aid to the farmers and fishermen who make up 60 per cent of South Korea's labor population.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Cooper, who has been a show business star since he was three years old, keeps in performing trim as carefully as he keeps in physical shape.

When he appears Saturday night in CBS' adaptation of "The Four-Poster," it will be a combination holiday from Hollywood and an exercise in acting for the busy performer.

Cooper, who will be 40 in September, is owner, star and director of the successful comedy series, "Hennesey," now in its second season. This is enough to keep the average man in a state bordering exhaustion, but Cooper frequently takes time out to direct a show for some other series.

Before "Hennesey," Cooper acted in, owned and directed another series, "The People'_ Choice" for several seasons.

"I've been working with my own crew since 1955—I decided to direct my shows so I could get them the way I wanted them to be," he explained during a break in "Four-Poster" rehearsals. "We have worked together so long, I'm spoiled. So occasionally I like to work with other crews. I like to do some outside acting about twice a year. I particularly like to get away from Hollywood and that rut you get into and away to New York. It keeps your interest up."

Cooper is among the stars of the oldest re-runs in television: those ancient, silent "Our Gang" comedies, currently syndicated among TV stations re-titled "The Little Rascals." The pictures were made when he was almost a toddler.

Because he has been a professional actor so long, Cooper has strong ideas about throwing youngsters into acting early. He has four children and is pleased that his oldest, son John Anthony, 15, while interested in show business, wants to finish college before starting a career.

"It takes very special parents to help kids get through an acting career," he said. "Kid actors really don't have much of a childhood. They have to work—have to be prodded into working—when they don't feel like it. They get too much adulation and too much attention. They become spoiled. And they learn about money much too early."

Cooper says he hopes to continue with "Hennesey" for another season or two, and then go on to something else "that interests me."

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show," NBC, 9-10 (EST)—"A Time to Die," starring Powell, wife June Allyson and their two children.

Will Inflate Space Sphere This Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An attempt will be made this week to inflate a giant space sphere high above the Bahama Islands after it has been rocketed aloft folded in the nose of a Thor missile.

The experiment is to try out techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite. The inflation of the 13-story tall balloon could provide a brilliant dawn show for residents on the east coast of Florida, southern Georgia and the Bahamas.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said weather conditions might permit observation throughout the eastern United States when the big ball reaches its highest intended altitude of 950 miles.

Hopes of Joining Fight on Castro Cut for Canadian

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A well-armed young Canadian, whose hopes of joining anti-Castro elements in Florida were cut short by immigration authorities, has pleaded guilty to entering the United States illegally.

Joseph W. Gardiner-Littler, 20, of Toronto, and a companion were arrested here at a bus terminal Dec. 16. Police said they were armed with three carbines, a 38 caliber revolver, more than 100 rounds of ammunition, two machettes, two bayonets, a water canteen and other combat gear.

Gardiner-Littler admitted Monday that he crossed the Peace Bridge connecting Buffalo and Ft. Erie, Ont., in violation of a previous deportation order. Federal Judge John O. Henderson set sentencing for Jan. 15.

His companion, David R. L. Corbin, 21, of Toronto, was allowed to return to Canada. He had no previous immigration violation.

Opening lead—♦K

Against any opening lead but a diamond, South would have a fairly simple way to go after his four-spade contract. He would simply win the opening lead; cash two high spades; and go after the clubs. As long as the spades broke better than 5-1 and nothing serious went wrong with the club suit, he would lose two spades and one club only.

Unfortunately for that plan of play, West did open a diamond and South had to use one of his trumps at trick one.

This meant that if he went after trumps he would need to find three in each hand with the queen in the right spot also, but South found a play that offered a much better chance for success.

Normally, it does not pay declarer to hurry to make his long trumps by ruffing, but this time it was different. South lost control of the trump suit when he had to ruff the opening lead, but he had another string to his bow.

He led a heart to dummy, ruffed a second diamond, led a club to dummy, ruffed a third diamond, and then cashed the other high club and the two remaining high hearts. This gave him eight tricks in and he still had the ace and king of trumps left.

Home Offers Flood In for Five Girls Orphaned by Crash

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—"I can only think of one word—compassion."

That was hospital administrator Joseph A. Williamson's reaction to the flood of letters and phone calls that poured into Warren General Hospital with offers to adopt the five Campman girls orphaned by a Christmas Eve auto crash.

The Campman girls already have found a new home with their uncle, Lester Campman of nearby Irvine. Four of the girls—Rita, 13; Sandra, 11, and Mona, 10—have been released from the hospital and have gone to live there. Judy, 15, is to join them when she is released.

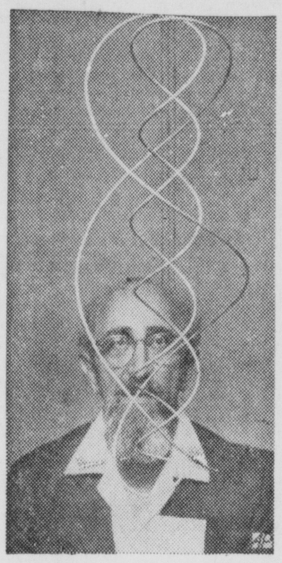

But many people apparently have not heard that part of the Campman story. What they do know is that the Christmas Eve smashup killed the girls' parents and two other persons and hospitalized eight, among them the five girls.

Administrator Williamson says he has received many letters and calls from persons concerned about the condition of the sisters and wanting to know if they could be adopted. Most wanted to know if they could adopt all five.

Williamson has received calls from New York City, upper New York state and Ohio. An elderly Clearfield County woman wrote offering the children a home.

An Air Force technical sergeant stationed in New Mexico asked to raise the children. He said he and his wife, a nurse, already had raised a large family and thought the Campman girls should be kept together through childhood.

A woman from Niagara Falls, N. Y., wrote asking to adopt one child—to take the place of a little boy she and her husband had kept for 17 months until his mother returned to claim him.

Rancher, Steers In Day Early to Overcome Storm

WINNER, S.D. (AP)—Rancher Don Hight punched his 1,800 steers into this South Dakota livestock center a day ahead of schedule after a 65-mile cattle drive he figures saved $2,000 in trucking costs.

A predicted worsening of the rugged winter weather that stayed with him throughout the five-day drive prompted the cattleman and his seven drovers to bring the animals in Monday night.

Despite a weight loss caused by the extended drive, Hight expects to net about $360,000 from the sale, which begins Thursday.

Hight drove the herd off his 16,000-acre ranch at Westover in south central South Dakota Thursday morning. He had planned to arrive at this auction center tonight.

Today's weather forecast called for winds up to 40 miles an hour with a temperature of 15 below.

Wind-blown snow had cut visibility to a quarter mile by the time Hight and his drovers nudged the herd over its final 17 miles to the safety of the stock pens.

Hight figures plenty of feed and water between now and the sale time will put lost weight back on his steers.

Business Men to Meet

A meeting of the Rondout Area Business Men's Association will be held at Rookie's Tavern, 41 East Strand Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 7 p. m. All members are urged to attend. Reservations close January 15.

Talks on Road Safety Scheduled

More than 100 officials from 80 cities in New York State will tackle traffic safety problems this month in a series of meetings in four cities.

The traffic inventory workshops, designed to help combat the state's annual toll of more than 250,000 traffic injuries and over 2,000 deaths, will be held at Rochester, Syracuse and Schenectady. The fourth meeting, embracing 35 municipalities in the Greater New York area, will be held in Eastchester on January 24.

The one-day sessions are being sponsored by the New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety in cooperation with local safety councils in the areas where the meetings will be held.

Clifton W. Phelan, president of the State Citizens Council and president of the New York Telephone Company, called the meetings "workshops" that will urge greater participation in the National Safety Council's annual inventory of traffic safety activities. The workshops will explain how the inventory works and how a community can benefit from it, he said.

Would Even Enter Labor Negotiations

Kennedy Administration Is Firm About Avoiding 1962 Steel Strike

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration not only is firmly determined to do everything possible to avoid a midyear steel strike but it will actively discourage advance steel stockpiling.

It was learned today on high authority that the administration has decided to ride close herd on the upcoming steel contract negotiations and will have no reluctance about entering the talks if that becomes necessary.

Concerned About U. S. Economy

The dual purpose will be to make sure there is a settlement without a strike and that the new contract terms won't be disruptive to the rest of the American economy. Present contracts expire June 30.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg was expected to make all this clear at a news conference this afternoon.

Among other things he is due to kick off a drive intended to discourage heavy industry from its usual practice, already getting under way, of substantially overbuying and stockpiling steel supplies as a precaution against a possible strike.

The administration believes this unnatural production buildup, always inevitably followed by a production slump, is a bad thing all the way around.

It falsely stimulates, then depresses the economy. Smaller steel customers can't afford stockpiling. Steel producers are compelled to use older, less efficient mills during the buildup. Finally the work force must work overtime, then undertime.

How successful the administration may be in persuading steel users, the booming auto industry for example, to avoid buying up huge quantities of steel against the possibility of another steel strike, of course remains to be seen.

Can't Afford Walkout

But Kennedy and Goldberg hope they can sell the idea there won't be any walkout. They feel the country can't afford one.

It's a fact of life that steel negotiations are the nation's most important single piece of collective bargaining. The steel industry calculated that its last contract cost it well over $1 billion. Steel contract terms become a pattern for other industries.

There are a few hopeful signs this year. Both the steel industry and union so far have avoided firing their usual propaganda blasts. Joint committees established on a permanent, year-around basis under the last contracts have been meeting regularly.

Ample Precedent

There is ample precedent for the government to take a hand in settling steel labor problems. In modern times few steel contracts have been negotiated without federal intercession. In 1959 it was Richard M. Nixon, then vice president, who outlined the ultimate settlement terms.

The last general steel price increase in 1958 brought the composite base price of finished steel to about $124 a ton. Since then Steelworkers have received pay increases of 14 to 26 cents an hour depending on job classification, with rates now ranging between $2.27 and $4.37. The Labor Department reports average Steelworker earnings at about $125 a week.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—The urgent cable came from Rome: "Dear Dave, please send me 10 quarts of your wonderful chili in dry ice." It was signed: Elizabeth Taylor Fisher.

Dave Chasen quickly whipped up a batch of chili and dispatched it to Rome at a shipping cost of $100. In return he received an affectionate letter from Cleopatra and consort, Eddie Fisher: "We cannot tell you what your chili has done for us all the way over here. Like that Jewish song, 'Sure and a Little Bit of Heaven Fell Out of the Sky One Day.'"

Like Jane Wyman, Kirk Douglas and Walter O'Malley, Liz Taylor is fanatical about Dave Chasen's chili. Like J. Edgar Hoover, Harlow Curtice, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Steelworkers' boss David McDonald, Liz is also a fan of the Chasen eatery on Beverly Boulevard.

The list would also include virtually every big name in the movie world. Dave Chasen is now marking his 25th year as a restaurateur, and he is still running Hollywood's favorite eating joint.

He's a little guy with curly hair and flat stomach ("I watch the cholesterol and I'm never reluctant to push away from the table"). His manner is always affable, and he claims never to have had fights in the house, though Humphrey Bogart and third wife Mayo Methot used to do some pretty good sparring.

Dave started in 1936 as the Southern Pit Barbecue, and the hit of the place was his chili, then as now.

"I always enjoyed cooking—used to do it on the road for Joe Cook," Dave remarked. He was the late comic's vaudeville stooge and a pal to many of the Broadway greats. Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, staked him to the start in the restaurant business.

Chasen's grew from 50 seats to its present 250, and the legends mounted with the years. I asked Dave for the times at Chasen's he remembered most fondly.

"There was the night we held a wake for W. C. Fields," he recalled.

"Jack Dempsey was here, and Gene Fowler, John Decker, Bo gart, Peter Lorre and Nunnally Johnson. We all got stiff and not one of us ever mentioned Fields' name.

"I remember that Dempsey spent two-thirds of the evening under the table—giving hotfoots."

Dutchess Elects Wood

Dutchess County's fire coordinator, John M. Wood, New Hamburg was reappointed by a 21 to 10 vote of the Board of Supervisors, Monday. Former coordinator Otto E. Fiske, Town of Milan, received 10 votes. Before the vote was taken communications were read from several fire companies and organizations.

Early '62 Takes on Almost Civilized Appearance

Nikita Is No. 1 Global Mystery In Present Days of Tranquility

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's leaders are acting like automobile manufacturers who have their plants working overtime but aren't saying much until the new models come out.

At this moment the world, compared with some of the feverish moments of 1961, is in a period of tranquility which, of course, won't last.

Berlin to Politics Quiet

The crisis over Berlin has died down, Southeast Asia is very troubled but not explosive, the Russians and Chinese aren't happy with each other but are keeping quiet about it, Fidel Castro is hardly doing more than mumbling, Moslems and Europeans in Algeria are still shooting and bombing one another but that's par for the course there, even in the Congo some of the noise has died down, and in this country and this election year Democrats and Republicans haven't begun calling each other names yet.

President Kennedy is almost fully occupied getting ready for the return of Congress Wednesday; French President Charles de Gaulle, never very noisy, is contemplating the problem of Algeria; West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, figuring that silence is the better part of wisdom, at least temporarily, is waiting to see what Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev work out on Berlin; British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had made a habit of being inconspicuous, is indulging his habit; Mao Tze-tung, the real boss of Red China, is as usual letting others do his talking for him and they're not saying much; and Khrushchev himself, most of the time a kind of international Fourth of July, including the rockets, is as quiet as a Sunday morning.

Questions About K

Khrushchev, in fact, at this moment is the No. 1 global mystery: Why has this man, who kept 1961 jittery with talk and tension about Berlin and creating a new status for the East German Communists, been so quiet now for months?

He has been increasingly quiet on Berlin, in fact, since last autumn when the Communists built a wall to seal off East Berlin. This move forced the West tacitly to admit East and West Berlin and East and West Germany couldn't be unified. It also shut off the flow of valuable East German non-Communist manpower and brains to the West.

It's almost as if, after the wall went up, Khrushchev had said to East German Communist boss Ulbricht: "You got enough to keep you quiet awhile so will you please shut up."

Listing this catalogue of quietudes is like writing a memo, shoved into a bottle and tossed into the sea for future generations to find and wonder at, on how for some strange and unknown reason the world for a brief time in the early part of 1962 had an almost civilized appearance.

But this seems unreal and unnatural and in a few weeks, the world should return to normal.

Child Prodigy Still Giving Concerts; Bitter About Youth

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the ironies about child prodigies—and it's the one that keeps ordinary mortals from feeling short-changed—is that when they cease to be children they frequently are no longer prodigious either.

An exception is Ruth Slenczynska (pronounced slen-chin-ska).

As a plump 4-year-old she climbed up on a piano stool to make her professional debut in Oakland, Calif. That was 32 years ago.

Wednesday she will be back in the bay area as soloist with the San Francisco Symphony at a concert celebrating its 50th anniversary. She'll receive a key to the city to add to her thriving collection.

Recalling her precocious childhood, she says: "I'm grateful for the experience, but it's like surviving a great calamity. You're glad you lived through it, but you wouldn't advocate it for anyone else."

Her Berlin debut came at age 6, Paris at 7, New York at 8. "Greatest keyboard genius since Mozart" was one of the milder accolades.

"I never had anything I wanted," she goes on, without bitterness. "I never wanted to be a pianist. It was my father's idea before I was born. But since I am one—

"I've learned when given a set of circumstances to make the most of them, to enjoy them.

"But I'd probably be the most happy, contented little housewife and mother."

Ruth lives alone in a New York apartment. She'd like to have a pet, but she travels too much to keep one. In the past five years she has given more than a thousand concerts on three continents.

Ruth, who is just under 5 feet, once was fired as a waitress because she couldn't hold trays high enough. That was when she was working her way through the University of California, majoring in psychology, after her family returned from Europe at the outbreak of World War II.

She was teaching at the College of Our Lady of Mercy in Burlingame, Calif., "and I thought I'd found my niche and wanted to stay forever," when she was overheard practicing in 1951 by the head of the Carmel Bach Festival. He asked her to play; then came concerts with the San Francisco Symphony; conductor Arthur Fiedler asked her to go on tour—"and the ball hasn't stopped rolling yet."

Installations Held By Kingston OES

The annual installation of officers for Kingston Chapter No. 155 Order of the Eastern Star was held Friday night, Jan. 6 at the Masonic Temple. Preceding the installation ceremony, the retiring Worthy Matron, Worthy Sister Mary Greene, and Worthy Patron, Worthy Brother Robert Greene, were honored by their officers with a degree. Just as nearly one year ago they were welcomed by their officers with a degree entitled, One Dozen Yellow Roses," so last Friday they were bid farewell with another degree based on "One Dozen Yellow Roses."

The following members were then installed to office: Sister Shirley Pendell, Worthy Matron; Brother Arthur Aldridge, Worthy Patron; Sister Elsa Rockefeller, Associate Matron; Worthy Brother Robert Greene, Associate Patron; Worthy Sister Christena Wilson, Secretary; Right Worthy Sister Beatrice Strobel, Treasurer; Sister Alma Clark, Conductress; Worthy Sister Sadie Feldman, Trustee one year; Sister Florence Nettleton, Trustee, three years; Sister Kathryn Barnum, Chaplain; Worthy Sister Mary Greene, Marshal; Sister Anna Hartman, Assistant Marshal; Sister Mary Diehl, Historian; Worthy Sister Pansy Hudler, Musician; Worthy Sister Esther Ward, Warder; Sister Georgiana Brown, Sentinel; Worthy Sister Charlotte Teetsel, Color Bearer; Sister Jeanne Johnston, Adah; Sister Anna Marie Dittus, Ruth; Sister June LaConture, Esther; Sister Verna Aldridge, Martha. Sisters Marion Radcliffe and Sina Macak will be installed as Associate Conductress and Electa, respectively, at a future date.

The new Matron and Patron were greeted by their officers with a beautiful degree, "Dreams." A bouquet of flowers was presented to the Worthy Matron and a boutonniere to the Worthy Patron.

In her installation address, Worthy Matron Shirley Pendell outlined many interesting plans for the new year. Her motto will be "Happiness adds and multiplies, as we divide it with others." Her watchword is kindness; her colors, emerald green and white; her flower, the Cymbidium.

Those appointed to committees for the coming year are as follows: Finance, Worthy Sister Florence Powell, and Sisters Anna Cole and Emma Andersen; Marches, Right Worthy Sister Beatrice Strobel; Degrees, Worthy Sister Helene Edwards; Points, Worthy Sister Marion Hudler; Director of Lights, Sister Mary Case; Decoration, Worthy Sister Helena Schoepf, and Sisters Emma Kelley and Florence Nettleton; Publicity, Sister Frances Dedrick; Hospitality, Worthy Sisters Florence Powell and Esther Ward, and Sisters Eva Alcon and Rena Ellis.

The next meeting has been set aside for a reception for the new Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron. Sister Elsa Rockefeller will be in charge.

Students Desire Public Hearing On Tuition Plan

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Student leaders from State University Colleges are asking the university trustees to conduct a public hearing on a plan to impose tuition charges on students at teacher-training institutions.

The student-leaders, who oppose the plan, called off a proposed protest march on Albany, however.

The trustees meet Thursday in Albany to consider levying a $350-a-year tuition and fees on undergraduates at the teachers' colleges.

The students, at a weekend meeting, also agreed to protest to Gov. Rockefeller and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

Students representing State University units at Cortland, Fredonia, Geneseo, Harpur, Oneonta and Oswego voted to ask for the public hearing. Buffalo abstained.

Students from the state colleges of Forestry at Syracuse and Agriculture at Cornell also were represented.

MUST RETURN PRESENTS BE SENT?

Q: Before Christmas I wrote to several relatives and suggested we stop exchanging gifts as we all had enough with our immediate families. In spite of this, some of them sent us gifts anyway. This has placed me in a very embarrassing position. Will you please tell me what, if anything, I should do? Would it be proper to send them belated Christmas presents?

A: If those who sent gifts agreed to your suggestion, you thank them for theirs, but do not send any in return. If they did not agree, send them belated presents and tell them in your letters of thanks that your suggestion was serious, and please not to send you any next year.

Q: The doctor son of friends of ours recently opened an office here in town. Whenever anyone in our family has been ill, I have called him in. I have known this young man ever since he was a small boy and have always called him Bob. My husband claims that it is all right to call him Bob socially; but, when he comes to the house professionally, I should call him Dr. Jones. I would like your opinion on this.

A: You may properly continue to call him Bob when he comes to your house professionally, as well as socially; but when speaking of him to the younger members of your family, he is Dr. Jones.

Q: If the bride wears a long bridal dress and veil, should the mothers wear short or long dresses and must both wear the same length skirts?

A: If the preparations are fairly elaborate, the mothers usually wear long dresses—but not necessarily. Nor is it necessary that their dresses be the same length, although if they are to stand together to receive, it would look nicer if both wore the same length dresses.

Week of Prayer Services Begin On Monday Night

The first session of the Week of United Prayer sponsored and conducted by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association was held Monday night at the Salvation Army. Host pastor and chairman of the service was Major Foster Meitrott.

Speaker was the Rev. Theodore Swingle, pastor of the Free Methodist Church. The theme for the week is Prayer and Everyday Living.

Special music was furnished by the Salvation Army band, and Mrs. James Burke and her daughters, Nancy and Joan, sang a selection. The Songsters also sang. The pianist was Mrs. Richard Faurote, daughter of Major and Mrs. Meitrott, home on vacation from Hawaii where her husband serves in the Navy.

The service tonight will be held at the Bethel Assembly of God, Esopus Avenue, with the pastor, the Rev. Dean L. Harrison, as chairman. The Rev. Mr. Harrison is also president of the Evangelical ministerial association.

The speaker tonight will be the Rev. Patrick R. Vostello, pastor of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. The Rev. Mr. Vostello, in turn, will be host pastor Wednesday night. The speaker will be the Rev. Brooks V. Henry, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Saugerties.

All services are coducted at 7:30 p. m. and are open to the public.

The Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association sponsors several annual services starting with the Week of United Prayer. There will be a county-wide Sunday school convention March 16 and 17.

Monthly hymnsings, held on the second Sunday of the month from 9 to 10 p. m. and an annual hymnsing in Dietz Stadium each summer are included in the schedule.

Starting Feb. 6, a tri-weekly morning meditation hour will be held over WGHQ, sponsored and staffed by the evangelical ministerium. This will be heard on Tuesdays and Saturdays each week at 6:25 a. m.

Dominican Seeks Extradition of Trujillo, Aides

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The new Dominican government is reported seeking the extradition of Rafael L. Trujillo Jr. and two top aides in connection with the disappearance and presumed death of six men held for the assassination of Trujillo's father.

The semiofficial paper La Nacion published the report Monday. It could not be immediately confirmed.

Trujillo, son of the dictator who ruled this country for 31 years until his death last May, was last reported in Paris. The two aides mentioned by the paper, Luis Leon and Estevez Rubirosa, also are believed in Paris.

In Paris, the French Foreign Ministry said no extradition treaty exists between the two countries.

In theory, the Dominican government could ask for custody of Trujillo and his associates, and France could decide the case on its merits. However, France has a long tradition of granting political asylum, and if the three could argue successfully that they were sought for political reasons, they probably would be allowed to stay.

The chief of the armed forces, Maj. Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, charged that three air force officers who accused him of dictatorial ambitions acted as part of a Communist plot to "divide and destroy" the country's military establishment.

The general said Communist agents had infiltrated some political parties and a Communist plan for mass disorders and guerrilla warfare was smashed early last month. He did not say if there had been any arrests.

Sandy Creek Is Tied Up After 18-Inch Snow

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Up to a foot of wind-blown snow tied up travel and closed schools near here today, and the city itself battled half a foot.

Another squall dumped 18 inches on Sandy Creek in Oswego County. The county highway department reported no traffic was moving.

The squall came in a narrow band, tapering off to an inch of snow a few miles south of Sandy Creek.

A Lake Ontario squall, meanwhile, battered Watertown with about five inches.

The Weather Bureau said further heavy squalls were on tap for counties near the Great Lakes and northwest of Utica to the western Adirondacks, as temperatures headed down toward a general range of zero to 15 above tonight.

Many secondary roads were blocked after an overnight storm off Lake Erie that struck a belt ranging 15 miles to Leroy, east of here, and south to the Pennsylvania line. Winds stacked up drifts. Thruway traffic was slowed.

For most of the state, the Weather Bureau predicted either scattered snow flurried through Wednesday, or clearing.

Last night's low temperatures ranged mostly in the upper teens and 20s.

Plans All-Negro School

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The Orleans Parish School Board has voted to turn one of the city's six desegregated elementary schools into an all-Negro facility.

The board decided Monday night to make the change to relieve what it said were crowded conditions at Negro schools in the area.

McDonogh No. 19—where angry white parents withdrew their children when it was desegregated Nov. 14, 1960 under federal court directives—will become an all-Negro school Jan. 24.

Pickets Dispersed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Negro pickets protesting a pro-segregation Citizens Council rally Monday night at the Municipal Auditorium were dispersed by police.

Five pickets were accompanied by four other Negroes including the Rev. Avery Alexander, president of the Consumers League of Greater New Orleans, a Negro group. They left when Police Capt. Presley Trosclair told them the picketing would "unreasonably alarm and disturb the public."

He Doesn't Realize That Wife Is a Financial Genius

"I can't teach my wife the first thing about money" complains a husband who read this column.

"She thinks she has picked up a wonderful bargain when she buys a suit marked down from $150 to $75.

"When I tell her the suit never was worth more than $75 if the store was willing to sell it for that, she replies that I don't know anything about women's clothes and, furthermore, I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She tells me with a straight face that she saves me money when she buys something on sale only because she couldn't resist a 'bargain.'

"When I suggest that she would save me money just by staying away from sales, she tells me I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She has a habit of putting things in 'layaway' and making monthly payments on them out of her grocery money.

"She claims that doesn't cost me anything, but when I tell her that if she can make monthly payments on a mink stole out of her grocery money her budget for groceries is too high, she says (you guessed it) that I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She has a habit of hiding bills until I am in what she calls a 'good mood.' When I explain patiently that my being in a good mood doesn't automatically reduce the size of the bills, she says she didn't buy anything she didn't need and that I don't appreciate how hard she tries to save me money.

"She even figures that anything she can get me to pay for that should come out of her household budget is actually money 'saved.' The fact that it all comes out of my salary doesn't impress her at all.

"Is she just hopeless financially—or what?"

It sounds as though she is a financial genius—just like most housewives. It's by just such feminine figuring that wives manage to stretch their husband's income to cover everything they — the wives — consider important.

$50 Penalty Is Ruling by CAB For 'No Shows'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines may begin on March 1 charging passengers up to $50 when they don't show up for their reservations, the Civil Aeronautics Board has decided in a tentative ruling.

But a passenger may also collect a penalty of at least $25 if he shows up with a ticket and finds no seat available.

In a ruling Monday, the CAB said the order would be deferred for 20 days to allow the airlines or other interested parties to file comments or protests.

The action stemmed from a request of 11 major airlines that something be done about the "no-shows."

May Gets Ghana Post

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, the Western world's first atom spy, has been appointed special professor of physics at the University of Ghana.

Announcing this today, a Ghana spokesman said the 50-year-old British scientist is expected to take up the appointment shortly.

May worked on an atomic energy project in Canada during World War II. He was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in 1946 for disclosing atomic secrets to the Soviet Union. He was released in 1952 after serving six years and eight months of the term.

A cosmic ray is an atomic nucleus that has separated from its electrons somewhere in space.

Alarming Trend Seen by Levitt In Bid Violations

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says violations of laws covering competitive bidding and conflicts of interests are occurring "with alarming regularity."

He says 71 per cent of the counties and 65 per cent of the cities examined by his department last year had violated the law pertaining to competitive bidding.

Fewer violations by towns, villages and school districts were found, he added "but still one of four was reported as having violated the competitive bidding requirements."

Levitt, a Democrat, made the statements Monday at the first of a series of hearings in the state to consider changes in laws governing public purchases and conflict of interest.

About 300 municipal officials contractors, representatives of schools districts and civic organizations of six New York metropolitan counties attended.

The counties represented at the meeting included Westchester, Putnam, Rockland and Orange.

Navy Plane Crashes

MANILA (AP) — A U.S. Navy Skyraider attack plane crashed after takeoff from Subic Point Air Station today. All four crewmen were killed, the Navy said.

The victims, two officers and two enlisted men, were attached to the aircraft carrier Lexington. Their names were withheld pending notification of kin.

Set Civil Service Exam for Examiner

A new examination for Transportation Tariff Examiner (Freight) has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling positions paying starting salaries of $5,885 a year in the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, D. C.

No written test is required. To qualify for these positions, applicants must have had responsible experience in the compilation of freight rate tariffs of common carriers that are subject to the Interstate Commerce Act; or experience in the traffic department of a common carrier subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, or in traffic services work in industry, commerce, or government, provided such work required a thorough familiarity with interstate freight rate tariffs. Pertinent college study in traffic management or transportation may be substituted for part of the required experience.

Applications will be accepted until further notice and must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, 25, D. C.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, Examiner-in-charge, Central Post Office, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

RECEIVING TWIST TROPHY—Ray Cord, assistant manager of the Community Theatre, is presenting a trophy to the runners-up of the twist contest held on the stage of the Community in conjunction with the showing of the picture, Hey, Let's Twist. Receiving the trophy are Eugene Vining (center) and his partner Penny Jenkins. The winners of the contest were Pat Tosney (left) and Dennis Cassell who was not present for the picture. Hey, Let's Twist will have a return engagement at the theatre January 21.

Mormons Are Forming Western N. Y. Diocese

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Plans to organize a new State diocese in Western New York were disclosed today by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Mormons.

The new stake will be headed by a president, and each of its five wards, resembling parishes, will be headed by bishops.

Headquarters probably will be in Rochester, with main ward offices in Syracuse, Buffalo, Rochester, Palmyra and Niagara Falls.

National headquarters of the church, which has 1.7 million members around the world, is in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mountain Midwife Dies

MANCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—"Aunt Sarah" Collett, a mountain midwife who helped deliver more than 3,000 babies in this eastern Kentucky region, died of a heart attack Monday at the age of 95. She was a widow and had worked as a midwife 40 years.

In 1953 she gave the last piece of land she owned as the site for a new schoolhouse at the community of Blue Hole.

The school has been used as a meeting place for church groups. "I wanted it this way," Aunt Sarah said.

Her last wish will be granted, too. Her funeral is to be held at the new school. Her burial place is to be on a mountainside overlooking the building.

Saugerties Rally Nips Arlington, 68-61 in DCSL Tilt

Bill Schirmer Leads Sawyers To Comeback Win

It's a good thing Bill Schirmer showed up at Arlington High School yesterday. Without rugged Bill in the lineup, the Saugerties High cage team wouldn't still be in the thick of the UCAL race.

With Schirmer giving one of his great performances, the Sawyers nipped the home side, 68-61, with a fourth quarter comeback, after they managed to blow an early 10 point lead.

The win was the third in DCSL play for the defending champs against a solitary loss to Beacon. Since they meet Roosevelt, the league leader, on Friday, you can see the importance of yesterday's clash.

The Sawyers took an early 12-3 lead in the first four minutes with center Keith Mills and Schirmer making a pair of buckets and Al Hrdlicka hitting once. Mike Dodig set up several of the scores with some nifty passing.

Arlington, trailing by 20-9 after the first quarter, moved ahead at 24-23 with 4:30 left before the half and the clubs battled on even terms the rest of that first half. It was 34-34 at the intermission.

Bill Sparkles

While the rest of the Sawyers stood around as if they were in a daze, Schirmer was almost the entire show in the third period. Arlington moved to a quick lead, 42-36, and only some all-around play by the senior star kept the point spread from opening wider. Bill VanBenschoten, one of the twin brothers on the AHS squad, suffered an injury halfway through the period and he was lost for the rest of the game. It hurt the home side.

Trailing by four points, 51-47, starting the final eight minutes, the visitors came alive. Schirmer turned from a shooter to a feeder and he set up Mills with several shots from near the hoop. Hrdlicka started to hit from outside and Coach Bud Smith's cagers finally took the lead for keeps, 56-55, early in the stanza.

Hrdlicka went out on five fouls near the end but by this time the contest was out of reach. It went as high as nine points in the final stages.

Schirmer rimmed 23 points and was just superb on both backboards. Mills, who has come a long way, had 21 markers, missing only two shots. Hrdlicka finished with 17. Those three accounted for all but seven of the Saugerties points.

Sharpshooter Joe Horvath scored 26 points for Arlington, many of them on long jump shots from outside. He was hot in the second half.

NFL Attendance Soars to Record High of 3,986,159

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Surging National Football League attendance hit a record high of 3,986,159 in 1961 with an average crowd of 40,675 at each of 98 regular season games.

"We are enthusiastic about the general balance of our attendance," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was re-elected Monday for a new five-year term at $50,000 a year.

"From 1952 to 1959, Los Angeles was very successful with big crowds of 70,000 and 75,000 accounting for a good share of our attendance. Although the Rams were not utilizing their biggest stadium in the league to full capacity, our attendance still went up. That is a healthy trend. We are sorry we missed by only 14,000 from hitting the 4 million mark."

Jim Kensil, league public relations chief, did not announce any individual club breakdown when he released the official paid attendance figures. He said the average crowd in 1961 was 40,675, compared with 40,106 in 1960.

Cleveland Led

Unofficial Associated Press figures showed that Cleveland led the league with 426,886, followed by New York with 423,949 and Philadelphia with 412,318. The biggest single turnout was 80,455 at Cleveland for the Nov. 26 game with New York.

The re-election of Rozelle was no surprise because the league has enjoyed unprecedented success in his regime. He just finished the second year of an original three-year term following his election as a compromise choice at the stormy 1960 meeting. Although Rozelle received no salary increase, it was expected that adjustments would be made after current problems have been resolved.

"We may expand in the next five years," said Rozelle. "Right now we have no immediate plans for adding clubs. We want to get the Dallas and Minnesota franchises well off the ground first. The new stadium at Washington has been the big plus of the last two years. New parks in St. Louis and Pittsburgh by 1964 or 1965 are two important keys to the future."

The NFL turned down a proposal to increase the player limit from 36 to 38 men. It also rejected a suggestion to set up an injured player reserve list. Injured players, not inactivated for the season, must continue to go through the waiver system before they can be restored to the active list.

McClendon Is New Grid Coach at LSU

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Charley McClendon, a gridiron genius known as "a coach's coach," Monday won his spurs as a head football coach—succeeding Paul Dietzel at Louisiana State.

For McClendon, a 38-year-old Lewisville, Ark., native, it was a promotion from the ranks. He served seven years as Dietzel's chief assistant until Dietzel left last Friday to become head coach at West Point.

Athletic Director Jim Corbett said he polled the LSU board of supervisors late Sunday night about McClendon and is recommending a four-year contract at $18,000 annually.

McClendon joined LSU in 1953 after serving one year as an aide at Vanderbilt.

NCAA Urges the White House To Delay AAU Investigation

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has urged the White House to hold off a possible federal investigation of its power struggle with the national AAU until "all avenues of negotiations are exhausted," executive director Walter Byers said today.

"The report I gave to White House representatives was that I, personally, felt that intervention by the federal government, from either the executive or legislative branches, should come as a last resort," Byers told The Associated Press.

"If it develops that a reasonable solution to these difficulties cannot be obtained, then I am sure the colleges will be the first to welcome the government's help."

Byers' confirmation to the Oakland Tribune's report that President Kennedy has been urged by several West Coast senators to intervene came in the wake of another step in the NCAA-AAU fight, this one involving track and field.

Opening the week-long NCAA convention, Byers announced Monday that the NCAA had been petitioned by track coaches to take the lead in formation of a U.S. track and field federation that would greatly reduce AAU influence in the sport.

A similar federation has been proposed by the NCAA in basketball in the continuing struggle over representation to the international bodies in both sports.

Colleges, together with high schools and armed forces, have said the AAU has done a poor job in its conduct of affairs in basketball and track and field, particularly in regard to international matters.

The proposed federation would be composed of representatives of the NCAA, AAU, armed forces and high schools. A similar federation in which the YMCA would be included has been proposed by the NCAA in basketball.

If the struggle can't be settled among the two groups, the international organizations in the respective sports would hold the final authority.

Machooka Conquers Runners, But Doesn't Like the Weather

By KENNY VAN SICKLE

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Steve Machooks of Cornell University has conquered American runners but not Ithaca's cold winter weather.

The 20-year-old, smooth-striding Kenyan is unbeaten in racing as an individual in the United States. But the seasonal chill of upstate New York does not appeal to him.

Machooka, son of a farming family at Kisii, Kenya, holds a scholarship to study agriculture, and he plans to continue to study here so that he can be an agricultural specialist for the Kenya government.

Machooka eventually will run the mile in less than four minutes, coach Lou Montgomery predicts. "It's just a question of time, whether he does it this year or next."

The 130-pound, 5-foot-11 runner, a sophomore at Cornell, is concentrating on his studies right now. It is largely because of them that he is not embarking on any extensive winter, board-running tour.

"Everybody wants him," Montgomery said. "But it is more important that he get a firm foundation with his studies. There will be time for that (racing) in other years."

Thus, unless there is a radical change, Steve's only competitions before the spring outdoor season will be Cornell's duel meets with Dartmouth, Army and Yale, the Heptagonals at Cornell March 3 and the IC4A at Madison Square Garden in New York City March 10.

Last year, Machooka set a 5-mile course record of 25:38.3 in the Heptagonals in Van Cortlandt Park. He won the IC4A over the same trial in a pelting downpour of sleet and gooey mud, with the temperature near freezing.

He covered the mile in 4:10.8, a Cornell record, at Schoellkopf Field here last June, helping Cornell and Pennsylvahia to beat Oxford and Cambridge.

"I've never had anybody who can run as gracefully," said Montgomery. "He loves to run. And just as proof that he doesn't want anybody to get in front of him, he will jump the gun in a cross-country race."

Machooka currently is torn between two things for which he does not have great love—running outside in the cold or running inside on the boards.

The coldest it gets in Kenya is 35 degrees.

"It is not 'rather' cold in Ithaca, but 'very' cold," Steve commented. "Show is boring."

Nonetheless, he has taken up ice skating.

Emil Jensen Bridge Winner

Emil Jensen of Poughkeepsie posted an excellent 67 per cent game to win first place in the Fractional point individual competition bridge tournament sponsored by the Glenerie Bridge Club.

Jensen's steady and accurate playing enabled him to finish ten per cent ahead of the runners-up—I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston and Earl Yohnell of Poughkeepsie, who had 57 per cent.

Locked in a three-way tie for fourth place with 50 per cent were: Roy Wulff, Kingston; Mrs. Margaret Kantzer, Poughkeepsie; and Stephen Grisoff, Poughkeepsie.

A fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant Kingston Hotel.

Ohio State Class of Big Ten; Other Nine Positions Are Open

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the Big Ten race barely under way two things seem apparent: Ohio State is clearly the class of the conference, and it's going to be a wide open scramble for the next nine places.

Ohio State's supremacy is no surprise. The deep and seasoned Buckeyes hold undisputed possession as the nation's top team, and are virtually sure shot bets to sweep to another conference title. Some other developments among th Big Ten members do rate in the surprise category.

For example, leading up to the conference openers last Saturday, Big Ten squads failed to fatten up on outside opposition as they usually do. In 90 games against non-league opponents, they were 57-33—with Ohio State 10-0, Illinois 7-1 and Purdue 7-2. That left the seven others barely above the break-even point at 33-30.

For another thing, the teams expected to give Ohio State its stiffest competition haven't exactly been fireballs. After two conference games, Purdue is 1-1 and 8-3 over-all, Iowa is 1-1 and 7-4, Illinois is 1-1 and 8-2, Northwestern is 0-2 and 5-6, and Minnesota is 2-0 against Big Ten rivals but only 6-6 over-all.

While Ohio State was idle Monday night, All-America Terry Dischinger pumped in 45 points as Purdue scored a home court victory over Illinois; Minnesota outscored Indiana 104-100 at Minneapolis; Iowa's Don Nelson set a Hawkeye record in the 74-60 decision over Northwestern at Iowa City; and Wisconsin outlasted Michigan State 83-78 on the Spartans' floor.

Many Records Fall

It was a night for records. Nelson's 36 points gave him a career total of 1,206 and an all-time Iowa high. Minnesota's 104 points was a school scoring mark.

At Vanderbilt, Cotton Nash of Kentucky scored 31 points in leading the nationally 3rd-ranked Wildcats over the Commodores 77-68 in their Southeastern Conference match.

Gene Engel packed a lot of punch in the closing moments, sparking Virginia to a 98-95 Atlantic Coast conference victory over South Carolina. Engel snapped a 92-92 tie on a pair of free throws with 49 seconds to go then clinched it with a layup.

St. Louis, struggling through a highly disappointing season, won its first Missouri Valley Conference game in three starts, 81-59 over Tulsa. Iowa State's steadiness enabled it to beat an erratic Oklahoma State squad, 47-42, in the Big Eight.

Other results—Furman 59, The Citadel 51; Oklahoma 56, Missouri 52; Louisiana State 76, Georgia 57; Tulane 59, Florida 47; Auburn 64, Mississippi 58; Murray 82, Eastern Kentucky 80 Clemson 75, Florida State 69; Providence 79, Massachusetts 45; St. John's (NY) 108, Bridgeport 84

Ohio State Repeats Its Sweep

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Write.

Ohio State, one of the two major college basketball teams still unbeaten, maintained its unblemished record with the sports writers and broadcasters, too, receiving first-place votes on all ballots cast this week in The Associated Press poll.

Cincinnati and Kentucky held firmly to their second and third places, respectively. All others jockeyed positions although none of last week's top 10 fell out of the select group.

The University of Southern California, twice victors over California over the weekend, advanced two notches to fourth place. Kansas State and Villanova each dropped a berth to fifth and sixth, respectively. Kansas State lost to Colorado Saturday 75-61 and Villanova was knocked off the unbeaten list by West Virginia 88-82.

Mississippi State, which remained undefeated by shading Auburn 51-48 for its 10th triumph, jumped two places to seventh. Bowling Green climbed to ninth while Duquesne dropped a notch to eighth and Duke fell two positions to 10th.

The Ohio State Buckeyes, led by John Havlicek and Jerry Lucas, swept past Northwestern 75-62 for their 11th straight triumph, and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis and Tulsa to boost its record to 11-1. Kentucky (10-1) knocked off Virginia and Georgia Tech to extend its unbeaten string to nine.

The top 10, based on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 vote count with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Ohio State (41)	410
2.	Cincinnati	363
3.	Kentucky	327
4.	Southern California	249
5.	Kansas State	205
6.	Villanova	183

J. Germann, Albany Kegler, Eighth in BPAA Tournament

John Germann of Albany rolled the highest four-game brace in the 1962 National BPAA All-Star Bowling championships Monday to move into eighth place after three of the six squads finished their 20-game preliminary round. His 978 brought Germann from 119 pins under to 59 pins above the 200 average on a 4059 total for 20 games.

Roy Lown, the El Paso, Texas, southpaw who has been bowling sensationally, continued atop the qualifying standings. He had a 20-game total of 4385 after hitting 878 on Monday.

Billy Golembiewski, a highly-rated entrant from Detroit, was in the runner-up spot with 4245 and third place was held by Andy Rogoznica, Chicago, with 4231 after 192 of the 288-man field had finished their fifth round.

John Walther, who rolled an 812 block, is certain to be one of the 96 to qualify for the semi-finals with his 3990, 10 pins under 200. The original field of 288 men was cut to 96 after Monday's completion of preliminary blocks. The survivors bowl 12 games today with the high 16, based on 32 games, reaching the finals. The $100,000 event winds up Saturday.

Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., was out front in the women's division at the end of the opening semi-final round Monday with a 16-game total of 3351. Mrs. Ladewig is a seven-time winner of the championship.

Ruby Chong, Oakland, Calif., is second on the board with 3258 and teenager Judy Audsley, Kansas City, third with 3189.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Just This and That:- Mel Allen, who has been Voice of the Yankees since 1937, hasn't signed his 1962 contract and the metropolitan boys are buzzing.

The New York Mets, new National League entry, were recently reported to have settled on a three-man team including Joe Garagiola, the wit, Les Keiter and Marty Glickman. There have been rumors that both Allen and Phil Rizzuto would be leaving the Yankees.

If Mel and the Yankees have reached the point of disenchantment it would end a 23-year relationship. Mel joined the Yankees as color announcer for the late Arch McDonald in 1937 and has been with them ever since. He has won every sportscasting and TV award open to man and is still one of the dominant personalities in the sports.

If for nothing else who could ever forget his nicknaming of Joe DiMaggio as the "Yankee Clipper,, or his perennial "how about that"

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Adirondack AAU have been awarded the 1963 National AAU boxing championships, with Albany as the tentative locale. Ben Danforth, the Albany sports columnist, was ruminating a while back that over the years at least 25 national amateur Golden Gloves and Diamond Belt champions, as well as three world's titleholders have been developed in territory covered by the Adirondack AAU.

The three champions were, of course, Marty Servo of Schenectady, welterweight king; Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight and welterweight, and Carmine Basilio, who held the same crown.

Servo, who earned his earliest fame in Kingston as Baby Face Semprevino, won the Golden Gloves featherweight toga in 1937, followed with the Diamond Belt title in 1938 and then lost that same year to George Salamone in the finals of the National AAU. He beat Freddie Cochrane for the world's welterweight crown in 1946.

The fabulous Robinson, rated by many the greatest fighter of the ages pound for pound, began his career in Kingston as Kid Ray. The name later was changed to Sugar Ray. He won the Adirondack AAU Golden Gloves featherweight title in 1939 and the lightweight title in 1940 before turning pro. He took the world's welterweight crown in 1946, the middleweight title in 1951 and light heavyweight honors in 1952. The middleweight title he has held five times, you know.

• Started in Albany:

Basilo, the hatchet faced warrior from the onion fields around Chittenango, got his start in the Golden Gloves in Albany. He never won national amateur honors and captured the world's welterweight toga in 1955 by beating Tony De Marco in a savage bout. He lost and won it again from Johnny Saxton the following year. He took the middleweight crown from Robinson in 1957 and relinquished the welterweight title soon after.

No discussion about boxers with Adirondack AAU or Kingston backgrounds is complete without reference to Lou Ambers, who under the name of Otis Paradise, thrilled Kingston audiences on many occasions. He went on to the lightweight championship and was one of the most beautiful boxers of his time.

These were boxers in an era when a world's championship had to be earned the hard way. This was before the TV era which reduced the sports to a shambles.

• Only in the Gym:

Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, who is usually quiet and non-commital about everything - until he starts to fight in the ring - had a vehement word or two to say about Sugar Ray Robinson.

Asked if he would fight the Sugar Man, former champion who insisted on taking most of the money in their first two matches, Gene said:

"For money - no! Positively no! Why should I let him make even 10 cents with my help?"

"If Robinson wants to fight, I'll be glad to meet him - in a gymnasium with no gate. And no rules or gloves."

Handicap Bowling Tourney Is Slated in Niagara Falls

More than $12,000 in prize money is guaranteed to winners of the first annual Handicap Bowling tournament, sponsored by the New York State Bowling Proprietors. Competition in five-man, doubles, singles and all-events will take place at the Boulevard Bowl, Schenectady, and at the Hoffman Lanes, Albany.

The tourney will run for eight successive weekends, May 12 through July 1. Entries will close Mar. 15 with no reservations held beyond Feb. 15.

The handicapping will be based upon 75 per cent of the difference between a bowler's average and 200, with a maximum pin allowance of 45 per game. A minimum of 45 games determines a league average and handicaps must be based upon a bowler's highest league from the 1960-61 season. Teams and individuals may compete more than once, but only one place will be allowed such teams and individuals in the prize list of any division.

Entry blanks may be obtained from local bowling establishments and entry fees, with full remittance should be mailed to Sam Martino, tournament manager, Niagara Falls.

The tournament is another one of many sponsored by the NYSBPA. It aso sponsors match game championship tournaments as well as state championships for junior bowlers each year on a state-wide level.

Costello to Miss NBA Tilt Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Larry Costello, Syracuse Nats guard, is expected to miss tonight's National Basketball Association game against the Philadelphia Warriors at Philadelphia.

Doctors said Monday that Costello suffered a broken left wrist in a fall Sunday, as the Nats defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 123-116.

Action Is Slated In UCAL Tonight; Other Tilts Set

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Newburgh Free Academy's glittering Goldbacks, unbeaten in seven outings and heavily favored at Monticello tonight, will host Kingston High's defending DUSO champions in a Friday night headliner at the Hilly City gym. Those Kingston fans who are planning on attending the contest, are asked to get there early. The place figures to be a sellout.

While Kingston is on the road, Saugerties High has an outstanding game at the SHS gym as Roosevelt comes in for a crucial DCSL meeting. The Sawyers are defending the championship in their league and Roosevelt is the team that has to be beaten.

Though KHS and the Sawyers don't see any action tonight, other area schools will be playing. Newburgh is at Monticello in the only DUSO contest and this figures as simply a tuneup for the Goldies of Joe Gaspard.

UCAL Tilts Tonight

The UCAL has a full slate of games. Onteora plays at Wallkill, Rondout at Pine Bush and Highland at New Paltz. In non-league activity, Wappingers is at Poughkeepsie, Lourdes at Beacon, Red Hook at Cardinal Farley and Arlington at Catskill.

Since all action in the UCAL was postponed on Friday, the standings remain the same with three clubs—Wallkill, Marlboro and Rondout Valley — battling for top honors.

If Kingston is to repeat its 1960-61 cage title, the Maroon players must win Friday's contest. With a loss to Poughkeepsie already in the books and with the league schedule giving each club only 10 games, another setback would mean an uphill climb for Jack Gilligan's hoopsters.

The Goldbacks were extended last week in their 53-51 verdict at Poughkeepsie, but they were ahead all the way. Four veterans from last year's second place finisher form the backbone of the attack. They are John Sileno, Al Angelone, Richie Scott and Jim MacMillan. Scott was an All-Duso selection last year and Sileno made the second team.

With John Falvey expected to be back in top shape, the locals will be at full strength in their bid to knock the Hilly City quintet from the ranks of the unbeaten. Falvey will join Mike Ferraro, John Duffner, Paul Natale and Ronnie Thomas in what promises to be a good game.

Two Big Problems

Saugerties has two problems if Bud Smith's cagers are to beat Roosevelt. They must go up against the tallest club in the valley and have to stop Wes Bialosuknia, the heralded junior hotshot. Wes is the outstanding cager in the area and he recovered from a bad leg in time to lead the Presidents to a decisive win over Beacon last Friday.

Roosevelt has a team that averages well over six feet. Center Pete Brenner is near 6-6 while Jim Jeffrey, Art Bell and Bialosuknia are 6-2 or better. Jim Fulmer, the fifth starter, is the "midget" at 6-1.

The Sawyers, who decisioned Arlington yesterday, have one loss (to Beacon) in league play. A setback on Friday would just about halt the chances of repeating as league champions.

In UCAL action on Friday, Wallkill is at Rondout in the stellar attraction. Other contests are Pine Bush at Highland and Marlboro at Onteora.

Larries Defeat Hamilton, 83-65

St. Lawrence University's basketball team ended a two-game losing streak Monday night and hopes to keep the new string going tonight when it meets Hartwick at Oneonta.

The Saints downed Hamilton, 83-65, at Clinton. Hamilton, which also entered the game Monday night with a two-game losing streak, now has seven losses and three victories. The Saints have a 6-2 mark.

In other action involving Upstate teams, visiting Siena dropped an exhibition game to the New York Athletic Club, 92-71.

In the Saints-Hamilton game, the lead changed hands six times before the half, when the Saints stood 39-33.

High scorers were Gene Simonsen with 27 for St. Lawrence and Ken Palmer and Dick Salisbury with 14 each for Hamilton. The Saints' Dick Metcalf had 23.

Cornell Hockey Team Decisions Dartmouth

BOSTON (AP)—Cornell, a 5-4 winner over Dartmouth, tries tonight for its second straight Ivy League victory over Harvard's hockey team.

The Big Red was ahead, 5-2, with five minutes left in Monday night's game at Hanover, N.H., then hung on grimly to fight off a late surge by Dartmouth. The Indians tallied two goals in the closing minutes but were unable to score the equalizer.

The Cornell-Harvard game, to be played here, was postponed from Jan. 6 because icy roads in New York State prevented the Big Red from traveling to Boston.

Cornell now has won five games and lost two. Its Ivy League record is two victories and one loss.

Dartmouth has won three of its seven games and split in a pair of league contests.

Sonny Jurgensen To Undergo Surgery

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles' all-pro quarterback, Sonny Jurgensen, undergoes surgery today to repair his right shoulder which was severely separated in the National Football League Runnerup Bowl.

Rodgers Wins First Tourney With 268 Score

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A rookie with only six months experience on the tournament trail has won the first major prize of his professional golfing career, the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., routed the older, more established pros Monday with a tournament record nine-under-par 62 and 72-hole total of 268. A pro barely a year, Rodgers left his nearest challengers behind by nine strokes and carried home $7,500.

It was the widest margin of victory since Mike Souchak piled up the same score over Billy Casper and Doug Ford in the Motor City Open at Northville, Mich., in August 1959.

Rodgers' round cracked the 36-year-old tournament record of 63 shared by Tommy Bolt (1956) and Ken Venturi (1959) and erased the 72-hole score of 272 set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1956.

Rodgers' previous fame was limited. He won the national collegiate championship as a sophomore in 1958 at the University of Houston. He was low amateur in the Los Angeles Open in 1960.

Last year he won the Mexican Open in Mexico City, and in October he won the Sahara Pro-Amateur at Las Vegas.

Rodgers' first three rounds here were 67-71-68. Most observers thought he would yield to pressure on the final round and the winning effort would come from Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex; Bob Goalby, the 1961 L.A. Open winner; Lionel Hebert or possibly even a late challenging Mike Souchak.

Rodgers squelched that when he moved into a 3-stroke lead in the first nine holes and never let up with his birdie-barrage. Rancho Golf Club's par is 36-35-71. Rodgers did it in 32-30-62.

For the record, Hawkins and Goalby were the runners-up at 277. It was worth $3,325 apiece.

Charlie Dressen to Manage Toronto; Furillo Seeks Job

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charlie Dressen, fiery, outspoken 63-year-old pepperpot, was back in baseball today for his 30th consecutive year as a manager or coach in the majors and minors.

Fired as manager of the Milwaukee Braves at the tailend of the 1961 season, Dressen rejoined the Braves system Monday, signing on as field boss of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League and extending an unbroken string of managing or coaching jobs that began in 1932.

While Dressen left the unemployed ranks, equally outspoken Carl Furillo, one of the stars for Dressen's Dodger teams of the early 1950s, remained on the outside after Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick denied he is being blacklisted by major league clubs.

Dressen, connected with baseball in some capacity since he began playing in 1919, said he could have had "four or five" jobs managing Triple A teams, but liked the Toronto offer best. He noted Toronto is considered as a possible addition if and when the majors expand again.

Furillo, dropped by the Los Angeles Dodgers midway in the 1959 season when he refused to report to their minor league club at Spokane, has been trying to hook on with a major league club as a player, coach or scout.

A former National League batting champion with a .344 average in 1953, the 39-year-old outfielder claims he is being blacklisted by all major league teams.

"There is no such thing as a baseball blacklist," Frick said. The New York Mets, petitioned by Furillo for a job, concurred: "We reserve the right to hire our own personnel. There's no blacklist. After all, Furillo is going to be 40 years old."

How to De-Ice a Tree

Ice storm strike silently, suddenly. Within a few hours prized small trees and evergreens can be broken and bent out of shape.

Roy C. Beckwith of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories says do this: Play a stream of water from a garden hose on the ice-coated tree. Tap water, usually warmer than outside air, will melt the ice. Don't pound the trees or shrubs with a stick. This will injure the bark. Birch, dogwood and other supple trees bent low under weight of ice should be pushed erect as soon as possible and guyed in place. Otherwise many will grow in their grotesquely bent fashion.

Lake Louise, small body of water in the Canadian Rockies, is internationally famed for its beauty.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Donald Fellows Is Man of Year, Dinner Jan. 24

The Saugerties Jaycees announce that Donald S. Fellows has been chosen as the Man of the Year for 1961.

At a meeting held Sunday, the judges, Peter Williams, town supervisor; Robert Herb, president of the board of education, and Joseph DiDomenico, president of the Saugerties Jaycees were unanimous in their selection.

Mr. Fellows is a native of Saugerties, married to the former Hilma Nash and the father of two boys, Bruce 17, and Richard 14. He graduated from Saugerties High School in 1927 and then attended Syracuse University, graduating in 1931. The Man of the Year has been the editor of the Catskill Mountain Star for the past 23 years.

He is a member of the Catskill Glee Club and since 1960 has been its director. He has also directed the choir of the Atonement Lutheran Church for 30 years. His enthusiastic interest in music has found further expression in the fact that he has made Saugerties the host on three occasions for the 300 voice male chorus. This group consists of choruses from Hudson, Kingston, Catskill and Poughkeepsie. Fellows was also instumental in instituting the Rolland E. Heermance Memorial Scholarship.

The Saugerties Jaycees together with his many friends will join in honoring him at a banquet Jan. 24 at the Flamingo Restaurant. This will be the third consecutive year the Saugerties Jaycees have sponsored the Man of the Year award to create an awareness of the unselfish community efforts of certain citizens.

Guest speaker at the dinner will be Asemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

Building Needs To Be Discussed At P-TA Meeting

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Saugerties Central Schools will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 17 in the Main Street School auditorium at 8 p. m.

Following the business meeting, Norman Nitschke will give a talk about the need for additional school facilities in the district. In his delivery he plans to review the present situation, to examine what has been accomplished in the past, and to take a look at the planning for the future. He will discuss the building plans to date and answer any questions.

Nitschke served with Miss Grace Andersen as co-chairmen of the Citizens Advisory Group which at the request of the board of education functioned for about a year to recommend suitable courses of action for school construction.

Although the group fulfilled its obligations to the board and terminated its study in June, 1961, it is still carrying on as a separate group until the time when a bond issue is a reality.

A resident of Saugerties since 1955. Nitschke is employed as a department manager by IBM. He resides with his wife and two children, Neal and Nancy, at Spaulding Lane.

Order of Arrow Elects Officers

The Canandaigua Chapter of the Saugerties District, Order of the Arrow, held its annual election of officers Sunday night at which time Allen Gardner was elected chapter chief; Alan Wolven, vice chief; Glen Davis, secretary; Douglas Simmons, treasurer; Orman Leighton Jr., quartermaster.

Plans for the coming year include the visiting of all Boy Scout troops in Saugerties to promote participation in the summer camping program offered at Camp Tri-Mount and encourage the scouts to choose qualified boys to elect to the Order of the Arrow chapter.

The Canandaigua Chapter also voted to contribute a set sum towards sending five boys from the Saugerties District of Boy Scouts to Camp Schiff, New Jersey, where they are trained in scouting leadership.

Another activity on the 1962 agenda is helping prepare Camp TriMount for the opening in the summer and to clean up when the camp is closed. They are also helping with the rebuilding of the new mess hall at the camp.

Robert Ostrander is the chapter's adult advisor, with the assistance of Kenneth Magyar, Eugene Davis, John Carlson, David Bright, Charles Walton and Orman Leighton Sr.

Is Delegate To Convention

DR. RICHARD FEIN

Former local man, Dr. Richard L. Fein, resident at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles, Calif., was a delegate to the Phi Delta Epsilon medical convention held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York City, late in December.

He visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fein of 42 Finger Street Extension during the past week.

Dr. Fein will be associated with the Los Angeles County Harbor Hospital as a surgeon on July 1. He will specialize in surgery there until 1965 at which time he plans to enter the 6th Army as a surgeon under the Berry Program.

Entertain at Party

Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgensen of Spaulding Lane entertained Sunday evening at a buffet supper party in honor of their daughter Barbara Jean who was one year old that day. Sharing birthday honors at the celebration were her father, whose birthday will be January 11; and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Decker, whose birthdays are January 10th and 6th respectively.

Other guests included paternal grandparents of Barbara Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jorgensen; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas VanEtten; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dederick and children, Bonnie, Brenda and Bernard Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgensen and Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Friedkin and three children from Sioux Falls, Mont., have recently moved into their new residence at 31 Edith Avenue. Mr. Friedkin is an employe of the International Business Machines Corp.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barca and daughters Paula and Maureen have moved from Barclay Heights into their newly renovated home at 386 Main Street, Saugerties.

Mrs. Patrick Cosgrove of Clermonth Street has been a patient at the Benedictine Hospital for the past three weeks.

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — Aaron Cohen, author and former Arab affairs expert of Israel's left-wing Mapam party, was sentenced by the Haifa District Court today to five years in prison for espionage.

The country for which he allegedly collected information was not disclosed in any of the few open court sessions, but it is understood to have been a Communist state.

Bomb Is Still Closed in Wake Of New Threat

CLARKSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Clarksville high school remained closed today as investigators checked on the second bomb threat in a week.

The school's 950 pupils were sent home Monday after a threatening note was received. The note indicated a bomb had been planted in the school.

Firemen, city and state police and FBI agents went through the building, but all they found was a wooden box containing a wrist watch. The watch had stopped.

A demolition team from Ft. Knox, Ky., was called after the box was discovered in a boys' washroom.

The school received a bomb threat by telephone about 11 a.m. last Thursday, and pupils were sent home then. A search turned up no explosives.

A similar threat was telephoned to the Indiana University extension center in neighboring Jeffersonville at 1 p.m. Thursday. No evidence of a bomb was found there.

Officials described the telephone voices as "mature, adult male."

Syracuse Stores Swept by Blaze

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A $50,000 fire swept five stores and two apartments in a two-story building on the North Side Monday night.

Douglas Lennox, occupant of a second-floor apartment, was rescued by ladder.

No one was injured.

Firemen, who estimated the damage, said the fire apparently started in the stairway near a barbershop.

Other shops in the building included a cleaning establishment, a market, a stamp store and hairdressing shop.

Hits U.S. Pressure

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Boun Oum's right-wing Laotian government today termed American pressure to make it join a coalition regime "intolerable" and said the Lao people would rather tighten their belts than yield.

The United States postponed delivery of its monthly aid—the government's financial mainstay—after Vice Premier Phoumi Nosavan rejected U.S Ambassador Winthrop Brown's strong suggestions that the rightists drop their demands for the key defense and interior posts in the proposed coalition with forces of neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong.

Mac, Adenauer Talk

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today and informants said they would discuss a new U.S.-British proposal for an East-West standstill agreement to take the heat off the Berlin crisis.

Macmillan and the West German chancellor opened the first of several sessions in their day-long talks with only interpreters present. Their foreign ministers and other aides were to join them for lunch and an afternoon meeting.

Bronx Man Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bronx man was arrested today as the alleged slayer of a 70-year-old tailor in his lower East Side shop.

Juan Lebron, 22, was booked on a homicide charge.

Police said the only English word the Puerto Rico-born prisoner knows was "stickyp."

Lebron was picked up for questioning within an hour after the shooting of Abramham Carmen Monday.

Held for Questioning

ROLLA, Mo. (AP)—Leroy Coleman, arrested on a bus in Rolla, is being held for questioning about the death of his estranged wife in Buffalo, N.Y.

His 20-year-old wife, Marlene, was found dead in her apartment Sunday. The couple had been separated two months.

The Highway Patrol nabbed Coleman Monday.

Italian Scene: By Schimmerling

An interesting bulletin which is published in Italy "to spread information between your country and Italy" reports little known or unknown facts from the Italian scene such as:

The opening of a new university in Calabria. The authorities could not easily decide in what city of Calabria this should be done. Suppose several towns in our own Ulster County would fight for a Community College, exactly as several cities in Calabria claimed to be entitled to house a university, how should one decide to please all of them. This is what the Italians did: the department for science and mathematics was allotted to Catanzaro, the school of architecture to Reggio Calabria and the school of agriculture to Cosenza (Cosenza, by the way, became known in literature by a famous poem, "The Tomb in the Busento River;" there are also the historical Sila Forests; and last but not least it is the place where the Tiano families come from).

Do you know that there are 300,000 foreigners residents in Rome, among them 10,000 U.S. citizens? Of course the 85 foreign missions to the Italian government and the 46 missions to the Vatican account for many foreigners; but this is still the minority. A good half of all foreigners are artists and students. Whenever this writer came to the Eternal City during the last 40 years he always was a student in the broad sense of the word's meaning.

Traffic Problems

Once Genoa boasted to be the native place of Columbus and Paganini; a today's headline reads "The Genoa Bottleneck." Walking through one of Genoa's streets on occasion of my first visit to the city, I tried, by stretching my arms left and right, to touch the steep mountain wall on the one side while dipping the other hand into the ocean. Traffic conditions have changed since the time of Columbus and Paganini, but not the space between the mountain range and the sea. The authorities are pondering about constructing a long tunnel through the mountain, or an elevated speedway or perhaps a 2,000-foot suspension bridge across the harbor in order to solve the traffic problem.

Castellaneta finally erected a monument to Guglielmi. What does this interest us, you might ask, since we do not even know the Mr. Guglielmi. And how do you pronounce it anyway? But I say you DO KNOW him: his stage name was Rodolfo Valentino. Yes, the most handsome of all movie actors was born in Castellaneta far down in the heel of the peninsula. When Valentino died in 1926 in New York, nobody in his home town, except an uncle, know about it. What a memorable day, what a funeral it was. Didn't some girls commit suicide? Nobody in Castellaneta had then even seen a Valentino movie picture. His co-citizens refused with indignation the suggestion that a monument should be erected to one who was "only an actor." But finally, after 35 years they have changed their mind. Castellaneta now boasts to be the native city of the former sea captain Rodolfo Guglielmi, alias Valentino and welcomes the idea to honor the memory of her great son by erecting a monument. — H. A. January Exhibit Features Old Area Photos

Among the donors are Albert Cashdollar, Elizabeth Clough, Ruth Herrick Cook, Victor Lasher, L. L. Long, Mrs. Daniel Mellert, Mrs. Hazel Shultis, Mrs. Nelson Shultis and Earle B. Winslow.

The exhibit includes pictures from Zena and Wittenberg, as well as Woodstock village, Bearsville, Shady, Lake Hill, Willow and Overlook. Their dates range from 1872 to 1932.

There is also a large group of Maverick Carnival pictures loaned by Earle B. Winslow and eleven school groups, eight from Woodstock and one each from Shady, Wittenberg and Zena.

Official Board Sets Meeting in Shady

The Official Board of the Methodist Church of Shady will hold its January meeting on Friday evening, January 12, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller at Shady.

The regular meeting was postponed last Friday evening due to storm conditions.

All members of the Official Board and members of the church are urged and invited to attend.

Christian Science Theme Is: 'Sacrament'

A communion service will be held Sunday at all Christian Science churches.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read. It will lay special emphasis on commemorating the unselfish life of Christ Jesus by following his example.

The Apostle Paul's advice to Timonthy constitutes the Golden Text (I Tim. 4); "Be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in chaity, in spirit, in faith, in purity."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (p.4): "What we most need is the prayer of fervent deside for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds. To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

Churchwomen Slate St. Gregory Meeting

The Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Gregory's will hold their January meeting at the church on Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 1:30 a. m.

All women of the parish are cordially invited to attend and participate in plans for the annual meeting on January 30, at which the Venerable George F. Bratt, Archdeacon of the Diocese of New York, will be the principal speaker.

Ketcham-Pap Nuptials Have Been Announced

Miss B. Sturtevant Gardner of Woodstock announces the marriage of her niece, Mrs. Valerie Ketcham, also of Woodstock, to Dr. Leo Pap of New Paltz.

The wedding took place on January 6. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Miss Gardner. Dr. and Mrs. Pap will reside on New California Quarry Road in Woodstock.

Senior Citizens Meet

The monthly meeting of the Woodstock Senior Citizens Club will be held Tuesday, Jan. 16, at the Methodist Church hall. There will be refreshments and entertainment. All persons over 60 are invited.

Begin Testimony Today In Assault Lawsuit

Testimony started today in a Supreme Court trial here of an action brought to recover damages resulting of an alleged assault outside a restaurant in the Town of Lloyd.

The action is brought by Harold S. Depew of Highland against William Maloney of Pleasant Valley, Dutchess County.

Depew alleges he was assaulted by Maloney June 15, 1958 outside Ship Lantern Inn and that he was badly injured when he struck a stone terrace.

Depew and Mrs. Depew had been attending a service club installation, and Maloney had been at the restaurant.

Attorneys are Michael Nardone of Highland for Depew, who was hospitalized after the incident, and N. LeVan Haver of Kingston for Maloney.

Suicide Verdict Is Returned in Patient's Death

A preliminary verdict of suicide was reported Monday by Dr. E. Alan Larkin, Amenia, a Dutchess County assistant medical examiner, who investigated the death on Sunday of Joseph J. Atanasio, 32, a Hudson River State Hospital patient.

State Police Investigator Emmett F. Donohue of Rhinebeck, who investigated with Dr. Larkin said the patient threw himself under the rear wheel of a bus on the institution grounds. The bus is owned by the state and was operated at the time by Roland Tompkins, 18 Second Street, Walden.

Atanasio, a former resident of Troy, had been a patient at the state hospital since Feb. 10, 1960. An open ward patient he had been staying at Inwood building.

Dr. Larkin said the bus had stopped to discharge three passengers and as it started ahead the patient threw himself under the right rear wheel. He apparently died of head injuries.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

FCC Reads Riot Act to Boys

'Neighborly Station' Leaves Air Abruptly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slightly high-pitched voice of WALE, "your neighborly station," has signed off without so much as one bong.

It was turned off, gently but firmly, by a grim-faced investigator of the Federal Communications Commission who read the riot act to its two operators—Bruce Wahl, 13, and David Lester, 14.

Station in Bedroom

Its station was Wahl's bedroom; its commentators, engineers, announcers and disc jockeys were Wahl and Lester. Its range was neighborly—covering nine other houses.

The boys pieced the equipment together from old parts and went on the air a month ago from Wahl's home in nearby Falls Church, Va.

Every afternoon afer school, WALE offered the neighbors a program of weather information, news culled from newspapers and music—"everything from rock 'n' roll to the semi-classics."

Any listeners? Wahl and Lester had no rating but Wahl said he knew that at least one family listened—"but they moved away after the first broadcast. Of course, they had been planning to move for six months."

It was fun. Until the other day. WALE had been on the air for about 45 minutes when Bruce spotted a man in an automobile aiming a device with an aerial at the bedroom window.

Then the man came to the door.

"Are you running a radio station?" he asked.

Proudly the boys acknowledged they were.

Smiles Fade Quickly

The smiles faded when the man flashed a card identifying him as an investigator from the FCC. He said he wanted to check their equipment.

After checking the equipment—which operated on about a tenth of a watt—he sat down last Thursday with the boys and Bruce's mother and read a passage from a book. It was a copy of the Communications Act and it told how people operating unlicensed stations could be fined $10,000 or sent to jail for two years. Maybe both.

"Boy," said Bruce, "did we begin shaking like leaves."

So now WALE is off the air. The FCC is willing to forget the whole thing but officials explained there would be chaos on the airwaves if anybody could operate a station, even a neighborly one.

Relatives Arrive To Identify Train Wreck Casualites

UTRECHT, Netherlands (AP)—Relatives of victims in Holland's worst train wreck were arriving today to help in the grim task of identifying bodies lying in long rows in a church.

The official death toll stood at 87.

Women volunteers met the relatives and took them first to a hotel where all information on the dead and injured still in hospitals was assembled.

Most of the identified dead were men. Women victims were difficult to identify because their handbags, containing personal documents, were lost in the crash.

Officials said all the identified casualties were Dutch except two Britons who were injured only slightly.

The track was cleared today where the speeding express crashed into a slower commuter train at a fogged-in junction near Woerden.

The express was scheduled to pass through the junction three minutes before the commuter train. Instead it telescoped into the side of the slower train. Officials speculated that one of the engineers failed to see a signal because of the fog.

Japs' Debt Is Cut

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's postwar debt to the United States was settled today for less than one-quarter of its original cost.

Japan agreed to repay $490 million of the $1,889,000,000 it received from 1945-52 mostly in relief supplies and economic rehabilitation.

Under terms of the repayment, $25 million will be used for educational and cultural exchanges between the two countries. The United States plans to use most of the rest for aid to underdeveloped countries in Asia, which would help strengthen Japan's key markets.

Erhard Supports Kennedy Views On Trade Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany's Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard says he strongly favors President Kennedy's proposals to liberalize trade and make across-the-board reductions in U.S. tariffs.

The European Common Market in turn should reciprocate with lower external tariffs if Kennedy's trade program wins congressional approval, Erhard told newsmen Monday night.

"This is the time now for great and imaginative ideas," the West German said in advocating broad tariff reductions.

"It is always easier to carry out bold ideas," he said. "It is easier to have across the board reductions than to fumble with each tariff position individually."

Erhard ends his two-day Washington visit today. His schedule includes meetings with Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, World Bank President Eugene Black, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

Erhard reported that his 85-minute meeting with Kennedy Monday centered on the future of the Atlantic community.

Drug Information Available Now In Washington

NEW YORK (AP)—Now when a doctor anywhere in the nation wants to prescribe a drug, he can call a telephone number in Washington, and get current information on what the drug can and cannot do.

The new telephone service, operating around the clock every day in the year, is called Mediphone and begins operation today.

It will help doctors keep track of the some 8,600 drugs now in use and the new ones introduced regularly by the U.S. pharmaceutical industry. It will also help doctors pinpoint the allergic or poisonous reactions that new potent drugs sometimes have.

The physicians who are guiding the service say they have tabulated every published source and will draw on the library and Department of Pharmacology at Georgetown University.

Doctors will pay an annual membership fee of $20 and each call to Mediphone center in Washington will cost $3 for which the doctor will receive a verbal answer immediately and a written report mailed within 24 hours.

Alerts Health Board

Editor, The Freeman

I think the Board of Health should be alerted to investigate conditions of public bathrooms in our city.

Yesterday I had the occasion to view the Ladies' (?) room in one of Kingston's leading chain food stores and I was appalled at the filth I witnessed. How supposedly enlightened citizens and employes can use such disgusting facilities is beyond my scope and, in a store where soaps, detergents and disinfectants are so plentiful, I find it inexcusable and disgraceful.

Very truly yours

31 Rebels Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The government announced today its forces had killed at least 30 Viet Cong rebels and destroyed a major Communist base in the Mekong River delta during a three-day operation ending last Friday.

Hyde Park Council Meets on Division

Members of the Hyde Park Town Council will meet tonight to discuss a proposal for a fall referendum on dividing the town into four wards, according to Councilman Donald McDonald (D).

McDonald said the ward system would require a referendum, which probably will be ready by the November general election.

On New Year's Day, the Democratic controlled council, cut almost $11,000 from salaries budgeted by the former council last November.

Saigon to Boost Regular Army by 30,000 With Aid

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Viet Nam is acting to increase its regular army from 170,000 to 200,000 with the help of U.S. military aid.

U.S. officials said that the guerrilla war appears to be growing in intensity there, killing and wounding 400 non-Communists a week.

State Department officials in disclosing the army buildup today said the additional costs would be borne by both South Viet Nam and the United States through a new financial reform program.

U.S. officials estimate that Communist North Viet Nam has 300,000 to 350,000 men under arms.

In the past year guerrilla activity by the Communist Viet Cong rebels more than doubled, according to W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state.

The number of Viet Cong operating in South Viet Nam is estimated at 18,000 or more. U.S. officials said there has been a sharp increase in violent incidents in recent months.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr., is conducting an overall review of American policy in South Viet Nam with foreign aid representatives and officials of the State and Defense departments.

A State Department spokesman said that the United States "is not sending combat troops to Souh Viet Nam except for traing purposes—if you want to reyard them as combat troops in that light."

Man Still Sought For Bogus Checks By Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie police today continued search for a well-dressed man, wanted for questioning in connection with the issuance of two worthless checks totaling $850, according to Police Chief John L. Martin.

Martin said a warrant has been issued charging the unidentified man with forgery second degree.

The chief said the man was accompanied by a woman when he purchased a wedding ring and a gold engagement ring at Saniel's Jewelry store, 270 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, last Dec. 27. The man gave a clerk $61.74 in cash and a $150 check, which later proved to be worthless. The purchase of the jewelry totaled $211.74.

Police officials said the man gave a $700 check to the Marine Midland National Bank of Southeastern New York, Poughkeepsie, last Dec. 28. He deposited $300 in an account he opened at the bank and took $400 in cash.

Court Will Hear Goetz Appeal on Morals Thursday

An appeal in the case of Bernard Goetz, 55, Rhinebeck manufacturer, who was convicted in Dutchess County in May, 1960, on 12 morals and assault charges involving two 15-year-old Rhinebeck boys, will be heard by members of the Supreme Court Appellate Division on Thursday.

County Judge John R. Schwartz sentenced Goetz on June 10, 1960, to six months in the county jail at Poughkeepsie.

Goetz was released in $2,500 bail on June 14, 1960, pending appeal.

Supreme Court Justice Robert Doscher later signed a certificate of reasonable doubt.

Plane With Nine Reported Overdue

NEW YORK (AP) — An Air Force KB50 tanker aircraft with nine men aboard was reported overdue early today on a flight from Langley Air Force Base, Va., to the Azores Islands off Portugal.

The Coast Guard here said the plane's last reported position was about 240 miles due east of Norfolk, Va.

The spokesman said a "track line" search was being conducted —meaning, he said, a search of an area 40 miles south and 90 miles north of the area in which the plane last was reported.

At Langley, an Air Force spokesman said a radio check was being made with all airports and fields where the plane may have landed if trouble developed on the flight.

The plane left Langley at 11:17 a.m. Monday and was due in the Azores at 6:59 p.m.

Its fuel supply would have been exhausted at 11 p.m. Monday Langley officials said.

The plane is attached to the 427th Air Refueling Squadron at Langley.

Dulcet Tones Life-Saver

Voice Warning From Box Alerts Bomber

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lt. Col. Henry Deutschendorf and his crew were bringing their eight-jet B58 bomber down at Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

The weather was bad, radar guided his approach. Suddenly a woman's low, husky voice whispered a warning in his ear.

He looked, and sure enough, two engines had flamed out.

His crew had heard the warnings, too, in time to trim the ship properly for the landing.

The voice came from a little black box in the giant bomber's instrument panel. The eight-pound box, a miniature tape recorder, was hooked up with the panel's system of warning lights. When the engines flamed out, the box began playing a recording.

The voice belongs to Gina Drazin, a pert and pretty secretary in the plant where the black box was made—Nortronics Division of Northrop Corp.

Gina's voice was chosen primarily because it is low and husky.

"I've had no voice training," says Gina. "I can't carry a tune in a basket—my voice is pitched too low. But I guess that's why it was chosen—high-pitched voices fade out on aircraft intercoms."

If low pitch was needed, why wasn't a man's voice used?

That's easy. A woman's voice gets more attention in a bomber cockpit.

The voice warning, called Vips —for Voice Interruption Priority System—is being installed in all B58 bombers because pilot attention can be diverted from the panel lights by a number of emergencies. He may overlook visual signals but tests show pilot response to Gina's dulcet tones is immediate.

It's too bad the recording conveys only Gina's soft voice. Her other attributes—34-26-36, blue eyes, brown hair and a quick smile—are equally attention grabbing.

A Delicate Issue

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Ernest Vandiver says a proposal to hold public school classes 12 months a year is very provocative and he hopes legislative committees will give it thorough study.

But, he added at a news conference Monday, "My 13-year-old son has very passionately requested that I veto that piece of legislation."

Bing Improving

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) Crooner Bing Crosby is reported steadily improving following his operation for removal of kidney stones.

His physician, Dr. Frederick Schlumberger, said Crosby probably will be released from St. John's hospital within a week.

War or Peace Word by Sukarno Due Soon

Week to 10 Days Cited On Guinea

Dutch Agents Are Blamed for Threat

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio indicated today that President Sukarno will decide the question of war or peace over Dutch-occupied West New Guinea "within a week or 10 days."

Subandrio told newsmen after a conference of Indonesia's top military policy-making body—the National Defense Council—that Sukarno "has come to the conclusion that at present there are still no signs that diplomatic moves can be of help in solving the West Irian (West New Guinea) problem."

Blames Vague Attitude

Subandrio blamed the "vague attitude of the Dutch."

Sukarno heads the National Defense Council and presided over the meeting following a four-day speaking tour of the Celebes, where he escaped a grenade explosion in Makassar. He blamed the attempt on his life—the fourth in four years—on the Dutch.

"Within one week or 10 days," Subandrio said, "we will have arrived at a conclusion, and will have the certainty whether steps in the diplomatic field with the Dutch can be of help in solving the West Irian issue."

An Army spokesman announced during the defense council conference that Sukarno has appointed one of his top military officers, Brig. Gen. Suharto, to head the West New Guinea "Liberation Command." Suharto has been commander of the Army Corps General Reserve.

Returns to Capital

The Indonesian president returned to his capital from the South Celebes tour late Monday. Col. Yusuf, the military commander there, assured Sukarno before he left Makassar that he would "leave no stone unturned" in apprehending those responsible for the assassination attempt. Several suspects have been arrested, he said.

The explosion reportedly killed four persons and wounded 27 others, including an army commander. One of the dead and 14 of the wounded were children.

Although the Celebes, Sumatra and other outer islands were the scene of a determined revolt against Sukarno's rule in 1958, the president told a reception in Makassar that preliminary investigation showed "Dutch henchmen" were behind the latest assassination attempt.

"This is the fourth attempt on my life," he said. "I pray to God for His grace."

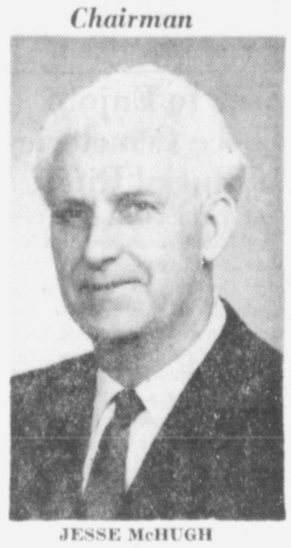

Regains Composure

Sukarno looked composed at the reception, apparently having recovered from the initial shock. Aides said he was badly shaken by the blast. U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones, who was traveling with Sukarno's official party, said he "looked a little pale" afterward.

"Investigations indicate Dutch-inspired agents are behind this outrage," Yusuf said. "The aim

McHugh New Chairman, Other Supervisor Officers Elected

Jesse McHugh (R), Town of Shawangunk, former Majority leader of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, was named chairman of the board Monday night at an organization meeting. He succeeds Supervisor Robert F. Phinney of the 11th ward.

McHugh has served as a member of the board since 1960 and is also vice-chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee. His election is for a one-year period.

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties was named Republican majority leader to succeed McHugh.

Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties, a former supervisor, was re-elected clerk of the board and also budget officer.

Arthur A. Davis Jr., Kingston Republican, was re-elected County Attorney.

Joseph Gentile, (R) Ellenville, was re-elected auditor and county purchasing agent.

Dr. Sidney C. Pauker of Kingston was named jail physician.

Supervisor John J. Gaffney, Lloyd Democrat, was again designated minority leader.

Delayed an Hour

The meeting Monday was the first one attended by the newly-elected supervisors, and, as usual, was delayed over an hour before getting underway when the Democratic members caucused. Republican members had caucused on Friday.

In the absence of Clerk Snyder, who suffered fractured ribs last Friday in a fall, former Deputy Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer acted as clerk and called the session to order. There were 32 supervisors present. Supervisor Peter F. Simpson (D), Sixth ward was absent.

On motion of Supervisor Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, seconded by Supervisor James A. Rapp (R), First ward, Lester A. Davis (R), Olive, was named temporary chairman.

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, nominated Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), Ninth ward and Supervisor Francis Vertetis (D), Third ward, seconded.

On the roll call Davis received the 19 Republican votes and McCardle the 13 Democratic votes. Supervisor Roger Mabie (D) Esopus, moved for unanimous election and Supervisors Robert A. Phinney and John C. Quimby, Marlboro, were named to escort the temporary chairman to the rostrum.

McHugh Praised

Former Chairman of the Board Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, nominated Supervisor McHugh for chairman, saying that for 12 years McHugh had been a member of the board and "never once have I seen him lose his temper" and he referred to McHugh's conduct of business as majority leader and his expert conduct of all matters from the floor. Supervisor Alexander Banyo (R), Ulster, seconded, referring to McHugh as a man "respected by us" and "members on the other side of the aisle." Banyo said many times when tempers had flared on the floor McHugh has "mellowed tempers" and the problem was "more easily solved." He said the board was fortunate in having such a man.

Supervisor John Glennon, 13th ward Democrat named Supervisor John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro and Supervisor George Mollenhauer (D), Rosendale, seconded.

The roll call was 19 for McHugh and 13 for Quimby and Supervisor Quimby moved to make the selection unanimous. Supervisors Charles Relyea (R),

Williams Covers 5 Big Items

Says Cooperation Key to Progress

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties, named Republican Majority Leader of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Monday night, in accepting the floor leader position outlined the Republican "platform" for 1962.

Among his outstanding points were:

1. Top priority for the Community College.

2. To expedite the County Office Building program by reactivating the Building Committee and holding public meeting on the matter.

3. Establishment of "physical standards" for county law enforcement officers.

4. A re-study of the county salary schedule which has had little revisement following the report of the Salary Study Committee some four years ago.

5. A study of the ever increasing tax problem, particularly the school tax problem, by the appointment of a committee from the Board of Supervisors, augmented by outstanding private citizens to make a study and report on the matter.

Minority Leader John J. Gaffney spoke on the Democratic hopes and said his party would later submit its platform suggestions. However he said many of those mentioned by Majority Leader Williams had been high up on the Democratic party recommendations.

College Important

Williams in discussing the Republican platform for 1962 said that one of the first steps is to appoint a board of trustees for Ulster County Community College. The board names five and the Governor four.

"We intend to appoint outstanding citizens of proven merit, and irrespective of political affiliation," he said, "they will all be persons dedicated to providing a good college program for the youth of our county."

Williams stressed that careful planning rather than speed should be the keynote.

"Students who graduate should be able to obtain full college credit for work at our college," he stressed. "To accomplish our aim requires very careful planning by a conscientious board of trustees."

New County Office Building

"I think there is a general agreement, on both sides of the aisle that there is a crying need for a new county office building," Williams declared. "In other words, it is my belief that the minority as well as the majority fully agree that we badly need

World War Memorial Authority Advisory Council — Thomas Savage of Rome, Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart, William O'Brien Sr., of Waverly, Robert A. Schumacher of Plattsburgh, Cornelius A. Van Deusen, Claverack and Everhardt Von Reyn of Jamestown.

Committees Will Report Prior to Albany Sessions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Joint legislative committees will report their recommendations in advance of future sessions of the Legislature so that lawmakers, press and public will have more time to form opinions.

This change in procedure was ordered Monday night in a resolution passed unanimously by both houses of the Legislature. It was evidence of increasing concern on the part of legislative leaders about the public image of the state's law-making process.

Pay Boost Criticized

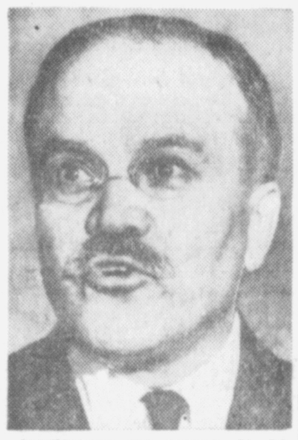

Senators and Assemblymen were subjected to widespread criticism last year when they raised their pay from $7,500 annually to $10,000, effective next Jan. 1.

At present, committees set their own dates for reporting, some of which are near the end of the session. As a result, major proposals sometimes are rushed through in the closing days.

The joint committees prepare the bulk of the major bills emanating from the legislative branch of government. Other major bills come from the governor.

Under the new plan, the joint committees must be organized by May 7 and their recommendations made by Dec. 15. The Legislature convenes in early January.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said in a statement that, under the change, "many important bills can be started through the legislative machinery earlier in the session."

RETURNS TO POST—V. M. Molotov, former Soviet foreign minister, has returned to his post with the International Atomic Energy Commission in Vienna, the Soviet foreign office said in Moscow. Forced Down in Armenia

Be'gian Plane Will Be Released by Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government agreed today to release a Belgian airliner which landed Monday in Armenia while on a flight from Tehran to Brussels, Belgium, with 27 persons aboard.

All 27 Safe

First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasilyv Kuznetsov told Belgian Ambassador Hyppolite Cools that all passengers and crewmen were safe and staying at a hotel in Grozny, north of Yerevan, where the plane was reported forced down.

Kuznetsov delivered a routine formal protest about the violation of Soviet air space by the Caravelle jetliner.

Kuznetsov referred to 18 passengers and a crew of eight. But Sabena, owner of the airliner, had said there were 19 passengers. Three passengers are Americans.

In Tehran, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weimer, first reported to be Germans, are Americans from New York City. Weimer is an engineer with a construction firm in Iran. He and his wife, Maria, were being transferred to Tunis.

The third American is Fred Holden, bound for Athens from the Far East. His home address was not immediately available.

Other passengers were Belgians, Germans, South Africans, Lebanese and Greeks.

Kuznetsov said instructions had been sent to Grozny to release the airliner as soon as technical details can be taken care of. These details will be worked out between Sabena and the Soviet airline Aeroflot.

T. H. Theroy of Sabena will fly to Grozny tonight.

There was no further word on how the plane, en route from Tehran to Istanbul, strayed so far off its course. Nor was there any word on just how it was forced down.

Pursued by Jets

Grozny is a big oil center 275 miles north of the Iranian border and is in the Russian Federated Republic. Earlier reports had said the plane landed in Soviet Armenia.

The plane landed after radioing that it was being pursued by Soviet MIG jet fighters.

Bitter Cold Hits Rockies, Plains After Snow Blanket

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bitter cold moved into Colorado and Wyoming today in the wake of one of the winter's heaviest snowfalls.

The storm which blanketed the two mountain states with 12 inches or more of snow Monday moved eastward into Kansas and Oklahoma.

Up to 6 inches of snow was expected in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Roads in northwest Oklahoma were icing. Snow in the Oklahoma City area was pushed around by winds of 28 to 35 miles an hour.

The storm, second in a week, pushed as far south as Amarillo, Tex. Blizzard conditions struck Monday night in the Texas Panhandle. At Amarillo the temperature dropped to 20 from a daytime high of 40.

More than a half foot of snow fell in western Kansas. Tribune reported 7 inches, Garden City 6 and Dodge City 3.

Some of the coldest air of the season swept across the northeast plains of New Mexico westward to the Continental Divide.

In Wyoming, the mercury fell to 24 below zero at Casper and Laramie and to 15 below at Cheyenne. Temperatures hit subzero recordings in Colorado. At Butte, Mont., it was -32 before daybreak.

Bus and airline schedules were disrupted in Colorado and Wyoming as snow covered all major highways.

Two deaths were attributed to the storm in Denver, both resulting from heart attacks induced by over-exertion in trying to cope with the city's 13½-inch snowfall.

Snow slides blocked two mountain passes, Loveland west of Denver and Monarch in south central Colorado. Monarch has been cleared. Other major highways were snow packed, icy and dangerous, even with chains.

Hundreds of schools were shut in Colorado. Many stores in downtown Denver closed early Monday.

Deferred Action Expected On Parking, City Budget

Common Council action on the city's 1962 budget, on off-street parking and on other legislation introduced at the Jan. 2 meeting is expected to be deferred again at Wednesday night's recessed meeting, it was indicated today.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, still working today on the budget, said he is hopeful of proposing reductions, and it is expected that Democratic aldermen will request further time to study whatever changes are listed.

Legislation on off-street parking is also apparently due to be postponed because of two plans to be considered, and because the mayor has requested a meeting with the special off-street parking on Jan. 15. One plan has already been reported on by the committee and the other is proposed by the mayor.

The committee met last night, as scheduled, and Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, its chairman, today reported a spirit of cooperation in an attempt to arrive at the best possible plan.

Hastings, in a letter to the mayor, apparently written as a result of last night's meeting, indicated that the majority party councilmen feel a need for decision on the parking lot proposal before approval of the budget.

After expressing disappointment as to the mayor's inability to attend last night's meeting and indicating that his proposals could have been as well received from Council Minority Leader Joseph F. Carroll Jr. Hastings wrote:

"However, the point which this committee would like to stress is the fact that off-street parking facilities will most decisively figure in the final formation of the budget and tax rate, pertain-

Gizenga Ouster Possible, Leadership Is Disclaimed

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Antoine Gizenga's political party today disclaimed his leadership as moderate forces converged for a showdown to oust Gizenga from an active role in the Congolese government.

Felicien Kimway, vice president of Gizenga's African Solidarity party, announced that Gizenga is no longer president of the party.

Kimway's announcement followed a resolution by Parliament Monday demanding that Gizenga —a deputy premier backed by the Communist bloc — return from self-imposed exile in Stanleyville to answer parliamentary accusations of secessionism.

The vote indicated clearly that disenchantment is growing among those leftists who once supported Gizenga as the legal head of the Congolese government after Patrice Lumumba's death.

If Gizenga fails to return, observers felt action might be started to oust him from the post of deputy premier he accepted last August in the central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Gizenga has secluded himself in Stanleyville for months. Reports from that northeast Congo city indicate he has lost much of his local and even foreign support.

In a resolution approved Monday by a vote of 66-10 with 7 abstentions, the central Congolese Parliament gave Gizenga 48 hours after notification by Premier Cy-

McCormack Feels Congress to Pass Bulk of Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic leadership of Congress predicted today that the bulk of President Kennedy's heavy legislative program will be passed in the new session which starts Wednesday.

The House majority leader and speaker-to-be, Rep. John W. Mccormack, D-Mass., told reporters after a White House breakfast that the President scored a "tremendous record last year."

McCormack Confident

"I have every confidence that Congress will enact into law the greater part of the President's program," he said.

McCormack was speaking of the domestic side of the administration's want list.

That program includes tax revision, medical care for the aged under Social Security, aid to education and other controversial proposals.

McCormack left in deep doubt, however, the outlook for the proposal for health care under the Social Security system.

When newsmen quizzed him on the point he said: "I have every confidence that if the bill comes out of the Ways and Means Committee it will be approved by the House."

He was asked: "What do you think of the chances of its coming out of the committee?"

McCormack paused a moment, then said in a tone of finality: "Well, thank you, gentlemen."

To Pursue Message

The session with Kennedy was billed as a preview of the State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress in person Thursday. Cabinet members were summoned to a later session to go over the message.

The leaders of House and Senate, with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, gave Kennedy their formal invitation to deliver his State of the Union to a joint session.

Kennedy accepted, of course, and then dates were set for the other two major session-opening presidential messages.

The budget message will be delivered Jan. 18, it was announced, and the annual economic report Jan. 22. Neither of those is to be delivered in person.

The Senate's majority leader, Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and McCormack told newsmen the bulk of this morning's breakfast talk was about the legislation which must pass through the Ways and Means Committee and its Senate counterpart, the Finance Committee. The chairmen of both, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., attended the session.

Seeks Bipartisan Support

Monday Kennedy made unusual efforts to enlist bipartisan support for his foreign policies.

A White House briefing of Democratic and Republican leaders of both houses on world conditions was supplemented by a more detailed rundown at a luncheon given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for a bipartisan senatorial group.

Dirksen Gives Views

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who attended both sessions, said in an interview it seems obvious to him that Kennedy's batting average in the new session which opens Wednesday will be affected by international developments.

"If the world situation becomes more intense, it will tend to strengthen the President's hand," Dirksen said.

Others who sat in on both meetings reported that the administration feels it is holding its own in the never-slackening battle with world communism.

But as an indication of the conflict that may lie ahead on issues with domestic and foreign impact, Rusk was reported to have run into sharp questioning from Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee. This centered on Kennedy's forthcoming request for authority to buy $100 million in United Nations bonds.

Byrd was said to have contended that the floating of the bonds, to be paid off out of U.N. general funds, would force France and Belgium to contribute to the costs of Congo operations—which they and the Soviet Union have declined to do—or to take the alternative of getting out of the United Nations.

Aiken Forecasts Row

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a Foreign Relations committeeman, forecast a row over the bond request. Several senators have attacked the United Nations' use of force in efforts to bring secessionist Katanga back into the central Congo government.

Aiken, who did not join in such criticisms, called the proposed bond purchase a device to "have this country pick up Russia's tab" for the Congo operations toward which the Soviets have refused any contribution.

Kennedy's domestic proposals are expected to be wrapped up in a $92 billion-plus budget the President has promised will be balanced unless there are emergency increases in defense outlays.

$1.2 Billion for Aid

Congressional sources said it was understood the defense budget of about $52 billion would include $1.2 billion for foreign military aid.

Republican leaders have joined Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, in advance promises to cut non-defense spending.

Dirksen said that no one now can forecast what Congress will do about Kennedy's forthcoming request for broad authority to negotiate tariff adjustments in dealing with the European Common Market.

In the only Senate leadership contest of the new session, Republicans will select a successor Wednesday to the late Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire as chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Saltonstall Hopeful

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, who now heads the conference of all GOP senators and is a candidate for the policy chairmanship, said he thinks he has a good chance of getting the job.

Saltonstall is regarded as less conservative than his opponent, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. Hickenlooper's supporters predicted he will win the chairmanship by a margin of four or five votes.

House Democrats were called together to name Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts as speaker to succeed the late Sam Rayburn of Texas. Republicans have yet to decide whether they will run minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana against him just for the honor of it.

The House Democrats also probably will name Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., as majority leader to succeed McCormack.

Report Damage Caused by Jet Breaking Barrier

Complaints of property damage were received at the Sheriff's Office today from area residents after a blast persumably caused by a jet breaking the sound barrier.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro said he received a call shortly before 11:30 a. m. from Mrs. Alda Mainetti, St. Remy, who reported the blast broke 12 storm windows and several leaded windows at her home. A few moments later, Marino Mainetti reported the same damage.

Conro said a call also was received from the Pleasure Yacht in Eddyville but the extent of damage, if any, was not reported at that time. Conro said many other calls were received regarding the explosion.

An officer at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, when informed of the complaints of damage, told Conro that any resident in this area who claims property damage due to the explosion should write to the Claim Office, BOCJA, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, setting forth in the letter the address of the property owner, telephone number and estimated amount of damage.

Held on Burglary Count for Accord Diner, Feed Mill

A 27-year-old Granit man was arrested Monday night by State Police Investigator Charles Teelon of Ellenville BCI on a third degree burglary charge.

Teelon said Carlton Whipple waived preliminary examination at arraignment before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

Whipple was committeed to Ulster County jail pending grand jury action.

Teelon said Whipple is accused of entering the GLF Feed Store at Accord and taking an unestimated amount of cash last Saturday. Whipple was also accused of entering a luncheonette on Route 209 and taking cash and a quantity of cigarettes.

Revival Attempts Fail on Woman Found in Garage

Gladys M. Lambiase, 51, wife of Emil Lambiase, of 3 Westrum Street, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Benedictine Hospital this morning after she was found apparently unconscious or lifeless in the family garage by her teenage sons.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle said he was withholding his verdict pending the outcome of tests to be made after an autopsy.

She was found in a car inside the garage shortly after 8 a. m. the coroner said. She was taken into the house from where she was removed to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance after revival attempts failed.

Besides her husband, two sons, Lawrence and Robert survive.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 9 a. m. from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home Inc. 411 Albany Avenue, and at St. Joseph's Church at 10 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Fair Enough

NEW YARK (AP)—By special agreement, Noel Willman is appearing in "Isle of Children" that reaches Broadway later this season.

Willman was busily directing the recently arrived hit "A Man for All Seasons," when he was approached about performing in the upcoming venture. Its director, Jules Dassin, was unfamiliar with Willman's work as an actor, and requested that he read.

In exchange, Dassin promised that if Willman ever wanted him to act in a play he was directing, then he (Dassin) would read for the part.

Seek to Enjoin Three Cemeteries In Burial Rift

NEW YORK—The State Cemetery Board announced this week that it had requested the Attorney General to institute proceedings to enjoin three cemeteries in the New York Metropolitan area from discontinuing Saturday burials.

The board said it is seeking injunctions to assure normal funeral services at The Evergreens, Lutheran and Greenwood Cemeteries, which had indicated earlier their intention to eliminate Saturday burials.

The action was taken after the Cemetery Board met with representatives of several cemeteries at the office of the Secretary of State Caroline K Simon, who is chairman of the board of which Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz and Commissioner of Health Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe are members.

Following the meeting, the Cemetery Board stated that its attempt to make certain that the cemeteries which have announced their intention to close Saturday would continue as formerly to serve the public was successful with several cemeteries.

In its statement the board said, "To protect the pubic interest, the board, acting in conformity with the rules and regulations of the Division of Cemeteries, turned to the courts to help in this situation affecting the emotions of so many people. The board has consistently made clear that cemeteries under its jurisdiction may not make any changes in days on which they are open for burial without board approval.

"There are many facets to this question. The religious element and the emotional state of the bereaved at a most difficult time in their lives has importance to the board. The board does not contemplate any move permitting changes in the rules and regulations administering cemeteries under its jurisdiction until all phases of this question are fully aired and examined in each instance."

The board suggested strongly that cemeteries submit any changes desired for board consideration. The cemetery representatives were assured that applications would receive sound, thorough and thoughtful consideration with the best interests of the public in mind. Mrs. Simon, as chairman, pointed out that the board is scheduled to meet Wednesday to pass on such matters, and would review pending applications.

The board pointed out that unilateral action, wherein rules and regulations are concerned, by several cemeteries could not be condoned.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. Simon with Samuel A. Hirshowitz, first assistant to the Attorney General, and Burr W. Marshall, representing the Commissioner of Health, in attendance.

Chinook Winds

The warm, dry wind which blows down the slopes of the Rocky Mountains in winter and early spring is called a Chinook, so named by early settlers of the region because it was supposed to come from the country of the Chinook Indians at the mouth of the Columbia.

Disaster Program By Regional CD Set at Rhinebeck

A regional Civil Defense disaster program will be conducted Friday, Jan. 19 at Rhinebeck in cooperation with the Northern Dutchess Hospital medical staff.

Rhinebeck Town Hall will be the disaster site. Fifty "victims" from the northern Dutchess area will be taken to the hospital in station wagons, ambulances and other approved vehicles.

Dr. David Block, Tivoli, is chairmen of the disaster committee. Walter W. Warner, Barrytown, will direct the disaster program.

Others assisting during the program will be Dr. Frederick Zipser, Red Hook, associate director; James F. Loftus, chief of auxiliary police; Peter Troy, Red Hook, communications, and S. Richard Lloyd, transportation.

Dr. Reuben T. Lapidus, chief of medicine, and Dr. Elvin Gottdiener, Northern Dutchess Hospital chief radiologist, will observe the incident and write critiques for discussion at the next medical staff meeting.

Library Board Meets Saturday

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mid-Hudson Libraries System which was postponed last Saturday because of storm and highway conditions, will be held at the Poughkeepsie headquarters Saturday, according to Hugh Elwyn, Kingston, president of the board.

Elwyn said the board plans to interview candidates to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Harold O. Harlan, Rhinebeck, director of the system. Elwyn said no action is expected on a successor at Saturday afternoon's meeting.

Until a director is appointed, Leon Karpel, 20 Fulton Avenue, Poughkeepsie, is serving in the office.

Centralization Vote of Dutchess School Units Set

Voters in the Staatsburg Union Free School District and the Hyde Park Central District will decide at the polls on Tuesday, Jan. 16, whether to form a new central district of the present two districts.

Ray F. Barnum, president of the Hyde Park Board of Education, and Abbott W. Salter, president of the Staatsburg board issued a joint statement urging all voters in the two districts to vote in favor of the proposal.

The district officials stated that both boards of education have unanimously endorsed the proposed merger because of educational and financial advantages.

Voting hours will be from noon until 8 p. m.

Retired Civil Employes Slate Meeting Saturday

Police Deputy Suspended

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Police Chief Harold F. Kelly today suspended Deputy Chief Bernard A. Nelson and filed formal charges against the 50-year-old Nelson, the third in command of the Syracuse Police Department.

Kelly said he had information "which leads me to believe" Nelson may, among other things, have violated police-department regulations barring members from connections with establishments that sell liquor.

Canadian Caught On Thruway With Stolen 1962 Car

A 17-year-old Canadian youth, who authorities said admitted two convictions for car theft in Canada, was apprehended Monday 5:45 p. m. on the Thruway at the Kingston exit in a 1962 Thunderbird, which troopers said was stolen in Montreal on Jan. 4.

Trooper Fred Cooper of the Thruway patrol, who made the arrest, identified the defendant as Graeme Webster of Monte St. Halaire, Quebec.

Webster was charged with speeding and driving a car without a license. He also was committed to the Ulster County jail as a fugitive from justice to await arrival of Canadian authorities.

Justice of the Peace Robert E. Ferrigan suspended sentence on each of the motor vehicle charges.

Trooper Cooper said Webster was driving the Thunderbird 85 miles an hour in a southerly direction, when he overtook him. The trooper said Webster admitted to him that he was convicted in Canada of stealing two 1961 automobiles, both of which were later recovered.

Webster, the trooper said, admitte the theft of the 1962 car he was driving.

The trooper said Webster admitted stealing an unestimated number of credit cards from parked automobiles and from the vehicles he stole. Cooper said "the glove compartment of the Thunderbird was full of credit cards."

Webster, the trooper said, told him that when he left Canada in the stolen 1962 vehicle he had no funds. He used credit cards to make purchases on the way, and said he was on his way to New York City "for a good time," Cooper said. Webster had $6 in his pockets when taken into custody.

Cooper said Canadian authorities were expected to arrive here tonight to return Webster to face grand larceny charges.

Weekend Rainfall Helps Bring Up City Water Supply

Weekend rains reported at a total of 2.12 inches in the Mink Hollow watershed is bringing up the supply in Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent said today.

Down 8.6 feet as of last Friday, the reservoir has gained considerably from the rains and by Monday was approaching an even eight feet below spillway crest.

The weekend rain in New York City's Ashokan Reservoir area was reported at 2.16 inches and new water is flowing into that supply which was also badly depleted at the start of winter.

Cooper Lake, Cloonan noted today, has been several feet below spillway crest at the start of a new year only twice in some 30 years. The last time it was down several feet was in 1941 and it was low again 10 years before that. Spring rains in years of low supply have usually brought the reserve at high crest in time for heavy summer usage of water.

The city engineer's office reported the weekend rainfall here at 1.55 inches.

Opposes Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Argentina apparently opposes any collective sanctions against Cuba, Latin-American diplomats say.

They said that seemed to be the essence of a series of proposals forwarded to President Kennedy by Argentina's President Arturo Frondizi.

The diplomats based their estimate of the Argentine proposals, which have not been made public, on news dispatches and on attitudes expressed by Argentine diplomats.

Dispute Over Pa. Reapportionment Near Agreement

HARRISBURG (AP)—Prospects brightened today for an agreement between Republican and Democratic policy makers on reapportionment of Pennsylvania's congressional seats.

Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse and Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom reported Monday night they had agreed to present a half dozen alternative plans for reapportionment to a meeting Wednesday night of a special legislative committee.

The two chairmen expressed hope that the 14-member bi-partisan legislative group would endorse one of the proposals.

Atlas Nose Cones Offer No Threats

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif., (AP)—Marshall Islands residents needn't worry about those Atlas nose cones soon to go screaming over the Pacific as targets for Nike-Zeus antimissile rockets.

A new tracking device, installed here a few miles south of the Atlas launch pads at Vandenberg Air Force Base, is capable of predicting nose cone impact within a few feet and destroying the missile if it goes wild.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller pressed forward today with a key part of his labor program while Democrats unveiled what they termed a "People's Program" for 1962.

A bill incorporating the governor's proposal for raising to $55 a week the maximum weekly payment to injured workers was introduced in both houses as the Legislature began regular, working meetings of its new session. The maximum payment under workmen's compensation now is $50.

Democratic minority members submitted a program that party leaders said was "one of positive action (that) contrasts sharply with Gov. Rockefeller's no-action program."

The Democrats called for increased state spending for education, housing and medical care for the aged, urged a $1.50 minimum wage, compared with Rockefeller's proposal for $1.25, and creation of a Department of Consumer Protection in state government.

The proposals went far beyond Rockefeller recommendations in the same fields. The governor's suggestions have been criticized by the business community as going too far and by the Liberal Party, as well as the Democrats, as not going far enough.

Rockefeller's program has been interpreted as a bid for labor and Liberal support.

Rockefeller's workmen's compensation bill was introduced shortly after he again defended his program from business criticism. He said in a radio interview that "I don't think we're going to have a prosperous state living off low wages or the underprivileged."

In another development at the Capitol, a bill to prevent New Jersey from taking over $27 million a year in income taxes now paid to New York was cleared by legislative committees for a formal passage next Monday night. The money is paid by New Jersey residents working in New York.

New Jersey imposed its own income tax on these commuters in an effort to acquire the funds.

The program announced by Democrats included many recommendations their party has made repeatedly in the Legislature, without success, for many years.

The only parts of the program likely to win passage are those that coincide with Rockefeller recommendations. Even these will be contained in legislation submitted under Republican sponsorship. The Democratic bills with the same ends will die in committee, if past practice holds.

IBM Names Manager Of Poughkeepsie Dept.

International Business Machines Corporation has announced the promotion of Bruce Smith, formerly manager of systems testing at the Western Data Processing Center at the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), to the new post of manager of programming testing in the IBM Data Systems Division Product Testing Laboratory at Poughkeepsie.

Programming testing is a new function that was established at IBM Poughkeepsie in 1961. Function is to provide realistic tests for applied programs developed for use with new IBM products, and for the completed applied programs. It is a means of providing IBM customers with perfected computer programs for newly-developed IBM equipment faster than was previously possible.

Smith joined IBM in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1955 as a customer engineer. After schooling at Poughkeepsie, he went to Los Angeles, Calif., in 1956. He was promoted to his previous position in 1960.

Smith is married and the father of three daughters and two sons. His family plans to join him in the Poughkeepsie area near the end of January.

Nuclear Weapons Handbook Printed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to have a new official handbook on nuclear weapons effects ready for issue in April, it was learned today.

The volume on effects of blast, heat, radiation and fallout has been in preparation for about a year.

Potato Assn. Leader Dies

DEXTER, Maine (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow in the Dexter Universalist Church for Millard G. Otto, former president of the Maine Potato Commission.

Otto, a native of Atlanta, Steuben County, N.Y., died Sunday in a Bangor Hospital. He was 67.

Otto was a potato grower and broker and headed the state potato commission for 12 years.

Solon Seeks More Data on Plans to Cut Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will recommend to Congress a dairy production quota program in an effort to cut surpluses, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., reported today.

But, Laird said, "I am not willing to buy this program" until answers are provided to questions raised in his mind.

Laird said the program was outlined by Freeman on Dec. 19 to the National Dairy and Milk Production Advisory Committee which he had appointed. The group will meet again with Freeman Jan. 31.

"The program outlined by Secretary Freeman," Laird said, "would affect 1,700,000 dairy farms in the United States.

"There are indications, however, that in the final analysis producers having three or less cows would not have to take quotas and this would eliminate 1,300,000 dairy farms. That would leave 400,000 such farms."

Quotas to be assigned to participating dairy farmers would be on a pound basis for milk rather than on the number of cows they own, Laird said. He said Freeman estimated a 6 per cent reduction in milk production would be required to bring production in line with consumption. Dairy farmers would receive higher price supports to offset production declines.

Like various other farm programs, dairy farmers would have to approve the program in a referendum by a two-third majority vote.

Laird said he did not believe it would receive a favorable vote.

Drumm Is Named Head of Industry, Labor Committees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assemblyman Willard C. Drumm, R-Columbia, is the new chairman of the Assembly Labor and Industries Committee.

He was appointed to the post Monday night by Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, who also named two other committee chairmen.

Carlino selected Assemblyman Luigi R. Marano, R-Brooklyn, to head the Aviation Committee and William Sadler, R-Erie, to direct the committee on Public Printing.

Drumm succeeded John Ostrander, who resigned from the Assembly after his election last November as Saratoga County surrogate.

Marano replaced Palmer D. Farrington, who left his Assembly post to become presiding supervisor of the town of Hempstead, Nassau County.

Sadler succeeded Drumm as chairman of the public printing committee.

HISTORY'S DRAMA

Most people in the free world are used to thinking of the struggle with communism as the great fact of their lives, now and in the foreseeable future.

To say the least, it is arresting and provocative that someone should assert that 1962 "finds mankind in the midst of an upheaval of much broader scope than the mere conflict between the East and the West."

The man who says this is Dr. Eugene Rabinowitch, research professor of physical chemistry at the University of Illinois and editor of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists. He worked on the original atom bomb project in World War II.

The upheaval he refers to, in the latest issue of the Bulletin, is the scientific revolution. The penetration of the atom nucleus and man's surge into space are simply the most spectacular marks of this revolution. As Rabinowitch sees it:

"Never before have so many outstanding men of all nations devoted themselves to parallel or concerted activities based on commonly acknowledged truths, and dedicated to the common aim of better understanding and more effective mastery of nature."

He is saying, then, that the great breakthroughs in science spring from a broad common base that exists despite cold war differences. These sweeping changes, says Rabinowitch, not only dwarf the conflict but are in fact outmoding it. He adds:

"This revolution . . . is destroying the justification of aggressions and conquests which have been in the past the normal means by which nations could increase their power and prosperity.

"It destroys the rationale of exploitation of man by man as the only means to maintain a high standard of life for certain small social groups. It opens the path to health and economically secure existence for all men everywhere."

Rabinowitch does not paint the world's whole future in bright colors. He foresees immense new challenges stemming from the revolution in science: overpopulation, vast amounts of human leisure, the increasing proportion of aged in many lands, the problem of making automated, depersonalized industrial tasks interesting to human beings.

Nor would he have us ignore the vital urge to freedom and independence which is at the core of the East-West conflict. He says:

". . . If man succeeds in mastering this (scientific) challenge, the ideals of freedom on the one hand, and of economic justice on the other, will survive and grow, whatever the next phase of the conflict between the Communist and libertarian societies may bring."

Rabinowitch seems to think that science, quite suddenly, has transferred the whole drama of history to a far bigger stage where the rules of human movement and interaction are radically changed.

His propositions undoubtedly are arguable. They are also sufficiently fresh and interesting to deserve that argument.

Cigar makers fear a ban on Cuban tobacco imports. Sales here amount to 25 million dollars annually—about enough to keep Castro and his cronies in cigars.

PRECANCELED CANINES

Postmaster General J. Edward Day inherited from his predecessor, Arthur Summerfield, the hot war between mail carriers and biting dogs.

Starting shortly, the Post Office will simply telephone—not write—the owner of a troublesome dog to come in and pick up his own mail.

In any other realm today, falling back and setting up a buffer zone like this would be quickly labeled appeasement. But the charge doesn't fit here. It's one case where retreat is the tough line. You can't have your mailman and bite him, too.

'These Days'

SECURITY AND POLITICS

It is impossible to mix security and politics. J. Edgar Hoover succeeded in his management of the FBI because he stayed out of politics. Allen Dulles, while he has not been able to build the CIA as efficiently as Hoover did the FBI, came through a very tough situation without his personal integrity being attacked. The Secret Service in the Treasury is a very responsible agency of security which has never been involved in scandal of any kind. It is strictly non-political. The little Narcotics Bureau does an amazing job with few men and little money but it has nothing to do with politics.

The Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs of the State Department has been in hot water since its organization. One of its earliest chiefs was Scott McLeod, an able man who was a supporter of Senator Joe McCarthy and was active in the Pro-American Underground in the government. The Pro-American Underground has been forgotten; it was a group of officials in various departments of the government who risked their positions by fighting the pro-Communists. It was their efforts which produced the material for the McCarthy and McCarran Committees.

The Pro-American Underground was not an organized body, but there were meetings in various homes from time to time and when data of the greatest importance had to be provided a Committee, it was often sent to trusted anti-Communists in New York and through them passed back to the counsels and investigators in Washington. Those engaged in these activities were known to each other and in many instances to the government investigative agencies and even to the police of many cities, including New York and Los Angeles. Some of the figures have permitted themselves to be publicized; others have maintained their secrecy and have never ceased to serve their country ardently.

Many of the pro-Communists have found their way back to Washington. Some are today bonafide anti-Communists; others have devoted themselves to scholarly pursuits and are antagonistic to Communists. Surprisingly some are found in Right Wing anti-Communist movements where they are doing very well. Some have provided the FBI and similar defensive organizations with valuable data; some work with investigative Congressional Committees; some have just disappeared into private life where they do good work. The most effective anti-Communists come from this group.

Except for the top officials of the Communist Party, most current Communists and pro-Communists have no personal history in the Party that goes back to the days of McCarthy. The present personalities are new and younger. The number of spies rather than Party members has increased. There has been a very strong infiltration of Right Wing movements with the object of breaking them into segments by internal quarrels as well as by giving them a ridiculously extremist facade. The Rightist extremists will ultimately have the effect of breaking up conservative movements by stimulating internal quarrels.

The State Department Security Bureau is a very important agency of government, requiring expert management for the protection of the property and secrecy of American diplomatic establishments in the United States and abroad. Since its organization, this Bureau has not been headed by a professional, except Scott McLeod who was a former FBI operative.

He was succeeded by John W. Hanes, Jr., a Southern businessman engaged in textiles but without any background in security practises. Hanes was appointed in the Eisenhower Administration. Salvatore A. Bontempo, a New Jersey Democratic politician, was appointed to head the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs in the Kennedy Administration. He has already resigned. The attack upon him was made by Representative Francis E. Walter, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, also a Democrat, who regarded Bontempo as inefficient and solely political. Bontempo has had no prior experience in handling spies and security checks.

Since Bontempo's resignation, the Bureau is being reorganized in the office of Ralph S. Roberts, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Management who serves under William J. Crockett, Assistant Secretary for Administration. It is rumored in Washington that a committee of Foreign Service Officers work under them. Substitute the word team for the word committee and you have it approximately right. Some on the team are under investigation.

This is not the end of this story which is in the developing stage. The best solution is the reorganization of security forces by experienced men.

Red Nose Doesn't Come Out of a Bottle

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a red nose that some people call a "whisky nose". But I don't drink and never did. What can cause it except whisky? Why can't I get rid of it? I've tried most everything.

A—The condition you describe is probably acne rosacea. Unlike the acne of adolescents, it rarely appears until the 30s, and then more often in the female.

As you might guess from the meaningless name, we know almost nothing about it except what you've already found out, namely, that it has nothing to do with alcoholic beverages and is resistant to treatment.

I wish I could give you some positive recommendation. But failing that I can warn you to avoid adding to your distress and expense by letting yourself in for panic treatments including X-ray exposures and burning with chemicals.

Q—I have lateral sclerosis. Is there a cure for it? Where can I find out more about the condition?

A—Write the Multiple Sclerosis National Society, 257 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.

Q—Just what is the present opinion about low-cholesterol diets for the prevention and treatment of hardening of the arteries?

A—Constant readers of these columns may remember that I limited my dietary recommendations to a simple reduction in the total caloric intake of the foods, and especially the fats, of the basic American diet.

I was quite prepared to spread my butter a little thinner, take one strip of bacon on my eggs instead of three and settle for one scoop of ice cream instead of a plateful.

I could see no reason for deserting the dairy farmer because some of my colleagues failed to realize that our bodies can manufacture cholesterol from substances other than cholesterol itself, just as the pig manufactures bacon from swill, as the cow provides us with the makings for butter and cream out of pasturage and the hen gives us egg yolk out of back yard pecklings.

So you can imagine how pleased I was to receive a pamphlet from the American Heart Assn. in which it is stated that "even when an individual eliminates cholesterol-rich foods from his diet, his body can manufacture cholesterol from other substances."

Please note that this is not a rejection of the need for weight reduction by those threatened with or suffering from atherosclerosis or any of its consequences.

It IS a plea for weight reduction by the simplest and least expensive method. Namely, a reduction in the total calory intake provided by the basic American diet.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Washington — (NEA) — A search for new ways and means to achieve closer co-operation and greater unity in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is to be made at the Atlantic Convention meeting in Paris Jan. 8-20.

THE HOPE IS that the 98 leading citizen delegates from the 15 NATO countries will come up with something more than high-minded resolutions emerging usually from such sessions, to which no one pays much attenion.

The United States delegation of 20 is headed by former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and former Under-secretary Will Clayton.

It includes Elmo Roper, William A. M. Burden, Eric Johnston, William F. Knowland and others of comparable stature. Britain, France and Germany have 10 delegates each. Canada 7, others fewer, down to Iceland and Luxemburg's 2.

This parley was dreamed up after the 1959 Atlantic Congress of 650 citizens of NATO countries in London. That group was too unwieldy, so it recommended this smaller gathering.

Both of these meetings were called by the NATO Parliamentarians Conference, made up of representatives from the law-making bodies of the 15 NATO countries. Their assignment to the nongovernmental leaders is to find a fresh approach to strengthen the Atlantic Alliance politically.

The parent NATO is supposed to supply the military unity for international defense against aggression.

IN THE ECONOMIC FIELD, there is close co-operation through the new Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development—OECD. This will be strengthened by the Common Market, which is being enlarged and expanded to increase trade.

The Atlantic Convention is sure to talk about that, particularly since the two chairmen of the U.S. delegation are also authors of the Congressional Economic Committe"'s brilliant report on Foreign Economic Policy.

But major attenion will be given to the weakest link in the Atlantic Alliance. This is that it cannot present a united front to the world, militarily or economically, unless these policies are backed by greater political unity.

THERE IS NO FIXED AGENDA. The convention's function is exploratory, to find new answers. But among the problems it will tackle, these are considered important:

One admitted shortcoming of the present NATO is that its decisions must be made by unanimous vote. The smallest country can thus veto its 14 partners. Some System of weighted voting may be considered to get majority decisions. It could be based on population, gross national product or NATO contributions:

This problem will become increasingly important if NATO is made a nuclear power, with missiles and warheads of its own not under one-country control. To prevent misuse of these weapons, there must be civilian political control over the military. The problem is how to set it up.

This is only one part of the bigger question of what form of political organization can best achieve the aims of the Atlantic Community—what it shall have for executive, legislative and judicial authorities and how much power each should have.

FROM HERE THE SUBJECT ENVOLVES into how the NATO countries can achieve a common foreign policy. Certainly the present disagreements over an approach to Russia on the Berlin issue and the U. N. Congo policy did not show the world an Atlantic Community united for common objectives.

Co-ordination of monetary policies is considered essential if NATO military, economic and political objectives are to be properly financed.

Pooling of NATO aid to underdeveloped countries has been talked of, but there is no thought yet of creating one NATO aid agency. The idea is just to coordinate the 15 aid programs so that they do not conflict.

CREATION OF A SYSTEM OF NATO COURTS has been proposed. They would take disputes not only between NATO countries but also handle suits between citizens under international law. Such a regional court — by-passing the World Court which nations avoid because of Communist judges on its bench — might provide a new basis for establishment of world rule by law.

All these ideas are bound to arouse some fears that what is afoot here is some diabolical internationalist plot to create a supergovernment to supplant the 15 separate governments in the Alliance not working together too smoothly.

That is merely another problem which the Atlantic Convention in Paris and its successors will have to solve.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Seeing that the library is making the front page lately, I found the following, among Van Deusen's "At a Century Turn" Freeman items. "In the years at the turn of the century, the present Kingston Library, was located on the second floor of the City Hall, in rooms now used as offices by the Mayor."

Van Deusen further wrote: "Early in 1902, Andrew Carnegie, who sponsored the Carnegie libraries throughout the nation, made an offer to contribute $30,000 to the City of Kingston, to be used in erecting a library building, provided that the city authorities agreed to appropriate money for the running expenses, after the building was placed in use."

"The Common Council, on May 16, 1902, accepted the offer of Mr. Carnegie and agreed to appropriate $3,000 yearly for the support of the library."

In the December 27, 1961 Freeman appears the death notice, of Shirley Hazen Vigard, who died at Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 24, 1961. She was the daughter of Max and Fannie Hazen, and wife of the late Abel A. Vigard, and sister of Joseph H. Hazen of New York City. Mrs. Vigard was buried in Kingston at Montrepose Cemetery. Max Hazen, her father, had a shoe store at 38 Broadway, and they lived at 22 Abeel Street. I think, at the time, the Broadway property was known as Hazen Block, for he owned that and, I think, the Abeel Street property. Shirley Hazen may be remembered as a teacher at School No. 5 back in the early 1920's.

Both Shirley Hazen Vigard and her brother Joseph Hazen were students of the Kingston schools. Joseph Hazen and Alfred Schmid, to my knowledge, were the advertising editors of the first Maroon of the new high school.

Joseph Hazen's name has been mentioned in the theatrical columns, for he was an official of Warner Brothers, and later with Hal Wallis in moving picture productions.

Mrs. Vigard used to write to me, several years ago, and sent me clippings in which she was mentioned as an experienced talent scout, while in Florida. Both Joseph Hazen and Abel A. Vigard were lawyers and later connected with Warner Brothers. I understand they were roommates in college. Many prominent people have come from the Rondout section of town, and so I like to mention them, especially if at one time they were neighbors from my block.

Older readers may recall, that one of the decisive steps which was taken which resulted in the construction of the Kingston High School, was the decision of the board of education, at a meeting held on January 31, 1913, to buy the O'Reilly property on Broadway, opposite the City Hall for $55,500. It is said, there was some strong opposition to the purchase of the O'Reilly property, but the deal finally went through.

Dedication of the Kingston High School was held Monday afternoon, September 6, 1915. Charles K. Moulton was the first principal of the new high school. The cornerstone of KHS had been laid Saturday afternoon, May 30, 1914, at which time, Myron J. Michael was superintendent of schools.

Kennedy School Stand Seen Alienating Catholic Voters

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—When a national Catholic publication comes out with an editorial which makes it possible to draw an inference that maybe Catholics generally would have fared better on certain public questions if a Protestant had been elected President of the United States last year, this is political news of prime significance.

"America," a weekly review edited by a group of Jesuit fathers, says in its latest issue that, "for understandable political reasons, Mr. Kennedy has not been inclined to parade or in any way make much of his Irish or his Catholic background." It then makes the following comment:

"Unlike the late President Roosevelt, Mr. Kennedy has not sought out the advice, assistance, companionship and friendship of highly placed Catholic dignitaries. Catholic prelates and Catholic clergymen pay few if any calls these days at the White House. . . .

Costly Photos

"It is significant, for instance, that there were no photographers present for the relatively little-publicized visit to the White House of the (Vatican) Secretary of State early in December. Every published photograph of that brief meeting would have cost Mr. Kennedy 10,000 votes in the Bible belt in 1964, and Mr. Kennedy, who is an experienced politician, can scarcely be asked to overlook such hard facts of public life in America. . . .

"Photographs of the President with Protestant spokesmen like evangelist Billy Graham, on the other hand, are pure 14-karat gold, to be laid away at 5 per cent interest till the day of reckoning in 1964."

The same editorial says that "these Presidential ventures onto the high wire of tightrope walking in the field of religious public relations cause no appreciable adverse reactions among his coreligionists," and that "in view of his peculiar position, Mr. Kennedy is not expected to make excessively friendly overtures to any one connected with his church."

Incident to Criticize

In its review of Mr. Kennedy's first twelve months in office, however, the magazine finds "one major incident to criticize." This arose in the President's stand in barring Federal aid to parochial scools on constitutional grounds. The editorial reaffirms its judgment that Mr. Kennedy was "clearly out of line" in "attempting to settle, by Presidential dictum, a thorny and complicated constitutional issue like that of aid to private schools." The editorial finds there is a "distinction that is very much to the fore in Catholic minds as they ponder the dilemmas of the first Catholic President." It then adds:

"The distinction lies between clear understanding, on the one hand, of the political circumstances and contingencies which might make it personally expedient for a Catholic President not to be in the reviewing stand at a St. Patrick's Day parade—and, on the other hand, failure to understand and refusal to countenance a positive act of discrimination."

All this is but another way of saying that the President's stand on aid to parochial schools is being widely discussed among Catholics. It is being questioned already by some political observers whether Mr. Kennedy will have as solid support from Catholics in 1964 as he had in 1960.

Exceptions Cited

The President has antagonized many citizens of the Catholic persuasion because he had said flatly that Federal aid to Catholic schools cannot be justified under the Constitution. Yet, under the administration of Protestant Presidents in the past, Congress has enacted laws that allow Federal funds to be used for the construction of dormitories and laboratories in Catholic colleges and for the payment of tuition of war veterans and scholarships for students who wish to attend Catholic-operated institutions.

Perhaps the most striking statement on the subject that has yet been made by any legal authority comes in an exhaustive analysis of all the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States throughout its history touching on the powers of the states and the Federal government as they relate to education in religious and non-religious schools. It was written by Philip B. Kurland, professor of law at the University of Chicago, and was published recently in the university's law review. He says that the question of whether the national government "can contribute financially to parochial education, directly or indirectly," is a continuing one. He concludes as follows:

"Anyone suggesting that the answer to the question as a matter of constitutional law, is clear one way or the other is either deluding or deluded."

So the issue is bound to be discussed in the next campaign, and it may be added that, because so many of the members of Congress now are finding it a hot political issue back home, there is little likelihood that for a long time to come any broad measure of Federal aid to education will be passed.

Will Not Deliver Fallout Booklets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't wait for the mailman to deliver your copy of the government's booklet on radioactive fallout and how to survive it.

If you want a free copy you can pick it up at your local post office or your nearest Civil Defense center.

The Pentagon said the Government Printing Office contracted with 21 printers over the country to print 25 million copies of the 48-page booklet.

Each individual will be limited to one copy and he must go after it.

Birds Fall Off Roof After Eating Berries

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (AP) — If robins can get hangovers, thousands of them may have the classic symptoms Monday — splitting headaches and turbulent tummies.

Giant flocks of robins descended here over the weekend, and stripped pyracantha bushes of their winter-ripened red berries.

Well-ripened berries apparently take on an alcoholic charge through fermentation. After the gorging, birds began falling off rooftops and wandering drunkenly in the streets.

Rats are not mentioned in the Bible nor in Greek and Roman literature of ancient times.

Former Albany Publisher Dies, Arthur D. Hecox

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur D. Hecox, one-time secretary to Theodore Roosevelt and publisher of newspapers in Albany and Saratoga Springs, died Monday in an Albany hospital. He was 87.

Hecox was Roosevelt's secretary when the former president was elected governor of New York in 1898.

Hecox was publisher of the old Knickerbocker Press and later of both the Knickerbocker Press and the Albany Evening News for 28 years. He left the post in 1935. The two dailies since have been combined as The Knickerbocker News.

In 1935, Hecox became publisher of The Saratogian in Saratoga Springs. He retired from that position about 20 years ago.

Funeral services and burial will be Thursday in Cobleskill, where he lived after his retirement.

A son, John Hecox of Albany, survives.

Cripple Dies in Fire

NEWARK, N.Y. (AP) — Benjamin Mittiga, 48, of Newark, a muscular dystrophy victim, died Monday in a fire at his home. His wife and five children were out of the house at the time.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately learned.

Human Chain Saves Lives of Fishermen

HONOLULU (AP)—Thirty Japanese seamen, their 350-ton, 152-foot fishing vessel aground on a slashing coral reef, formed a human chain life line to safety Sunday through a heavy surf just outside Honolulu harbor.

The Hiroshima Maru No. 2, was driven onto the coral reef by gale force winds Saturday. The craft began to break up Sunday and the crew was ordered to abandon ship by captain Kazuo Nagatomo.

"A GOOD STORE IN A GREAT COMMUNITY"
34 John Street Kingston

As a newcomer to your area,
we take pleasure in presenting this brief look at our company

One day soon at a service station near you, you'll be seeing a new and perhaps unfamiliar sign. Featuring the giant numerals "66", this sign identifies the products of Phillips Petroleum Company. We're pleased to be new neighbors in your community. We're sure you'll be pleased at the friendly spirit and wonderful service offered by your local Phillips 66 Dealers. Now, a few facts about Phillips 66.

Phillips had its beginning in 1917 when the company was formed at Bartlesville, Okla., to produce crude oil and natural gas.

Still a comparatively young company, Phillips record of growth, accomplishment and service is unique in American industrial history.

Emphasis on Research

From the start, Phillips Petroleum Company has emphasized research. The success of this research is reflected in Phillips diversified line of products that includes gasoline, lubricants, jet fuel, LP-Gas, high nitrogen fertilizers, synthetic rubber, carbon black, plastics and many other chemical products from petroleum hydrocarbons.

Out of a total of 25,000 employees, Phillips Petroleum Company has over 3,000 scientists and engineers. A Phillips employee team was first in the petroleum industry to operate an atomic reactor.

Among Top Twenty Companies

Phillips achievements in research, production, manufacturing and marketing have made Phillips the eighth largest oil company . . . placed it among the top twenty American manufacturing corporations in terms of total assets. Phillips 66 petroleum products are sold through more than 21,000 marketing outlets in 40 states.

"It's Performance that Counts!" This Phillips motto applies to both Phillips 66 products and service. You'll appreciate what we mean when you drive in at stations with the new sign—"Phillips 66".

We look forward to meeting you—soon.

FAMOUS PHILLIPS FIRSTS

High Performance Fuels. Phillips was first to manufacture HF Alkylate and Di-Isopropyl for high test aviation fuels . . . and introduced these components to motorists in gasoline for your cars.

Controlled Volatility. Phillips pioneered controlled volatility to give motorists a gasoline matched to their climate and driving needs.

Trop-Artic* Motor Oil. First all-season motor oil to meet the most severe test standards established for automobile oils.

Synthetic Rubber. Phillips earned the coveted Award for Chemical Engineering Achievement for its contributions to the development of cold synthetic rubber and carbon blacks.

Plastics. Phillips was the first American company to discover, develop and commercialize a successful process to make high density polyethylene and related polyolefin plastics.

Release Two Held in Still Operation; Bail Is Posted

Two Saugerties men held on charges in connection with the operation of an illicit still which was raided Saturday on a secluded farm in the Canoe Hill section of Saugerties, were released on bail Monday afternoon.

Carl A. Annucci, 47 of Canoe Hill, Saugerties, owner of the farm, who was released on $1,000 bail bond, waived preliminary examination to await action of the federal grand jury, Southern District of New York and the U. S. attorney. He appeared before U. S. Commissioner Thomas F. Saccoman of Kingston, on a federal charge of possession and operation of an unregistered still.

Also Released on Bail

Arthor A. Fiore, 23 of West Saugerties, held on a similar federal charge, was released on $500 bail bond pending federal grand jury action.

Annucci, originally arraigned before Saugerties Police Justice Ernest E. Schirmer, waived examination Monday and awaits Ulster County grand jury action on a state charge of violation of the ABC Law, section 153, possession of an illicit still.

The location of the still was tipped off to BCI investigators of the state police when a truck loaded with sugar skidded and stalled on Route 9 in Columbia County early Saturday morning. The two Saugerties men allegedly involved and the New [illegible] of the truck were arrested as a result of the raid by Kingston and Highland troopers and Saugerties Special Town Police.

The truck driver, James DeFeo, 21, who gave his address as 341 Broome Street, New York City, was committed to Columbia County Jail pending grand jury action following arraignment Saturday on a charge of second degree forgery. Clavarack troopers said his chauffeur's license was a forgery, Action on federal warrants is pending for DeFeo.

Arrest Leads to Raid

Alertness of Claverack Troopers V. R. Campbell and G. T. MacGilivry at 2:30 a. m. Saturday led to the arrest of DeFeo. Questioning of DeFeo by BCI Investigator W. G. Wolfe of Claverack revealed information which led to the still raid in Saugerties at 3:40 p. m.

The Claverack troopers investigating a skidding accident on Route 9 north of Valatia, Columbia County, became suspicious when they found over 10 tons of bagged brown sugar in the 2½-ton rented truck.

BCI Investigator Wolfe's interrogation of DeFeo brought out that the sugar was to be transferred to East Greenbush for reshipment to the Saugerties farm at Canoe Hill.

The still, known in the bootleg trade as a St. Louis type, is capable of producing 500 gallons of 180 proof alcohol daily.

Annucci was arrested when he arrived home about two hours after the still was uncovered on his property.

Second Man Caught

Fiore was apprehended later by BCI investigators, Treasury Department men, Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and Kenneth J. Kreminick and Special Town Police Officers Charles Riley and John Pavlak. BCI men in charge of the investigation were Senior Investigator Edward Shannon and Investigators Joseph Ventriglia of Kingston and Joseph Franke of Highland. Troopers John J. Salters and W. E. Wiedemann of Kingston and Trooper P. M. Luongo of Highland also participated in the raid Saturday.

Investigators estimated that the product brings about $15 per gallon on the bootleg market. A Treasury Department agent said on the basis of 180 proof alcohol found at the still, the federal government was losing about $19 per gallon in tax money.

T-Men assigned to the investigation were from the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, New York City.

Secrecy Shrouds

agency. He said Molotov "definitely has not yet arrived."

In making the surprise announcement Monday, a Soviet Foreign Office spokesman in Moscow said Molotov left Moscow for Vienna by train "probably on Saturday." Departing Saturday, he would have arrived Monday.

Austrian police officials normally in charge of security for high Soviet resident officials had no word on Molotov's return. Austrian border police had no report of his crossing the frontier.

A score of newsmen and photographers were at the Austria-Czechoslovak border town of Hohenau today to meet the train that left Moscow Sunday. Passengers said Molotov had not traveled with them.

Denounced Earlier

Molotov's journey to Vienna took on the air of secrecy that shrouded his departure Nov. 12 after Soviet Premier Khrushchev bitterly denounced the old Bolshevik as a Stalinist at the Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress in October.

Believed destined for oblivion then, Molotov apparently slipped out of the Soviet Embassy in Vienna by a side exit during a mysterious power failure in the embassy area and sped to the train station.

IAEA officials were as amazed as diplomats in Moscow by the Soviet annoncement of Molotov's return.

its night shift not to report for work at the huge plant southwest of Denver where the Titan missile is manufactured. Denver Tramway officials said it was impossible to maintain regular bus schedules.

In contrast to the arctic blasts which swept the mountain and Plaines states, San Francisco with 79 and Oakland, Calif., with 75 chalked up record highs for January Monday. The old San Francisco record was 78 in 1899. The Oakland record for January was 75 in 1948.

Elsewhere, 5 inches of new snow was on the ground at Buffalo, N.Y., and Muskegon, Mich., had a new 3-inch fall.

Midwest Dry, Cold

Generally fair weather prevailed in the Far West, with temperatures in the 40s and 50s. In the South, temperatures ranged from around the freezing mark to the 60s.

In the Midwest, dry cold readings were the rule. The mercury slid down to zero in Illinois, Kansas and Missouri, and below zero in Minnnesota.

of these people was to break the fighting spirit of Indonesia. This incident shows the cruelty of the Dutch."

Nearby when the grenade went off as Sukarno's motorcade passed was Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, a member of Sukarno's party. He was not hurt and his car was undamaged. Titov looked relaxed and smiling when he attended a student rally addressed by Sukarno shortly after the assassination attempt Sunday night.

Holdup Man Slain

NEW YORK (AP) — A holdupman carrying a toy pistol was shot to death by a Transit Authority detective Monday night after the man robbed a change-booth operator in a subway station of less than $20, police said.

Police identified the holdupman as Joseph L. Salley, 26, Negro.

McHugh New . . .

Hurley and John J. Gaffney (D), Lloyd were named to escort Chairman McHugh to the rostrum, He expressed his appreciation, paid tribute to former Chairmen Phinncy and Reylea and said they were hard men to follow, so well had they conducted the sessions. He thanked the board for its support while he was serving as majority leader, paid a tribute to Minority Leader Gaffney, whom he said was always "very understanding and fair" which had made the job of majority leader much easier. McHugh said times were "trying" and 1962 was a real challenge" which he said he hoped with the support of all members could be met.

Snyder Elected 19-13

A former deputy clerk of the board, now supervisor from Plattekill, Joseph Martorana (R), named Robert A. Snyder for clerk of the board, saying he had worked with him and knew his ability and qualifications. Peter Savago (R), New Paltz seconded.

On behalf of the Democratic members, Supervisor Michael Ward Jr., Seventh ward, named former Democratic City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew and Supervisor Roger Mabie, (D), Esopus, seconded.

Election of Snyder as clerk was 19 to 13 and Supervisor George Mollenhauer (D), Rosendale moved to make it unanimous.

Davis Returned to Office

Arthur A. Davis Jr., Kingston was named by Supervisor Joseph J. Turck (R), Fourth ward, for county attorney and the second was by Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward. Hubert Richter was nominated by Supervisor George Majestic (D, and Supervisor James J. Carroll (D), Tenth ward seconded. In naming Davis, Supervisor Turck said by his keen sense and knowledge of the law Attorney Davis had saved the county "thousands of dollars" during his past term. The vote was 19 for Davis and 13 for Richter. The election was then made unanimous.

Supervisor Peter Savagi (R), New Paltz nominated Joseph Gentile for auditor and purchasing agent and Supervisor Benjamin Storms (R), Second ward seconded. Supervisor Richard Hinkley (D), Eighth ward named former City Treasurer Orrie Riehl and Supervisor George Barthel (D), Wawarsing seconded. The vote was Gentile 19 and Riehl 13. It was made unanimous.

Dr. Pauker was named jail physician by James A. Rapp, (R), First ward, and Supervisor Storms (R), seconded. Dr. Henry C. McNamara of Hurley was named by Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), Ninth ward and Supervisor John J. Lucci (D), Fifth ward seconded. The vote was Dr. Pauker 19 and Dr. McNamara 13.

Official Papers Named

The Kingston Daily Freeman was named official Republican newspaper and The Kingstonian was named the official Democratic paper.

Dr. John B. Krom, Kingston was named a member of the Ulster County Health Board for a six-year term commencing January 1, 1962. Supervisor Benjamin A. Storms, (R), Second ward was named a member for a two-year term, commencing January 1, 1962.

A communication from the State University of New York, signed by Dean Paul B. Orvis, informed the board that the board of trustees of the State University of New York on December 14, 1961, had officially approved the board's plan for establishment of a Community College in Ulster County. Dr. Orvis had notified the board orally at its December meeting.

A letter was read from Mr. and Mrs. Nick Radakovich, 76 Chapel Street, urging that the board "take full advantage of the Cornell Building which had been purchased by the county. "Since the present facilities of the various departments of Ulster County are overcrowded and scattered wouldn't it be feasible to renovate this building and make use of it," they said.

"I am sure most taxpayers resent the fact that the building is still unoccupied," the letter concluded.

Historians Named

Ira V. D. Warren, Kingston, was re-appointed county historian and Kenneth Hasbrouck of New Paltz was named assistant historian.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the distribution of dog license money surplus to the towns and city.

A. Richard Terwilliger (R), Rochester, was named representative from the board of supervisors on the Ulster County Extension Association. Minority Leader Gaffney objected, saying the appointment usually went to a "farmer" who actually farmed. He named Supervisor George Barthel (D), Wawarsing. Terwilliger was elected by a 19 to 13 vote.

Consent was granted for employees of the County Health Department to attend conferences in Albany, New York, White Plains and at Cornell University in January.

$3,000 for SPCA

A $3,000 appropriation to the Ulster County Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to be used for payment of a full time agent, bills and upkeep of the animal shelter was authorized paid by the County Treasurer. An account of disbursements must be made to the board before December 31, 1962.

Attorney S. James Matthews of Kingston was re-named Sportsman representative for the local district Fish and Wildlife Management Board for a two-year term.

Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons requested reinstatement of the position of food handler at the Infirmary at a salary of $2,560 and a case supervisor at a salary of $4,520. Referred to Budget Committee and Welfare Committee.

The board authorized employment of a deputy clerk of the board, to be named by the clerk. It is expected John E. "Jack" Marquardt will be named. Marquardt was present at the session Monday acting as assistant to clerk.

Authority to appoint an assistant budget officer was also granted. This position usually goes to the deputy clerk.

On motion of Supervisor Williams, majority leader, the following banks were named as depositories for Ulster County funds. The maximum amount which may be deposited in any of the institutions is:

Kingston Trust Company, $3,000,000; State of New York National Bank, $3,000,000; Saugerties National Bank & Trust Company, $250,000; First National Bank of Highland, $200,000; First National Bank of Milton, $50,000; First National Bank of Marlborough, $150,000; Valley National Bank of Wallkill, $350,000; Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz, $300,000; Kerhonkson National Bank of Kerhonkson, $100,000; Kerhonkson National Bank of Stone Ridge, $100,000; Ellenville National Bank of Ellenville, $125,000; First National Bank of Ellenville, $125,000; Rondout National Bank of Kingston, $300,000; Rondout National Bank, Port Ewen Branch, $100,000; The National Bank of Orange & Ulster County, Rosendale Branch, $100,000;

The National Bank of Orange & Ulster County, Woodstock Branch, $150,000; Kingston Trust Company of Phoenicia, $150,000; Kingston Trust Company, Central Branch, $150,000; State of New York National Bank, Wall Street Branch, $150,000.

Tank, Truck Collide

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—A tank and a truck collided at Ft. Hood today and a resultant explosion killed four soldiers and injured 19 others, 11 seriously.

The tank belonged to the 67th Armored and the truck to the 35th Armored of the 2nd Armored Division.

They hit at the gate of the motor pool of the 67th Armored.

No names have been released.

Deferred Action

ing to bond interest and principal payments, plus anticipated revenues.

"For your ease in anticipating this most important figure in the budget, I stand ready at any time to call a meeting of the off-tsereet parking committee before our recessed meeting tomorrow evening rather than vote on a cold budget at that time.

To Meet in Planning Office

"In the event that you do not see fit to call upon this committee, our next meeting will be held at your request on Monday, Jan. 15 at 7:30 p. m. Your kind invitation to use the mayor's office is appreciated and well taken, but the committee has already secured the use of the planning commission office where all maps, aerial photographs and the master plans are available."

Mayor Schwenk said today he did not plan meeting with the committee before Wednesday night's council session and said he will ask that when the committee discusses off-street parking with him that it be done in his office. He said he has received no official report on the parking plan as proposed by the past administration.

Plans on Reduced Rates

The mayor also said today that he hopes before the end of year to restore the penny and nickel parking meter rates. The rates were changed from five to 10 cents an hour in the city's main business areas during the Radel administration.

The full off-street parking committee, with Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, met last night. On it besides Hastings are Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward; Donald E. Quick (D) 10th Ward; Joseph F. Carroll Jr. (R) 11th Ward, and Clark W. Myers (R) Second Ward.

The city budget, which is expected to at least be discussed again Wednesday night as reported by former Mayor Edwin F. Radel, fixes $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes and a tax rate of $63.38. It is $3.28 higher than the 1960 rate.

May Meet Jan. 17

Local Law No. 1 of 1962 dealing with changing the title of the mayor's secretary and creating a stenographer post, introduced at the Jan. 2 meeting, cannot be dealt with at Wednesday's meeting because it will be a recessed session.

It was indicated today that if the council recesses again, it will meet Jan. 17.

Alderman Hastings said today he hopes to propose earmarking a sum to be used in conjunction with preparing downtown lime caves for fallout shelters.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early this afternoon, making a partial recovery of its sharp losses of 1962. Trading was fairly active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .60 at 256.50 with industrials up .60, rails up .60 and utilities up .40.

Gains of most key stocks ran from fractions to well over a point.

The recovery was fairly general, taking in most steels, rails, oils, motors, nonferrous metals, aircraft-missiles, rubbers, electrical equipments and mail order-retails.

Chemicals, building materials and tobaccos were mixed.

High-priced International Business Machines, which has lost much ground, recovered 10 points or so. Amerada was up about 3.

Ford advanced around 2 and General Motors a point while Chrysler added a fraction.

Prices were at their best in the morning and were shaded thereafter. Du Pont halved an early 2-point rise.

Steels were content with moderate gains. The rails mounted a string of fractional gains.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.78 at 710.76.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

GOP Program

a new centrally located office building to house various of our county departments which are now scattered about the City of Kingston in old, outworn and antiquated structures.

"But if there are any who doubt the need for such a building let him make a cursory inspection of our existing facilities. Perhaps the worst is our County Clerk's Office. There thousands of our county's most valuable records are sandwiched in files and books stored in four small rooms and in a balcony of one of these rooms. Other ancient, but valuable records, are stored in the cellar. The space limitations of these quarters, to say nothing of the fire hazards, are such that there is no room for the installation of modern record keeping facilities.

"Our County Highway Department is really the only one that is adequately housed.

"To expedite our program for the new county office building I am going to ask our building committee to re-activate itself and to hold open public hearings at which the members of this board, as well as citizens generally, will be afforded an opportunity to air their views.

Physical Standards

"I think for the protection of life and property it is essential that certain physical standards for deputy sheriffs be instituted. Those standards to be based upon similar or comparable standards now in effect with law enforcement agencies of other municipalities. A deputy sheriff should be a person who is physically fit. I propose that an appropriate committee be named to set up and recommend a set of physical standards for these employes.

Need for New Salary Study

"In 1958 a committee of this board made a comprehensive salary study for various county employes. The committee did an excellent job. However, the lapse of four years has rendered many of the findings obsolete and outmoded. To bring the county up to date, I am going to recommend a new salary study by a committee of this board.

On New Tax Sources

"For a long time it has been my feeling that real estate pays a disproportionately high share of the tax burden. The burden has become greater in recent years with the ever increasing school tax bills. But we have absolutely no control over school taxes. Yet our property owners must pay three taxes, that is county, town, and school taxes.

"We can be indifferent about this problem by merely shrugging our shoulders and taking the position that we are not responsible for high school taxes . . . But I prefer to take a broader approach. I feel that the total tax burden of our average home owner is becoming alarmingly high. High real estate taxes also means higher rents.

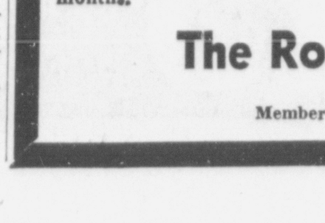

"We cannot ignore the plight of our people. We must at least try to find some way of easing their real property tax burden. My specific recommendation on this subject is the appointment of a committee of this board, supplemented by a committee of out-standing private citizens, to study and report on the matter.

Invites Public Views

"Throughout the year I will have occasion to discuss other parts of the majority party program with you. On any part of our program I invite the views and suggestions of the minority as well as the majority of this board. Views of private citizens will be equally welcome. The composite opinion of many is always better than that of an individual or a small group of individuals."

CommonStocksTooRisky If High Return Needed

Q) "I am a master sergeant in the U. S. Army with two dependents. I'll be forced to retire in February, 1965, due to the age limitation of 55 years. I have ample life insurance, $4,000 in Soldiers Deposits drawing 4 per cent, and $1,700 in the bank for emergencies.

"There are also 240 sharess of a mutual fund, which I'd like to keep for my daughter's college education or as a start in her marriage, according to the direction her life takes at this time. How should I invest the $4,000 in Soldiers Deposits to give me the best return between now and then? Upon retirement, we plan to settle in San Diego and will need this money for a down payment on a house, some furniture and a car." S.G.

A) Many servicemen have written to me with a problem similar to yours, and if you don't mind, I'd like to make this into a sort of group reply.

With retirement only three years away, it is natural for you to want to build up your capital for the coming period when the family income will probably be reduced. However, it also follows that you must be careful to conserve what money you've already been able to save.

A number of common stocks will undoubtedly move higher in price between now and 1965, but many will also give ground. In your postion, you can't afford to take on the risks that exist in all common stock investments, especially when a time limit is involved.

My advice is that you leave your $4,000 in Soldierss Deposits where it draws a reasonable return and will be ready for use when you need it.

Q) "Should I continue to hold St. Regis Paper?" V.M.

A) St. Regis Paper (NYSE), like many in its group, reacts to the ups and downs of the business cycle. With our economy progressing is it is, the shares may again begin to show signs of strength. I think that you should hold for higher prices.

Gizenga Ouster

rille Adoula's government to reach Leopoldville.

During the heated debate, deputies accused Gizenga of secessionist activities in Stanleyville and refusing government demands to return here and take up his post. The resolution was introduced by a member of Gizenga's own party, which obviously misses his leadership in the capital.

As the self-proclaimed political heir to slain Premier Patrice Lumumba, Gizenga was recognized for months by the Communist bloc and some neutralists as the Congo's legal premier. After Parliament met last summer and confirmed Adoula as premier, Gizenga's leftist supporters gradually deserted him.

AP correspondent Peter Grose, on a visit to Stanleyville, reported Monday that the Communist influences that once worked on Gizenga are largely absent. The last Communist diplomat, a Yugoslav, has left.

Antiwhite feeling has evaporated, at least on the surface, and inhabitants of Stanleyville are puzzled by Gizenga's position. Grose reported Gizenga rarely appears in public and the local newspaper, a pro-Lumumba organ, seldom mentions him any more.

Much of Thunder Stolen

Gizenga had hoped to use the secession of President Moise Tshombe's Katanga Province as a lever to overthrow the central government and to declare himself the only leader capable of unifying the Congo under Lumumba's old program. The Adoula government, with the support of the United States and the military aid of the United Nations, stole much of Gizenga's thunder by taking steps toward bringing Katanga back into the fold.

Things Really Buzzing

NEW YORK (AP)—Things were buzzing for a while Monday in the studio of WPIX, television station of the New York Daily News.

An educational program was on the air, and a hive of bees was used to demonstrate how bees communicate with each other.

Some birds also were in on the act.

Suddenly, a big black hen kicked over the glass-paneled hive and sent 2,000 bees buzzing.

The show went on, and the bees finally were vacuumed or bug-bombed.

New Food Fair Opens Tomorrow; Ceremony 9 A.M.

Three Women's club leaders will join with Alexander J. Banyo, supervisor, Town of Ulster, in cutting the traditional ribbon Wednesday, January 10 opening the ultra-modern Food Fair supermarket in the Ulster Shopping Center, Route 9W and Stahlman Place in the Town of Ulster.

This will be the 45th Food Fair supermarket in the state and the 458th in the firm's ten-state, Rhode Island-to-Florida chain.

Assisting Supervisor Banyo in the 9 a. m. ceremony will be Mrs. Gifford Beal, president of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Karl Pitcock, president of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, and Mrs. William J. Cranston, president of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary.

Alfred Bresiger is manager of the 22,000-square-foot supermarket. He will supervise a staff of some 75 persons, all of whom were hired locally.

Free gifts, samples and "specials" will highlight the opening of Food Fair's first supermarket here. In addition, the first 1,000 women shoppers tomorrow each will receive a free vial of perfume.

Merchants Green trading stamps, redeemable for hundreds of useful and valuable gifts, will be given with food purchases at the new supermarket. The stamps also are given by a variety of other merchants in the area. They can be redeemed in the Food Fair.

Exclusive Feature

An exclusive feature of the new Food Fair is a 104-foot-long wall directory which lists the aisle location of every item sold. In addition to serving as a guide to fast selection, the directory also serves as a shopping reminder.

There are eight conveyor-type and two "express" booths for fast check-out service; parcel pick-up facilities, and ample free parking throughout the Center.

The schedule of store hours is as follows: Monday through Friday 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturday 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Founded in Harrisburg, Pa. in 1920, Food Fair Stores, Inc., opened its first supermarket in that city in 1933. Today, with 458 supermarkets, the firm is the nation's fifth largest retail food chain and the tenth largest of retailers of all types. In addition to supermarkets, Food Fair also operates a chain of 38 J. M. Fields discount department stores.

Last year Food Fair was named Retailer of the Year by the National Brand Names Foundation, Inc. This is the second time—a rare accomplishment—that Food Fair has been so honored. Its first award was received in 1952.

Justice Breaks Leg

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Newly elected Justice William G. Easton didn't show up for his first day on the State Supreme Court bench.

Easton broke his leg at his home here Monday, prior to his scheduled appearance at the opening of the court's new term at Waterloo in Seneca County.

Justice G. Robert Witner of Rochester substituted for Easton, who was taken to a hospital.

Gifts of Stocks to Minors May Be Used for Them

BY FAYE HENLE

Q—If stock gifts are made to minors, may this custodial property be used for the support, maintenance, education or general use and benefit of the minor? — M. C.

Dear M. C.: Yes. Generally any part or all of the custodial property may be used for these purposes as the custodian deems proper with court order and without considering other property belonging to the minor. In addition, a law called the "Uniform Act" states the parent or guardian of the minor—or the minor if he has reached the age court for an order calling upon of 14—may petition the proper the custodian to pay over a part or all of the custodial property necessary for these purposes.

Q—I understand there are some plans that allow a college student to work part of the year, get academic credit for his job as well as pay, study part of the year and that these are called co-operative education plans. Where can I get details? — C. C.

Dear C. C.: First, write the college of your choice to see whether they offer a co-operative education plan. Write to Dr. Henry H. Armsby, Division of Higher Education, Office of Education, Washington 25, D. C., for a free pamphlet called "Co-operative Education in the U. S." Also, contact your local U. S. Civil Service Commission office. Under Civil Service various plans are available in a wide range of job classifications.

Q—When I was forced to discontinue premium payments on my insurance policy two years ago, the agent advised me to select what he called "the extended insurance" option. Now I am told I cannot borrow against the policy even though I am covered for the next nine years. Is this true — B. W.

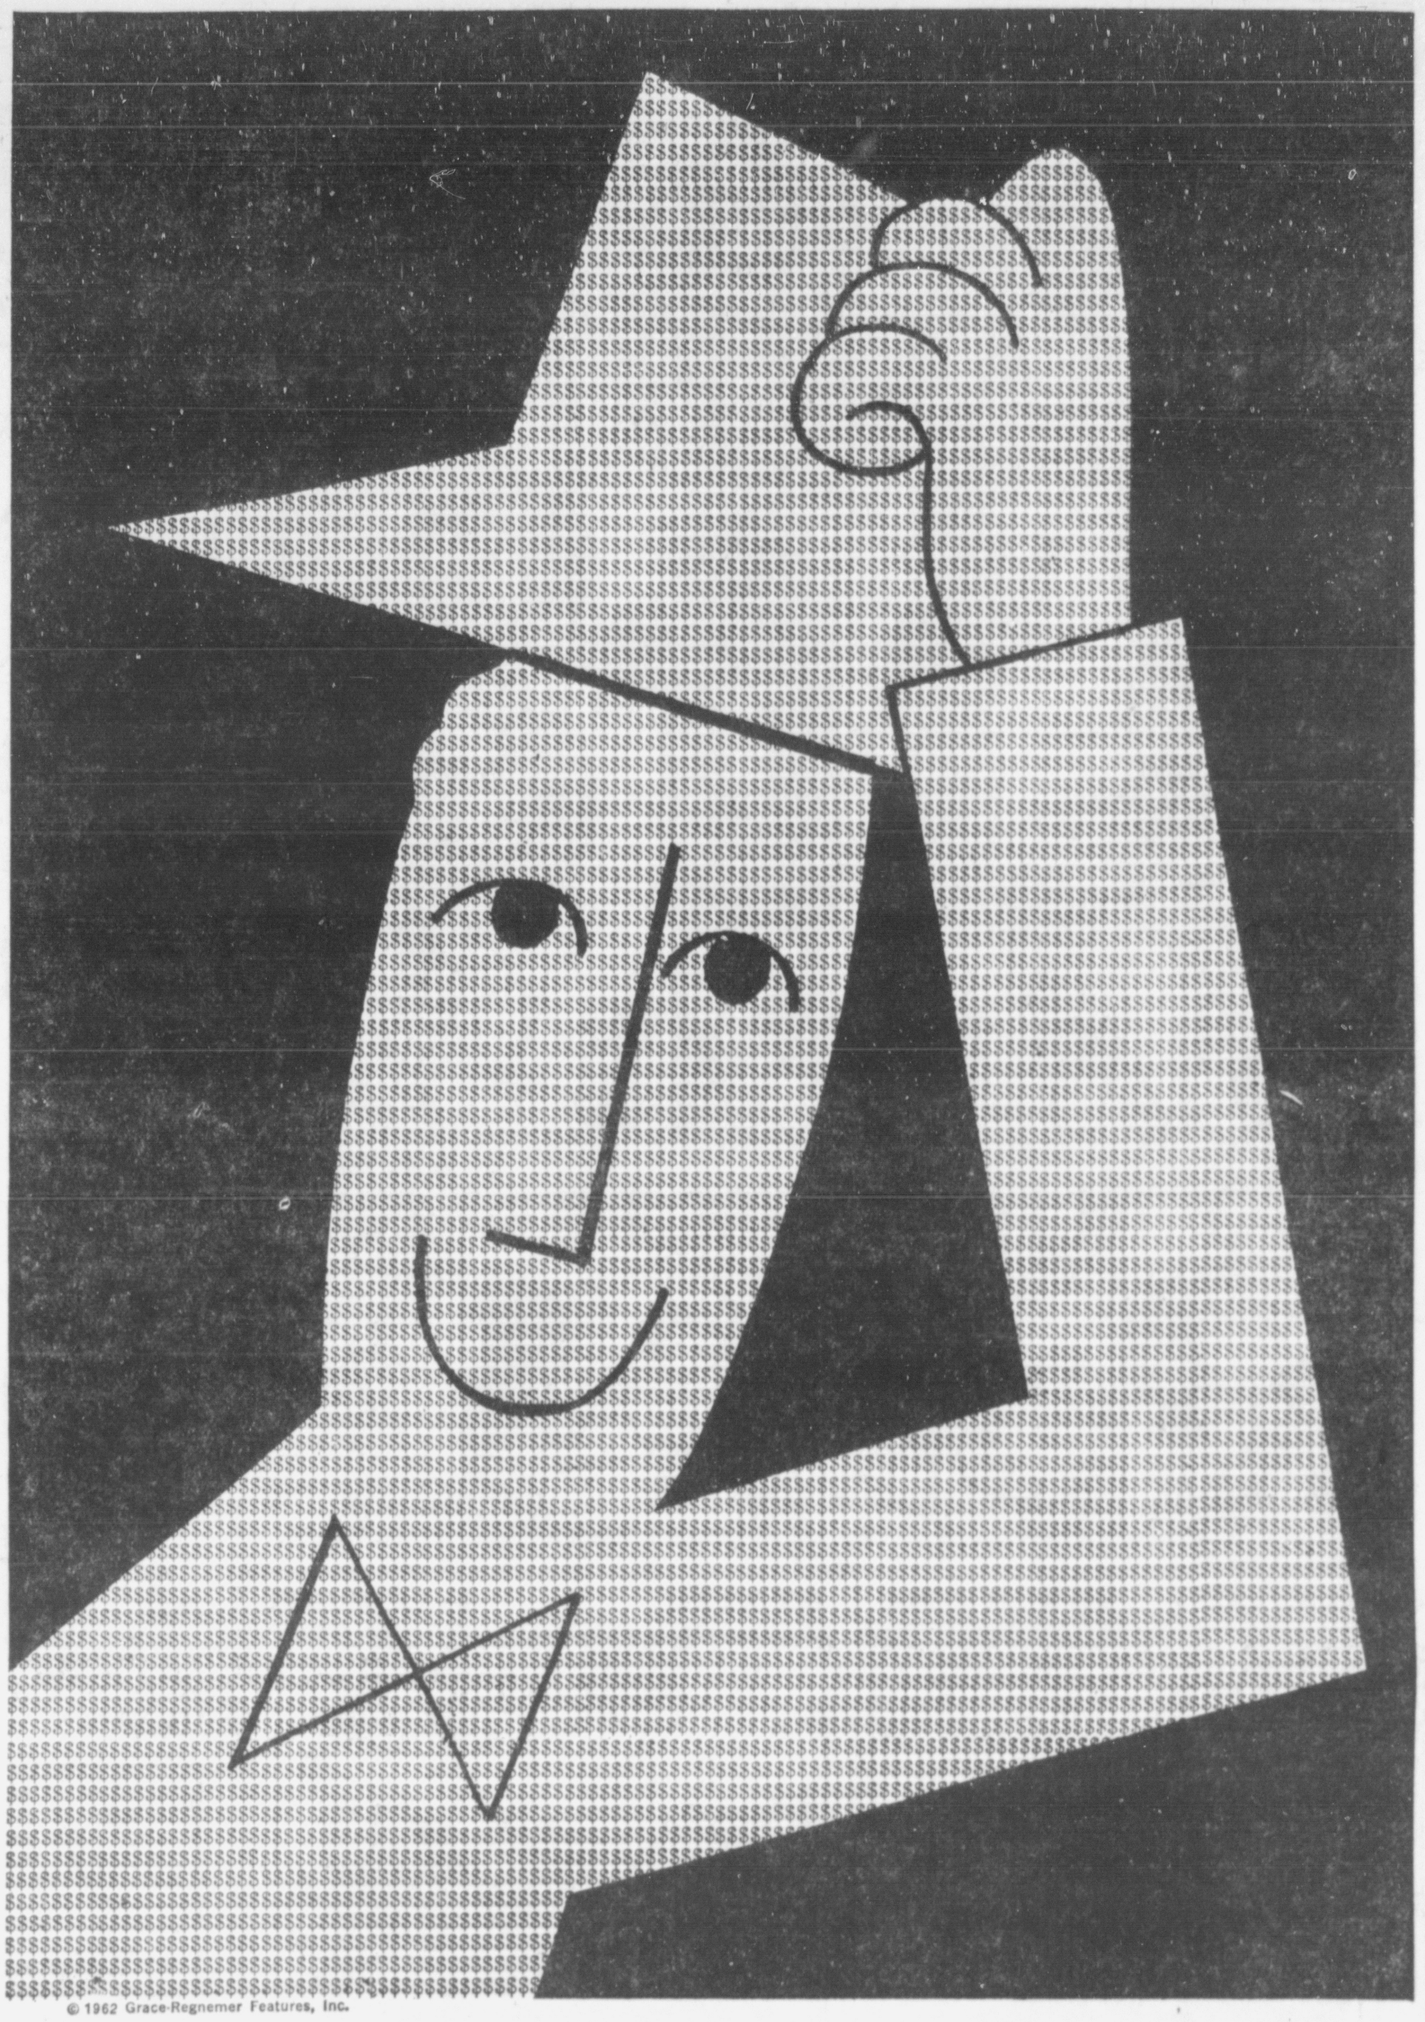

Dear B. W.: Yes, this is true and your agent did not give you very good advice or else you did not understand what he was suggesting you do. What you did in taking the "extended option" plan was to authorize the insurance company to use the cash value in your policy to buy a term policy for you for the next 11 years. Term policies do not build cash values; that is one reason their premiums are lower. Now you have no cash value from which to borrow.

You coul surrender the policy for cash but I am told that the amount of cash you would get would only be a fraction of what the policy is worth.

GOP Claims Foes Ignoring Shorter Pa. Fiscal Year

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican legislators claimed today the Democratic state administration was ignoring the fact that the 1962-63 fiscal period will be one month shorter than the present fiscal year.

"They budgeted every nickel they could scrounge out of revenues and they're determined to spend it," said Rep. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, in an interview.

"So far I'm inclined to think the departments don't understand that we're on a 12-month budget, not a 13-month budget," added Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins of Cameron County, assistant House GOP floor leader.

The 1961-62 budget is on a 13-month basis because the state is changing its fiscal calendar from a June 1-May 31 basis to July 1-June 30. Both June of 1961 and 1962 are included in the present budget.

A man was exuberant because, he said, he had done three good deeds the day before. He had met a poor woman on the street. The woman held a sickly-looking child in her arms, and she was weeping. Inquiry showed that she was weeping because she was convinced that her child was dying, and unbaptized.

Man—But, why don't you have the child baptized?

Woman—Because I have no money, and the fee for baptism is one dollar.

Whereupon the good Samaritan handed the woman a ten dollar bill, gave her his address so that she could bring back the change—which she did return—and went his way.

Friend—That is one good deed. Now for the other two.

Man—Oh, they're all three in that one. First, I relieved the sorrows of a weeping woman; second, I assured the child of eternal salvation; and third, I got rid of that counterfeit ten dollar bill I'd been carrying for more than a year.

New Device May Halt Nuisance Telephone Calls

A new electronic device recently developed in Rochester will eventually eliminate nuisance telephone calls of anonymous callers who make obscene remarks to women and report fire calls which prove to be false alarms.

Such calls reported to county law enforcement agencies have been plaguing the area for the past few years. Some of the calls threaten violence and break into a diatribe of profanity.

The new device developed by General Dynamics Telecommunication engineers in Rochester can trace calls even if the anonymous party calling is on the line only a few seconds.

Those residents who have been bothered a number of times, when the device is available, may have the installation made which will permit the party called to push a button which signaling the alarm in the local telephone company office. The device permits instant indentification of the line from which the call originated.

The circuit is trapped, if one or both parties hang up. It also permits the person receiving the nuisance call to hang up and call police or the phone company, General Dynamics reports.

Freight Contract Rate Decision Is Upheld by Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has affirmed today a decision against railroad freight contract rates proposed by the New York Central Railroad.

The decision was given by a special three-judge U.S. District Court in New York. It supported an Interstate Commerce Commission finding that such rates were unjust and unreasonable and constituted a destructive competitive practice within the meaning of the National Transportation Policy.

The Central sought to establish a contract rate on rugs and carpeting in carloads from Amsterdam, N.Y., to Chicago. Such rates provide for a reduction from the normal charge if the shipper signs a contract to move at least 80 per cent of his product in a one year period over Central's lines. Water and motor carriers protested Central's proposal, leading to ICC condemnation of the rate.

NEW YORK (AP) — Even the Yankee dollar—long the kingpin of world currencies—is subject to raids by international speculators.

Americans found this out to their amazement a little over a year ago when foreigners — and probably some Americans working through overseas banks — rushed to turn in their dollars for gold.

That discovery is what's behind Monday's announcement of a proposed $6-billion kitty to defend the dollar and the currency of nine other nations.

Other currencies — the once dominant English pound sterling, the French franc — had been subject since the war to periodic sinking spells. Americans shrugged this off as the other fellow's problem.

Would Prefer Gold

The dollar, they thought, would always be as good as gold everywhere. Maybe it would buy a little less in the market place from year to year, but everyone would as soon have it as gold.

Then Americans found out that many people didn't think the dollar was as strong as it once was, even worried that it might lose enough prestige to force devaluation in relation to gold and other currencies.

The price of gold, legally $35 an ounce, soared for a time in October 1960 on the London free market to a peak of $40.60.

After this shock, Americans moved fast to do something about it. Both the Eisenhower and the Kennedy administration scotched the rumors about devaluation. Checks on the outflow of dollars were proposed, and some put into effect.

Form $6-Billion Pool

But one of the steps taken was to join nine other powers in forming a $6-billion pool to defend themselves against unusual drains on their gold and foreign exchange reserves.

The pool would be administered by the International Monetary Fund. The plan is subject to ratification by Congress and the other national legislatures.

The 10 would put up cash only as the funds are needed, but would be pledged as follows in dollars:

United States two billion; Britain and Germany one billion each; France and Italy 550 million; Canada and the Netherlands 200 million each; Belgium 150 million; and Sweden 100 million.

The proposed pool is for use in protecting the dollar or other currencies from any temporary raids. The beleagured nation could borrow other countries' currencies from the fund to settle foreign claims without using its gold or own currency reserves.

This would work temporarily. It wouldn't cure any deep seated or persistent weakness in a nation's fiscal or economic condition.

Lioness Is Ordered To Leave Township

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—There'll be no lion in the streets in Plainfield, even if the beast really is just the playful pup its owner claims it to be.

James Trimble has been given a week to get his pet lioness, Moira, out of town. A court order issued by Magistrate Warren J. Lynch ruled that the presence of Moira, 10 months old and 100 pounds, doesn't square with the Plainfield zoning code.

Trimble, 31 has been housing Moira in the cellar of his home, but he lets her out in the back yards for an occasional gambol. Neighbors began getting edgy.

Drivers Blame Wage Loss to Juggled Lists

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Several truck drivers contend they lost wages because their employer and the Teamsters Union 'juggled" seniority lists.

Their attorney alleged in State Supreme Court Monday that some of the drivers had lost up to $4,000 in earnings because eight men who had not worked for Inland Express Inc. of Syracuse as long as the plaintiffs were given seniority in driving assignments.

Hugh O'Neil of Syracuse and about seven other drivers brought suit against Inland Express, Local 317 of the Teamsters Union, Fred Maggio, the local's president, the State Teamsters Joint Council and its president, Rocco DePerno of Utica.

The drivers asked that the company and the union be required to use an original seniority list.

Some Labor Groups May Use New Forms

A majority of the approximately 2,100 labor organizations in New York City, Long Island and Eastern New York State required to file annual financial reports with the U. S. Department of Labor may now use a new simplified one-page form according to William O'Loughlin, New York Area director of the department's Bureau of Labor Management Reports

The annual financial reports are required by the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959. It is expected that approximately 80 per cent of the more than 52,000 reporting labor organizations in the country will be able to use the revised form. Labor organizations whose total receipts, regardless of source and without any exceptions, were less than $30,000 in the 12-month period covered by the report and who were not under trusteeship at the end of their fiscal year, may use the new form. Formerly, unions could use a short form report only if their receipts were under $20,000.

Libassi Is Joining U.S.C.R. Commission

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—F. Peter Libassi, regional director of the State Commission Against Discrimination, will join the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Libassi, 31, will become deputy director next month of the Division of Liaison and Information of the federal commission. His duties will include coordination of the commission's work with that of the White House, Congress and other federal agencies.

He has been director of the 22-county, Northeastern New York region of SCAD for five years.

No successor has been named by SCAD.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Cooper, who has been a show business star since he was three years old, keeps in performing trim as carefully as he keeps in physical shape.

When he appears Saturday night in CBS' adaptation of "The Four-Poster," it will be a combination holiday from Hollywood and an exercise in acting for the busy performer.

Cooper, who will be 40 in September, is owner, star and director of the successful comedy series, "Hennesey," now in its second season. This is enough to keep the average man in a state bordering exhaustion, but Cooper frequently takes time out to direct a show for some other series.

Before "Hennesey," Cooper acted in, owned and directed another series, "The People'.. Choice" for several seasons.

"I've been working with my own crew since 1955—I decided to direct my shows so I could get them the way I wanted them to be," he explained during a break in "Four-Poster" rehearsals. "We have worked together so long, I'm spoiled. So occasionally I like to work with other crews. I like to do some outside acting about twice a year. I particularly like to get away from Hollywood and that rut you get into and away to New York. It keeps your interest up.".

Cooper is among the stars of the oldest re-runs in television: those ancient, silent "Our Gang" comedies, currently syndicated among TV stations re-titled "The Little Rascals." The pictures were made when he was almost a toddler.

Because he has been a professional actor so long, Cooper has strong ideas about throwing youngsters into acting early. He has four children and is pleased that his oldest, son John Anthony, 15, while interested in show business, wants to finish college before starting a career.

"It takes very special parents to help kids get through an acting career," he said. "Kid actors really don't have much of a childhood. They have to work—have to be prodded into working—when they don't feel like it. They get too much adulation and too much attention. They become spoiled. And they learn about money much too early."

Cooper says he hopes to continue with "Hennesey" for another season or two, and then go on to something else "that interests me."

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show," NBC, 9-10 (EST)—"A Time to Die," starring Powell, wife June Allyson and their two children.

Will Inflate Space Sphere This Week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An attempt will be made this week to inflate a giant space sphere high above the Bahama Islands after it has been rocketed aloft folded in the nose of a Thor missile.

The experiment is to try out techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite. The inflation of the 13-story tall balloon could provide a brilliant dawn show for residents on the east coast of Florida, southern Georgia and the Bahamas.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said weather conditions might permit observation throughout the eastern United States when the big ball reaches its highest intended altitude of 950 miles.

Hopes of Joining Fight on Castro Cut for Canadian

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A well-armed young Canadian, whose hopes of joining anti-Castro elements in Florida were cut short by immigration authorities, has pleaded guilty to entering the United States illegally.

Joseph W. Gardiner-Littler, 20, of Toronto, and a companion were arrested here at a bus terminal Dec. 16. Police said they were armed with three carbines, a 38 caliber revolver, more than 100 rounds of ammunition, two machettes, two bayonets, a water canteen and other combat gear.

Gardiner-Littler admitted Monday that he crossed the Peace Bridge connecting Buffalo and Ft. Erie, Ont., in violation of a previous deportation order. Federal Judge John O. Henderson set sentencing for Jan. 15.

His companion, David R. L. Corbin, 21, of Toronto, was allowed to return to Canada. He had no previous immigration violation.

Opening lead—♦ K

Against any opening lead but a diamond, South would have a fairly simple way to go after his four-spade contract. He would simply win the opening lead; cash two high spades; and go after the clubs. As long as the spades broke better than 5-1 and nothing serious went wrong with the club suit, he would lose two spades and one club only.

Unfortunately for that plan of play, West did open a diamond and South had to use one of his trumps at trick one.

This meant that if he went after trumps he would need to find three in each hand with the queen in the right spot also, but South found a play that offered a much better chance for success.

Normally, it does not pay declarer to hurry to make his long trumps by ruffing, but this time it was different. South lost control of the trump suit when he had to ruff the opening lead, but he had another string to his bow.

He led a heart to dummy, ruffed a second diamond, led a club to dummy, ruffed a third diamond, and then cashed the other high club and the two remaining high hearts. This gave him eight tricks in and he still had the ace and king of trumps left.

Park Eyes Increase

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Gen. Chung Hee Park, chairman of the ruling military junta, declared today that the government seeks a 5.7 per cent increase in the nation's economy during this first year of its five-year development plan.

Park said in a policy speech before a group of civilian and military officials that the plan envisages an average annual increase of 7.1 per cent.

Emphasis this year will be placed on development of basic industries, electric power, coal mining and aid to the farmers and fishermen who make up 60 per cent of South Korea's labor population.

Four With Uncle Now

Home Offers Flood In for Five Girls Orphaned by Crash

HANDIWORK—Prof. Abba P. Lerner, an economist, views his wire sculpture, "Jacob's Ladder," at hobby exhibit of American Economic Association in New York.

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—"I can only think of one word—compassion."

That was hospital administrator Joseph A. Williamson's reaction to the flood of letters and phone calls that poured into Warren General Hospital with offers to adopt the five Campman girls orphaned by a Christmas Eve auto crash.

The Campman girls already have found a new home with their uncle, Lester Campman of nearby Irvine. Four of the girls—Rita, 13; Sandra, 11, and Mona, 10—have been released from the hospital and have gone to live there. Judy, 15, is to join them when she is released.

But many people apparently have not heard that part of the Campman story. What they do know is that the Christmas Eve smashup killed the girls' parents and two other persons and hospitalized eight, among them the five girls.

Administrator Williamson says he has received many letters and calls from persons concerned about the condition of the sisters and wanting to know if they could be adopted. Most wanted to know if they could adopt all five.

Williamson has received calls from New York City, upper New York state and Ohio. An elderly Clearfield County woman wrote offering the children a home.

An Air Force technical sergeant stationed in New Mexico asked to raise the children. He said he and his wife, a nurse, already had raised a large family and thought the Campman girls should be kept together through childhood.

A woman from Niagara Falls, N. Y., wrote asking to adopt one child—to take the place of a little boy she and her husband had kept for 17 months until his mother returned to claim him.

Rancher, Steers In Day Early to Overcome Storm

WINNER, S.D. (AP)—Rancher Don Hight punched his 1,800 steers into this South Dakota livestock center a day ahead of schedule after a 65-mile cattle drive he figures saved $2,000 in trucking costs.

A predicted worsening of the rugged winter weather that stayed with him throughout the five-day drive prompted the cattleman and his seven drovers to bring the animals in Monday night.

Despite a weight loss caused by the extended drive, Hight expects to net about $360,000 from the sale, which begins Thursday.

Hight drove the herd off his 16,000-acre ranch at Westover in south central South Dakota Thursday morning. He had planned to arrive at this auction center tonight.

Today's weather forecast called for winds up to 40 miles an hour with a temperature of 15 below.

Wind-blown snow had cut visibility to a quarter mile by the time Hight and his drovers nudged the herd over its final 17 miles to the safety of the stock pens.

Hight figures plenty of feed and water between now and the sale time will put lost weight back on his steers.

Business Men to Meet

A meeting of the Rondout Area Business Men's Association will be held at Rookie's Tavern, 41 East Strand Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 7 p. m. All members are urged to attend. Reservations close January 15.

Talks on Road Safety Scheduled

More than 100 officials from 80 cities in New York State will tackle traffic safety problems this month in a series of meetings in four cities.

The traffic inventory workshops, designed to help combat the state's annual toll of more than 250,000 traffic injuries and over 2,000 deaths, will be held at Rochester, Syracuse and Schenectady. The fourth meeting, embracing 35 municipalities in the Greater New York area, will be held in Eastchester on January 24.

The one-day sessions are being sponsored by the New York State Citizens Council on Traffic Safety in cooperation with local safety councils in the areas where the meetings will be held.

Clifton W. Phelan, president of the State Citizens Council and president of the New York Telephone Company, called the meetings "workshops" that will urge greater participation in the National Safety Council's annual inventory of traffic safety activities. The workshops will explain how the inventory works and how a community can benefit from it, he said.

Would Even Enter Labor Negotiations

Kennedy Administration Is Firm About Avoiding 1962 Steel Strike

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration not only is firmly determined to do everything possible to avoid a midyear steel strike but it will actively discourage advance steel stockpiling.

It was learned today on high authority that the administration has decided to ride close herd on the upcoming steel contract negotiations and will have no reluctance about entering the talks if that becomes necessary.

Concerned About U. S. Economy

The dual purpose will be to make sure there is a settlement without a strike and that the new contract terms won't be disruptive to the rest of the American economy. Present contracts expire June 30.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg was expected to make all this clear at a news conference this afternoon.

Among other things he is due to kick off a drive intended to discourage heavy industry from its usual practice, already getting under way, of substantially overbuying and stockpiling steel supplies as a precaution against a possible strike.

The administration believes this unnatural production buildup, always inevitably followed by a production slump, is a bad thing all the way around.

It falsely stimulates, then depresses the economy. Smaller steel customers can't afford stockpiling. Steel producers are compelled to use older, less efficient mills during the buildup. Finally the work force must work overtime, then undertime.

How successful the administration may be in persuading steel users, the booming auto industry for example, to avoid buying up huge quantities of steel against the possibility of another steel strike, of course remains to be seen.

Can't Afford Walkout

But Kennedy and Goldberg hope they can sell the idea there won't be any walkout. They feel the country can't afford one.

It's a fact of life that steel negotiations are the nation's most important single piece of collective bargaining. The steel industry calculated that its last contract cost it well over $1 billion. Steel contract terms become a pattern for other industries.

There are a few hopeful signs this year. Both the steel industry and union so far have avoided firing their usual propaganda blasts. Joint committees established on a permanent, year-around basis under the last contracts have been meeting regularly.

Ample Precedent

There is ample precedent for the government to take a hand in settling steel labor problems. In modern times few steel contracts have been negotiated without federal intercession. In 1959 it was Richard M. Nixon, then vice president, who outlined the ultimate settlement terms.

The last general steel price increase in 1958 brought the composite base price of finished steel to about $124 a ton. Since then Steelworkers have received pay increases of 14 to 26 cents an hour depending on job classification, with rates now ranging between $2.27 and $4.37. The Labor Department reports average Steelworker earnings at about $125 a week.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—The urgent cable came from Rome: "Dear Dave, please send me 10 quarts of your wonderful chili in dry ice." It was signed: Elizabeth Taylor Fisher.

Dave Chasen quickly whipped up a batch of chili and dispatched it to Rome at a shipping cost of $100. In return he received an affectionate letter from Cleopatra and consort, Eddie Fisher: "We cannot tell you what your chili has done for us all the way over here. Like that Jewish song, 'Sure and a Little Bit of Heaven Fell Out of the Sky One Day.'"

Like Jane Wyman, Kirk Douglas and Walter O'Malley, Liz Taylor is fanatical about Dave Chasen's chili. Like J. Edgar Hoover, Harlow Curtice, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Steelworkers' boss David McDonald, Liz is also a fan of the Chasen eatery on Beverly Boulevard.

The list would also include virtually every big name in the movie world. Dave Chasen is now marking his 25th year as a restaurateur, and he is still running Hollywood's favorite eating joint.

He's a little guy with curly hair and flat stomach ("I watch the cholesterol and I'm never reluctant to push away from the table"). His manner is always affable, and he claims never to have had fights in the house, though Humphrey Bogart and third wife Mayo Methot used to do some pretty good sparring.

Dave started in 1936 as the Southern Pit Barbecue, and the hit of the place was his chili, then as now.

"I always enjoyed cooking—used to do it on the road for Joe Cook," Dave remarked. He was the late comic's vaudeville stooge and a pal to many of the Broadway greats. Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, staked him to the start in the restaurant business.

Chasen's grew from 50 seats to its present 250, and the legends mounted with the years. I asked Dave for the times at Chasen's he remembered most fondly.

"There was the night we held a wake for W. C. Fields," he recalled.

"Jack Dempsey was here, and Gene Fowler, John Decker, Bogart, Peter Lorre and Nunnally Johnson. We all got stiff and not one of us ever mentioned Fields' name.

"I remember that Dempsey spent two-thirds of the evening under the table—giving hotfoots."

Dutchess Elects Wood

Dutchess County's fire coordinator, John M. Wood, New Hamburg was reappointed by a 21 to 10 vote of the Board of Supervisors, Monday. Former coordinator Otto E. Fiske, Town of Milan, received 10 votes. Before the vote was taken communications were read from several fire companies and organizations.

Early '62 Takes on Almost Civilized Appearance

Nikita Is No. 1 Global Mystery In Present Days of Tranquility

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's leaders are acting like automobile manufacturers who have their plants working overtime but aren't saying much until the new models come out.

At this moment the world, compared with some of the feverish moments of 1961, is in a period of tranquility which, of course, won't last.

Berlin to Politics Quiet

The crisis over Berlin has died down, Southeast Asia is very troubled but not explosive, the Russians and Chinese aren't happy with each other but are keeping quiet about it, Fidel Castro is hardly doing more than mumbling, Moslems and Europeans in Algeria are still shooting and bombing one another but that's par for the course there, even in the Congo some of the noise has died down, and in this country and this election year Democrats and Republicans haven't begun calling each other names yet.

President Kennedy is almost fully occupied getting ready for the return of Congress Wednesday; French President Charles de Gaulle, never very noisy, is contemplating the problem of Algeria; West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, figuring that silence is the better part of wisdom, at least temporarily, is waiting to see what Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev work out on Berlin; British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who had made a habit of being inconspicuous, is indulging his habit; Mao Tze-tung, the real boss of Red China, is as usual letting others do his talking for him and they're not saying much; and Khrushchev himself, most of the time a kind of international Fourth of July, including the rockets, is as quiet as a Sunday morning.

Questions About K

Khrushchev, in fact, at this moment is the No. 1 global mystery: Why has this man, who kept 1961 jittery with talk and tension about Berlin and creating a new status for the East German Communists, been so quiet now for months?

He has been increasingly quiet on Berlin, in fact, since last autumn when the Communists built a wall to seal off East Berlin. This move forced the West tacitly to admit East and West Berlin and East and West Germany couldn't be unified. It also shut off the flow of valuable East German non-Communist manpower and brains to the West.

It's almost as if, after the wall went up, Khrushchev had said to East German Communist boss Ulbricht: "You got enough to keep you quiet awhile so will you please shut up."

Listing this catalogue of quietudes is like writing a memo, shoved into a bottle and tossed into the sea for future generations to find and wonder at, on how for some strange and unknown reason the world for a brief time in the early part of 1962 had an almost civilized appearance.

But this seems unreal and unnatural and in a few days, perhaps in a few weeks, the world should return to normal.

CONSUMER PROGRESS SHARING REPORT FROM RAMBLER

"Say! How do you like your Rambler?"
"Sure glad I compared!
it beats new imitators of Rambler's size on every count"

Rambler Classic Station Wagon. 2 or 3 seats, 4 or 5 doors.

"Rambler beats them on safety with Double-Safety Brakes"
"Why take chances on family safety? Rambler has tandem master cylinders with separate hydraulic systems for front and rear brakes. Self-adjusting, too! Both standard."

WIDEST TRACK OF ANY COMPACT

"Beats them on ride and handling"
"The Rambler Classic Six and Ambassador V-8 not only have wider track wheels than any other compact—they have new Road Command Suspension for a true big-car ride."

"Beats them on room and power"
"Rambler has more headroom, more shoulder room, more hip room for 6 six-footers. Power is greater, too. 127 HP 6 on Classic, 250 HP V-8 on Ambassador."

"Beats them on value by a country mile." "Eye-catching interiors. Big-car wheels—not tiny 13-inch foreign-car size. Deep-Dip rustproofing. Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe, 2-year battery, 33,000-mile chassis lube on Classic Six and Ambassador V-8. With engine oil changes at 4,000 miles!"

Compare all this—and price stickers, too! Rambler beats the Rambler-size imitators on value by a country mile! Stop at your Rambler dealer's first. You'll probably switch to Rambler (like over 100,000 Ford and Chevrolet owners did in just 12 months).

Child Prodigy Still Giving Concerts; Bitter About Youth

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the ironies about child prodigies—and it's the one that keeps ordinary mortals from feeling short-changed—is that when they cease to be children they frequently are no longer prodigious either.

An exception is Ruth Slenczynska (pronounced slen-chin-ska).

As a plump 4-year-old she climbed up on a piano stool to make her professional debut in Oakland, Calif. that was 32 years ago.

Wednesday she will be back in the bay area as soloist with the San Francisco Symphony at a concert celebrating its 50th anniversary. She'll receive a key to the city to add to her thriving collection.

Recalling her precocious childhood, she says: "I'm grateful for the experience, but it's like surviving a great calamity. You're glad you lived through it, but you wouldn't advocate it for anyone else."

Her Berlin debut came at age 6, Paris at 7, New York at 8. "Greatest keyboard genius since Mozart" was one of the milder accolades.

"I never had anything I wanted," she goes on, without bitterness. "I never wanted to be a pianist. It was my father's idea before I was born. But since I am one—

"I've learned when given a set of circumstances to make the most of them, to enjoy them.

"But I'd probably be the most happy, contented little housewife and mother."

Ruth lives alone in a New York apartment. She'd like to have a pet, but she travels too much to keep one. In the past five years she has given more than a thousand concerts on three continents.

Ruth, who is just under 5 feet, once was fired as a waitress because she couldn't hold trays high enough. That was when she was working her way through the University of California, majoring in psychology, after her family returned from Europe at the outbreak of World War II.

She was teaching at the College of Our Lady of Mercy in Burlingame, Calif., "and I thought I'd found my niche and wanted to stay forever," when she was overheard practicing in 1951 by the head of the Carmel Bach Fesal. He asked her to play; then came concerts with the San Francisco Symphony; conductor Arthur Fiedler asked her to go on tour—"and the ball hasn't stopped rolling yet."

Installations Held By Kingston OES

The annual installation of officers for Kingston Chapter No. 155 Order of the Eastern Star was held Friday night, Jan. 6 at the Masonic Temple. Preceding the installation ceremony, the retiring Worthy Matron, Worthy Sister Mary Greene, and Worthy Patron, Worthy Brother Robert Greene, were honored by their officers with a degree. Just as nearly one year ago they were welcomed by their officers with a degree entitled, One Dozen Yellow Roses," so last Friday they were bid farewell with another degree based on "One Dozen Yellow Roses."

The following members were then installed to office: Sister Shirley Pendell, Worthy Matron; Brother Arthur Aldridge, Worthy Patron; Sister Elsa Rockefeller, Associate Matron; Worthy Brother Robert Greene, Associate Patron; Worthy Sister Christena Wilson, Secretary; Right Worthy Sister Beatrice Strobel, Treasurer; Sister Alma Clark, Conductress; Worthy Sister Sadie Feldman, Trustee one year; Sister Florence Nettleton, Trustee, three years; Sister Kathryn Barnum, Chaplain; Worthy Sister Mary Greene, Marshal; Sister Anna Hartman, Assistant Marshal; Sister Mary Diehl, Historian; Worthy Sister Pansy Hudler, Musician; Worthy Sister Esther Ward, Warder; Sister Georgiana Brown, Sentinel; Worthy Sister Charlotte Teetsel, Color Bearer; Sister Jeanne Johnston, Adah; Sister Anna Marie Dittus, Ruth; Sister June LaConture, Esther; Sister Verna Aldridge, Martha. Sisters Marion Radcliffe and Sina Macak will be installed as Associate Conductress and Electa, respectively, at a future date.

The new Matron and Patron were greeted by their officers with a beautiful degree, "Dreams." A bouquet of flowers was presented to the Worthy Matron and a boutonniere to the Worthy Patron.

In her installation address, Worthy Matron Shirley Pendell outlined many interesting plans for the new year. Her motto will be "Happiness adds and multiplies, as we divide it with others." Her watchword is kindness; her colors, emerald green and white; her flower, the Cymbidium.

Those appointed to committees for the coming year are as follows: Finance, Worthy Sister Florence Powell, and Sisters Anna Cole and Emma Andersen; Marches, Right Worthy Sister Beatrice Strobel; Degrees, Worthy Sister Helene Edwards; Points, Worthy Sister Marion Hudler; Director of Lights, Sister Mary Case; Decoration, Worthy Sister Helena Schoepf, and Sisters Emma Kelley and Florence Nettleton; Publicity, Sister Frances Dedrick; Hospitality, Worthy Sisters Florence Powell and Esther Ward, and Sisters Eva Alcon and Rena Ellis.

The next meeting has been set aside for a reception for the new Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron. Sister Elsa Rockefeller will be in charge.

Students Desire Public Hearing On Tuition Plan

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Student leaders from State University Colleges are asking the university trustees to conduct a public hearing on a plan to impose tuition charges on students at teacher-training institutions.

The student-leaders, who oppose the plan, called off a proposed protest march on Albany, however.

The trustees meet Thursday in Albany to consider levying a $350-a-year tuition and fees on undergraduates at the teachers' colleges.

The students, at a weekend meeting, also agreed to protest to Gov. Rockefeller and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

Students representing State University units at Cortland, Fredonia, Geneseo, Harpur, Oneonta and Oswego voted to ask for the public hearing. Buffalo abstained.

Students from the state colleges of Forestry at Syracuse and Agriculture at Cornell also were represented.

MUST RETURN PRESENTS BE SENT?

Q: Before Christmas I wrote to several relatives and suggested we stop exchanging gifts as we all had enough with our immediate families. In spite of this, some of them sent us gifts anyway. This has placed me in a very embarrassing position. Will you please tell me what, if anything, I should do? Would it be proper to send them belated Christmas presents?

A: If those who sent gifts agreed to your suggestion, you thank them for theirs, but do not send any in return. If they did not agree, send them belated presents and tell them in your letters of thanks that your suggestion was serious, and please not to send you any next year.

Q: The doctor son of friends of ours recently opened an office here in town. Whenever anyone in our family has been ill, I have called him in. I have known this young man ever since he was a small boy and have always called him Bob. My husband claims that it is all right to call him Bob socially; but, when he comes to the house professionally, I should call him Dr. Jones. I would like your opinion on this.

A: You may properly continue to call him Bob when he comes to your house professionally, as well as socially; but when speaking of him to the younger members of your family, he is Dr. Jones.

Q: If the bride wears a long bridal dress and veil, should the mothers wear short or long dresses and must both wear the same length skirts?

A: If the preparations are fairly elaborate, the mothers usually wear long dresses—but not necessarily. Nor is it necessary that their dresses be the same length, although if they are to stand together to receive, it would look nicer if both wore the same length dresses.

Week of Prayer Services Begin On Monday Night

The first session of the Week of United Prayer sponsored and conducted by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association was held Monday night at the Salvation Army. Host pastor and chairman of the service was Major Foster Meitrott.

Speaker was the Rev. Theodore Swingle, pastor of the Free Methodist Church. The theme for the week is Prayer and Everyday Living.

Special music was furnished by the Salvation Army band, and Mrs. James Burke and her daughters, Nancy and Joan, sang a selection. The Songsters also sang. The pianist was Mrs. Richard Faurote, daughter of Major and Mrs. Meitrott, home on vacation from Hawaii where her husband serves in the Navy.

The service tonight will be held at the Bethel Assembly of God, Esopus Avenue, with the pastor, the Rev. Dean L. Harrison, as chairman. The Rev. Mr. Harrison is also president of the Evangelical ministerial association.

The speaker tonight will be the Rev. Patrick R. Vostello, pastor of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. The Rev. Mr. Vostello, in turn, will be host pastor Wednesday night. The speaker will be the Rev. Brooks V. Henry, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Saugerties.

All services are coducted at 7:30 p. m. and are open to the public.

The Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association sponsors several annual services starting with the Week of United Prayer. There will be a county-wide Sunday school convention March 16 and 17.

Monthly hymnsings, held on the second Sunday of the month from 9 to 10 p. m. and an annual hymnsing in Dietz Stadium each summer are included in the schedule.

Starting Feb. 6, a tri-weekly morning meditation hour will be held over WGHQ, sponsored and staffed by the evangelical ministerium. This will be heard on Tuesdays and Saturdays each week at 6:25 a. m.

New Members Received at Tillson Church

At the services held at the Tillson Reformed Church Sunday morning Mrs. Irwin Smith and daughter Ruth Ellen Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Scray, Charles Dewitt, Ronald Born and Mrs. Oliver Craig were accepted into the church as new members.

The following members were installed as officers: Arthur Toman as elder and Frederick Wengel as deacon both for a term of two years.

The Ladies' Aid will meet Thursday, 8 p. m. at the church. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Alvah Winfield and Mrs. Ernest Hopper.

The annual congregational meeting will be held Sunday, Jan. 14, immediately following the morning worship.

Reports covering business of all church groups for 1961 will be given. The budget for 1962 will be discussed. All members and friends of the church may attend.

Dominican Seeks Extradition of Trujillo, Aides

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The new Dominican government is reported seeking the extradition of Rafael L. Trujillo Jr. and two top aides in connection with the disappearance and presumed death of six men held for the assassination of Trujillo's father.

The semiofficial paper La Nacion published the report Monday. It could not be immediately confirmed.

Trujillo, son of the dictator who ruled this country for 31 years until his death last May, was last reported in Paris. The two aides mentioned by the paper, Luis Leon and Estevez Rubirosa, also are believed in Paris.

In Paris, the French Foreign Ministry said no extradition treaty exists between the two countries.

In theory, the Dominican government could ask for custody of Trujillo and his associates, and France could decide the case on its merits. However, France has a long tradition of granting political asylum, and if the three could argue successfully that they were sought for political reasons, they probably would be allowed to stay.

The chief of the armed forces, Maj. Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, charged that three air force officers who accused him of dictatorial ambitions acted as part of a Communist plot to "divide and destroy" the country's military establishment.

The general said Communist agents had infiltrated some political parties and a Communist plan for mass disorders and guerrilla warfare was smashed early last month. He did not say if there had been any arrests.

Sandy Creek Is Tied Up After 18-Inch Snow

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Up to a foot of wind-blown snow tied up travel and closed schools near here today, and the city itself battled half a foot.

Another squall dumped 18 inches on Sandy Creek in Oswego County. The county highway department reported no traffic was moving.

The squall came in a narrow band, tapering off to an inch of snow a few miles south of Sandy Creek.

A Lake Ontario squall, meanwhile, battered Watertown with about five inches.

The Weather Bureau said further heavy squalls were on tap for counties near the Great Lakes and northwest of Utica to the western Adirondacks, as temperatures headed down toward a general range of zero to 15 above tonight.

Many secondary roads were blocked after an overnight storm off Lake Erie that struck a belt ranging 15 miles to Leroy, east of here, and south to the Pennsylvania line. Winds stacked up drifts. Thruway traffic was slowed.

For most of the state, the Weather Bureau predicted either scattered snow flurried through Wednesday, or clearing.

Last night's low temperatures ranged mostly in the upper teens and 20s.

Plans All-Negro School

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The Orleans Parish School Board has voted to turn one of the city's six desegregated elementary schools into an all-Negro facility.

The board decided Monday night to make the change to relieve what it said were crowded conditions at Negro schools in the area.

McDonogh No. 19—where angry white parents withdrew their children when it was desegregated Nov. 14, 1960 under federal court directives—will become an all-Negro school Jan. 24.

Pickets Dispersed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Negro pickets protesting a pro-segregation Citizens Council rally Monday night at the Municipal Auditorium were dispersed by police.

Five pickets were accompanied by four other Negroes including the Rev. Avery Alexander, president of the Consumers League of Greater New Orleans, a Negro group. They left when Police Capt. Presley Trosclair told them the picketing would "unreasonably alarm and disturb the public."

He Doesn't Realize That Wife Is a Financial Genius

"I can't teach my wife the first thing about money" complains a husband who read this column.

"She thinks she has picked up a wonderful bargain when she buys a suit marked down from $150 to $75.

"When I tell her the suit never was worth more than $75 if the store was willing to sell it for that, she replies that I don't know anything about women's clothes and, furthermore, I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She tells me with a straight face that she saves me money when she buys something on sale only because she couldn't resist a 'bargain.'

"When I suggest that she would save me money just by staying away from sales, she tells me I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She has a habit of putting things in 'layaway' and making monthly payments on them out of her grocery money.

"She claims that doesn't cost me anything, but when I tell her that if she can make monthly payments on a mink stole out of her grocery money her budget for groceries is too high, she says (you guessed it) that I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She has a habit of hiding bills until I am in what she calls a 'good mood.' When I explain patiently that my being in a good mood doesn't automatically reduce the size of the bills, she says she didn't buy anything she didn't need and that I don't appreciate how hard she tries to save me money.

"She even figures that anything she can get me to pay for that should come out of her household budget is actually money 'saved.' The fact that it all comes out of my salary doesn't impress her at all.

"Is she just hopeless financially—or what?"

It sounds as though she is a financial genius—just like most housewives. It's by just such feminine figuring that wives manage to stretch their husband's income to cover everything they — the wives — consider important.

$50 Penalty Is Ruling by CAB For 'No Shows'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines may begin on March 1 charging passengers up to $50 when they don't show up for their reservations, the Civil Aeronautics Board has decided in a tentative ruling.

But a passenger may also collect a penalty of at least $25 if he shows up with a ticket and finds no seat available.

In a ruling Monday, the CAB said the order would be deferred for 20 days to allow the airlines or other interested parties to file comments or protests.

The action stemmed from a request of 11 major airlines that something be done about the "no-shows."

May Gets Ghana Post

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, the Western world's first atom spy, has been appointed special professor of physics at the University of Ghana.

Announcing this today, a Ghana spokesman said the 50-year-old British scientist is expected to take up the appointment shortly.

May worked on an atomic energy project in Canada during World War II. He was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in 1946 for disclosing atomic secrets to the Soviet Union. He was released in 1952 after serving six years and eight months of the term.

A cosmic ray is an atomic nucleus that has separated from its electrons somewhere in space.

Alarming Trend Seen by Levitt In Bid Violations

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says violations of laws covering competitive bidding and conflicts of interests are occurring "with alarming regularity."

He says 71 per cent of the counties and 65 per cent of the cities examined by his department last year had violated the law pertaining to competitive bidding.

Fewer violations by towns, villages and school districts were found, he added "but still one of four was reported as having violated the competitive bidding requirements."

Levitt, a Democrat, made the statements Monday at the first of a series of hearings in the state to consider changes in laws governing public purchases and conflict of interest.

About 300 municipal officials contractors, representatives of schools districts and civic organizations of six New York metropolitan counties attended.

The counties represented at the meeting included Westchester, Putnam, Rockland and Orange.

Set Civil Service Exam for Examiner

A new examination for Transportation Tariff Examiner (Freight) has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling positions paying starting salaries of $5,885 a year in the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, D. C.

No written test is required. To qualify for these positions, applicants must have had responsible experience in the compilation of freight rate tariffs of common carriers that are subject to the Interstate Commerce Act; or experience in the traffic department of a common carrier subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, or in traffic services work in industry, commerce, or government, provided such work required a thorough familiarity with interstate freight rate tariffs. Pertinent college study in traffic management or transportation may be substituted for part of the required experience.

Applications will be accepted until further notice and must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, 25, D. C.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, Examiner-in-charge, Central Post Office, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Mormons Are Forming Western N. Y. Diocese

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Plans to organize a new State diocese in Western New York were disclosed today by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Mormons.

The new stake will be headed by a president, and each of its five wards, resembling parishes, will be headed by bishops.

Headquarters probably will be in Rochester, with main ward offices in Syracuse, Buffalo, Rochester, Palmyra and Niagara Falls.

National headquarters of the church, which has 1.7 million members around the world, is in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mountain Midwife Dies

MANCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—"Aunt Sarah" Collett, a mountain midwife who helped deliver more than 3,000 babies in this eastern Kentucky region, died of a heart attack Monday at the age of 95. She was a widow and had worked as a midwife 40 years.

In 1953 she gave the last piece of land she owned as the site for a new schoolhouse at the community of Blue Hole.

The school has been used as a meeting place for church groups. "I wanted it this way," Aunt Sarah said.

Her last wish will be granted, too. Her funeral is to be held at the new school. Her burial place is to be on a mountainside overlooking the building.

Saugerties Rally Nips Arlington, 68-61 in DCSL Tilt

Bill Schirmer Leads Sawyers To Comeback Win

It's a good thing Bill Schirmer showed up at Arlington High School yesterday. Without rugged Bill in the lineup, the Saugerties High cage team wouldn't still be in the thick of the UCAL race.

With Schirmer giving one of his great performances, the Sawyears nipped the home side, 68-61, with a fourth quarter comeback, after they managed to blow an early 10 point lead.

The win was the third in DCSL play for the defending champs against a solitary loss to Beacon. Since they meet Roosevelt, the league leader, on Friday, you can see the importance of yesterday's clash.

The Sawyers took an early 12-3 lead in the first four minutes with center Keith Mills and Schirmer making a pair of buckets and Al Hrdlicka hitting once. Mike Dodig set up several of the scores with some nifty passing.

Arlington, trailing by 20-9 after the first quarter, moved ahead at 24-23 with 4:30 left before the half and the clubs battled on even terms the rest of that first half. It was 34-34 at the intermission.

Bill Sparkles

While the rest of the Sawyers stood around as if they were in a daze, Schirmer was almost the entire show in the third period. Arlington moved to a quick lead, 42-36, and only some all-around play by the senior star kept the point spread from opening wider. Bill VanBenschoten, one of the twin brothers on the AHS squad, suffered an injury halfway through the period and he was lost for the rest of the game. It hurt the home side.

Trailing by four points, 51-47, starting the final eight minutes, the visitors came alive. Schirmer turned from a shooter to a feeder and he set up Mills with several shots from near the hoop. Hrdlicka started to hit from outside and Coach Bud Smith's cagers finally took the lead for keeps, 56-55, early in the stanza.

Hrdlicka went out on five fouls near the end but by this time the contest was out of reach. It went as high as nine points in the final stages.

Schirmer rimmed 23 points and was just superb on both backboards. Mills, who has come a long way, had 21 markers, missing only two shots. Hrdlicka finished with 17. Those three accounted for all but seven of the Saugerties points.

Sharpshooter Joe Horvath scored 26 points for Arlington, many of them on long jump shots from outside. He was hot in the second half.

The box score:

Saugerties (68)

NFL Attendance Soars to Record High of 3,986,159

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Surging National Football League attendance hit a record high of 3,986,159 in 1961 with an average crowd of 40,675 at each of 98 regular season games.

"We are enthusiastic about the general balance of our attendance," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was re-elected Monday for a new five-year term at $50,000 a year.

"From 1952 to 1959, Los Angeles was very successful with big crowds of 70,000 and 75,000 accounting for a good share of our attendance. Although the Rams were not utilizing their biggest stadium in the league to full capacity, our attendance still went up. That is a healthy trend. We are sorry we missed by only 14,000 from hitting the 4 million mark."

Jim Kensil, league public relations chief, did not announce any individual club breakdown when he released the official paid attendance figures. He said the average crowd in 1961 was 40,675, compared with 40,106 in 1960.

Cleveland Led

Unofficial Associated Press figures showed that Cleveland led the league with 426,886, followed by New York with 423,949 and Philadelphia with 412,318. The biggest single turnout was 80,455 at Cleveland for the Nov. 26 game with New York.

The re-election of Rozelle was no surprise because the league has enjoyed unprecedented success in his regime. He just finished the second year of an original three-year term following his election as a compromise choice at the stormy 1960 meeting. Although Rozelle received no salary increase, it was expected that adjustments would be made after current problems have been resolved.

"We may expand in the next five years," said Rozelle. "Right now we have no immediate plans for adding clubs. We want to get the Dallas and Minnesota franchises well off the ground first. The new stadium at Washington has been the big plus of the last two years. New parks in St. Louis and Pittsburgh by 1964 or 1965 are two important keys to the future."

The NFL turned down a proposal to increase the player limit from 36 to 38 men. It also rejected a suggestion to set up an injured player reserve list. Injured players, not inactivated for the season, must continue to go through the waiver system before they can be restored to the active list.

McClendon Is New Grid Coach at LSU

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Charley McClendon, a gridiron genius known as "a coach's coach," Monday won his spurs as a head football coach—succeeding Paul Dietzel at Louisiana State.

For McClendon, a 38-year-old Lewisville, Ark., native, it was a promotion from the ranks. He served seven years as Dietzel's chief assistant until Dietzel left last Friday to become head coach at West Point.

Athletic Director Jim Corbett said he polled the LSU board of supervisors late Sunday night about McClendon and is recommending a four-year contract at $18,000 annually.

McClendon joined LSU in 1953 after serving one year as an aide at Vanderbilt.

NCAA Urges the White House To Delay AAU Investigation

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has urged the White House to hold off a possible federal investigation of its power struggle with the national AAU until "all avenues of negotiations are exhausted," executive director Walter Byers said today.

"The report I gave to White House representatives was that I, personally, felt that intervention by the federal government, from either the executive or legislative branches, should come as a last resort," Byers told The Associated Press.

"If it develops that a reasonable solution to these difficulties cannot be obtained, then I am sure the colleges will be the first to welcome the government's help."

Byers' confirmation to the Oakland Tribune's report that President Kennedy has been urged by several West Coast senators to intervene came in the wake of another step in the NCAA-AAU fight, this one involving track and field.

Opening the week-long NCAA convention, Byers announced Monday that the NCAA had been petitioned by track coaches to take the lead in formation of a U.S. track and field federation that would greatly reduce AAU influence in the sport.

A similar federation has been proposed by the NCAA in basketball in the continuing struggle over representation to the international bodies in both sports.

Colleges, together with high schools and armed forces, have said the AAU has done a poor job in its conduct of affairs in basketball and track and field, particularly in regard to international matters.

The proposed federation would be composed of representatives of the NCAA, AAU, armed forces and high schools. A similar federation in which the YMCA would be included has been proposed by the NCAA in basketball.

If the struggle can't be settled among the two groups, the international organizations in the respective sports would hold the final authority.

Machooka Conquers Runners, But Doesn't Like the Weather

By KENNY VAN SICKLE

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Steve Machooks of Cornell University has conquered American runners but not Ithaca's cold winter weather.

The 20-year-old, smooth-striding Kenyan is unbeaten in racing as an individual in the United States. But the seasonal chill of upstate New York does not appeal to him.

Machooka, son of a farming family at Kisii, Kenya, holds a scholarship to study agriculture, and he plans to continue to study here so that he can be an agricultural specialist for the Kenya government.

Machooka eventually will run the mile in less than four minutes, coach Lou Montgomery predicts. "It's just a question of time, whether he does it this year or next."

The 130-pound, 5-foot-11 runner, a sophomore at Cornell, is concentrating on his studies right now. It is largely because of them that he is not embarking on any extensive winter, board-running tour.

"Everybody wants him," Montgomery said. "But it is more important that he get a firm foundation with his studies. There will be time for that (racing) in other years."

Thus, unless there is a radical change, Steve's only competitions before the spring outdoor season will be Cornell's duel meets with Dartmouth, Army and Yale, the Heptagonals at Cornell March 3 and the IC4A at Madison Square Garden in New York City March 10.

Last year, Machooka set a 5-mile course record of 25:38.3 in the Heptagonals in Van Cortlandt Park. He won the IC4A over the same trial in a pelting downpour of sleet and gooey mud, with the temperature near freezing.

He covered the mile in 4:10.8, a Cornell record, at Schoellkopf Field here last June, helping Cornell and Pennsylvahia to beat Oxford and Cambridge.

"I've never had anybody who can run as gracefully," said Montgomery. "He loves to run. And just as proof that he doesn't want anybody to get in front of him, he will jump the gun in a cross-country race."

Machooka currently is torn between two things for which he does not have great love—running outside in the cold or running inside on the boards.

The coldest it gets in Kenya is 35 degrees.

"It is not 'rather' cold in Ithaca, but 'very' cold," Steve commented. "Show is boring."

Nonetheless, he has taken up ice skating.

Emil Jensen Bridge Winner

Emil Jensen of Poughkeepsie posted an excellent 67 per cent game to win first place in the Fractional point individual competition bridge tournament sponsored by the Glenerie Bridge Club.

Jensen's steady and accurate playing enabled him to finish ten per cent ahead of the runners-up—I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston and Earl Yohnell of Poughkeepsie, who had 57 per cent.

Locked in a three-way tie for fourth place with 50 per cent were: Roy Wulff, Kingston; Mrs. Margaret Kantzer, Poughkeepsie; and Stephen Grisoff, Poughkeepsie.

A fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant Kingston Hotel.

Ohio State Class of Big Ten; Other Nine Positions Are Open

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the Big Ten race barely under way two things seem apparent: Ohio State is clearly the class of the conference, and it's going to be a wide open scramble for the next nine places.

Ohio State's supremacy is no surprise. The deep and seasoned Buckeyes hold undisputed possession as the nation's top team, and are virtually sure shot bets to sweep to another conference title. Some other developments among th Big Ten members do rate in the surprise category.

For example, leading up to the conference openers last Saturday, Big Ten squads failed to fatten up on outside opposition as they usually do. In 90 games against non-league opponents, they were 57-33—with Ohio State 10-0, Illinois 7-1 and Purdue 7-2. That left the seven others barely above the break-even point at 33-30.

For another thing, the teams expected to give Ohio State its stiffest competition haven't exactly been fireballs. After two conference games, Purdue is 1-1 and 8-3 over-all, Iowa is 1-1 and 7-4, Illinois is 1-1 and 8-2, Northwestern is 0-2 and 5-6, and Minnesota is 2-0 against Big Ten rivals but only 6-6 over-all.

While Ohio State was idle Monday night, All-America Terry Dischinger pumped in 45 points as Purdue scored a home court victory over Illinois; Minnesota outscored Indiana 104-100 at Minneapolis; Iowa's Don Nelson set a Hawkeye record in the 74-60 decision over Northwestern at Iowa City; and Wisconsin outlasted Michigan State 83-78 on the Spartans' floor.

Many Records Fall

It was a night for records. Nelson's 36 points gave him a career total of 1,206 and an all-time Iowa high. Minnesota's 104 points was a school scoring mark.

At Vanderbilt, Cotton Nash of Kentucky scored 31 points in leading the nationally 3rd-ranked Wildcats over the Commodores 77-68 in their Southeastern Conference match.

Gene Engel packed a lot of punch in the closing moments, sparking Virginia to a 98-95 Atlantic Coast conference victory over South Carolina. Engel snapped a 92-92 tie on a pair of free throws with 49 seconds to go then clinched it with a layup.

St. Louis, struggling through a highly disappointing season, won its first Missouri Valley Conference game in three starts, 81-59 over Tulsa. Iowa State's steadiness enabled it to beat an erratic Oklahoma State squad, 47-42, in the Big Eight.

Other results—Furman 59, The Citadel 51; Oklahoma 56, Missouri 52; Louisiana State 76, Georgia 57; Tulane 59, Florida 47; Auburn 64, Mississippi 58; Murray 82, Eastern Kentucky 80 Clemson 75, Florida State 69; Providence 79, Massachusetts 45; St. John's (NY) 108, Bridgeport 84

Ohio State Repeats Its Sweep

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Write.

Ohio State, one of the two major college basketball teams still unbeaten, maintained its unblemished record with the sports writers and broadcasters, too, receiving first-place votes on all ballots cast this week in The Associated Press poll.

Cincinnati and Kentucky held firmly to their second and third places, respectively. All others jockeyed positions although none of last week's top 10 fell out of the select group.

The University of Southern California, twice victors over California over the weekend, advanced two notches to fourth place. Kansas State and Villanova each dropped a berth to fifth and sixth, respectively. Kansas State lost to Colorado Saturday 75-61 and Villanova was knocked off the unbeaten list by West Virginia 88-82.

Mississippi State, which remained undefeated by shading Auburn 51-48 for its 10th triumph, jumped two places to seventh. Bowling Green climbed to ninth while Duquesne dropped a notch to eighth and Duke fell two positions to 10th.

The Ohio State Buckeyes, led by John Havlicek and Jerry Lucas, swept past Northwestern 75-62 for their 11th straight triumph, and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis and Tulsa to boost its record to 11-1. Kentucky (10-1) knocked off Virginia and Georgia Tech to extend its unbeaten string to nine.

The top 10, based on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 vote count with first place votes in parentheses:

Chicago — Bobby Stininato, 173, Chicago, outpointed Chuck Garrett, 175, Chicago, 10.

Roy Lown Leads

J. Germann, Albany Kegler, Eighth in BPAA Tournament

John Germann of Albany rolled the highest four-game brace in the 1962 National BPAA All-Star Bowling championships Monday to move into eighth place after three of the six squads finished their 20-game preliminary round. His 978 brought Germann from 119 pins under to 59 pins above the 200 average on a 4059 total for 20 games.

Roy Lown, the El Paso, Texas, southpaw who has been bowling sensationally, continued atop the qualifying standings. He had a 20-game total of 4385 after hitting 878 on Monday.

Billy Golembiewski, a highly-rated entrant from Detroit, was in the runner-up spot with 4245 and third place was held by Andy Rogoznica, Chicago, with 4231 after 192 of the 288-man field had finished their fifth round.

John Walther, who rolled an 812 block, is certain to be one of the 96 to qualify for the semi-finals with his 3990, 10 pins under 200. The original field of 288 men was cut to 96 after Monday's completion of preliminary blocks. The survivors bowl 12 games today with the high 16, based on 32 games, reaching the finals. The $100,000 event winds up Saturday.

Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., was out front in the women's division at the end of the opening semi-final round Monday with a 16-game total of 3351. Mrs. Ladewig is a seven-time winner of the championship.

Ruby Chong, Oakland, Calif., is second on the board with 3258 and teenager Judy Audsley, Kansas City, third with 3189.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp

ADD REALISM TO A DECOY SPREAD

IF YOUR DUCK BLIND IS ON LAND, TAKE A WIRE COAT HANGER ALONG THE NEXT TIME YOU GO DUCK SHOOTING. WHEN YOU BAG A DUCK, BEND THE HANGER, AS SHOWN, SO ITS HOOK SUPPORTS THE DUCK'S HEAD WHEN THE DUCK IS PLACED UPON THE FOOT OF THE SHAPED HANGER. PLACE THIS DECOY ON GROUND AT THE WATER'S EDGE, NEAR YOUR REGULAR DECOYS.

PROP DUCK WITH ROCKS IF IT TENDS TO ROLL ON A SLOPE.

Yellow is the most easily seen color in the woods, according to tests. Red, worn by hunters, ranks second to last.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Just This and That:- Mel Allen, who has been Voice of the Yankees since 1937, hasn't signed his 1962 contract and the metropolitan boys are buzzing.

The New York Mets, new National League entry, were recently reported to have settled on a three-man team including Joe Garagiola, the wit, Les Keiter and Marty Glickman. There have been rumors that both Allen and Phil Rizzuto would be leaving the Yankees.

If Mel and the Yankees have reached the point of disenchantment it would end a 23-year relationship. Mel joined the Yankees as color announcer for the late Arch McDonald in 1937 and has been with them ever since. He has won every sportscasting and TV award open to man and is still one of the dominant personalities in the sports.

If for nothing else who could ever forget his nicknaming of Joe DiMaggio as the "Yankee Clipper,, or his perennial "how about that"

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Adirondack AAU have been awarded the 1963 National AAU boxing championships, with Albany as the tentative locale. Ben Danforth, the Albany sports columnist, was ruminating a while back that over the years at least 25 national amateur Golden Gloves and Diamond Belt champions, as well as three world's titleholders have been developed in territory covered by the Adirondack AAU.

The three champions were, of course, Marty Servo of Schenectady, welterweight king; Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight and welterweight, and Carmine Basilio, who held the same crown.

Servo, who earned his earliest fame in Kingston as Baby Face Semprevino, won the Golden Gloves featherweight toga in 1937, followed with the Diamond Belt title in 1938 and then lost that same year to George Salamone in the finals of the National AAU. He beat Freddie Cochrane for the world's welterweight crown in 1946.

The fabulous Robinson, rated by many the greatest fighter of the ages pound for pound, began his career in Kingston as Kid Ray. The name later was changed to Sugar Ray. He won the Adirondack AAU Golden Gloves featherweight title in 1939 and the lightweight title in 1940 before turning pro. He took the world's welterweight crown in 1946, the middleweight title in 1951 and light heavyweight honors in 1952. The middleweight title he has held five times, you know.

• Started in Albany:

Basilo, the hatchet faced warrior from the onion fields around Chittenango, got his start in the Golden Gloves in Albany. He never won national amateur honors and captured the world's welterweight toga in 1955 by beating Tony De Marco in a savage bout. He lost and won it again from Johnny Saxton the following year. He took the middleweight crown from Robinson in 1957 and relinquished the welterweight title soon after.

No discussion about boxers with Adirondack AAU or Kingston backgrounds is complete without reference to Lou Ambers, who under the name of Otis Paradise, thrilled Kingston audiences on many occasions. He went on to the lightweight championship and was one of the most beautiful boxers of his time.

These were boxers in an era when a world's championship had to be earned the hard way. This was before the TV era which reduced the sports to a shambles.

• Only in the Gym:

Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, who is usually quiet and non-commital about everything - until he starts to fight in the ring - had a vehement word or two to say about Sugar Ray Robinson.

Asked if he would fight the Sugar Man, former champion who insisted on taking most of the money in their first two matches, Gene said:

"For money - no! Positively no! Why should I let him make even 10 cents with my help?"

"If Robinson wants to fight, I'll be glad to meet him - in a gymnasium with no gate. And no rules or gloves."

Handicap Bowling Tourney Is Slated in Niagara Falls

More than $12,000 in prize money is guaranteed to winners of the first annual Handicap Bowling tournament, sponsored by the New York State Bowling Proprietors. Competition in five-man, doubles, singles and all-events will take place at the Boulevard Bowl, Schenectady, and at the Hoffman Lanes, Albany.

The tourney will run for eight successive weekends, May 12 through July 1. Entries will close Mar. 15 with no reservations held beyond Feb. 15.

The handicapping will be based upon 75 per cent of the difference between a bowler's average and 200, with a maximum pin allowance of 45 per game. A minimum of 45 games determines a league average and handicaps must be based upon a bowler's highest league from the 1960-61 season. Teams and individuals may compete more than once, but only one place will be allowed such teams and individuals in the prize List of any division.

Entry blanks may be obtained from local bowling establishments and entry fees, with full remittance should be mailed to Sam Martino, tournament manager, Niagara Falls.

The tournament is another one of many sponsored by the NYSBPA. It also sponsors match game championship tournaments as well as state championships for junior bowlers each year on a state-wide level.

Costello to Miss NBA Tilt Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Larry Costello, Syracuse Nats guard, is expected to miss tonight's National Basketball Association game against the Philadelphia Warriors at Philadelphia.

Doctors said Monday that Costello suffered a broken left wrist in a fall Sunday, as the Nats defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 123-116.

Action Is Slated In UCAL Tonight; Other Tilts Set

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Newburgh Free Academy's glittering Goldbacks, unbeaten in seven outings and heavily favored at Monticello tonight, will host Kingston High's defending DUSO champions in a Friday night headliner at the Hilly City gym. Those Kingston fans who are planning on attending the contest, are asked to get there early. The place figures to be a sellout.

While Kingston is on the road, Saugerties High has an outstanding game at the SHS gym as Roosevelt comes in for a crucial DCSL meeting. The Sawyers are defending the championship in their league and Roosevelt is the team that has to be beaten.

Though KHS and the Sawyers don't see any action tonight, other area schools will be playing. Newburgh is at Monticello in the only DUSO contest and this figures as simply a tuneup for the Goldies of Joe Gaspard.

UCAL Tilts Tonight

The UCAL has a full slate of games. Onteora plays at Wallkill, Rondout at Pine Bush and Highland at New Paltz. In non-league activity, Wappingers is at Poughkeepsie, Lourdes at Beacon, Red Hook at Cardinal Farley and Arlington at Catskill.

Since all action in the UCAL was postponed on Friday, the standings remain the same with three clubs—Wallkill, Marlboro and Rondout Valley — battling for top honors.

If Kingston is to repeat its 1960-61 cage title, the Maroon players must win Friday's contest. With a loss to Poughkeepsie already in the books and with the league schedule giving each club only 10 games, another setback would mean an uphill climb for Jack Gilligan's hoopsters.

The Goldbacks were extended last week in their 53-51 verdict at Poughkeepsie, but they were ahead all the way. Four veterans from last year's second place finisher form the backbone of the attack. They are John Sileno, Al Angelone, Richie Scott and Jim MacMillan. Scott was an All-Duso selection last year and Sileno made the second team.

With John Falvey expected to be back in top shape, the locals will be at full strength in their bid to knock the Hilly City quintet from the ranks of the unbeaten. Falvey will join Mike Ferraro, John Duffner, Paul Natale and Ronnie Thomas in what promises to be a good game.

Two Big Problems

Saugerties has two problems if Bud Smith's cagers are to beat Roosevelt. They must go up against the tallest club in the valley and have to stop Wes Bialosuknia, the heralded junior hotshot. Wes is the outstanding cager in the area and he recovered from a bad leg in time to lead the Presidents to a decisive win over Beacon last Friday.

Roosevelt has a team that averages well over six feet. Center Pete Brenner is near 6-6 while Jim Jeffrey, Art Bell and Bialosuknia are 6-2 or better. Jim Fulmer, the fifth starter, is the "midget" at 6-1.

The Sawyers, who decisioned Arlington yesterday, have one loss (to Beacon) in league play. A setback on Friday would just about halt the chances of repeating as league champions.

In UCAL action on Friday, Wallkill is at Rondout in the stellar attraction. Other contests are Pine Bush at Highland and Marlboro at Onteora.

Larries Defeat Hamilton, 83-65

St. Lawrence University's basketball team ended a two-game losing streak Monday night and hopes to keep the new string going tonight when it meets Hartwick at Oneonta.

The Saints downed Hamilton, 83-65, at Clinton. Hamilton, which also entered the game Monday night with a two-game losing streak, now has seven losses and three victories. The Saints have a 6-2 mark.

In other action involving Upstate teams, visiting Siena dropped an exhibition game to the New York Athletic Club, 92-71.

In the Saints-Hamilton game, the lead changed hands six times before the half, when the Saints stood 39-33.

High scorers were Gene Simonsen with 27 for St. Lawrence and Ken Palmer and Dick Salisbury with 14 each for Hamilton. The Saints' Dick Metcalf had 23.

Cornell Hockey Team Decisions Dartmouth

BOSTON (AP)—Cornell, a 5-4 winner over Dartmouth, tries tonight for its second straight Ivy League victory over Harvard's hockey team.

The Big Red was ahead, 5-2, with five minutes left in Monday night's game at Hanover, N.H., then hung on grimly to fight off a late surge by Dartmouth. The Indians tallied two goals in the closing minutes but were unable to score the equalizer.

The Cornell-Harvard game, to be played here, was postponed from Jan. 6 because icy roads in New York State prevented the Big Red from traveling to Boston.

Cornell now has won five games and lost two. Its Ivy League record is two victories and one loss.

Dartmouth has won three of its seven games and split in a pair of league contests.

Sonny Jurgensen To Undergo Surgery

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles' all-pro quarterback, Sonny Jurgensen, undergoes surgery today to repair his right shoulder which was severely separated in the National Football League Runnerup Bowl.

Rodgers Wins First Tourney With 268 Score

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A rookie with only six months experience on the tournament trail has won the first major prize of his professional golfing career, the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., routed the older, more established pros Monday with a tournament record nine-under-par 62 and 72-hole total of 268. A pro barely a year, Rodgers left his nearest challengers behind by nine strokes and carried home $7,500.

It was the widest margin of victory since Mike Souchak piled up the same score over Billy Casper and Doug Ford in the Motor City Open at Northville, Mich., in August 1959.

Rodgers' round cracked the 36-year-old tournament record of 63 shared by Tommy Bolt (1956) and Ken Venturi (1959) and erased the 72-hole score of 272 set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1956.

Rodgers' previous fame was limited. He won the national collegiate championship as a sophomore in 1958 at the University of Houston. He was low amateur in the Los Angeles Open in 1960.

Last year he won the Mexican Open in Mexico City, and in October he won the Sahara Pro-Amateur at Las Vegas.

Rodgers' first three rounds here were 67-71-68. Most observers thought he would yield to pressure on the final round and the winning effort would come from Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex; Bob Goalby, the 1961 L.A. Open winner; Lionel Hebert or possibly even a late challenging Mike Souchak.

Rodgers squelched that when he moved into a 3-stroke lead in the first nine holes and never let up with his birdie-barrage. Rancho Golf Club's par is 36-35-71. Rodgers did it in 32-30-62.

For the record, Hawkins and Goalby were the runners-up at 277. It was worth $3,325 apiece.

Charlie Dressen to Manage Toronto; Furillo Seeks Job

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charlie Dressen, fiery, outspoken 63-year-old pepperpot, was back in baseball today for his 30th consecutive year as a manager or coach in the majors and minors.

Fired as manager of the Milwaukee Braves at the tailend of the 1961 season, Dressen rejoined the Braves system Monday, signing on as field boss of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League and extending an unbroken string of managing or coaching jobs that began in 1932.

While Dressen left the unemployed ranks, equally outspoken Carl Furillo, one of the stars for Dressen's Dodger teams of the early 1950s, remained on the outside after Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick denied he is being blacklisted by major league clubs.

Dressen, connected with baseball in some capacity since he began playing in 1919, said he could have had "four or five" jobs managing Triple A teams, but liked the Toronto offer best. He noted Toronto is considered as a possible addition if and when the majors expand again.

Furillo, dropped by the Los Angeles Dodgers midway in the 1959 season when he refused to report to their minor league club at Spokane, has been trying to hook on with a major league club as a player, coach or scout.

A former National League batting champion with a .344 average in 1953, the 39-year-old outfielder claims he is being blacklisted by all major league teams.

"There is no such thing as a baseball blacklist," Frick said. The New York Mets, petitioned by Furillo for a job, concurred: "We reserve the right to hire our own personnel. There's no blacklist. After all, Furillo is going to be 40 years old."

COME AND SEE US—Two standard poodle puppies that will compete in the Mid-Hudson Kennel Club's AKC All-Breed and obedience match show to be held Sunday, Jan. 14, at the Lincoln Center, Lincoln Avenue, Poughkeepsie, starting at 2 p. m. Lowell Kelly, president of the club, and Philip Anspach, match show chairman, promise a good show. Refreshments will be available. (H. Rogaski photo).

How to De-Ice a Tree

Ice storm strike silently, suddenly. Within a few hours prized small trees and evergreens can be broken and bent out of shape.

Roy C. Beckwith of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories says do this: Play a stream of water from a garden hose on the ice-coated tree. Tap water, usually warmer than outside air, will melt the ice. Don't pound the trees or shrubs with a stick. This will injure the bark. Birch, dogwood and other supple trees bent low under weight of ice should be pushed erect as soon as possible and guyed in place. Otherwise many will grow in their grotesquely bent fashion.

Lake Louise, small body of water in the Canadian Rockies, is internationally famed for its beauty.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235

Donald Fellows Is Man of Year, Dinner Jan. 24

The Saugerties Jaycees announce that Donald S. Fellows has been chosen as the Man of the Year for 1961.

At a meeting held Sunday, the judges, Peter Williams, town supervisor; Robert Herb, president of the board of education, and Joseph DiDomenico, president of the Saugerties Jaycees were unanimous in their selection.

Mr. Fellows is a native of Saugerties, married to the former Hilma Nash and the father of two boys, Bruce 17, and Richard 14. He graduated from Saugerties High School in 1927 and then attended Syracuse University, graduating in 1931. The Man of the Year has been the editor of the Catskill Mountain Star for the past 23 years.

He is a member of the Catskill Glee Club and since 1960 has been its director. He has also directed the choir of the Atonement Lutheran Church for 30 years. His enthusiastic interest in music has found further expression in the fact that he has made Saugerties the host on three occasions for the 300 voice male chorus. This group consists of choruses from Hudson, Kingston, Catskill and Poughkeepsie. Fellows was also instumental in instituting the Rolland E. Heermance Memorial Scholarship.

The Saugerties Jaycees together with his many friends will join in honoring him at a banquet Jan. 24 at the Flamingo Restaurant. This will be the third consecutive year the Saugerties Jaycees have sponsored the Man of the Year award to create an awareness of the unselfish community efforts of certain citizens.

Guest speaker at the dinner will be Asemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

Building Needs To Be Discussed At P-TA Meeting

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Saugerties Central Schools will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 17 in the Main Street School auditorium at 8 p. m.

Following the business meeting, Norman Nitschke will give a talk about the need for additional school facilities in the district. In his delivery he plans to review the present situation, to examine what has been accomplished in the past, and to take a look at the planning for the future. He will discuss the building plans to date and answer any questions.

Nitschke served with Miss Grace Andersen as co-chairmen of the Citizens Advisory Group which at the request of the board of education functioned for about a year to recommend suitable courses of action for school construction.

Although the group fulfilled its obligations to the board and terminated its study in June, 1961, it is still carrying on as a separate group until the time when a bond issue is a reality.

A resident of Saugerties since 1955. Nitschke is employed as a department manager by IBM. He resides with his wife and two children, Neal and Nancy, at Spaulding Lane.

Order of Arrow Elects Officers

The Canandaigua Chapter of the Saugerties District, Order of the Arrow, held its annual election of officers Sunday night at which time Allen Gardner was elected chapter chief; Alan Wolven, vice chief; Glen Davis, secretary; Douglas Simmons, treasurer; Orman Leighton Jr., quartermaster.

Plans for the coming year include the visiting of all Boy Scout troops in Saugerties to promote participation in the summer camping program offered at Camp Tri-Mount and encourage the scouts to choose qualified boys to elect to the Order of the Arrow chapter.

The Canandaigua Chapter also voted to contribute a set sum towards sending five boys from the Saugerties District of Boy Scouts to Camp Schiff, New Jersey, where they are trained in scouting leadership.

Another activity on the 1962 agenda is helping prepare Camp TriMount for the opening in the summer and to clean up when the camp is closed. They are also helping with the rebuilding of the new mess hall at the camp.

Robert Ostrander is the chapter's adult advisor, with the assistance of Kenneth Magyar, Eugene Davis, John Carlson, David Bright, Charles Walton and Orman Leighton Sr.

Is Delegate To Convention

DR. RICHARD FEIN

Former local man, Dr. Richard L. Fein, resident at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles, Calif., was a delegate to the Phi Delta Epsilon medical convention held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York City, late in December.

He visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fein of 42 Finger Street Extension during the past week.

Dr. Fein will be associated with the Los Angeles County Harbor Hospital as a surgeon on July 1. He will specialize in surgery there until 1965 at which time he plans to enter the 6th Army as a surgeon under the Berry Program.

Entertain at Party

Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgensen of Spaulding Lane entertained Sunday evening at a buffet supper party in honor of their daughter Barbara Jean who was one year old that day. Sharing birthday honors at the celebration were her father, whose birthday will be January 11; and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Decker, whose birthdays are January 10th and 6th respectively.

Other guests included paternal grandparents of Barbara Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jorgensen; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas VanEtten; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dederick and children, Bonnie, Brenda and Bernard Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgensen and Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Friedkin and three children from Sioux Falls, Mont., have recently moved into their new residence at 31 Edith Avenue. Mr. Friedkin is an employe of the International Business Machines Corp.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barca and daughters Paula and Maureen have moved from Barclay Heights into their newly renovated home at 386 Main Street, Saugerties.

Mrs. Patrick Cosgrove of Clermonth Street has been a patient at the Benedictine Hospital for the past three weeks.

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — Aaron Cohen, author and former Arab affairs expert of Israel's left-wing Mapam party, was sentenced by the Haifa District Court today to five years in prison for espionage.

The country for which he allegedly collected information was not disclosed in any of the few open court sessions, but it is understood to have been a Communist state.

Bomb Is Still Closed in Wake Of New Threat

CLARKSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Clarksville high school remained closed today as investigators checked on the second bomb threat in a week.

The school's 950 pupils were sent home Monday after a threatening note was received. The note indicated a bomb had been planted in the school.

Firemen, city and state police and FBI agents went through the building, but all they found was a wooden box containing a wrist watch. The watch had stopped.

A demolition team from Ft. Knox, Ky., was called after the box was discovered in a boys' washroom.

The school received a bomb threat by telephone about 11 a.m. last Thursday, and pupils were sent home then. A search turned up no explosives.

A similar threat was telephoned to the Indiana University extension center in neighboring Jeffersonville at 1 p.m. Thursday. No evidence of a bomb was found there.

Officials described the telephone voices as "mature, adult male."

Syracuse Stores Swept by Blaze

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A $50,000 fire swept five stores and two apartments in a two-story building on the North Side Monday night.

Douglas Lennox, occupant of a second-floor apartment, was rescued by ladder.

No one was injured.

Firemen, who estimated the damage, said the fire apparently started in the stairway near a barbershop.

Other shops in the building included a cleaning establishment, a market, a stamp store and hairdressing shop.

Hits U.S. Pressure

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Boun Oum's right-wing Laotian government today termed American pressure to make it join a coalition regime "intolerable" and said the Lao people would rather tighten their belts than yield.

The United States postponed delivery of its monthly aid—the government's financial mainstay—after Vice Premier Phoumi Nosavan rejected U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Brown's strong suggestions that the rightists drop their demands for the key defense and interior posts in the proposed coalition with forces of neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong.

Mac, Adenauer Talk

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today and informants said they would discuss a new U.S.-British proposal for an East-West standstill agreement to take the heat off the Berlin crisis.

Macmillan and the West German chancellor opened the first of several sessions in their day-long talks with only interpreters present. Their foreign ministers and other aides were to join them for lunch and an afternoon meeting.

Bronx Man Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bronx man was arrested today as the alleged slayer of a 70-year-old tailor in his lower East Side shop.

Juan Lebron, 22, was booked on a homicide charge.

Police said the only English word the Puerto Rico-born prisoner knows was "stickyp."

Lebron was picked up for questioning within an hour after the shooting of Abramham Carmen Monday.

Held for Questioning

ROLLA, Mo. (AP)—Leroy Coleman, arrested on a bus in Rolla, is being held for questioning about the death of his estranged wife in Buffalo, N.Y.

His 20-year-old wife, Marlene, was found dead in her apartment Sunday. The couple had been separated two months.

The Highway Patrol nabbed Coleman Monday.

Why We Say--

When we stall someone, we play for time. A stall is a decoy bird. Also the person who assists a pickpocket (acting as a decoy) by diverting attention is a stall. His chief concern is to keep the victim occupied for a long enough time for the pickpocket to make his catch.

Italian Scene: By Schimmerling

An interesting bulletin which is published in Italy "to spread information between your country and Italy" reports little known or unknown facts from the Italian scene such as:

The opening of a new university in Calabria. The authorities could not easily decide in what city of Calabria this should be done. Suppose several towns in our own Ulster County would fight for a Community College, exactly as several cities in Calabria claimed to be entitled to house a university, how should one decide to please all of them. This is what the Italians did: the department for science and mathematics was allotted to Catanzaro, the school of architecture to Reggio Calabria and the school of agriculture to Cosenza (Cosenza, by the way, became known in literature by a famous poem, "The Tomb in the Busento River;" there are also the historical Sila Forests; and last but not least it is the place where the Tiano families come from).

Do you know that there are 300,000 foreigners residents in Rome, among them 10,000 U.S. citizens? Of course the 85 foreign missions to the Italian government and the 46 missions to the Vatican account for many foreigners; but this is still the minority. A good half of all foreigners are artists and students. Whenever this writer came to the Eternal City during the last 40 years he always was a student in the broad sense of the word's meaning.

Traffic Problems

Once Genoa boasted to be the native place of Columbus and Paganini; a today's headline reads "The Genoa Bottleneck." Walking through one of Genoa's streets on occasion of my first visit to the city, I tried, by stretching my arms left and right, to touch the steep mountain wall on the one side while dipping the other hand into the ocean. Traffic conditions have changed since the time of Columbus and Paganini, but not the space between the mountain range and the sea. The authorities are pondering about constructing a long tunnel through the mountain, or an elevated speedway or perhaps a 2,000-foot suspension bridge across the harbor in order to solve the traffic problem.

Castellaneta finally erected a monument to Guglielmi. What does this interest us, you might ask, since we do not even know th... Mr. Guglielmi. And how do you pronounce it anyway? But I say you DO KNOW him: his stage name was Rodolfo Valentino. Yes, the most handsome of all movie actors was born in Castellaneta far down in the heel of the peninsula. When Valentino died in 1926 in New York, nobody in his home town, except an uncle, know about it. What a memorable day, what a funeral it was. Didn't some girls commit suicide? Nobody in Castellaneta had then even seen a Valentino movie picture. His co-citizens refused with indignation the suggestion that a monument should be erected to one who was "only an actor." But finally, after 35 years they have changed their mind. Castellaneta now boasts to be the native city of the former sea captain Rodolfo Guglielmi, alias Valentino and welcomes the idea to honor the memory of her great son by erecting a monument. — H. A. SCHIMMERLING

January Exhibit Features Old Area Photos

Among the donors are Albert Cashdollar, Elizabeth Clough, Ruth Herrick Cook, Victor Lasher, L. L. Long, Mrs. Daniel Mellert, Mrs. Hazel Shultis, Mrs. Nelson Shultis and Earle B. Winslow.

The exhibit includes pictures from Zena and Wittenberg, as well as Woodstock village, Bearsville, Shady, Lake Hill, Willow and Overlook. Their dates range from 1872 to 1932.

There is also a large group of Maverick Carnival pictures loaned by Earle B. Winslow and eleven school groups, eight from Woodstock and one each from Shady, Wittenberg and Zena.

Official Board Sets Meeting in Shady

The Official Board of the Methodist Church of Shady will hold its January meeting on Friday evening, January 12, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller at Shady.

The regular meeting was postponed last Friday evening due to storm conditions.

All members of the Official Board and members of the church are urged and invited to attend.

Christian Science Theme Is: 'Sacrament'

A communion service will be held Sunday at all Christian Science churches.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read. It will lay special emphasis on commemorating the unselfish life of Christ Jesus by following his example.

The Apostle Paul's advice to Timonthy constitutes the Golden Text (I Tim. 4): "Be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in chaity, in spirit, in faith, in purity."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (p.4): "What we most need is the prayer of fervent deside for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds. To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

Churchwomen Slate St. Gregory Meeting

The Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Gregory's will hold their January meeting at the church on Wednesday, Jan. 17, at 1:30 a. m.

All women of the parish are cordially invited to attend and participate in plans for the annual meeting on January 30, at which the Venerable George F. Bratt, Archdeacon of the Diocese of New York, will be the principal speaker.

Ketcham-Pap Nuptials Have Been Announced

Miss B. Sturtevant Gardner of Woodstock announces the marriage of her niece, Mrs. Valerie Ketcham, also of Woodstock, to Dr. Leo Pap of New Paltz.

The wedding took place on January 6. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Miss Gardner. Dr. and Mrs. Pap will reside on New California Quarry Road in Woodstock.

Senior Citizens Meet

The monthly meeting of the Woodstock Senior Citizens Club will be held Tuesday, Jan. 16, at the Methodist Church hall. There will be refreshments and entertainment. All persons over 60 are invited.

Begin Testimony Today In Assault Lawsuit

Testimony started today in a Supreme Court trial here of an action brought to recover damages resulting of an alleged assault outside a restaurant in the Town of Lloyd.

The action is brought by Harold S. Depew of Highland against William Maloney of Pleasant Valley, Dutchess County.

Depew alleges he was assaulted by Maloney June 15, 1958 outside Ship Lantern Inn and that he was badly injured when he struck a stone terrace.

Depew and Mrs. Depew had been attending a service club installation, and Maloney had been at the restaurant.

Attorneys are Michael Nardone of Highland for Depew, who was hospitalized after the incident, and N. LeVan Haver of Kingston for Maloney.

Suicide Verdict Is Returned in Patient's Death

A preliminary verdict of suicide was reported Monday by Dr. E. Alan Larkin, Amenia, a Dutchess County assistant medical examiner, who investigated the death on Sunday of Joseph J. Atanasio, 32, a Hudson River State Hospital patient.

State Police Investigator Emmett F. Donohue of Rhinebeck, who investigated with Dr. Larkin said the patient threw himself under the rear wheel of a bus on the institution grounds. The bus is owned by the state and was operated at the time by Roland Tompkins, 18 Second Street, Walden.

Atanasio, a former resident of Troy, had been a patient at the state hospital since Feb. 10, 1960. An open ward patient he had been staying at Inwood building.

Dr. Larkin said the bus had stopped to discharge three passengers and as it started ahead the patient threw himself under the right rear wheel. He apparently died of head injuries.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

FCC Reads Riot Act to Boys

'Neighborly Station' Leaves Air Abruptly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slightly high-pitched voice of WALE, "your neighborly station," has signed off without so much as one bong.

It was turned off, gently but firmly, by a grim-faced investigator of the Federal Communications Commission who read the riot act to its two operators—Bruce Wahl, 13, and David Lester, 14.

Station in Bedroom

Its station was Wahl's bedroom; its commentators, engineers, announcers and disc jockeys were Wahl and Lester. Its range was neighborly—covering nine other houses.

The boys pieced the equipment together from old parts and went on the air a month ago from Wahl's home in nearby Falls Church, Va.

Every afternoon afer school, WALE offered the neighbors a program of weather information, news culled from newspapers and music—"everything from rock 'n' roll to the semi-classics."

Any listeners? Wahl and Lester had no rating but Wahl said he knew that at least one family listened—"but they moved away after the first broadcast. Of course, they had been planning to move for six months."

It was fun. Until the other day.

WALE had been on the air for about 45 minutes when Bruce spotted a man in an automobile aiming a device with an aerial at the bedroom window.

Then the man came to the door.

"Are you running a radio station?" he asked.

Proudly the boys acknowledged they were.

Smiles Fade Quickly

The smiles faded when the man flashed a card identifying him as an investigator from the FCC. He said he wanted to check their equipment.

After checking the equipment—which operated on about a tenth of a watt—he sat down last Thursday with the boys and Bruce's mother and read a passage from a book. It was a copy of the Communications Act and it told how people operating unlicensed stations could be fined $10,000 or sent to jail for two years. Maybe both.

"Boy," said Bruce, "did we begin shaking like leaves."

So now WALE is off the air. The FCC is willing to forget the whole thing but officials explained there would be chaos on the airwaves if anybody could operate a station, even a neighborly one.

Relatives Arrive To Identify Train Wreck Casualites

UTRECHT, Netherlands (AP)—Relatives of victims in Holland's worst train wreck were arriving today to help in the grim task of identifying bodies lying in long rows in a church.

The official death toll stood at 87.

Women volunteers met the relatives and took them first to a hotel where all information on the dead and injured still in hospitals was assembled.

Most of the identified dead were men. Women victims were difficult to identify because their handbags, containing personal documents, were lost in the crash.

Officials said all the identified casualties were Dutch except two Britons who were injured only slightly.

The track was cleared today where the speeding express crashed into a slower commuter train at a fogged-in junction near Woerden.

The express was scheduled to pass through the junction three minutes before the commuter train. Instead it telescoped into the side of the slower train. Officials speculated that one of the engineers failed to see a signal because of the fog.

Japs' Debt Is Cut

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's postwar debt to the United States was settled today for less than one-quarter of its original cost.

Japan agreed to repay $490 million of the $1,889,000,000 it received from 1945-52 mostly in relief supplies and economic rehabilitation.

Under terms of the repayment, $25 million will be used for educational and cultural exchanges between the two countries. The United States plans to use most of the rest for aid to underdeveloped countries in Asia, which would help strengthen Japan's key markets.

U.S. Sculptor Dies

PARIS (AP) — Herbert Haseltine, 84, an American sculptor known for his statues of animals, died here Monday.

One of his best known is the statue of the race horse Man O'War in Lexington, Ky.

Erhard Supports Kennedy Views On Trade Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany's Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard says he strongly favors President Kennedy's proposals to liberalize trade and make across-the-board reductions in U.S. tariffs.

The European Common Market in turn should reciprocate with lower external tariffs if Kennedy's trade program wins congressional approval, Erhard told newsmen Monday night.

"This is the time now for great and imaginative ideas," the West German said in advocating broad tariff reductions.

"It is always easier to carry out bold ideas," he said. "It is easier to have across the board reductions than to fumble with each tariff position individually."

Erhard ends his two-day Washington visit today. His schedule includes meetings with Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, World Bank President Eugene Black, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

Erhard reported that his 85-minute meeting with Kennedy Monday centered on the future of the Atlantic community.

Drug Information Available Now In Washington

NEW YORK (AP)—Now when a doctor anywhere in the nation wants to prescribe a drug, he can call a telephone number in Washington, and get current information on what the drug can and cannot do.

The new telephone service, operating around the clock every day in the year, is called Mediphone and begins operation today.

It will help doctors keep track of the some 8,600 drugs now in use and the new ones introduced regularly by the U.S. pharmaceutical industry. It will also help doctors pinpoint the allergic or poisonous reactions that new potent drugs sometimes have.

The physicians who are guiding the service say they have tabulated every published source and will draw on the library and Department of Pharmacology at Georgetown University.

Doctors will pay an annual membership fee of $20 and each call to Mediphone center in Washington will cost $3 for which the doctor will receive a verbal answer immediately and a written report mailed within 24 hours.

Alerts Health Board

Editor, The Freeman

I think the Board of Health should be alerted to investigate conditions of public bathrooms in our city.

Yesterday I had the occasion to view the Ladies' (?) room in one of Kingston's leading chain food stores and I was appalled at the filth I witnessed. How supposedly enlightened citizens and employes can use such disgusting facilities is beyond my scope and, in a store where soaps, detergents and disinfectants are so plentiful, I find it inexcusable and disgraceful.

Very truly yours

31 Rebels Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The government announced today its forces had killed at least 30 Viet Cong rebels and destroyed a major Communist base in the Mekong River delta during a three-day operation ending last Friday.

Hyde Park Council Meets on Division

Members of the Hyde Park Town Council will meet tonight to discuss a proposal for a fall referendum on dividing the town into four wards, according to Councilman Donald McDonald (D).

McDonald said the ward system would require a referendum, which probably will be ready by the November general election.

On New Year's Day, the Democratic controlled council, cut almost $11,000 from salaries budgeted by the former council last November.

Saigon to Boost Regular Army by 30,000 With Aid

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Viet Nam is acting to increase its regular army from 170,000 to 200,000 with the help of U.S. military aid.

U.S. officials said that the guerrilla war appears to be growing in intensity there, killing and wounding 400 non-Communists a week.

State Department officials in disclosing the army buildup today said the additional costs would be borne by both South Viet Nam and the United States through a new financial reform program.

U.S. officials estimate that Communist North Viet Nam has 300,000 to 350,000 men under arms.

In the past year guerrilla activity by the Communist Viet Cong rebels more than doubled, according to W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state.

The number of Viet Cong operating in South Viet Nam is estimated at 18,000 or more. U.S. officials said there has been a sharp increase in violent incidents in recent months.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr., is conducting an overall review of American policy in South Viet Nam with foreign aid representatives and officials of the State and Defense departments.

A State Department spokesman said that the United States "is not sending combat troops to Souh Viet Nam except for traing purposes—if you want to reyard them as combat troops in that light."

Man Still Sought For Bogus Checks By Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie police today continued search for a well-dressed man, wanted for questioning in connection with the issuance of two worthless checks totaling $850, according to Police Chief John L. Martin.

Martin said a warrant has been issued charging the unidentified man with forgery second degree.

The chief said the man was accompanied by a woman when he purchased a wedding ring and a gold engagement ring at Saniel's Jewelry store, 270 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, last Dec. 27. The man gave a clerk $61.74 in cash and a $150 check, which later proved to be worthless. The purchase of the jewelry totaled $211.74.

Police officials said the man gave a $700 check to the Marine Midland National Bank of Southeastern New York, Poughkeepsie, last Dec. 28. He deposited $300 in an account he opened at the bank and took $400 in cash.

Court Will Hear Goetz Appeal on Morals Thursday

An appeal in the case of Bernard Goetz, 55, Rhinebeck manufacturer, who was convicted in Dutchess County in May, 1960, on 12 morals and assault charges involving two 15-year-old Rhinebeck boys, will be heard by members of the Supreme Court Appellate Division on Thursday.

County Judge John R. Schwartz sentenced Goetz on June 10, 1960, to six months in the county jail at Poughkeepsie.

Goetz was released in $2,500 bail on June 14, 1960, pending appeal.

Supreme Court Justice Robert Doscher later signed a certificate of reasonable doubt.

Plane With Nine Reported Overdue

NEW YORK (AP) — An Air Force KB50 tanker aircraft with nine men aboard was reported overdue early today on a flight from Langley Air Force Base, Va., to the Azores Islands off Portugal.

The Coast Guard here said the plane's last reported position was about 240 miles due east of Norfolk, Va.

The spokesman said a "track line" search was being conducted —meaning, he said, a search of an area 40 miles south and 90 miles north of the area in which the plane last was reported.

At Langley, an Air Force spokesman said a radio check was being made with all airports and fields where the plane may have landed if trouble developed on the flight.

The plane left Langley at 11:17 a.m. Monday and was due in the Azores at 6:59 p.m.

Its fuel supply would have been exhausted at 11 p.m. Monday Langley officials said.

The plane is attached to the 427th Air Refueling Squadron at Langley.

Dulcet Tones Life-Saver

Voice Warning From Box Alerts Bomber

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lt. Col. Henry Deutschendorf and his crew were bringing their eight-jet B58 bomber down at Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

The weather was bad, radar guided his approach. Suddenly a woman's low, husky voice whispered a warning in his ear.

He looked, and sure enough, two engines had flamed out.

His crew had heard the warnings, too, in time to trim the ship properly for the landing.

The voice came from a little black box in the giant bomber's instrument panel. The eight-pound box, a miniature tape recorder, was hooked up with the panel's system of warning lights. When the engines flamed out, the box began playing a recording.

The voice belongs to Gina Drazin, a pert and pretty secretary in the plant where the black box was made—Nortronics Division of Northrop Corp.

Gina's voice was chosen primarily because it is low and husky.

"I've had no voice training," says Gina. "I can't carry a tune in a basket—my voice is pitched too low. But I guess that's why it was chosen—high-pitched voices fade out on aircraft intercoms."

If low pitch was needed, why wasn't a man's voice used?

That's easy. A woman's voice gets more attention in a bomber cockpit.

The voice warning, called Vips —for Voice Interruption Priority System—is being installed in all B58 bombers because pilot attention can be diverted from the panel lights by a number of emergencies. He may overlook visual signals but tests show pilot response to Gina's dulcet tones is immediate.

It's too bad the recording conveys only Gina's soft voice. Her other attributes—34-26-36, blue eyes, brown hair and a quick smile—are equally attention grabbing.

A Delicate Issue

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Ernest Vandiver says a proposal to hold public school classes 12 months a year is very provocative and he hopes legislative committees will give it thorough study.

But, he added at a news conference Monday, "My 13-year-old son has very passionately requested that I veto that piece of legislation."

Highlights of 1962 Congressional Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's a rundown on the second session of the 87th Congress convening at noon today:

Expected Big Issues

President Kennedy's proposal for sweeping power to cut tariffs in dealing with the European Common Market.

Medical care for the aged under Social Security.

Proposed purchase of $100 million in U.N. bonds, mostly to help finance U.N. operations in Congo.

Tax revision to encourage business investment and combat unemployment.

Some federal aid to education.

Revision of farm programs, covering several commodities.

The usual rows over spending and foreign aid.

The Line-up

Democrats have big majorities in both Houses, but Republican-Southern Democratic coalition is set to give Kennedy trouble.

The party breakdown:

Senate—64 Democrats, 36 Republicans.

House—258 Democrats, 174 Republicans; 5 vacant seats, formerly held by Democrats.

The Leadership

House—Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., tapped for speaker, succeeding the late Sam Rayburn. Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., elected majority leader, succeeding McCormack. Rep. Charles Halleck, R-Ind., continues as minority leader.

Senate — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., continues as majority leader, and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., as minority leader. Chairmanship of Republican Policy Committee must be filled because of death of Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H. The contenders are Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Presidential Messages

State of the Union — Kennedy delivers this message in person to joint session at 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

Budget — Kennedy sends it to Congress Jan. 18. It's expected to total some $92 billion, including about $52 billion for military purposes.

Economic report — Kennedy sends it up Jan. 22.

Important Hearings

Senate-House Atomic Committee will hold secret sessions on how the United States and Russia compare in nuclear might, in view of Soviet atmospheric tests.

Senate will investigate alleged muzzling of anti-Communist speeches by military men.

Senate continues inquiry into industry pricing practices.

Senate and House committees to get briefings by State Department leaders on hot foreign policy problems.

House committee to hear witnesses on bills to tighten curbs on transportation of gambling devices.

Upcoming Elections

Both parties will spar for advantage in November balloting. Being elected this year are 37 senators, 435 representatives, 34 governors.

Congress Opens 87th Session But Battle Lines Await Message

2 Agree on Probing Soviet Berlin View

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BONN, Germany (AP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain has won Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's support for Western probes in Moscow to determine whether negotiations with the Russians on Berlin have any chance of success.

Sees No Progress

Adenauer also agreed to ease the burden of maintaining British forces in West Germany by buying more British arms.

Adenauer said Monday he could not see that U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson's exploratory talks in Moscow were getting anywhere. A communique issued Tuesday after a full day of talks between the aged chancellor and Macmillan said that they "were agreed that the effort to find out whether a basis for negotiation with the Soviet Union exists should be pursued."

The two leaders also reaffirmed their determination to preserve the Western position in Berlin and to "defend the freedom and viability of West Berlin."

There was nothing in the communique about what would happen if the probes with Moscow fail or the Western position is more seriously menaced.

Appears Like Gain

Macmillan had been reported bringing a U.S.-British proposal for maintaining the status quo in Berlin if the Russians refused to agree to new formal arrangements satisfactory to the West.

Macmillan appeared to have made a substantial gain in solving a problem that has long been a sore one between the two countries—the financial drain of maintaining the 51,000-man British Army of the Rhine.

The West German government refuses to contribute directly to British troop costs for fear of being accused of paying occupation costs. Adenauer agreed to the roundabout arms purchase solution in the interests of Western unity.

Not Disclosed

The exact scale of the arms purchases was not disclosed, but the communique promised it would be considerable. Informed sources said it would come to about 400 million marks—$100 million—a year, a substantial flow of marks that would offset about half the previous foreign exchange which Britain must pay out to support her troops in Germany.

Macmillan returned to London Tuesday night. British foreign Secretary Lord Home went on to West Berlin for a one-day ceremonial visit.

President Will Talk Thursday

Albert Is Floor Leader for Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress got its new session formally under way today with completion of routine organizational duties.

But the real kickoff for an election-year session which could bring heated contests on half a dozen big legislative issues will come when President Kennedy addresses a joint meet Thursday.

In his State of the Union message, Kennedy will lay down, at least in broad outline, what he hopes to get from this second session of the 87th Congress. Battle lines will form immediately.

Opens Without Speaker

For the first time at any midterm meeting since 1940, the House gathered today without a speaker. Texan Sam Rayburn, who had ruled it in so many years of Democratic control, died in November.

So it fell to the House clerk, Ralph Roberts, to bang the gavel that called the House into session and to preside pending the formal election of John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who was Democratic floor leader under Rayburn, to succeed the Texan as speaker.

House Democrats caucused Tuesday and chose Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma as their floor leader in succession to McCormack.

McCormack had no party opposition for speaker and it appeared for a time that the Republicans would not even go through the gesture of putting up a candidate of their own.

GOP Picks Hickenlooper

In a morning caucus, the Republicans decided to do what the minority party nearly always does and offer their floor leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, to the House for the speakership.

Senate Republicans in their caucus chose Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa as chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Hickenlooper won 21-14 over Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts. He succeeds the late

Goldberg Hopeful Of Job Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg feels that the tight job situation will substantially improve in the months ahead.

But he told a news conference Tuesday that the heavy unemployment rolls undoubtedly have discouraged a lot of people—particularly women and older workers—from even trying to find work.

Employment declined by 882,000 in December to 66,467,000 and unemployment increased by 100,000 to 4,091,000, he said. However, he added the changes were in line with what was to be expected in the winter season.

Goldberg went on to predict that 1962 job gains will be over and above the normal springtime improvement.

The American economy, he said is again showing its capacity for growth.

Setting off in another direction, the labor secretary called on the steel industry, its workers and customers not to break the momentum of the economic recovery with a strike or by stockpiling steel in fear of a shutdown.

Close Eye on Steel

He indicated that the administration will keep in close touch with steel negotiations and do everything possible to help avoid a strike and to make certain that new terms won't be disruptive to the rest of the economy. The steel contracts run out June 30.

A steel shutdown this year would make no sense, Goldberg said. He said a strike "in a year promising substantial economic expansion would appreciably retard recovery and be detrimental to the national interest."

Goldberg said the civilian labor force registered a decline of 780,000 from November to December and stands practically unchanged from a year ago at 70.5 million.

Normally the labor force is expected to rise by about 1 million a year due to the expanding population.

Goldberg said the tight employment situation undoubtedly has discouraged many from looking for jobs, and thus they were not counted among the labor force. Another factor, he said, was the buildup of the military forces in 1961. It took about 300,000 young men out of the civilian labor force.

ChangFound Guilty Today Of Plotting

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Chang Do-young, first titular head of the junta that toppled civil rule in South Korea, was convicted today of plotting against the military government he headed. As expected, the revolutionary tribunal set up by his former colleagues sentenced him to die on the gallows.

Chang, the army chief of staff at the time of the May coup and a hero of the Korean War, agreed only after the coup was an accomplished fact to head the ruling junta and take the country's premiership. Throughout his two months in office the real power was held by Gen. Chung Hee Park, the leader of the coup who replaced Chang as head of the junta.

Yung Also Condemned to Die

Condemned to death with Chang on similar charges of counterrevolutionary activity was his former secretary, ex-Col. Lee Hoi Yung. The five-man tribunal also ordered life sentences for four defendants, including two former junta members; gave prison

SAM S. PEPPER

President Chosen By Directors Of Area Chamber

Sam S. Pepper of 9 Orchard Street, Hurley, was elected president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for 1962 at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night.

Pepper is treasurer of the Howard R. St. John Inc., insurance agency of 48 Main Street. He has been active in Chamber of Commerce and other civic affars, includng the Community Chest for several years. He served as a director for the past three years and was the first vice-president last year.

Other officers elected for 1962 were Harry Rigby Jr., John W. Egbert and James E. Norton, vice-presidents, and Frank Kolts, treasurer. The five officers comprise the executive committee.

Will Make Study

Urban renewal and the Comprehensive Development Plan for the City of Kingston received serious consideration at the meeting. Steps were taken to assign specific portions of both to standing or special committees and carry on an intensive program of information and support of the portions thereof found to be in the best public interest. The Executive Committee and selected committee chairmen will comprise a City Development Committee to work out a program of study and recommended action.

The Chamber directors also decided to investigate the status of the proposal to develop Kingston Point as a recreation area under the special bond issue voted at the 1960 general election.

Retiring Chamber president Joseph E. O'Connor presided until the new officers were elected. W. J. C. Buddenhagen reported

Crews Clearing Roads As New Snow Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Highway department snowplows and sanders in New York State's Great Lakes snow belts chugged through blowing, drifting snow today to make room for what the Weather Bureau said would be more of the same.

Upwards of two feet of snow was recorded in sections off the east ends of Lakes Erie and Ontario Tuesday, strangling traffic and closing schools. The Weather Bureau said the areas could expect up to a foot more in some places.

Deep as 20 Inches

The Lake Ontario storm blustered its way through Oswego, Lewis and Jefferson counties, dumping 20 inches in Lowville. Potsdam was hit with a quick nine inches, while Watertown was whacked with seven inches.

Buffalo got more than a foot of new snow that was whipped off Lake Erie by winds up to 40 miles an hour. Visibility was almost zero and hundreds of motorists abandoned their cars, adding to the snarled traffic troubles.

At least one highway was closed in Western New York as the storm plastered Erie, Niagara, Genesee and Orleans Counties with a white blanket. Most highways were open, State Police said, but were slippery and dangerous.

Ask Drivers to Wait

The State Thruway in the area was put under emergency regulations. Roadblocks were set up near Silver Creek and Le Roy—either end of the storm belt—where troopers were asking drivers to wait it out.

Buffalo's Skyway and Fuhrmann Boulevard were closed when nearly 75 automobiles and trucks became knotted in a jam. A Lehigh Valley Railroad train was sent up a spur near the waterfront boulevard and picked up 70 persons, including 12 children. They were taken to a restaurant for warm food. Some spent the night while others continued homeward, without their cars.

Airport Closes

The Greater Buffalo International Airport was closed because of poor visibility. Most inbound flights were re-routed to Rochester.

Nearly 150 plows, salters and sanders were at work in Erie County.

Hotels did a booming business as stranded persons dropped efforts to get home. Telephone circuits in the Buffalo area were overloaded as customers sought weather and travel information.

Niagara Falls was barrelled with a six-inch fall in four hours.

Except for the snow belts and a few scattered sections, most of the state escaped the snow treatment. But the weather bureau said scattered flurries would leave at least two inches in most sections in today's changeable weather picture.

Roy Spence Held For Theft Sunday Of Harris Auto

Accused of stealing a 1960 sedan here early Sunday, Roy Spence, 22, a surveyor's assistant, of 23 Pearl Street, was taken into custody Tuesday night by Albany and Kingston detectives who found him in the Interstate Bus Station, State Street and Broadway, Albany.

Spence was returned here and booked early today on a charge of first degree larceny, accused of stealing a car owned by John W. Harris, 43, of 92 Flatbush Avenue. The vehicle was found later by Patrolman Frank Stip on Clinton Avenue.

Got Reliable Tip

It was learned that a description of the alleged thief and his possible whereabouts was given to police in a "reliable tip" which led to Spence's arrest.

Detectives Albert Hutton Jr. and Charles McCullough obtained a first degree grand larceny warrant from City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman, and went to Albany. Detectives Joseph Girtler and James Keegan of Albany went with McCullough and Hutton to the Interstate Bus Station where they found Spence and took him into custody.

Jailed Until Thursday

Spence appeared today before Judge Saccoman, who adjourned proceedings until Thursday at 9 a. m. Spence was committed to the Ulster County jail.

Harris told police his car is valued at $1,300.

Harris told polite Sunday that he was "clobbered" by a medium sized man on Railroad Avenue early that morning, as he stopped to pick up something

Bitter Cold Covers Wide U.S. Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mass of bitter cold weather held wide sections of the country in an unyielding grip today.

Up to 24-Inch Snow

In some sections, the cold weather was accompanied by heavy snow—up to 24 inches in a continuous fall.

Hundreds of schools were forced to close because of the weather.

The drain on over-taxed heating facilities—mostly by natural gas—was astronomical.

Scores of deaths were attributed to the weather. Some of the deaths were caused by over-exertion and others in traffic accidents resulting from iced, snow-covered surfaces.

Only few areas of the country were outside the freezing cold. These included the extreme western portions of Oregon and Washington, most of California, southern sections of Nevada and Arizona, sections of Georgia and the Carolinas and Florida.

Elsewhere temperatures ranged from freezing, or 32 degrees, to -42 at Drummond, Mont., early today.

Chicago Has -11

The Midwest was by far the widest area in the grip of the bitter cold, the worst of the new year.

Chicago's -11 degrees at 2 a.m. was the lowest reading for the date in 74 years when -10 was recorded. Dalhart, Tex., had -2, Cincinnati -3, Louisville -1 and St. Louis -6.

It was the second day of subzero cold for the Midwest. Most of the area was already covered by snow ranging up to 30 inches in Michigan. New snow Monday and Tuesday added to the difficulties of transportation and utility services.

In Nebraska, a natural gas company asked that gas be conserved for home heating and school superintendents in more than 20 areas responded by closing schools. The company said the cold and high winds had brought Dwyer Reelected By Rondout Nat.

Officers and directors of Rondout National Bank were reelected at the annual meeting held at the bank on Tuesday.

James A. Dwyer was reelected president; Irving L. Eyles, executive vice president; James J. Rue, cashier and John A. Henry, manager of the Port Ewen branch.

Directors include: William J. O'Reilly, William J. Dwyer, Carl A. Weber, Irving L. Eyles, James A. Dwyer, John N. Cordts, William F. Edelmuth, George W. Schneider, Adrian Kaplan, V. J. Andretta and Lawrence A. Quilty. John L. Larkin is bank attorney.

Schwenk Election Seen as Mandate On Penny Parking

The Central Businessmen's Association feels that the election of John J. Schwenk as mayor should be taken as a mandate by the Common Council to support his proposal for the return of penny parking meters.

This is according to a letter written by the secretary of the association, Frank A. Reis.

Copies of the letter to the mayor were mailed to The Freeman and Alderman Donald M. Hastings of the Third Ward, chairman of the traffic control committee.

Opposed Change

Reis noted that the association's entire membership at a May 24, 1960 meeting opposed any change in parking rates that were later increased to as high as 10 cents and the penny parking done away with.

The letter also notes that other business organizations opposed the change, and that petitions were sent to the Mayor Edwin F. Radel administration containing the names of practically all the merchants.

Seen as Mandate

Reis' letter written January 9 said to Mayor Schwenk:

Knowing your feelings on this matter (penny parking meters) having been so vividly expressed during your campaign, we trust the Board of Aldermen will feel your election a mandate of the people and take care of this situation so as to welcome the shoppers back to Kingston by bringing back the penny meter as the first step toward this goal.

Offer to Help

For your further consideration we are a group of merchants dedicated to the business welfare and advancement of the City of Kingston.

If we, in any case, directly or indirectly can be of any help or assistance to further your efforts toward this end, please feel free to call on us. . . . Sincerely Frank A. Reis, secretary.

Survey to Seek Out Community Shelters

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A 2,000-man survey team soon will begin scouring New York State for space suitable for community fallout shelters.

The $3-million federal survey will take in an estimated 125,000 buildings in the state that have space large enough to shelter 50 or more persons. Easily accessible caves and tunnels also will be considered during the three-month survey.

The survey, part of a nationwide program, was announced Tuesday by federal, state and local civil defense officials at a news conference in the fallout shelter in the basement of the State Capitol.

The federal government already has negotiated contracts with 50 architectural and engineering firms in the state areas to be surveyed.

Additional contracts will be awarded.

Members of the survey team are expected to take the field within two weeks. Their findings will be used to select suitable sites and to determine how much additional federal money would be needed to convert them into shelters.

A Defense Department official said no funds were available as yet for improving the sites. The federal government has appropriated $93 million for the survey nationwide and an additional $58.8 million to stock food in shelters.

Lt. Gen. Francis. W. Farrell, director of the State Civil Defense Commission, said the "network of public shelters...is not to be construed as a substitute for home shelters."

The state recently adopted a $100-million program aimed at spurring fallout shelter construction in schools and other buildings.

Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Lipscomb of Army's North Atlantic Engineer Division, said more space for public fallout shelters probably would be found in New York than any other state because there were many buildings of substantial size and construction.

Newburgh Will Modify Code To Meet Court Injunction

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Attorney Henry Hirschberg says this city will continue its battle against those it considers welfare chiselers by modifying enforcement of a controversial relief code to fit a court injunction that all but eliminated it.

Hirschberg, counsel to the city, contended Tuesday there was nothing in State Supreme Court Justice Robert Doscher's order that cancels the basic concepts of the code. He said enforcement measures will be altered to fit existing state and federal regulations.

Doscher, acting in a case brought by the state, granted a permanent injunction last Dec. 19 against 12 of the 13 points of the relief code adopted by Newburgh last summer.

The only rule left standing was one requiring all able-bodied relief recipients to report each month for reviews of their cases.

The city council, acting on Hirschberg's advice, voted Monday night not to appeal Doscher's ruling.

Instead, Hirschberg said the city will enforce the program in accordance with this clause of the restraining order:

"This permanent injunction shall not be deemed to prevent or prohibit the defendants from utilizing, following and applying provisions of state and federal statutes, rules and regulations applying to care in the City of Newburgh."

Hirschberg pointed to a voided provision, which cut off aid to mothers who bore additional illegitimate children, as an example of the type of action the city could take.

Under the program as originally adopted, the city would have cut off relief at the birth of a second illegitimate child. Now, Hirschberg said, the city will make known that it intends—and will do so if necessary—to take such women into court to have them declared unfit mothers and their children taken from them.

Property, Income In School Aid Argument

ALBANY, N. Y., (AP)—A major dispute was developing today over whether the property or cash income of its residents will determine how much state aid school districts receive under a new formula.

There were indications that, despite criticism by Gov. Rockefeller, the Diefendorf Committee on public-school financing would stand by its staff-committee recommendation to retain property values as a measure of school-district wealth and its state-aid needs.

Rockefeller said Tuesday that the proposals outlined by the committee staff were not a sufficient answer to the fiscal problems of schools.

The committee will make its final recommendations to the Legislature next month. It will hold a public hearing Jan. 17 on the staff-committee report.

In the same talk Tuesday, Rockefeller advocated that State University students who could afford it pay tuition. This lent increasing weight to speculation that the university trustees would decide shortly on a tuition scale.

But the change for schools of the university, now mostly tuition-free, would not take effect until the 1963-64 school year, it was understood.

Other Developments

In other state-government developments:

DEMOCRATS — Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki announced a Democratic plan for reapportionment of the Republican controlled Legislature but conceded it had less than "one chance in a thousand" of winning passage. The Democrats, arguing that present legislative lines favor rural, upstate areas, which are traditionally Republican, called for strict numerical representation.

TAXES — Assemblyman Raymond Louneberry, R-Tioga, introduced a bill to continue this year the 10 per cent rebate on state income taxes granted last year. The rebate would apply to 1961 income.

Certain to Vote Increase

It appears certain that the Legislature will vote a major election-year increase in state aid to education. It probably will be at least equal to the Diefendorf staff recommendation of an increase of $96.5 million.

Rockefeller's complaint about the staff committee was that it retained property values as the chief measure of how much money a district could raise itself to finance education and how much it needed in state aid.

With income as a guide, all wage-earners, rather than all property-owners, would be expected to pay school taxes.

Suggestions have included income taxes for school purposes and sales taxes.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Rado Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's once-sacred Sunday afternoon Culture klatch has been quietly disbanded. Strangely enough, a lot of television's sternest critics inside and outside the industry don't know it.

More than anything else, it indicates that many of those impassioned critics don't watch much television or they would know that what used to be called "egghead shows" are now thoroughly dispersed in the networks' evening schedules. They are still complaining about the Sunday afternoon "intellectual ghetto" and "cerebral oasis," as dead as "Playhouse 90."

Most recent pop-off is Norman Jewison, one of the bright, young and sought-after TV directors.

Jewison, writing in the current Variety, the weekly show business paper, explodes:

"No one wants to buy time on Sunday afternoon. The public service, educational and 'think' programs that are on view are pure 'conscience money,' as far as the networks are concerned. They can point at these shows and say, 'Look at us, aren't we wonderful; look at the hours of worthwhile shows we carry!

"Why don't they put these shows in prime time? Because 'formula' programs, the ones that fall into this year's acceptance pattern, win those slots while the worthwhile programs are seen on Sunday afternoon, the 'cerebral oasis' of video."

Jewison has only to look at the Sunday afternoon schedules of the networks. Both CBS and ABC have long sport "spectaculars" each Sunday, each devoted to a different game. CBS' is followed by an hour-long golf show. NBC has been completely dedicated to professional football.

Sunday afternoon has become, if anything, a sports-lover's oasis.

Whether from fear of Washington interference or a genuine desire to balance their programming content, all three networks, but particularly NBC, have been putting frequent public service shows into valuable evening spots on the schedule—where, incidentally, the most of them have been taking bad lickings in audience polls from rival entertainment programs.

Most of the entertainment programs that gave Sunday afternoons their reputation for culture and uplift have died from sheer, uncomplicated neglect by the viewing audience. "Omnibus," for instance, was given every possible chance by the networks before it went down for the count.

Even so, the networks are still dedicated to the frequent production of after-dark culture and education. But it must be disheartening to make the effort when the very people who call for it the loudest think it is still being crammed into Sunday afternoons.

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)— Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon calls for "responsible leadership which will avoid the extremes of the far left and the far right."

At a banquet honoring him on his 49th birthday Tuesday night, Nixon said: "Radicals of the right and radicals of the left are a small minority in the nation. But their influence is far greater than their number because they are so active and so noisy.

"The answer to the crooks and crackpots in politics is for responsible people, who make up the great majority in every community, to participate more actively in political affairs."

The banquet was sponsored by the Whittier area Chamber of Commerce at Whittier College, Nixon's alma mater.

Rocky Opposes GOP Committee Naming Judge

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller sided with the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and against a county Republican organization today and appointed the chairman's son as Livingston County Judge.

The chairman, Sen. Austin W. Erwin, a senior Republican member of the Senate, had conducted a strong battle to obtain a judgeship for his son, 43-year-old Austin Jr.

Erwin's fight has split the Livingston County Republican Party.

In naming young Erwin to the judicial post, the Republican governor went against the recommendation of the Livingston County GOP Committee, which had endorsed District Attorney Scott W. Crane of Dansville.

The Livingston County Bar Association had endorsed Erwin.

Young Erwin, who practices law with his father, has been serving as Geneseo town attorney and counsel to the Geneseo Valley Public Market Authority.

Last spring, the senior Erwin attempted to secure for his son a post on the State Supreme Court. County Republican Chairman J. Donald Root supported the Erwins but the county GOP committee balked and endorsed County Judge George D. Newton. Root resigned in the ensuing hubbub.

The county judgeship to which Rockefeller appointed Erwin today is to fill the vacancy caused by Newton's move to the Supreme Court.

The appointment, which requires confirmation by the Senate, extends to Dec. 31.

Dogs In, Men Out

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—It wasn't a fit night out for dogs, but for people, that was different.

Fund Drive for Building Scheduled for Jan. 15-20

The ultimate hope of the directors of the Town of Ulster Library Association for their own library building moved a step closer to reality Tuesday night.

A tract of land, 100x100, adjacent to Chambers School in the township, was formally turned over to the library group last night by Bert Chambers. The tract is located on the north end of the Chambers School area adjacent to Morton Boulevard.

Crosby Hails Gift

Announcement of the land donation by Chambers also signaled the early start of a financial drive to raise funds for the library building to be constructed on the Chambers land.

"We're certainly overjoyed with the donation of this land by Mr. Chambers," Edward Crosby, library president, said and he added "we're now making plans for the raising of funds so that our township will have its own library building within a short period of time."

Facilities of the Chambers School have been used for several months now to accommodate the book borrowers of the Ulster Library.

Musialkiewicz Chairman

The actual fund-raising campaign is scheduled to be kicked off next Monday, Jan. 15, and will continue through Jan. 20 with Ted Musialkiewicz as chairman.

A complete list of co-workers to assist in the drive will be announced shortly.

Even without a home of its own the library association has made great strides since its inception in 1960.

Modest Beginning

A modest beginning earmarked the organization's start when in the short space of one month the library had 1,700 books. The actual start occured in the barn on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford R. Beal, Flatbush Road.

Classification of books went on at the Beal residence until the Chambers School became available to house the Association.

Last year a fund-raising drive netted $1,470 from merchants, residents and other civic-minded groups in the township. The money raised was used for shelving at the temporary library location and also for the purchase of children's books and other literature. Among the groups aiding in the drive were the Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club, Ladies' Auxiliary, Mr. Marion-Ruby Fire Department and the P-TA of Lake Katrine School.

The library now totals 380 book borrowers.

Flying to Brussels Thursday

Red Airliner Returns 18 From Downed Plane

MOSCOW (AP)—A special Soviet airliner today brought to Moscow the 18 passengers of a Belgian airliner forced down in the Soviet Union Monday. They are expected to fly to Brussels, Belgium, Thursday.

The group was met by diplomatic representatives of Belgium, Iran, Britain, the United States and West Germany. The passengers made the trip to Moscow in a Soviet turboprop.

The Belgian plane, a Sabena jet airliner which was en route from Tehran to Istanbul when it landed in the Soviet Union Monday, also was released by Soviet authorities. But a Belgian Embassy spokesman said mechanical trouble was delaying the twin-jet Caravelle's takeoff from the southern oil city of Grozny.

(In Brussels Sabena announced the 18 passengers and 4 crew members would be flown to Brussels Thursday on the regular Soviet Aeroflot plane. The four other crew members will fly out the Caravelle "as soon as Soviet authorities will allow it," Sabena said. The count of 18 passengers was a revision by the Belgian line, which originally had reported one more.)

Violation Accidental

Belgian Ambassador Hippolyte Cools flew to Grozny aboard the Soviet plane to escort the passengers to Moscow.

The Russians protested that the plane had violated Soviet air space, but Cools assured them any violation was accidental.

Fire Delays Commuters

NEW YORK (AP)—Commuter service on the New York Central Railroad's Hudson Division was curtailed today because of a fire at the station at Harmon, about 30 miles north of Grand Central Terminal.

Two of the four main-line tracks—knocked out when the fire spread to the station's northbound platform—were restored to service shortly before 7 a.m.

But long delays and many cancelled trains were in prospect. About 10,000 commuters were affected.

Dorpian Counsel Quits

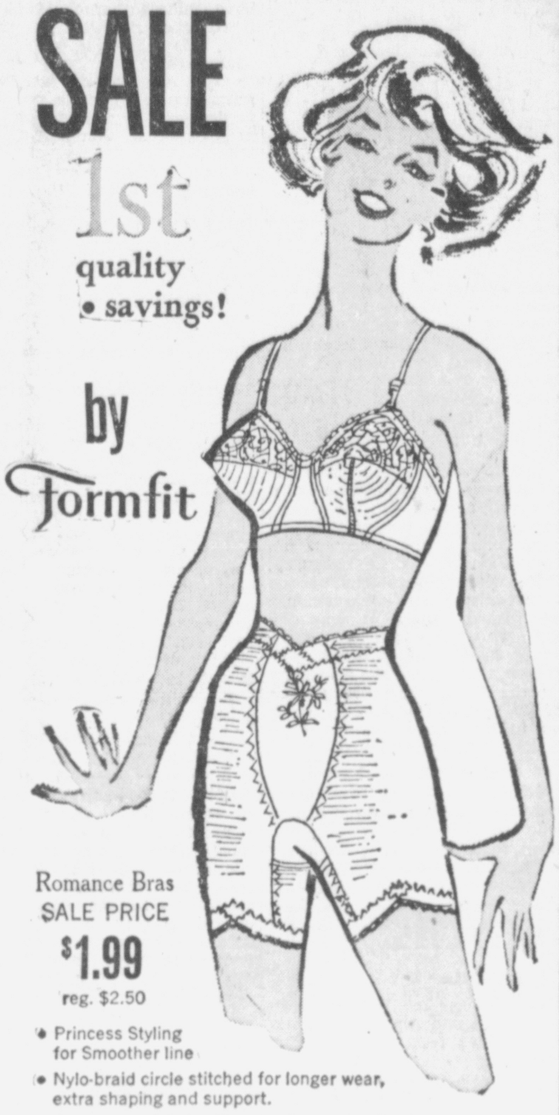

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Charles W. Brown, Schenectady corporation counsel for 10 years, has resigned.

Brown said Tuesday he was leaving the $10,500-a-year post to return to private practice. He also quit as counsel on urban renewal, which paid $3,500 annually.

The resignation is effective Feb. 1.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 10, 1962

MARCH TO THE CITIES

If by some means a U.S. Department of Urban Affairs is created this year it will constitute belated formal recognition of a long established and increasingly persistent fact of American life.

This is, of course, the uninterrupted movement of people into this nation's urban areas. After many decades, this trend has reached the point in the 1960's where just 11 of the 50 states may now be properly described as predominantly rural.

They are Alaska, the two Dakotas, Idaho, Vermont, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Arkansas and Mississippi.

The march to the cities and their suburbs will go on. Some population prophets say that by the year 2000 the proportion of the total U.S. population living in urban centers will rise from the present 70 per cent to about 85 per cent.

Once, the Northeast was thought of as the sole site of heavy U.S. urbanization. Today, 21 of the 50 biggest cities are west of the Mississippi River. This spread, too, will continue.

Widely appreciable is the fact that all this urban growth has brought with it great problems, that generally rural-dominated state legislatures have done little to help and the cities therefore have turned to Washington for aid. An urban affairs department would presumably not only formalize but enlarge that relationship.

It has also been noted, however, that certain trends are at work here and there among the states which may permit more urban influence to be exerted in states capitals—with somewhat diminished dependence on the federal government.

Not the least of these factors is the increasingly broad distribution of urban clusters within the states, with the result that once-distinct divisions between city and country are being blurred. New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York, Massachusetts and Illinois already are more than 80 per cent urbanized.

Some theorists believe that as this clustering of people becomes still more predominant in many sectors, rural opposition to adequate state handling of city problems will decline. Some even suggest, indeed, that rural life as we have known it will largely disappear in many parts of the nation.

To those who have looked upon the rural elements in the various state legislatures as "road blocks" to urban progress, this steady shifting of the balance might be welcomed.

But at least one thoughtful observer has recently placed the possible disappearance of the rural way of life high on the agenda of future U.S. problems. The thought here is that much of great value to America would be lost if urbanization should advance that far.

Surely many solid values spring from the spacious, earthbound, deep-rooted outlook which the "rural way" can provide. To lose this sturdy balance wheel could be very costly to all Americans.

Mechanization of agriculture is reported lagging in Red China. That's what comes from plowing incentive under.

NOT GONE, BUT FORGOTTEN

An old myth, that American Indians were slowly vanishing from the face of this continent, has gone down before some statistical gunfire from the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Fact is, this country's Indian population is growing faster than the general population. And today ther are still 510,000 Indians in the United States—excluding Alaska—as against 845,000 in 1500, eight years after Columbus hit the beach.

Contrary to much impression, it was the white man's diseases, not his guns, that did most to exterminate Indians in earlier times. Now that these have been brought under better control, Indian numbers are on the sharp rise.

So, apparently, no Americans are vanishing today. The only thing that's disappearing is space.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A SCARED PUBLISHER

Lord Beaverbrook, a Canadian who has become a leading British newspaper publisher, has built circulation by scaring himself and the British people. "The Sunday Express" in London carried a headline, "Must We Always Take Orders from America?" Since the days of Canning, there have been Americans who have asked, "Must we always take orders from Great Britain?" In fact, when Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt maintained a private alliance that eventually rescued Great Britain from the voraciousness of Hitler, there were Americans who wondered whether Churchill was not governing this country.

In the article to which I refer appears the following:

"If the Government persists in its present course we shall this year enter the Common Market. What does this mean? It means the end of Empire, the end of the British Commonwealth. We shall cease to be an independent country. We shall become members of a European federation. Our lives, our jobs, our security will depend on decisions taken by others. No doubt we shall prosper. But no longer according to our own will."

It is so unfortunate that many Britishers do not realize that the British Empire began to disappear in World War I and that the British people willingly gave up their Empire because it was too expensive to maintain it, too risky to continue to make war to prevent it from falling apart. Also, the writer of the "Sunday Express" article forgets that the British can no longer depend upon Asians and Africans to do their fighting, that they would have to depend upon the United States, Canada, Australia, and New Zealond.

The British Government is wiser than this chauvinistic newspaper, which says:

"From the moment Winston Churchill came to power in 1940 he saw in alliance with America the key first to survival and then to victory. Though he stood up for his own views, in the last resort he always conformed to American wishes."

The historic fact is that when the United States entered upon World War II, the British Empire was smashed. It was the American factory, the American mine and mill, American dollars which finally did Hitler in. Some Britishers complain that we came in too late; nevertheless we rescued Britain.

There are many in this country who shiver too, but not too many and actually they do not count. When Khrushchev banged his shoe on the United Nations desk, we did not shiver; we laughed, we were not frightened.

It is important at this stage that the United States and Great Britain and all the Western World unite to stand together in the face of what is happening to mankind. Those who believe that the United States cannot afford to abandon Western Europe are mistaken; the United States, at this stage in history, can afford to adopt a position that will give it greater strength by any means possibe. This is not a selfish policy; it is a conception of the Western World as a unit, to be held together because the preservation of our civilization depends upon that.

The peril to Great Britain is that Americans will take seriously the sour notes of British writers who do not understand the middle of the Twentieth Century. They do not realize that the era from Elizabeth I to Elizabeth II has run its course and that the Earth has turned on its axis so that the center of power has shifted from the North Atlantic to the South Pacific and the Indian Ocean.

While the British Empire was being built by brave men, it was also being destroyed by the course of events against which no man can stand. When the United States was formed in 1776, the British Empire began to collapse. When the Kuomintang shoved the British out of the Concessions in China in 1926-7, it was abvious that Britain's days in Asia were counted.

The writer in the "Sunday Express" says:

"A truly independent Great Britain could again speak at Washington with firm, decisive voice. The more we take our own line the more anxious the Americans will be to co-operate with us."

The writer errs. The United States can get along without Great Britain but prefers not to. It is possible that we may still have to fight one more war to preserve ourselves. Whichever way we or the British go, it looks as though we shall have to go together.

Brushing Takes Play From Dentifrice, Mouthwash

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you were to rely exclusively on advertisements and TV commercials for instruction in dental hygiene, you'd unhesitatingly conclude that the health of your teeth and the sweetness of your breath depended primarily on the dentifrice and mouth wash you selected from among the scores of attractively packaged products that line the shelves of your favorite store.

Yet neither is more important than the equally attractive drum majorettes who take the field between the halves of most football games. "A dentifrice," says an official statement of the American Dental Assn., "acts as a cleansing agent. Tooth-brushing can be made more pleasant by use of an acceptable dentifrice. . . Remember that it is the brushing and when you do it—immediately after eating—that are most important. . . . An inexpensive dentifrice can be made by mixing powdered table salt (1/3) and baking soda (2/3)."

And of mouthwashes, the association states that their purpose "is to help remove food particles from the teeth and mouth. Drinking water is satisfactory for this purpose. Some persons prefer a diluted solution of common salt (½ teaspoonful to ½ glass of water) or of baking soda (¼ teaspoonful to ½ glass of water)."

What, then, are the important elements in dental hygiene? Here, for your consideration, are the most highly regarded:

A pair of toothbrushes of medium size, with flat brushing surface, firm and resilient bristles and heads (sufficiently small to permit access to all surfaces of the teeth. Surveying a total of 2,032 brushes, the association found that only 700 (about 1/3) "were in usable condition."

Thorough brushing (at least 10 times to each area) immediately after eating. And especially after snacks of chewy, sticky candies, cookies and the like.

Include in the brushing the outside surface, chewing surface and inside surface of each tooth, particularly those tooth surfaces hard to reach in the back of your mouth.

In the instance of each tooth, place the bristles pointing toward the tooth root and rotate them so they sweep down over the gums and teeth in the direction of the biting or grinding surfaces.

Use dental floss to remove impacted food particles that remain after brushing.

Rinse mouth with the recommended solution of salt or baking soda.

"He's Hit Everything but the Target"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Under State Department auspices, a marionette show is being sent on a three months' tour of India, Nepal and Afghanistan. It's part of the U.S. cultural relations program.

The act consists of nine live people and an unspecified number of versatile puppets. They can do vaudeville turns set to American popular music, including a folk-tale fantasy, "Davy Jones's Locker," which should wow the natives.

First eyebrow-raising reaction to this startling bit of new year news is that here is just what Secretary of State Dean Rusk needs to improve U.S. foreign relations all over.

Why send $25,000-a-year ambassadors abroad when a puppet could do just as well, responding to strings pulled backstage instead of to cabled instructions from Washington?

IMPROVEMENT OF US. RELATIONS WITH crucial South Asia will probably be noticed at once, after the puppets put on a couple of shows in each country. Indian troops will get out of Goa. Nehru will renounce neutralism. Nepal will declare war on Red China and march to liberate Tibet. Afghanistan will apply for admission to the CENTO alliance and ask for arms aid to clean up Russia. Fighting with marionettes, no doubt.

What about Pakistan, though? This favoritism in sending puppets to the Paks' principal enemies, India and Afghanistan, may cause President General Ayub to demand two marionette shows on his foreign aid program next year, or he'll go Communist.

A diplomatic incident fraught with significance might be raised before the United Nations General Assembly reconvening in New York.

BUT SPEAKING SERIOUSLY FOR A MOMENT, this latest venture in American diplomatic initiative points up some doubts about the whole cultural relations business.

The United States got sucked into it because the Russians and Red Chinese make such great propaganda out of cultural relations. Americans can't afford to be less cultured, natch.

As a matter of fact, Washington and Moscow diplomats spend more time negotiating cultural exchange agreements with each other than they do over the Berlin crisis.

The United States now has an assistant secretary of state, no less, in charge of educational and cultural affairs. He is Philip H. Coombs, an economist, educator and experienced public servant in Washington and abroad, a good guy and smart.

Shortly after taking over his new job, he set out to make some sense out of cultural relations on half a dozen fronts. First he had to integrate a dozen scattered agencies working the field. He set out to improve the quality of cultural attaches the U. S. sends overseas. He put emphasis on increasing the teaching of English in foreign countries. A major program was laid out to help new nations build their own educational systems.

AT HOME, INCREASED FOREIGN LANGUAGE instruction is encouraged through the National Defense Education Act. And a big 10-point program has just been launched to increase the number—now 53,000—of foreign students coming to the U. S. as well as the quality of the education they receive for their own needs.

If cultural exchange — in the best sense of the words—could be confined to more international education from primary to higher, it would be all to the good. It is when cultural exchange slops over into "culture"—in the worst sense of the word—that it tends to go haywire.

The marionette show is cited as an example. No matter how good the troupe being sent to South Asia, no matter how few thousands of dollars it costs the taxpayers, puppets just ain't American culture.

Molotov's Status in Soviet Remains a Puzzle to West

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Maybe the body of Stalin is to be brought back for exhibition on Red Square in Moscow alongside of Lenin's remains. This wouldn't cause much more surprise than the announcement just made that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has changed his mind about Molotov and restored him to duty at an international post in Vienna.

The whole world has been told that Khrushchev disavows Stalin's record, and yet Molotov is the only Russian alive today who shared with Stalin responsibility for the outbreak of World War II. This cost the lives of millions of Russians and left millions more maimed.

It was Molotov who encouraged Hitler in 1939. It was Molotov who assured the Nazi dictator that he was free to attack Poland and would not be troubled by a major war on his Eastern front while he attacked France and Britain on the West. The fear of a two-front war had kept Hitler worried for five years, and the British and French foreign ministers did their utmost in the summer of 1939 to try to win Stalin as an ally so as to deter Hitler. But they found later that Molotov had been engaged concurrently in a double-cross maneuver in Berlin. In September came Hitler's attack on Warsaw as Soviet forces seized Eastern Poland.

Molotov's career has been one of intimate identification with the ruthlessness of the Stalin regime. Yet the tactics of Stalin have come in for vehement denunciation ever since February, 1956, when Khrushchev at the Communist party congress first condemned Stalin. It was the ingenuity of American intelligence agents which made possible in June, 1956, the disclosure by the State Department here of the text of that speech, which up to that time had not been made public anywhere.

Eisenhower Not Fooled

Neither President Eisenhower nor the late John Foster Dulles, who was then Secretary of State, were fooled by the Khrushchev effort to disassociate himself from Stalinism. Mr. Eisenhower said at his press conference on April 4,1956, that there was "no discernible basic change in the fundamental purposes of Communism," though the repudiation of Stalin might be "the beginning of a forced reformation of some kind." Mr. Dulles, too, spoke hopefully of the yearnings of a subject people for greater security and freedom, but declared that "the downgrading of Stalin does not of itself demonstrate that the Soviet regime has basically changed its domestic or foreign policies."

In the nearly six years that have elapsed since Nikita Khrushchev startled the world with his blistering attack on Stalin, there has been no key to the mystery of just what prompted his excoriation of a predecessor regime which also had espoused Communist doctrine.

The sudden turnabout in handling Molotov is the subject today of worldwide curiosity. Could it be that Khrushchev has gone too far, and that the Stalinists within the present government have been astir and have been plotting against the premier? Could he have chosen to spare Molotov from further indignity as a means of placating the Stalinists who still wield an influence inside the Communist party?

There are some Russian experts who believe that within the Soviet Union there is a substantial number of members of the Communist party who reflect the age-old Russian sentiment against internationalism and would prefer concentration on the serious economic problems that confront the people of the Soviet Union at home. For many generations Russian officialdom had been reluctant to meddle in other countries except those adjacent to Soviet borders and from which an attack might be threatened.

Concept Questioned

The concept of world communism, as voiced by various Soviet spokesmen in recent years, has been a barrier to fulfillment of the demands for domestic reforms. On the basis of the argument that external warfare is of first importance to the security of the Russians, billions of rubles have been spent in Africa and Latin America, as well as in Asia. Other Russians argue that this money might better have been spent on improving the standard of living of the Soviet people. If the American point of view—namely, that there will be no atomic war unless this country is attacked—has percolated to the Russian people, they may also be questioning now the large Soviet expenditures for defense purposes.

There has always been a trend toward isolationism inside Russia, and it would not be surprising if the faction represented by Molotov were critical of Khrushchev's policies in squandering Russia's money around the world. It must, therefore, be regarded as something of a humiliation for Khrushchev to restore Molotov even to such a relatively unimportant post as a Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Administration in Vienna. For when Molotov went back to Moscow recently, he was ignored. There were reports that he, along with other Stalinists was being expelled from Communist party membership. For him to be invested now with Khrushchev's official blessing and returned to his old post must mean that Molotov has influential friends at court and that they side with him in criticizing certain aspects of the Khrushchev policies today.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

If the United Nations had existed in the century just before this one, the great United States of America would have been a runty, rickety failure and the world would have been dnied our great mechanical genius and spared our hypocrisy about "democracy" and political reverence for the rights of minorities.

We slaughtered many minorities of Indians in aggressions into their own country in which they had beeen undisputed residents and owners since the memory of man ran not to the contrary. However, in fairness to us, let us agree they are better off than they were before we came. In some cases, they put up a wise but futile hostility after the first footstep of the aggressor from Europe. But in many other cases, probably most of them, they were disarmed of their prudence by curiosity or genuine hospitality. The survivors finally wound up on "reservations." These were acutally internment camps, where many Indians starved or froze to death. Many of them still exist although the occupants are no longer confined by sentries and patrols. They may go to the white men's cities, such as Tucson, and their presence on the streets in the tourist season is a valuable, free display of atmosphere.

Booze always has been a difficult problem among the Indians as well as the Irish. Theorists suggest that pagan Indians, meaning those who have not been converted to sectarian Christianity, are more susceptible to alcohol because there is no voice within them to plead with them to shun the demon for the good of their souls. The pagan Indian knows that if he takes a tuft of the hair of the dog that bit him his tremors will be smoothed until tomorrow. But so does the Christian Nordic.

This is not banter. White men go beserk from booze on festive nights, notwithstanding ages of experience with alcohol. Indian novices in alcohol went on the warpath even as Princeton undergrads in Greenwich Village on Saturday night ,and we called them savages and barbarians.

In sexual behavior the Indians are distinctly superior to all other breeds in the United States, according to the standards which we loudly profess but flagrantly violate. There are records, even photographs of Indian women maimed for adultery. The tribal law cut off the erring sister's nose. The male offender's ears were cut off and he was driven out into the world. Among white men he was merely embarrassed. The Caucasians inwardly regarded his offense as an amiable indiscretion. Among other Indians, however, he was an outcast. They are still distinguished among mankind for their control.

If the U. N. had existed in the 1830's to send detachments of Swedes, Belgians and Irish into the Cherokee, Seminole and Choctaw nations in the eastern part of our South, the career of our nation would have been frustrated and confined to a territory and a society which can only be conjectured. This clearly would have been a very bad thing for the United States although it might have spared us the Civil War and later involvement in the First and Second Great Wars and Korea.

In the 1860's the European powers of the U.N. would have voted against the War Between the States and Abraham Lincoln might have been hanged as an aggressor. General Sherman would have been guilty of "war crimes" in the unlikely event that the war had occurred notwithstanding the humane counsel of the continental powers. On principle, they both deserved it by their Hitlerian conduct.

We rollicked and roistered along through noisy decades to pull up a chair at Versailles and sound off sonorously on human rights, with special contempt for secret covenants secretly arrived at in the dark chancelleries of the old world. But we had taken a very small military part in that victory over an enemy who finally had overmatched himself. And our saint Woodrow Wilson dipped his forefinger in suds and drew meandering lines on a table. So we got Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and the Polish corridor. Many million desperate souls were thus cut off from their loved ones 20 or 50 miles away and forbidden to address one another in their native languages. In the Italian Tyrol, Mussolini, under Woodrow's mandate, even changed the German names on headstones to Italian versions.

Being versatile we arrived at secret covenants at Teheran, Yalta, Quebec and in the White House. And meanwhile we bought the Virgin Islands, complete with population, at a few dollars each on the hoof as we had earlier bought the Southwest from Mexico, also with people. They were not consulted in either case.

It is a fault of the American idealist of the liberal school that he is constantly clamping a toehold on himself and twisting and twisting until the pain is unbearable. Then he grabs the other foot.

Thus, Felix Frankfurter bespeaks not mere respect but reverential awe for the like of himself because he enjoys the rare moral greatness to agree with Oliver Wendell Holmes, who laid it down absolutely that force was the final arbiter among men and that society had a right, because it had the power, to drive men to battle against beloved enemies and against their principles and to snuff out their lives by whim of the majority.

To Frankfurter, that is democracy and so say we almost all of us.

Report on County Farm Production

Farm produce raised on the County Farm at New Paltz during 1961 and used in providing food for residents at the farm and at the Ulster County Infirmary in Kingston totaled $20,910.20.

Estimated value of produce sold off the farm was $1,770.12, according to a report of Walter Kahabka, farm advisor to the Department of Agriculture and Markets.

A visit to the 280-acre farm on October 11, was made by Kahabka for the purpose of inspection and making recommendations.

Termed Economic Asset

"This fine production is truly a very definite economic asset," he states in his report.

Crops on the approximate 250 acres of tillable soil which were produced during 1961 are:

Six acre garden—34 acres of corn of which 12 acres was for silage and 23 acres for picking; 4½ acres of potatoes; 15½ acres of wheat. The balance of the land produced hay and pasture crops.

The farm is enrolled in the Soil Conservation program and with fairly liberal uses of fertilizer good results have been obtained. An application of nitrogen during the growing season on corn is used.

Herds Maintained

A herd of 48 Hereford beef cattle is maintained and provides good quality meat for the institution. A herd of 30 pigs was reported and appeared in good condition. The piggery was found to be "very clean."

The report states a flock of 300 hens is cared for by inmate labor and provides fresh eggs for the institution. Housing is adequate with food lighting and "ample waterers and feeders."

In addition to the vegetables used fresh from the garden 3780 No. 10 cans were put up for winter use. The potato yield was "disappointing" but 787 bushels were harvested from the 4½ acres. Heavier fertilization is recommended for next year.

"Buildings and premises are well kept and well painted. Purchase of a corn picker is suggested. The custom of hiring of silo filling is called "more economical" than owning since only about 100 tons of corn is harvested for silage.

"Crop and crop yields compare with 1960," the report states.

Two paid men are charged to the farm operation.

The report sent to the Board of Supervisors was signed by George R. Gilbert, director, Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Former Gotham Policeman Heads Buffalo Dept.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A former New York City patrolman, who rose to the rank of captain, assumed command of Buffalo's 1,300-man police department today.

Howard E. Finney was sworn in as police commissioner Tuesday a short time after the Democrat-controlled City Council gave its unanimous, but twice delayed stamp of approval.

Confirmation of Republican Mayor Chester Kowal's appointment to the $13,000-a-year job, was blocked a week ago when the council voted to send the matter to its legislative committee.

Two other designations—Edward D. Baxter as public works commissioner and Albert C. Killian as parks commissioner—also were approved Tuesday.

Councilman Stanley M. Makowski, a Democrat, said their objection to Finney's appointment was that he was not from Buffalo. Finney was a deputy inspector in the New York City department.

BOOK REVIEW

To increase further interest in reading books, the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BORED
By Edward Streeter

Graham Crombie, president of Crombie, Hamilton and Gardiner, investment councilors, was brought sharply to a realization of the fact that his retirement from the business which he had created, slaved for and built up was to happen within the year. He had made the ruling which made retirement mandatory at age 65 for men and 60 for women.

He didn't think it applied to him, but a chance remark of his secretary, Miss Parkinson, made it clear that his retirement was expected not only by her but the entire office force. There was no way out—but did Miss Parkinson have to be so coldly casual about it.

The prospect really was breaking his heart. It was breaking Miss Parkinson's too, but she showed it only once. For some years she had been a large part of Crombie's business life, directing, recommending, applauding, consoling wherever needed and with such consumate skill that he never knew how much she influenced his office behavior. It was not a role that she cared to give up.

The author gives an illuminating description of what goes on at the office of a busy executive and how large a part is played by a perfect secretary.

Crombie was in many ways a lucky man. Throughout the black days that preceded his retirement, he was given sympathetic support and expert assistance by Miss Parkinson at the office and by his equally efficient wife, Jinny, at home. Between them they eased him over the hump.

With admirable restraint and real selflessness, Jinny looked on while Crombie sold their dearly beloved city apartment and blundered into the purchase of a beautiful, but faulty early American country home in New England with high hopes of the leisurely life of a country gentleman, indulging in hobbies, having the pleasure of frequent visits from their three children and grandchildren and doing a lot of gardening.

It didn't work out that way. Crombie found that he knew and cared less for gardening, tinkering etc. The lovely old house developed the degeneracy of old age. Repairs and replacements were made at great expense. Their shrewd country mechanics took advantage of their helpless and piled up costs.

Jinny was burdened by housekeeping chores which she despised. Their children took no interest in the new country home. They all lived in the suburbs and missed the overnight trips to the City where they had been happy to stay in their parent's nice comfortable old Eastside apartment.

Then two of Crombie's retired business associates came for a week-end visit. The three had a long talk. They confessed their unhappiness in their so-called life of leisure. They missed—how they missed—their active business life. It got Crombie thinking.

So, when miraculously an offer came to buy the white elephant home he snapped it up without delay.

They returned to the City. Jinny slid into the groove of her former ways like one who had never been out of it.

Crombie worked out an ingenious plan whereby he and his two friends and Miss Parkinson (also retired, also bored) licked the retirement ogre to a standstill.

Also they were able to buy back the apartment.

NEW YORK (AP)—Steelmen say a big inventory buildup already is under way. They feel that in attempting to halt it or put a brake on it, the Kennedy administration will be setting quite a task for itself.

All agree that such a buildup in stocks because of fears of a strike this summer can upset the normal course of the business cycle. You have only to look at what happened three years ago to see that.

Tough Job Looms

But getting steel users to have full faith in the effectiveness of efforts to assure there will be no strike—or, as much to the point, no price rise afterward—may be hard to do. This is especially true now, months ahead of the mid-year contract deadline and without much indication so far as to what the steelworkers will ask or what the mills will offer.

And it is now that the orders are pouring in for the steel to be stockpiled as a hedge against a possible strike.

It is this big pickup in steel output in excess of current consumption that probably inspired reports on high authority in Washington that the government intends to try to discourage steel users from excess inventory buildups as well as to keep close watch on contract negotiations.

The rush of steel ordering is likely to increase, in the opinion of the metalworking weekly, The Iron Age. It says sheet mill products already are being produced at capacity, while orders for other products are now calling for output at 60 per cent of capacity.

As this increases, it predicts the following schedule of steel shipments: January 80 per cent of capacity, February 85 per cent, March 90 per cent. It thinks this might well continue through the following three months as the mills fill the orders received.

Same Rush in 1959

The same rush to stock up on steel occurred in the first half of 1959, the last time that union contracts came up for negotiation.

This pushed the total of industrial production well above current consumption. Many steel users not only tried to stock up on steel but also turned out more of their steel using products than their sales books justified. They wanted stocks of their products to sell if there were a long steel strike. That summer there was a long strike.

Many users were able to live off their stocks. But near the end of the strike layoffs in steel-using industries started to mount.

After the strike was settled the steel mills worked at capacity while their customers slowly built up their depleted stocks. Many of the users overestimated the strength of the recovery and ordered more steel than they needed, as it turned out. Again the general economy had a rosy look that was more of a fever flush than a healthy glow.

Focus on Health In Science World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wonder where the Asian flu virus went? Wonder when you are most likely to get chickenpox or mumps? Wonder who delivers a baby? These are questions with a focus on health.

Spent Virus?

What happens to an influenza virus between epidemics? It appears that the virus still travels between humans — but incognito. At least it may not be recognized as influenza.

Researchers have recovered the Asian A2 virus from patients in the years since its worldwide epidemic of 1957—indicating the virus is still around.

This means that the virus is still creating immunity in world populations—and because of this it could be that the Asian flu has spent its epidemic force.

Viruses March On

Infectious diseases are often influenced by social forces—and a new study indicates that at least three of them — chickenpox, mumps and measles—are hitting children at younger ages than they once did.

These three virus diseases were once fairly common among adolescents. Now, it appears, they are occurring largely in the pre-adolescent years. This may be due to the increase in the population, or the fact that people move around more now, and live closer together.

One infectious virus is trailing this trend, however. This is rubella or German measles. It is the virus that can cause birth defects when it strikes women in the first three months of pregnancy.

If adults are to gain immunity to this disease, researchers say, they may not be able to wait for normal infective processes. Preventive measures may be the only answer.

Stork, of Course

Writing to the Journal of the American Medical Association, a physician says he has heard of doctors delivering babies, and doctors delivering mothers. Which he asks, is correct?

Dictionaries say the word deliver may be used passively, as to give birth—or actively to mean the disburdening of one who is pregnant, says an AMA expert. Hence, the mother, delivers the baby, not the doctor, but the doctor delivers a woman of her child.

Improvise

A greased tin can set in the center of a well-greased casserole makes an emergency ring mold.

Motor Trend Magazine makes it official:
1962 car of the year!

From the very first we knew we had a winner. Happy owners, car enthusiasts raved about the 1962 Buick Special with the history-making Fireball V-6 engine. Now the editors of Motor Trend – one of the country's top car magazines – have made it official. After road-testing and evaluating all U.S. cars, they've named the V-6 Special "Car of the Year!" Here's how they put it . . .

"Motor Trend's CAR OF THE YEAR AWARD to the 1962 Buick for pure progress in design, originative engineering excellence, and the power concept for the future expressed in America's only V-6 automobile engine."

Why are the car experts so hot on this exclusive Buick engine? Only a V-6 can combine the extra vigor and smoothness of V-design with the gas savings of a straight six. This 135 H.P. V-6 weighs up to 140 pounds less than other sixes of comparable power. It sips regular gas ever so sparingly.

But why go on? Ask your Buick dealer to let you drive a V-6 Buick Special. There are five beautiful models, including a fabulous new convertible. Drop in soon and see how easy it is to make the "Car of the Year" your very own.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The saga of the American in Europe has intrigued writers from Mark Twain and Henry James down to Tennessee Williams and Irwin Shaw.

Now it is the background of two new movies, which are pushing the 1962 season off to a promising start.

Could Be Good Year

They are "Tender Is the Night" and "Light in the Piazza." If these are a sample of what the movie fan will get, it could be a good year.

David O. Selznick says glowingly of "Tender Is the Night": "It is the kind of movie we used to make."

It bears the stamp of Selznick at his best. Oddly, though he owned the story, developed the script and supplied Jennifer Jones, his name is not on the film. It was produced by Henry Weinstein, who received several hundred memos from Selznick during the filming.

"Tender" is the most profound of the F. Scott Fitzgerald tales, a careful study of how a psychiatrist loses his own stability while saving the sanity of a patient he marries. It is played against a background of Europe in the '20s, yet doesn't seem dated.

A Return to Glory

Miss Jones is back to the glory she first exhibited in "Song of Bernadette." After a couple of false starts, Jason Robards Jr. proves he can be as great on the screen as he has been on the stage.

Director Henry King, who dates back to "Tol'able Davis" (1921), proves Hollywood's old wave can still pack a punch. The screenplay by Ivan Moffat is a marvel, building one scene after another of meaningful drama.

"Light in the Piazza" is pure romance. Offhand it sounds like a problem drama: the attempt by a compassionate mother to find a normal life for her grown daughter, whose mental age was arrested at 10 by accident.

This could be turgid stuff but producer Arthur Freed and director Guy Green keep it light without going marshmallowy.

Olivia DeHavilland is perfect for this sort of thing; no star has such a sure touch with romance. Yvette Mimieux is a revelation; she's an actress, not merely a cheesecake queen. George Hamilton is surprisingly good as her Italian suitor, and Rosanno Brazzi plays his suave, knowing father.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Here's a Sandwich to Satisfy Teener

TO SATISFY a teen-ager's idea of a "snack" for after school or game, try these big Ten-Pin Basket Sandwiches.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A third of a loaf of French bread, corned beef, Swiss cheese, pickles and sweet onions—these are the makings of a sandwich to satisfy any teen-age appetite. You might add olives, green onions, radishes, celery and potato chips just to be sure.

Ten-Pin Basket Sandwiches
(Yield: 6 servings of ⅓ loaf per serving)

2 (1-pound) loaves long narrow French bread
24 (1-ounce) slices corned beef
24 (1-ounce) slices process Swiss cheese
8 dill pickles, sliced into thirds
3 Bermuda or Spanish onions, medium-sized

Cut loaf into alternate ¾ and 2-inch slices, almost to bottom crust. Start cutting ½-inch from end of loaf, making 24 slices in all. Remove narrow sections (¾-inch) in each loaf, but do not cut through crust. Cut each onion into 8 slices. Fold slices of Swiss cheese, placing one in each bread cavity so that fold is on bottom. Wrap a corned beef slice around a slice each of dill pickle and onion; insert between folded cheese slices. Cut each loaf into thirds; place on shallow baking pan. Heat in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 minutes.

To serve: Place in a long narrow wicker basket, arranging relishes and potato chips at end of basket. Another suggested way to serve would be to place ⅓ loaf on a flat wood serving platter and use a sharp bread knife for slicing bread between filled sections to make sandwiches for easier eating.

Vets' Income Form Must Be Returned

All veterans and survivors who have received their annual income questionnaire with their recent pension check, were again reminded by Charles Culver, NYS Veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, that the questionnaire must be promptly returned.

Recipients of the questionnaires were advised by Tyler and Culver to make arrangements to return the form without delay. The questionnaires must be completed and returned to the office indicated on the form before Jan. 31. Failure to do so within the allotted time will result in having pension payments stopped.

The veteran officials further said that assistance in completing the annual income questionnaire is available at the office of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, with branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Kerhonkson and Highland.

Winter Weather Factor in Fatal Army Base Crash

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—Military authorities say paralyzing winter weather was a factor in a collision of an Army tank and truck at this army base Tuesday. Five soldiers were killed and 22 others were injured.

Three of the injured were burned seriously when the truck's 70-gallon gasoline tank exploded.

The M48 tank and the truck, loaded with soldiers, crashed head on in early dawn while bound for training areas.

Opening lead—♥ 10

One of the best of the younger St. Paul players is Mrs. Myron Hill. In last year's event she was defending against a spade slam. Her one possible taking trick was the queen of diamonds and she proceeded to beat the slam by the unusual expedient of getting it out of her hand at the first opportunity.

South had high cards to spare with his six-spade bid, but he also had a bad diamond situation. He won the opening heart lead, drew trumps, cashed his other high heart and three clubs, and then led a diamond.

Most players would play low automatically, but not Mrs. Hill. She dropped the queen on the table whereupon South had no way to keep East from making two diamond tricks.

If she had played the nine of diamonds, South would have gone up with dummy's ace and led the suit back. If West rose with the king he would drop the queen. If he played low, Mrs. Hill would make her queen and have to lead a heart or a club either of which would allow South to ruff in dummy and discard his last diamond at the same time.

Paltz Society Urges Halt of Bomb Tests

New Paltz Meeting, Society of Friends in a public appeal today urged a halt of nuclear bomb testing and asked residents to make their wishes known to their representatives in Congress.

The appeal submitted by Diana M. Geiger of RD 2, Box 205, New Paltz, recording secretary of the group follows:

"Do you believe nuclear bomb testing must cease? If so, we urge you to write to President Kennedy, your senators and representative, asking that the U.S.A. take the lead in instigating this saving of humanity."

The statement lists the addresses as follows:

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C., and J. Ernest Wharton, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

PLATTEKILL — A program planned for a meeting of the Plattekill Grangers Saturday evening, will have as its subject "Launching Our 60th Anniversary Year, featuring exhibits of old relics, costumes and community singing of old songs. Appropriate costumes will be worn. An old fashioned play is also being presented. The program will open at 8 p. m. following a covered dish supper and business meeting.

Joseph Espinar, who has been acting postmaster at the Plattekill post office since the retirement of Patrick Fleming, has received his certificate of appointment, pending permanant designation. Raymond Lyons, field service officer for the U. S. Post Office Department made the presentation.

PILOTS MOVE WHEN SHE SPEAKS—This is Gina Drazin whose recorded voice warns Air Force B58 bomber pilots of malfunctions in their aircraft. Here she makes a recording which is fitted into the bomber's instrument panels. The new system, developed at Los Angeles, supplements warning lights on the plane's instrument panels. Hopeful of Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Council of Churches said today it believed a bill to raise the minimum legal drinking age to 21 in New York State would be passed by both houses of the Legislature, if the bill were allowed out of committee.

Raising of the minimum age from 18 has been a long-time goal of the organization, which represents the major Protestant denominations.

A bill to set the minimum age at 21 has been introduced this year by Sen. Dutton S. Peterson, R-Schuyler, and Assemblyman Lucio F. Russo, R-Staten Island. Peterson is a retired Methodist minister.

GIVING 'EM THE SLIP—Imagination spawns new costumes for nurses staging a talent show for patients at Cleveland's Fairview Park Hospital. For their "Pillowcase Dance," the nurses put pillowcase "faces" over their heads and upper parts of their bodies. Ties and coats are secured around their waists to create that unusual appearance.

TIRE AUTOPSY—Resembling a rubber water lily, this tire has been cut up for study after being subjected to rigorous tests at Detroit Arsenal. The tire was run for 48 hours with inside temperature at 100 degrees to test endurance.

Concurrent Card Of Races Out

NEW YORK, (AP)—The New York State Harness Racing Commission denied today a request for concurrent meetings at Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways.

The two tracks had applied for permission to hold races at the same time over a 6-week period. The commission rejected a move also to hold further arguments on the matter.

The commission granted the following 1962 dates to the two tracks: Roosevelt Raceway, March 20 to May 19, Aug. 1 to Sept. 29; Yonkers, May 21 to July 31; Oct. 1 to Nov. 30.

The concurrent move was opposed by the Monticello and Saratoga Raceways and the Standard-bred Owners Association.

Kingston Oil Now Has Franchise of Oklahoma Firm

A spokesman for Kingston Oil Company disclosed today that the firm has been awarded the first franchise in New York State by Phillips Petroleum Company of Bartlesville, Okla., widely known midwestern fuel concern which has started a move into the eastern portion of the country.

It was revealed that five area stations, Barringer's at Lucas Avenue and Washington Avenue, DeMicco Motors, 327 Broadway, By-Pass Servicenter, 350 East Chester Street, Appa's Foxhall, Wiltwyck and O'Neil Streets, and Kullmann's, Woodstock, will be converted to Phillips 66 stations by February 1.

It also was disclosed that Kingston Oil Company is contemplating additional facilities and additional personnel, and plans to convert stations in Dutchess County and possibly in Orange County to Phillips products.

The western petroleum concern which recently went into the Baltimore, Md., region plans to expand later into Massachusetts.

Food Fair Has Banner Turnout

More than 2,000 customers jammed the Food Fair, the area's newest supermarket when it opened this morning at the Ulster Shopping Center on Albany Avenue Extension at Stahlman Place.

The ultra modern market was officially opened when Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo, Town of Ulster, cut the traditional ribbon.

At the noon hour more than 1,200 customers thronged the store.

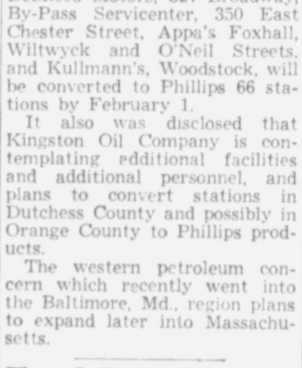

Mrs. Bridges in Race

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Doloris Bridges announced her candidacy today for nomination as Republican candidate for the United States Senate seat of her late husband, Styles Bridges.

Bridges, the Senate's senior Republican and a powerful figure on the nation's political stage, died Nov. 26 at the age of 63.

Gov. Wesley Powell, despite strong urgings to name the senator's widow to an interim appointment, chose instead the state's attorney general Maurice J. Murphy Jr., 34.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our son and brother, Jesse B. Chambers Jr., who passed away four years ago today, January 10, 1958.

The roses in memories garden
never fade away,
But the one who died four years ago, is the one we miss today.
When evening shadows are falling and we're sitting all alone,
In hearts there comes a longing,
If only you would come home.

Sadly missed,

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to invest in freedom on the installment plan

You can't buy freedom. For cash or installments or any other way. It's not for sale.

You can make a sound investment in freedom, though, by investing in U.S. Savings Bonds. Just $4.33 a week on payroll savings where you work will buy a $25.00 Bond each month.

As your savings grow, built up by 3¾% interest, you get closer to financial freedom—a desirable state for each of us if America is to be financially strong.

At the same time, your dollars go to work for another kind of freedom . . . the kind you'll find fully described in a document conceived nearly two centuries ago at Independence Hall.

Start buying Bonds where you work now. When you do, you'll be joining 8 million Americans who have signed up for a regular share of freedom each month.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. Savings Bonds

Trucker Is Held For Federal Jury In Alcohol Case

A third man held on charges in connection with the alleged operation of an illicit still on a secluded farm in the Canoe Hill section of Saugerties, last night waived preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Thomas F. Saccoman of Kingston.

James DeFeo, 21, who gave his address as 341 Broome Street, New York City, was taken before Commissioner Saccoman by William O'Day, a federal investigator. DeFeo was released in his own recognizance pending federal grand jury action.

Previously arraigned on federal charges of possession and operation of an unregistered still were Arthur A. Fiore, 23, of West Saugerties, and Carl A. Annucci, 47, of Canoe Hill, Saugerties, owner of the farm where the illicit alcohol plant was raided last Saturday by Kingston BCI investigators of the state police and Treasury Department agents.

Fiore and Annucci previously waived preliminary hearing before Commissioner Saccoman and posted $500 bail each pending federal grand jury action.

DeFeo was charged with possession of property with intent to violate the Internal Revenue Law and conspiring to violate the same law.

The still was found by authorities after they investigated a cargo of 10 tons of bagged brown sugar on a truck operated by DeFeo which skidded off Route 9 north of Valatia, Columbia County.

Troopers learned about the farm where the sugar was to be delivered. They notified the Treasury Department agents who took part in the subsequent raid.

The still, known in the bootleg trade as a St. Louis type plant, was capable of producing 500 gallons of 180 proof alcohol daily, authorities said.

Investigators estimated that the product brings about $15 a gallon on the bootleg market.

Pack 60 Attends Christmas Event

Phoenicia Cub Scout Pack 60 recently conducted a special Christmas program at the Parish hall, which was attended by Den mothers, committeemen and cubs. James Hefferan is cubmaster of the pack.

Prior to the program the group wandered through the area streets singing Christmas carols.

Returning to the Parish hall the scouts and guests were served refreshments.

After the flag ceremony those present were entertained by Barne, the clown (Richard Gavette) who rode his trick bicycle through the hall. After that performance, Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts to all.

Cubmaster Hefferan reported that during 1961, 18 cub scouts graduated to the rank of Boy Scout. Pack 60 now has a membership of 45 Cubs.

The program concluded with the cubs humming Silent Night, Holy Night. The pack is sponsored by Father Ginet Council, Knights of Columbus, Phoenicia.

SEE GOOD YEAR FOR AUTO SALES—1962 will be the best year for auto sales since 1955 is the advice Wesley Van Benschoten (right), president of the New York State Automobile Dealers, is giving Jerry Martin, president of the Kingston Automobile Dealers Association at dinner Tuesday in Kirkland Hotel sponsored by the local organization. The Kingston association head is president of Jerry Martin Pontiac, Inc., and the state leader is president of Wesley Van Benschoten, Inc., of Poughkeepsie. Edward H. Franz, president of Franz Rambler Sales here noted that the U. S. average number of employes per dealership is 18, but that Kingston's is 25. Quoting a report by Sun Oil Company, Franz said U. S. motorists last year paid $2 billion in special taxes that were used for everything but roads. He further stated that the federal government channeled some $1.7 billion of highway-related tax revenues—40 per cent of all such revenues collected—into non-road uses. (Freeman photo).

HIGHLAND NEWS

GOP Club Elects

HIGHLAND — The annual meeting of the Town of Lloyd Republican Club was held Friday night in the parish house of Holy Trinity Church with John Elia elected president; Mrs. Marie Dibble, Ralph Lyons, Mrs. Audrey Gregorio, James Huston, vice presidents; Mrs. Gertrude Carlo, secretary; Joseph Grillo, treasurer; Harold Berean, sergeant at arms. The four vice presidents represent the four districts in the town. Former president W. H. Maynard and James DeMare were elected trustees.

An executive meeting will be held Jan. 19 at the home of Mr. Elia and the regular meeting of the club will be held Feb. 9 at the home of Mrs. Dibble.

The club will hold open house Saturday night at Lloyd Post American Legion. The committee includes Joseph Grillo, Harold Berean, Joseph Puccio, Dominick Martorana, John Elia, Russell Tubbs; decorations, Mrs. Walter Clark; music, Louis DiPrima, James DeMare, Eugene Noe.

Town Appointments

At the recent meeting of the Town Board William Algiers was reelected to the town zoning committee for a term of five years. The committee is Francis G. Lenney, chairman, C. Imbrie Richards, Felix DeFelice, Lewis DiStasi and Mr. Algiers. Alphonso Trapani is the zone inspector reappointed for one year.

Community Notes

The Home Demonstration Unit meets Monday night, January 22, at the high school. Mrs. Charles Thorn presides.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dirk arrived at Boynton Beach, Fla., Friday night, having left here early the morning before.

Word has been received of the death of Fred Hamilton at his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., at Christmas time. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were former residents. Mrs. Hamilton was the former Miss Alice M. Ford.

The Founders of the PEO Sisterhood will be honored at the meeting at 1:15 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frank Kedenburg, who will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Frampton. The program is arranged by Mrs. J. C. Weygant. Local founders will be guests.

Congress Opens

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Senate Democrats had no key jobs to fill, but held a caucus and listened to a pep talk from their floor leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Predicts Sound Program

Mansfield forecast that this session would find "the climate for progressive legislation is good" and that the President would offer "a sound program for America."

Outside the halls of Congress, the climate of the moment was cold and snowy. The snow and 17-degree cold seemed to have kept many Congress members from attending an 8 a.m. communion service held annually at the National Presbyterian Church on the opening day of Congress to ask divine guidance for the legislators.

The church auditorium was less than one-third filled. By comparison, it was filled last year when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, a member of the church, was one of the communicants. President Kennedy is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Weather Cuts Crowd

The weather held back too the throngs of spectators who usually turn out to see Congress begin a new session.

Galleries were only partly filled when Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, promptly at noon, called the Senate to order, breaking up the handshakings and greetings going on among the returning senators.

Just 19 minutes later the Senate ended its session, adjourning as a mark of respect to the memory of Sen. Bridges.

Mansfield announced no legislation will be taken up in the Senate this week but debate will start Monday on a bill to provide tax relief for Du Pont stockholders. Du Pont is under court order to dispose of its 63 million shares of General Motors stock.

Kennedy's outline of world conditions and his domestic proposals probably will touch off explosive partisan reaction in an election-year session likely to be steeped in controversy.

Few expect the President to be more than minimally optimistic in his report on the prospects for easing international tensions in 1962.

Trade Big Issue

He is likely to bear down in his message on a request for broad authority to revise American tariffs to spur trade. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which would handle any House-passed bill to accomplish this result, said he thinks the issue may be one of the most far-reaching in his 29 years in Congress.

Kennedy's No. 1 domestic objective is to win approval of a medical care program for the elderly, financed through Social Security taxes.

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has tabbed this as his party's principal issue in this year's elections in which 37 Senate and all House seats will be filled.

There remains doubt that Kennedy aides can muster the votes in the Ways and Means Committee to get this program to the House floor. Byrd has announced he will oppose it.

$92 Billion Spending

In a budget message scheduled for Jan. 18, Kennedy is expected to propose spending topping $92 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Balancing of this would be dependent on increased revenues and congressional action to boost postal rates.

Because spending has now reached high levels, Kennedy has asked for action to increase the $298-billion debt limit. Byrd predicted the deficit for the current year may reach $10 billion instead of the administration's $6.9 billion estimate.

Republicans expect to make a key political issue of budget balancing. They hope their informal coalition with Southern Democratic conservatives will operate to defeat the Social Security medical plan.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has yet to confer with House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana to decide whether there will be a Republican statement of principles designed to offset Kennedy's position on national issues.

In presession conferences with leaders of both parties, Kennedy has not mentioned his federal aid to education proposals which became ensnarled last year in controversy over help for parochial and private schools.

No CR Action Likely

The administration has given clear indication that it will not seek legislation in the civil rights field. While this may placate Southerners, much will be heard about it from civil rights advocates.

In the foreign field, there is trouble ahead for Kennedy's expected request for authority to purchase $100 million in U.N. bonds. The United Nations has been under bipartisan fire for its actions in the Congo.

There will be the usual efforts to cut foreign aid despite last year's authorization for a long-range program.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved narrowly higher in slack trading early this afternoon. Ford declined on the long-anticipated news of a stock split.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .30 at 256.10 with industrials up .70, rails up .50 and utilities down .20.

Gains of fractions to around a point among key stocks outnumbered losers but there was no vigor to the rise.

Rails moved ahead solidly amid reports that New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad are having further talks on merger.

To Hold Meeting For Farmers on Evils of Tillage

A lecture and illustrated forum, sponsored by the Ulster County Extension Service will be held at New Paltz High School on Wednesday, January 17, at 8 p. m. Robert D. Guzewich, Associate Ulster County Agricultural Agent, in announcing the program which will answer tillage questions, reports that Hugh Wilson, Cornell Agronomist and Carl Winkelblech, Cornell Extension Engineer, will be the speakers.

The topic will be "The Virtures and Evils of Tillage," in which cultivation changes on the farm will be discussed.

Questions: "Should I spend $10 or $20 per acre on tillage?" "Should chemicals replace the cultivator on row crops?" Other topics to be discussed: "Fine" seed beds are a necessity or an expense. Must fitting be a "harrowing" experience on heavy soils? Selection and adjustment of equipment.

Depth of plowing, size of equipment, soil compaction, minimum tillage, dollars and time savers, all of this and plenty of time for questions will be a part of this "down to earth" meeting.

All members are invited to come and bring along a neighbor.

Film, Quizzes To Be Featured At Youth Rally

MICHAEL J. FLANAGAN

Named to IBM Marketing Post

The appointment of Michael J. Flanagan of West Hurley as a federal representative in the marketing department, IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center at Kingston, has been announced by Division President Charles Benton Jr.

A graduate of Kingston High School, he is the son of Mrs. Marie T. Flanagan of Route 209, Hurley.

Flanagan joined IBM in January 1956 as a clerk in the electric typewriter order department at the Poughkeepsie plant. Later that year he took a military leave of absence and returned to IBM in early 1958 as a facilities clerk specialist in engineering administration at the Command Control Center. In July, 1960 he was named an administrative aide in advanced systems analysis, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Flanagan is a member and past president of the Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce. He attended Boston University and Siena College.

He, his wife Bernadette and children Ann, 2, and Bernadette 1, reside on Birch Street, West Hurley.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst

ROGER E. SPEAR

Share Sales Justified In Three Instances

As an investment advisor, the majority of questions I answer have to do with the purchase of common stock. The other half of the transaction—the sale of shares—is less emphasized although it, too, is an important part of any investment plan. Many thousands of dollars are lost by those who, for one reason or another, sell much too late or too early.

Unless funds are needed for personal expenses, I believe sales are really justified in only three instances. First, of course, is the case where your earlier judgment was obviously in error. The fundamentals behind this situation were not as you believed and your shares have weakened. If this occurs, you must face up to it and admit your mistake by taking a loss.

Each of us hates to do this, but the many years I've spent in this business have shown me that investors who will take a relatively small loss, rather than wait for years in hopes of getting their money back, are the ones who are generally most successful.

Secondly, there is the question of when to sell a stock which you carry at a profit. Fundamentals are also the key here. You should consider selling such shares only when you have definite indications that the company's growth has slowed down. I realize that this isn't easy to determine and I can only advise you to get the most competent counsel which is available to you.

The third instance when a sale may be justified is when the funds are required to switch into an even better security. All I can say here is that you must be extremely careful about this type of sale, since there is always a big temptation to trade downhill; i.e., to substitute a weak stock with some temporary glitter for a strong situation on which you have a profit.

Finally, there is an old Wall Street axiom that is well worth remembering: "Cut your losses short but let your profits run." Over the long run, this policy will keep your money in the strongest stocks — where it belongs.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Mahoney Is Still Hopeful of Tax Rebate for N.Y.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Senate Republican majority leader said today he still was looking into the possibility of continuing this year the 10 per cent rebate on the state's personal income tax.

Gov. Rockefeller, a Republican, has said continuance is not feasible because of increased state spending.

But Sen. Walter J. Mahoney told a news conference the statutory tax credits of $10 for single taxpayers and $25 for married couples and heads of households might be scrapped in order to continue the rebate.

Mahoney said he was hopeful the credit and the rebate could be continued together, however.

Mahoney said "political realities" in an election year had to be faced in the question of rebate versus credit.

If the state could not do both, Mahoney said, then it must decide what would be more politically palatable" and less subject to criticism by the Democrats.

He estimated that the tax credits cost the state about $80 million. Some taxpayers might find elimination of the credit more costly than the absence of a rebate, however.

On the question of education, Mahoney declined to join Rockefeller in the governor's criticism Tuesday of recommendations issued by the staff of the Diefendorf committee on education financing.

Rockefeller expressed dissatisfaction that the staff, in suggesting a new way to finance education, retained property as the measure of how much state aid a school district needs.

The senator said he would wait until the full committee issued its recommendations and the GOP senators have a chance to study them.

He turned down "absolutely" for this year the possibility of levying an income tax for schools.

Chang Found . . .

terms ranging from 5 to 15 years to nine persons and acquitted nine others.

Death verdicts automatically go to an appeals court. If upheld there, they must be reviewed by Gen. Park.

Called Sly Opportunist

The revolutionary prosecutor called Chang "a sly, base opportunist" and accused him of playing both sides of the fence.

He said Chang sent military police to the Han River bridge May 16 to block coup forces from entering Seoul to oust the elected government of Premier John M. Chang. After he joined the junta, the prosecutor charged, Chang condoned efforts of his followers to take over the government by organizing a factional group based on "provincialism" and other personal connections.

Get Life Sentences

The two former junta members given life sentences were Col. Park Chi-ok, commander of the paratroop unit that spearheaded the coup, and Col. Moon Jai-joon, army provist marshal after the coup.

The military government announced the suicide of another leading official accused of conspiring against it. It said Wi Chung-yong, 47, director of the Justice Ministry's prosecution administration, slashed his throat Dec. 24 while under investigation as a suspected North Korean spy.

Bitter Cold . . .

the greatest demand for heating gas in company records.

Heavy snow and continued bitter cold forced the closing of schools in Michigan from the Mackinac Bridge to the Indiana line.

Secondary roads remained snow packed in Indiana and principal roads ice covered. Temperatures in the northern portion were mostly subzero.

Drifts Pose Problem

In Missouri and Kansas, snow fell in scattered sections, in many areas driven by 40-mile winds. Drifting posed a serious problem and readings hit -8 in both states.

The extreme cold also forced closings of schools in Iowa and high winds drifted snow on scores of roads. Temperatures dropped so low in the state, school buses with winter equipment found it too cold to operate.

Colorado school officials estimated that less than one-fourth of the state's 450,000 elementary school children attended classes Tuesday. Estes Park had the state's lowest reading, -34.

In western New York State Tuesday, highway crews fought to clear roads blocked by a snowfall that reached a depth of two feet in places. In some areas, drifts up to four feet were reported. Some schools were closed and travel disrupted.

Western Pennsylvania got a little snow, but temperatures ranged around the zero mark.

Even Snow in Dixie

A wide section of the South was under snow that ranged up to 8 inches in depth. The snow forced closing of roads 100 miles from the Gulf Coast in Alabama and in Mississippi, northern Georgia, the Carolinas and Tennessee.

Schools in many counties were ordered closed and in Mississippi a state holiday was declared because of the inclement weather.

A wild blizzard driven by winds of 32 miles an hour pushed into the Texas Panhandle, bringing a serious threat to vegetable and citrus growers in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

In Northern California, an unseasonable warm spell produced a reading of 73 degrees in San Francisco.

Banquet Jan. 29

Final plans for the annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce on January 29, were reported by John W. Egbert, chairman of the Banquet Committee. The theme of the banquet this year will be the establishment of a community college and Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, president of the State University of New York, will be the speaker. Because of the widespread interest in this subject the public will be invited to attend the banquet.

The next regular meeting of the board of directors will take place Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Freeman Officers

Following the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Freeman Publishing Company held today at 10 o'clock at the main office, Freeman Square, the board of directors met and elected the following officers: Lucia de L. Klock, president; Frederick Hoffman, vice president; Harry duBois Frey, secretary and treasurer. The inspectors of election were Harry S. Hutton and Milfred J. Buddenhagen.

and then was forced to get into his car and drive his assailant out of the city.

Says Wallet Demanded

The man, Harris said, demanded his wallet. Harris said he had none. He told police later he was then forced to drive out Route 32 to DeWitt Lake Road, where the other man told him he would be given "one more chance."

Harris stopped his car and ran through a wooded area, he told police. He said it was then about 3:30 or 4 a. m. Harris said he hurried to a nearby farmhouse and there notified state police.

Harris was subsequently taken to Kingston police headquarters by troopers and the investigation was turned over to Detective McCullough. Harris was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for injuries of the face.

Car Abandoned

A police report noted that Patrolman Stip had spotted Harris' car in motion at about 4:20 p. m. Sunday about four cars behind him on St. James Street. Stip pulled the police car to the curb, expecting the other car would pass him. Instead, the vehicle turned into Clinton Avenue. Stip turned the patrol car around and drove after the stolen vehicle. He found Harris' car abandoned at the curb.

Detective Leonard Ellsworth and Patrolman Floyd Krom conducted a search of the area with Stip but found no trace of the driver of Harris' car.

Deferred Action Expected Tonight At Council Session

Deferred action on the city's 1962 budget and off-street parking is expected at tonight's recessed meeting of the Common Council.

Mayor John J. Schwenk said Tuesday he is still working on the budget and is hopeful of proposing reductions. It is expected that Democratic aldermen will ask further time to study changes that might be listed.

It is understood that action will be deferred on off-street parking apparently because of two plans to be considered and the mayor's request for a meeting with the special off-street parking committee to be held Jan. 15.

Barclay Heights Driver Recovering From Skid Mishap

The condition of Paul F. Rafferty of 3 Birchwood Drive, Barclay Heights, Saugerties, is reported as good today at Kingston Hospital where he is recuperating from an automobile accident which occurred last Frday in Greene County.

Rafferty suffered multiple facial cuts and other injuries, including a broken nose, according to Mrs. Rafferty, when his car skidded on the icy surface of the East Durham-Greenville road and rammed a tree. He was forced to walk three quarters of a mile to the nearest farmhouse for assistance. He was taken to the office of Dr. B. Miller of East Durham who took several stitches to close cuts around his eyes and nose.

Mrs. Rafferty was called and she and a neighbor, Russell Lavezzo, picked up Rafferty at the doctor's office and took him to Kingston Hospital where he is undergoing treatment.

Morse Staying With ILO

GENEVA (AP)—The International Labor Organization announced today that its American director-general, David A. Morse, has withdrawn his resignation.

Morse told the last meeting of ILO's governing body in November that after 17 years of public service abroad, the time had come for him to return to the United States and resume the obligations of private citizenship.

Jewel Theft Near Ike

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—A burglar selected $70,000 worth of jewels from a suitcase in a cottage close to that of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the Eldorado Country Club.

But he didn't take other pieces left in the unlocked cottage of Frank and Lenora Schmick of Chicago, police said.

We The Women

The Chances Are 9 to 1 These Gals Are Confused

BY RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Nine times out of ten:

The woman who prides herself on being frank is just being catty.

The woman who always does more than her share of the talking isn't nearly as fascinating to others as she is to herself.

The woman who tells you that her children never cause her one bit of trouble either has a short memory, or her children were more adept than most at covering up their mischief.

The woman who can be the funniest at someone's else's expense is never able to appreciate a joke on herself.

The woman who isn't happy where she is, wasn't happy where she "was," either.

The woman who claims she and her husband have never spoken a cross word isn't as happily married or as much in love as the wife who occasionally says, "I'm so mad at John I could wring his neck."

The woman who lies about her age isn't fooling anybody but herself.

The woman who has never been known to say a bad word about anybody is the kind of person whose good words don't carry much weight.

The woman who is often described as "plain as an old shoe" can well afford to be.

The woman who tells you something unpleasant "for your own good" gets a certain degree of pleasure out of the telling.

The woman who says "I'm not bragging, but . . ." is.

Boun Oum Ready For Geneva Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Boun Oum, premier of the Western backed Laotian government, was reported to have agreed to go to Geneva for a new Laotian summit meeting. But there was no indication he was ready to yield on the key point blocking formation of a coalition government.

An official of the three-nation control commission said Boun Oum has decided to accept the invitation of the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos extended to him, neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong.

The three feuding princes have agreed that Souvanna Phouma should head the proposed coalition government, but Boun Oum has refused to give up the key defense and interior posts to Souvanna's faction.

Boun Oum's government apparently believes these two powerful posts would fall under the influence of Souvanna's half-brother and ally, Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

The issue broke up a meeting of the three princes last month.

Snow Possible This Weekend

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended weather forecasts, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday.

Eastern New York — Cloudy, wintry weather with intermittent periods of snow flurries throughout the period. Possibly a period of light snow over the weekend. Temperatures are expected to average about 10 degrees below normal. Water content of the precipitation is expected to be about ¼ of an inch or less.

Western New York — Temperatures will average 12 to 15 degrees below normal. Very cold Thursday, then slowly moderating until the weekend. Colder again Monday. Precipitation will average ¼ of an inch to locally ½ an inch, melted, in occasional snow or snow flurries during the period.

Temperature normals—Normal temperatures for Upstate New York range from daytime highs of 25-30 north and 30-35 central and south to nighttime lows of 5-15 generally and 15-22 near the lower Great Lakes.

JFK Picks Lingle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The executive vice president of Procter & Gamble Co., Walter L. Lingle Jr., has been named No. 2 man in the foreign aid agency.

His appointment by President Kennedy was announced Tuesday.

As deputy administrator of the Agency for International Development, Lingle will have responsibility for general administration and management under Administrator Fowler Hamilton.

Blast Injures Six

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A violent explosion and fire shook a suburban rubber company plant before dawn today, injuring at least six persons, but none seriously.

Three hours after the explosion at American Synthetic Rubber Corp., firemen said they had the blaze under control. They worked in temperatures of 6 below zero.

There was no official announcement on the cause of the explosion.

91 Is Rail Toll

UTRECHT, Netherlands (AP)—The death toll in Holland's worst rail disaster has been officially set at 91 persons.

They were killed in the collision of two trains at nearby Woerden Monday. Eleven of the bodies have not been identified.

A special suite is maintained at Walter Reed General Hospital for the president of the United States.

with Babcock's Cottage Cheese
"SURE FIRE" Diet Plan

As a public service, we'd like to clear the air on this matter of losing weight. For years, as doctors have recognized that overweight is not healthy, we have been bombarded with trick diets, food supplements, with all kinds of do-it-yourself plans. Most of them don't work—because we lose a few pounds—and then go back to our bad eating habits.

TRY THIS EASY DIET PLAN FROM BABCOCK'S

* 8 oz. Babcock's Creamed Cottage Cheese
* 3 Elberta Peach Halves or Sliced Oranges
* 2 Toasted Slices Dark Bread or Rye Krisp with Butter, Cinnamon and Sugar
* Coffee or Tea

Use this diet at each meal for just two days and you'll be 5 pounds lighter.

Seek Property Of High School For Golf Course

A request to consider the sale of a portion of unused property on the east and northeast sides of the Saugerties High School site was made to the board of education at its Monday night meeting by Attorney Morris Rosenblum representing a group of local citizens who are contemplating the purchase of the nearby Knaust property for construction of a golf course.

He explained that the strip of land between the school site and Route 9W owned by Knaust is too narrow for the necessary two adjoining fairways at that point and the group would like to purchase land from the school district comprising approximately three to four acres to widen the area.

Attorney Rosenblum said that the proposed golf course will be a valuable asset to the community and will cost approximately $200,000. It is anticipated that the course will be opened for play Memorial Day, 1963, if the group undertaking the project does not encounter too many obstacles.

William F. Straub, head of the physical education department and director of athletics in the local school system, has been asked to inspect the area concerned and make a recommendation as to whether the release of this portion of the property would be damaging to the physical education and athletic program of the high school.

Attorney Rosenblum said that if the board makes a favorable recommendation the sponsoring group would assure that a fair price be paid to the district. He further suggested that if favorable action is taken by the voters of the District on this question based on approval by the board that an agreement be made between the board and the directors of the golf course permitting free use of the golf course facilities by any golf teams that may represent Saugerties High School in the future, subject to the usual regulations of golf courses in such matters, such as, for example, restriction of use by such groups to certain days of the week and certain hours of the day.

No clear-cut opinion was expressed at the meeting by any board member, other than to agree that the proposal be examined sympathetically to determine whether any acreage can be released without damage to the high school site.

Option Is Taken On More Land in Katsbaan Locale

At the board of education meeting on Monday evening of this week, Attorney Morris Rosenblum reported that an option has been taken on the small strip of land owned by Mrs. Verna H. Elliott of Katsbaan.

The strip of land is between Route 32 and the Preston property on which it is proposed that an elementary building be built. As soon as the Preston property has been surveyed, test borings will be taken to determine the recommended location of the building on the site.

The board has given the following reasons for its selection of the Katsbaan site. It is in a section of the District in which there is at the present an adequate number of elementary boys and girls to fill a 14-room school building. Also, it is in a portion of the district in which there is no school building at the present time except for the one-room building at Katsbaan. There are school buildings in all of the other major population areas of the district in Saugerties village, Mt. Marion, Glasco, North Flatbush, and Malden.

Further reasons cited by the board for the selection of the Katsbaan area as the site of a proposed new elementary building are that it is in the approximate geographical center of the northwestern portion of the district; that it is at a point at which roads converge from all portions of the northern portion of the district; that the site has natural drainage to a natural flowing stream which is one of the prime requirements in this area for the location of a school building.

A committee of three was appointed by Board President Robert Herb to search for a suitable building site in the Barclay Heights area. This is in response to a request by the Citizens Advisory Committee that a proposition be included at the time of the bond issue on which the voters may indicate whether they wish to have such a site purchased for use in the future as a building in that area may become necessary. The committee consists of Henry Breitenbach, Harry Hoffman Jr., and Robert Herb.

Shelter Program Is Discussed by Education Board

What action should be taken by the Saugerties School District on the question of fallout shelters was one of the questions discussed at the meeting of the board of education of the Saugerties Central School District Monday evening.

The local board has asked the Ulster County School Boards Association to have a speaker present at the next meeting of the County Association to present the facts on this question.

The concensus of board members was that they wished to keep informed on all phases of this critical problem in order to be able to take positive action if and when action seems imperative. The feeling was further expressed by board members that there are at the present time many unanswered questions on this subject, solutions for which need to be found before action is taken which would necessitate the expenditure of considerable sums.

The board passed a resolution favoring the continuance of assessment of school property by local assessors rather than county assossors as had been proposed at the last meeting of the Ulster County School Boards Association.

Another reolution was passed by the board placing itself on record in opposition at this time to further federal aid to education.

A decision by the board to continue the vesper service at commencement time, despite the controversy from three local clergymen raised last June, was made. One member was in favor of abolishing it but the other members made it clear that they wish it to be continued. This is a non-sectarian service held for the graduating class each year and the board has established the policy of asking a speaker from each church in sequence to deliver an address.

Other business at the Monday night meeting include the following:

Board members discussed the question of providing more adequate fire proof storage for the records of the school district both in the administration building and at the high school building.

The board received a report that $250,000 of school district money which had been placed on a short-time loan at the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Co. had earned for the district interest in the amount of $1250.

The board authorized the opening of bids on grocery supplies for the cafeterias Jan. 10.

The board approved the appointment of Roger S. Cilly for the position in the junior high school which will be vacated by James Chase Feb. 1 when he becomes a guidance counselor at the high school. Mr. Cilley is a graduate of New Market High School, New Market, N. H., and has just earned his BA degree at the University of New Hampshire. Mr. Cilley has had four years of experience in the United States Air Force. He is married and has two children.

Enriched Courses Considered for Summer School

The subject of a summer school offering in Saugerties was presented to the board of education by Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools, Monday.

Superintendent Morse indicated that the educational welfare of failing pupils is rather adequately taken care of by the offering in the Kingston school system. The number of failures in any given subject in the Saugerties School System is usually not great enough to make possible the economical offering of local classes to such pupils.

The superintendent expressed the opinion, however, that courses of an enriched nature ought to be offered during the summer to local boys and girls. Such courses might include enrichment in the areas of science, mathematics, English, social studies, brief shorthand courses for use by pupils entering college, personal typing, speed reading and other similar subjects. The superintendent said that state aid for summer school attendance is only $13 per pupil and that the local fee which may be charged is only $3 per pupil. Income from these two sources will not alone finance the kind of program which is currently recommended for local high school students.

The board requested the superintendent to investigate the degree of interest on the part of local pupils for an enriched educational summer offering so that if the board feels such a program is desirable an item may be included in the budget for the coming year to finance it.

Fund Raising Plans Announced For Dimes Drive

For the fifth consecutive year Paul Barca will conduct an all day fund raising campaign for the benefit of the New March of Dimes program at his Shell Gas Station on Route 9W, in Barclay Heights. All profits from the sale of gasoline Saturday from opening to closing time will be contributed to the fund which is now being conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary of the Lamouree-Hackett Unit 72.

During the early afternoon hours the Saugerties Area March of Dimes Poster Boy, Rodney Lemon, will be present with Supervisor Peter Williams, Mrs. Arthur Simmons and Mrs. William Schaffer, chairmen of the campaign, Mrs. Catherine Teetsell, president of the American Legion Auxiliary and Miss Sara Imhoff, who represented the auxiliary at Girls State last year.

The March of Dimes campaign in the Saugerties area got underway Jan. 3 with the distribution of canisters to all the local business places. During the month the teenagers of the town and village will be in vital spots offering miniature crutches for a contribution to the fund. The campaign this year is stressing the need for money to combat the crippling disease of birth defects and arthritis.

The Mothers March will take place Jan. 30, beginning at the sound of the sirens at 7 p. m. and volunteers will cover all sections of Saugerties during that evening.

The slogan Your Dimes Will Do it Again, are prominently displayed on all canisters. This once a year campaign is the only way the National Foundation has of acquiring funds to carry on the fight to control polio and continue research for the ultimate control of arthritis and birth defects.

Korean Veterans Night Scheduled By Legion Post

All veterans of the Korean conflict have been invited to attend the January meeting of Lamouree-Hackett Post No. 72, American Legion, Saugerties, Thursday, Jan. 18 at the Legion Home, John Street. The meeting has been designated Korean Veterans Night and local Legionaires are hoping a large number of the over 275 veterans of this war living in Saugerties will attend.

The American Legion of New York State is again working for a bonus for all Korean veterans. The original tax imposed for World War II veterans bonus is still being collected, with the state having collected over $900,000,000 on this tax and only having paid approximately $400,000,000 on the World War II bonus. The balance of the $500,000,000 has been diverted into other state uses. The American Legion will petition the Albany legislators once again to use this money for a Korean bonus.

At the present time all Legion Posts are compiling petition lists to present by the State Department American Legion of New York, to the Governor of the State and a petition list will be available at the Lamouree-Hacket Post meeting Jan. 18, for all Korean veterans to sign with all Legionnaires.

Mission Speaker Is Slated Here Jan. 11

The Rev. C. J. Gresham Speedy, missionary from Ethiopia, East Africa, and serving under the Sudan Interior Mission, will be speaking in the First Baptist Church of Saugerties Thursday 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. and Mrs. Speedy are serving in the city of Asmara where the greater portion of their time is spent in conducting Bible classes. Through the classes they are able to reach approximately 500 girls and 250 boys a week. Throughout the summer vacation time they are actively engaged in conducting Bible schools.

The Rev. Mr. Speedy will also be showing slides of their work during the program presentation. The Rev. Brooks N. Henry, pastor of the Baptist Church, extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Class of 1932 Plans Reunion Fete in June

Saugerties High School Class of 1932 is formulating plans for a 30-year reunion dinner to be held in June and have sent out notifications to all members whose addresses are known, indicating plans for an anniversary celebration. However, contact has been lost with two members, Charlotte Walker and Harry Lerner, and anyone knowing of their present addresses may contact the class president, Erling Hanson of RFD 1, Saugerties, who is chairman of the event.

All other members should return the questionnaire as soon as possible so a definite date and place for the reunion may be set well in advance.

Dartball Results

The Saugerties Dartball League resumed action of the 17 team loop Monday night with Centerville winning three games over Veteran and Ruby winning over Mt. Marion. All other teams had split decisions, with Glasco having an off night.

Home on Leave

OLIVER BARLEY

A Town of Ulster young man, Pvt. Oliver Barley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Barley of Lincoln Park Place, is spending 22 days leave at home. He recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U. S. Army Training Center, Fort Dix, N. J. Following leave, he will report at Fort Chaffee Ark., for training in heavy artillery. Pvt. Barley enlisted in July 1961.

Young Slayer Gets Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Ronald Dennis Wolff, 15, who killed his mother with an ax handle last May, has been sentenced to life in prison. A jury ruled last Dec. 20 that Wolff was sane at the time of the slaying and thus guilty of murder.

Slavery was abolished in Trinidad in 1834.

Excelsior Vols Elect Officers, Name Delegates

Officers of Excelsior Hose Co. 4 were elected at the annual meeting held recently at the firehouse on Hurley Avenue.

Henry Trice was reelected president and Fred Reis was elected captain for another term.

Also elected were James Harper, vice president; William Hoffman, secretary and Albert Hobush, treasurer.

Line officers elected were Edward Morris, first lieutenant; Alton North, second lieutenant; Raymond Long, third lieutenant, and William Long, Herbert Cogswell, Sanford Short, William Martin and Louis Aiello, trustees.

The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, was named chaplain and Sanford Short, custodian.

Charles Cable was chosen as delegate to the New York State Volunteer Firemen's Association. William Long was named alternate. Herbert Cogswell was named delegate to the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association. Albert Hobush was chosen as the alternate.

Henry Trice and Amel Nagele were named delegates to the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. Alternates are John Barrett and Frank Rockwell. Trice was named representative to the Kingston Fire Fund.

A young planter in Mississippi had an old servant called Uncle Mose, who had cared for him as a child and whose devotion had never waned. The young man became engaged to a girl of the neighborhood who had a reputation for unusual beauty and also for a very violent temper. Noticing that Uncle Mose never mentioned his approaching marriage the planter said:

Young Planter — Mose, you know I am going to marry Miss Currier?

Uncle Mose—Yassuh, I knows about it.

Young Planter — I haven't heard you say anything about it.

Uncle Mose — No suh. Tain't fo' me to say nothin' 'bout it. I's got nothin' to say.

Young Planter — But you must have some opinion about so important a step on my part.

Uncle Mose (with some hesitation — Well, suh, you' know one thing—the most p'izonest snakes has got the most prettiest skins.

The floorwalker approached the rather perturbed-looking young man just inside the entrance of the department store.

Floorwalker — You look as though you wished some sort of information, sir. Can I be of service to you?

Young Man (perspiring) — I don't know, I was told to go in here and purchase either a camisole or a casserole, and for the life of me I can't remember which.

Floorwalker (patiently) — Well, if you'll tell me what kind of a chicken you propose to put in it, perhaps I can help you.

A stranger entered the church in the middle of the sermon and seated himself on the back pew. After a while, he began to fidget. Leaning over to the man across the asile, he whispered:

Stranger — How long has he been preaching?

Man — Thirty or 40 years, I think.

Stranger — I'll stay then. He must be about through by now.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Nowadays to buy a magazine, it has to have wild titled articles listed on the cover, or pictures. Comic books are popular, I feel because they are all in pictures, short sentences and words. In my day, we liked hero stories, like Alger, "Sink or Swim." We used to take books out from the Kingston City Library, just to enjoy them, not always for school purposes.

I made up a list of books, I think I would like to look over, and one of them, Arnold Sable, director of the Kingston City Library, found immediately, which shows, there are many books in this library I do not know about. This book is 12 by 9 inches, and some one inch and a half thick, with some 400 pages of pictures. It is called "American Science and Invention" by Mitchell Wilson. It covers the history of America, in a very exciting fashion, with copies of original pictures and sketches.

Old times and boatmen will enjoy the pictures of various ship inventions. Whaling, fishing, glassblowing are covered in detail. Many oddities are shown, like, lightning rods for women's hats in 1778 in Paris fashions; a sketch of the fossilized bones of a mastadon discovered near Newburgh in 1801. They show the special large machines built for exhuming the remains, in a picture painted by Peale. The Lewis and Clark expedition is given in pictures. Benjamin Franklin had suggested a jet propelled boat to be worked by hand pump as he had no faith in steam. Ever so many of these events touch our Hudson River or New York State.

The Robert Fulton story is there as are copies of his authentic sketches. So often I have been told they did not have his sketches of the Clermont, they certainly seem to have been reproduced here by Mitchell Wilson, and one can see the Fulton signature. He was a fine artist to begin with. Strange as it may seem, in England young Fulton became known as a canal engineer. His iron aqueduct, with parts cast at the site, were acclaimed by the Edinburgh Encyclopedia. His inclined railway for raising canal boats to another level was another Fulton design which was actually later built in America. Sketches of both Fulton's patent drawings are given in the book.

The Nautilus was Fulton's first submarine, built for the French in 1801. A copy of the signed painting by Fulton is shown here, with the submarine both on surface and submerged. I have never read before that, at the time, England had placed a strict embargo on export of any machinery to keep all invention benefits for themselves. They would not allow trained workmen and craftsmen out of the country for fear they would take plans out of their country, of English machines.

Only two Boulton and Watt machines has been allowed to leave the country, one to the French government for Paris waterworks and one to Aaron Burr for a water company. It seems Fulton did not tell the Boulton and Watt engineers what he was going to use their engine for, but anyway he was able to have it brought here and later to place it in his Clermont, to run on our Hudson River. We know the rest. You will not only enjoy this book yourself, I am sure you will read out loud from it and later quote from it, how countries fought against new inventions, how discouraged inventors were from it all.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to The Editor must bear the name of the writer and communications must be limited to 300 words free of libel and personal attacks upon individuals as such. Only original communications addressed to The Freeman will be printed.

Tuesday, Jan. 9, 1962

Editor, The Freeman:

County Court Building

I am writing this letter as a followup notice concerning the recommendations of the December Grand Jury Panel as to the condition of our county court building and facilities.

I as a resident of this county, was called for active duty and served such as a responsible citizen should without complaint. If, at the time, I had known under what conditions persons are asked to work, I would have asked to be excused.

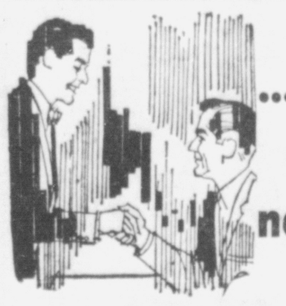

By conditions I am referring to the rundown and hazardous conditions of the said court building. To my own vision and knowledge, I consider the room in which the Grand Jury must work and review cases in such a state as to say it is a fire trap. There is but one exit from this room and is very unsafe. I inquired of fire inspections and was shown a dated inspection tag on the fire extinguisher.

As a new member of the Grand Jurors Association, I attend my first meeting o n January 8, 1962: Upon attending this meeting I found that the association has contacted the Board of Supervisors repeatedly for a correction of these conditions but have gotten nowhere. I do believe that there should be some immediate action taken by the persons responsible and changes made before asking the citizens they are supposed to be representing, to serve in this capacity under such dilapidated, hazardous and unfit conditions.

Prayer Services Continue Tonight At Local Church

The second Universal Week of Prayer Service being sponsored this week by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministers' Association, was held Tuesday night in the Bethel Assembly of God Church, Esopus Avenue.

A large audience was in attendance to hear the Rev. Patrick R. Vostello, pastor of the Reformed Church of the Comforter, speak on the topic, The Faith That Takes. After the message there was a time of prayer and testimony. Soloist for the service was Miss Irene Van Demark who was accompanied by Mrs. Dean Harrison. Miss Ethyl Geise was the pianist for the service.

The third in the series of Week of Prayer Services will be held tonight 7:30, in the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place. The Rev. Brooks N. Henry, pastor of the Saugerties Baptist Church will bring the message entitled, Prayer: The Secret of the Spiritual Life. Mrs. Arthur Souers will be the soloist and Mrs. Alan Sparks, organist. The Rev. Mr. Vostello will be in charge of the service.

H. W. Shultis Is Named Radio Station Manager

Howard M. Shultis has been appointed general manager of Radio Station WKNY, according to an announcement made today by Joseph K. Close, president of the Kingston Broadcasting Corporation. Shultis succeeds Arthur E. Jost.

In making the announcement, Close pointed out that Shultis has been employed at WKNY for over ten years.

Shultis, active in community activities, has held office in Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kingston Area Council of Churches, Clinton Avenue Methodist Church and Kingston Lions Club, in which he is presently serving on the board of directors.

Mr. Shultis resides at 47 Fairmont Avenue with his wife, Lillian, and his 10-year-old daughter, Candace.

Army Secretary Complimentaryon Defense Buildup

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP)—Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr. says the military buildup President Kennedy ordered last July has accomplished a degree of readiness unsurpassed in American peacetime history—"a bloodless effort to win a war that must never come."

Stahr reviewed the buildup Tuesday night at a dinner sponsored by the central Kansas chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army.

"Should we succeed in our effort to preserve freedom without war," he said, "It will be because the enemies of freedom can see that our intention to stand firm is backed by the military ability to do so."

Two Would Repeal State Bingo Law

NEW YORK (AP)—The executive directors of the Protestant Council of the City of New York and the Citizens Union both urge repeal of the state law that legalized bingo.

They stated their opposition Tuesday at a public hearing before Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., appointed by Gov. Rockefeller to investigate bingo operations in the state.

The hearing resumes today.

The Rev. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protestant Council, urged repeal on the ground that gambling is a "cancer" that corrupts the player and enriches criminals and profiteers.

Samuel B. Seidel, of the Citizens Union, said the union believes "no amount of regulatory safeguards" can protect communities against racketeering and political corruption in bingo operations.

Donald Walsh, counsel to the New York State Conference of Mayors, told Gilchrist that many municipalities have suffered financial loss through the expense of administering bingo operations. He urged better integration of law enforcement between state and municipal agencies.

John R. McNamara, state commander of the American Legion, said bingo has been "a great help" in aiding the veterans' posts to carry on their patriotic and community programs.

Heyman Rothbart, state judge advocate of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, recommended that major changes in the bingo law be directed against avaricious operators of commercial playing halls.

Bernard E. Perelson, state commander of the Jewish War Veterans, called for full-time members of the State Lottery Control Commission.

Reds Claim Molotov Is Still in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Foreign Ministry said today former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is still in Moscow and has not left to resume his post as Soviet representative on the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

"He was supposed to take the train last Saturday," said a spokesman. "He did not take it. We do not know why."

Asked if the 71-year-old revolutionary, denounced by Premier Khrushchev as a Stalinist, was ill, the spokesman replied: "We have no information."

Assault Case Is Settled Today

An assault action brought in Supreme Court by Harold S. Depew of Highland against William Maloney of Pleasant Valley was announced settled at the opening of court today before Justice Louis G. Bruhn.

The action arose over injuries alleged to have been suffered by plaintiff when he was allegedly struck by defendant while both were outside the Ship Lantern Inn in Milton in June 1958. Depew claimed the attack was unprovoked and took place following a service club installation of officials at the Inn, which he had attended.

Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiff, who alleged serious injuries when he struck a stone terrace, and the defendant was represented by N. LeVan Haver.

In Part II before Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, an automobile negligence action brought by Ignatius Gadaleto against Roe Movers, Inc., and another was on trial. Roy L. Featherstone for plaintiff and Donald H. McCann for defendants.

Youths Are Held After Road Chase, 75 PH N.Y. Speed

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Upstate New York youths were arrested today after a chase at speeds up to 75 miles an hour and fired four shots at their car.

The youths were booked on felonious assault charges.

Detectives stopped the youths to caution them about careless driving. As they approached, the car spurted off again, knocking a detective down and injuring his back, police said.

The youths identified themselves as Keith L. Dibble, 19, of Liberty, Robert Wilbur, 16, Horace Duncomb, 18 and Ronald Klein, 20, all of Livingston Manor.

Merger Talks Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — A special meeting to consider new proposals for the merger of Mohasco Industries Inc. and Firth Carpet Corp., scheduled for Thursday, was postponed Tuesday by Firth officials.

The merger proposal was blocked Dec. 29 by a group of dissident Firth stockholders.

Country Driving

Experts estimate that the average person would take 11 years to drive the more than three million miles of rural highways in the United States, assuming he drove at an average speed of 40 miles per hour for eight hours per day.

Assembly Dems Want More Work Done in Albany Offices

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The winds of reform are blowing through the ranks of Assembly Democrats.

At at private meeting Monday night, their leader, Anthony J. Travis, announced that more of the Democrats' legislative funds would be used to employ more professional workers for research work, public relations and stenography for all members of the Assembly minority.

Where are funds to come from? Sources within the party say "clerks" who are being paid strictly for the work they do for the party back home will be dropped from the payroll. Other employes who do little work will be directed to do more.

Some of the employes listed as clerks are of the "no-show" variety—that is, they never show up at the Capitol, one Assemblyman says.

Participants in the Monday night meeting were reluctant to discuss publicly exactly what went on because of the delicate political nature of the subject.

But this much can be determined from various sources:

Some rank-and-file Democrats have been dissatisfied with their office assignments, their influence in forming party positions, and the lack of staff help.

Some also were reported dissatisfied with the amount of Assembly jobs going to residents of Travia's home community, Brooklyn.

Brooklyn has the largest Assembly delegation, 22, of which only 2 are Republicans. There are 66 Democratic assemblymen.

The 1961 Assembly payroll listed 558 employes. This year's roll is not complete.

The changes are:

Additional stenographic assistance, chiefly through firing employes who do no or little work.

Turning into full-time reseachers available to all Democratic assemblymen who need technical advice on legislation. Travia said these employes had not been "fully utilized" up to now.

Democratic conferences before the Monday night session will begin at 7 p. m., instead of a half-hour before the session starts at 8:30 p. m.

Missouri's state name is derived from that of an Indian tribe of Sioux who were called Missouris.

Hickenlooper Is GOP Choice for Bridges' Post

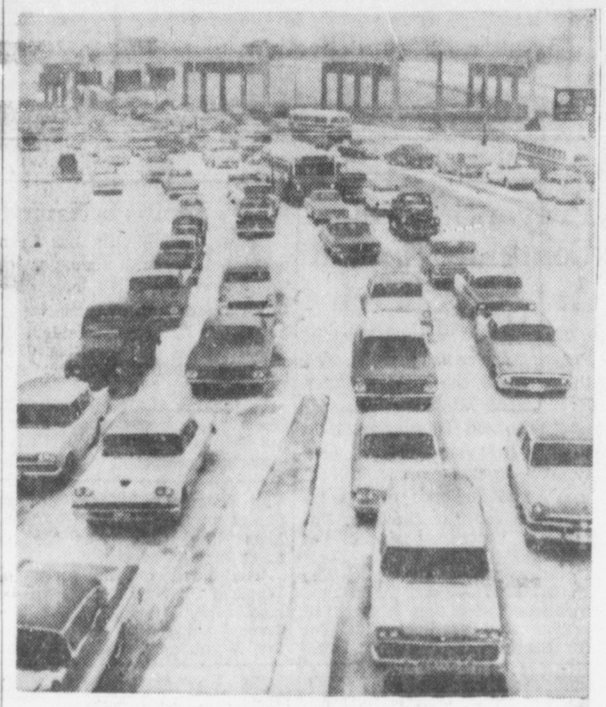

WASHINGTON (AP)—Midwestern Republicans tightened their hold on party machinery in the Senate today with the election of Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa as chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate minority leader, announced that Hickenlooper defeated Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., by a 21-14 vote at a closed party caucus.

Hickenlooper succeeds the late Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., as chairman of the committee.

The election of Hickenlooper, the overwhelming choice of GOP conservatives, left the East with only one representative among the major leadership posts in the Senate. Saltonstall, re-elected last year to that position, continues in his post as chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
ALBANY, N. Y.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Highway Law, and special provisions for projects financed with Federal Aid Funds, sealed proposals will be received until ten-thirty o'clock A. M., eastern standard time on the 25th day of January, 1962, by Henry A. Cohen, Director, Bureau of Contracts 12th Floor, The Governor Alfred E. Smith State Office Building, Albany, N. Y., for the following projects:

ULSTER COUNTY

M. N. Sindcori, Dist. Engr., 28 Dutchess Tpke., P. O. Box 551, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Contract No., FARC. 62-4 (Rte. 32); Type, Asph. Conc.; Name of Highway & Miles, Kingston-Ulster Landing, SH. 306, 2.45 (0.20 Acc.) Miles; Deposit for Plans $5; Bid Deposit, $55,000; Dept. Est., $981,000.

Any projects in this letting that are on the Federal Aid highway systems are subject to the provisions of the "Federal Aid Highway Act of 1956", being Public Law 627, 84th Congress, approved June 29, 1956, and are also subject to the applicable New York State statutes.

In compliance with the provisions of Section 115 (Prevailing Rate of Wage), Public Law 627, the minimum wages to be paid laborers and mechanics are included in wage schedules that are set out in the bid proposal.

Maps, plans, specifications and proposal forms may be seen and obtained at the office of the State Department of Public Works, Bureau of Contracts, Albany, N. Y., and at the office of the District Engineers noted above, and may also be seen at the office of the State Department of Public Works, 270 Broadway, New York City.

If the deposit is $10.00 or more, full refund for one copy of the plans and specifications will be made to a bidder for the particular project, if such plans and specifications are returned in good condition within 30 days after the award of the contract or after the rejection of the proposal. The successful bidder is not required to return the copy of the plans and specifications in order to be entitled to such refund. If the deposit is $10.00 or more, partial refund will be made for the return of all other copies of plans and specifications in good condition within 30 days after the award of the contract or the rejection of the proposal.

Special attention of bidders is called to "Information for Bidders" in the Public Works Specifications, and to the special provisions applying to projects financed with federal funds. Award of a contract is subject to priorities and allocations under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as Amended, and all regulations issued thereunder.

Proposal for each contract must be submitted in a separate sealed envelope with the name and number of the contract plainly endorsed on the outside of the envelope. Each proposal must be accompanied by draft or certified check payable to the order of the "State of New York, Department of Public Works" for the sum as specified in the advertisement and the proposal. The retention and disposal of the bid deposit, the execution of the contract and bond shall conform to the provisions of the Highway Law, as set forth in the "Information for Bidders."

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Taber Critical Of New Budget

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Kennedy's $92-billion budget will have rough going in the Democratic-controlled Congress, says a Republican watchdog on government spending.

"I don't approve of it at all." Rep. John Taber of Auburn, N. Y., said Tuesday.

Taber, senior GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, is serving his last term in Congress. The 81-year-old lawmaker has announced that he will retire at the expiration of his term a year hence.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the appropriations committee, promised last week to cut Kennedy's budget but said he knew none of the details.

After his arrival here for today's opening of Congress, Taber said he was not certain whether the committee would trim the budget sharply. "I hope they approach the job intelligently," he asserted.

Taber said he would make an intensive study of an expected defense budget of $52 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"I want everything necessary for our defense," he said. "But at the same time, I don't want a lot of money appropriated that is not needed."

School Bus in Mishap

HORSEHEADS, N. Y. (AP)—Nine school children were injured, none seriously, when the school-bus on which they were riding collided with another in this Chemung County Community Tuesday.

The children were from the Horseheads Central School District. Their bus was struck in the rear by another when it came to a sudden stop, police said.

Nozzle Goes Too

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — "Fill 'er up," said the woman to the gasoline service-station attendant.

He began to fill her automobile's tank. But Mrs. Elaine Mitchell, in a hurry, apparently couldn't wait. She drove off, even though the gas-hose nozzle still was in the tank.

Firemen extinguished a minor fire started when the gas pump toppled.

Deserting Fathers Eyed

ALBANY, N. Y., (AP)—The state attorney general held today that the State Tax Department should permit the State Welfare Department to examine tax records of fathers who have deserted their families.

The office of Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said this opinion provided the Welfare Department with "a powerful new weapon to help track down fathers who have abandoned their children and made them a public charge."

Boy Killed Coasting

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) —Four-year-old William Pittman, coasting in a driveway, rode his sled under the wheels of a truck Tuesday and was killed. His brother, Jesse, 5, toppled from the sled before it went under the truck. He was not injured.

Cassini Introduces Twist Into Fashion Show in New York

BY JOY MILLER
Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK, (AP)—While a piano tinkled the rhythm, and 200 fashion writers beat time with their hands, Oleg Cassini gave a spirited exhibition of the Twist.

The impromptu dance came a short time after the debonair designer started showing his spring collection Tuesday in the second day of th New York Couture Group's press week.

It seemed Cassini might be his old worldly, wisecracking self again, after a year of decorous behavior befitting the designer for Jacqueline Kennedy.

He settled to everyone's satisfaction that he was returning to his first love; the curvy, figure-hugging fashions that had been his trademark. His year's flirtation with the easy-fitting, over-blouse styles the First Lady often wears was ended.

Then he suddenly waved a model from the stage, and leaped into an energetic, yet elegant, rendition of the twist.

Later, he twisted again, this time with a model wearing his most madcap invention—a red crepe sheath covered from shoulder to hem with free-swinging strips of fabric.

'I still have a little success here and there with girls," he said.

Cassini's virtuoso performance overshadowed the earlier collections of Luis Estevez and Arthur Jablow.

Estevez earned some gasps with necklines slashed to the waist.

ablow's David Kidd produced well-mannered suits with matching or contrasting silk blouses.

Dinner-Meeting Is Set by Secretaries For Monday, Jan. 15

Monday, Jan. 15, the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel will be the scene of the monthly dinner-meeting for the Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. Prior to the business meeting, a special program "This Is Our Life" will be presented.

Miss Edith H. Baker, New York State Division Corresponding Secretary, and Miss Hazel R. Rodriguez, New York State Division Treasurer, will be guests of the Chapter and will each have a role in the program.

A graduate of Albany Business College, Miss Baker is presently employed as secretary to the District Sales Manager of the Shell Oil Company in Rensselaer. She joined the Albany Chapter of the Association in 1953, and has held the office of president and treasurer, and was chairman of the rules and by-laws committee of the New York State Division. During the time of her presidency, she helped form the Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter.

As a member of the Women's Committee of the New York State Petroleum Council since its inception in 1954, Miss Baker has spoken before numerous women's groups and men's organizations, such as Rotary and Kiwanis, presenting the women's program, the "Magic Suitcase."

Miss Rodriguez received her education at Catholic Central High School in Troy. Since 1956 she has been employed as secretary to Nicholas Grasso, attorney-at-law, of Schenectady, New York. She joined the Schenectady Chapter in 1959 and has served as ways and means chairman and vice president of the chapter.

A communicant of St. Joseph's Church in Schenectady, Miss Rodriguez is also a member of the Schenectady Toastmistress Club and her hobbies include ceramics, leathercraft, piano and making her own clothes.

Members are urged to make early reservations. Interested area secretaries are also cordially invited to attend this meeting and may secure additional information or a reservation by contacting Miss Lillian Styles, vice president.

This meeting will also be the annual Division visitation.

Junior League Celebrates 40th Anniversary; Past Presidents Attend Opening Festivities

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior League of Kingston was held Monday, Jan. 8, at the Governor Clinton Hotel with Mrs. Robert A. Mac Kinnon, president, presiding.

This meeting signified the beginning of a year-long celebration in honor of the 40th anniversay of the founding of the Junior League of Kingston. Many of the past-presidents attended this opening celebration. Founded in April of 1922, the local League has contributed thousands of dollars and volunteer hours of service to community projects.

The Kingston Junior League was originally organized by a group of civic-minded women whose purpose it was to serve their community in various phases of volunteer service. The charter members of which there were ten included: the Mmes. Wallace Codwise, Charles Fogg, Harold King, John Miller, Reginald Parker, Cornelius Treadwell, William Van Slyke, Charles Warren, William Warren and Miss Marjorie Drake. On April 29, 1922 the first official meeting was held and the following women were accepted as new members: the Mmes. Nelson Contant, Burwell Harrison, Walter Lovatt and Robert Rodie. Thus the Junior League of Kingston was formed and was to become an organization capable of contributing thousands of volunteer hours yearly to our community and its various projects.

The initial efforts of this group included such welfare projects as sewing layettes for needy families and the operation of a Day Nursery. The ladies also did sewing for both hospitals and the Children's Home. A well-baby clinic was started in 1923 and later a Little Mother's Club was formed which assisted in carrying a program of health education into the home. Pre-natal clinics were set up with the full cooperation of the Ulster County Medical Society. The need and value of its health and welfare services had been demonstrated and many of these services have since been maintained by the state or county leaving the League free to branch out into other areas where they have felt the need for volunteer services existed.

The establishment of a loan closet and the production of children's plays were also two of the League's early endeavors which are still being continued today. The Loan Closet, which is 26 years old, is one of the most gratifying services and provides hospital beds, crutches, wheel chairs and walkers to the public free of charge.

In 1934 the Hospital Book Service was set up and was continued for many years. This service provided hospital patients with free reading material. In 1947 a program was set up at the City Recreation Center to provide volunteer instruction for children in dancing, cooking, textile-painting and singing with the assistance of two paid workers. The program proved very successful and was taken over financially by the city in 1952. A permanent money-making project was begun in 1951 after the Women's Exchange closed and the name was changed to the Junior League Exchange. All the money which is raised by sales in the Exchange must be used in the community to maintain present projects or to initate new ones.

More recent services of the League include the starting of the Children's Room in the Library in conjunction with a few other organizations and still maintaining volnteers there for story telling both for the pre-schoolers and the schoolage children. In 1960 a reproduction of a 17th Century well house was presented to the Senate House Museum. A series of two in-school concerts under the direction of Claude Monteux of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra were presented in 27 schools in the area during the school year 1960-1961.

Today the Junior League of Kingston is comprised of 75 active women, whose purpose is to serve their community as effectively as possible through monetary contributions and volunteer service. A Junior Leaguer must be between the ages of 18 and 40 and is required to take a provisional course which includes the subjects of health and welfare, cultural backkground of Kingston, municipal government, industry, public housing and community planning. In addition to this each provisional is required to complete many hours of volunteer service in the community. As an active member she must serve her community through volunteer service to maintain her right to be a member of the Junior League. Members of the local League are serving in a volunteer capacity or on the board of almost every agency in the Kingston area.

The Kingston League is one of 199 Leagues with a total membership of over 81,000 in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii. These Leagues are part of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, Inc. and each League strives constantly to uphold the object of the League which is "to foster among its members interest in the social, economic, educational, cultural and civic conditions of the community and to make more efficient their volunteer service."

The material for this interfaith program is being prepared by the three major faiths, which alternate handling the program material.

Marist College Will Enlarge Its Program By This September

Plans are being formulated at Marist College ,that will further educational opportunities for student and teacher alike in the Hudson Valley.

Brother Daniel Kirk, F.M.S., acting president of Marist College, made known today that the local college, in cooperation with the State Education Department and area school authorities, is preparing a program that will lead to the certification of teachers in English, Mathematics, Social Studies, the Natural Sciences and Foreign Languages. The day and evening division will cooperate in the program's operation, Brother Daniel said that the demand for the program among students at the college has been "most encouraging."

The program itself will necessitate the introduction of new courses at Marist such as special methods, Sociology, Anthropology, and the Communication Arts; some of these may be introduced into the coming spring semester at Marist College.

The acting president of the North Road institution stated that the program includes plans to assist teachers in the Mid-Hudson area who are seeking certification in a second subject, providing the requirements of the local college are fully met.

Preliminary steps have already been taken in reference to the program's requirements with the State Education Department in Albany, especially in the areas of Social Studies, English and Mathematics. When these steps are completed, the college will expand the program to include Foreign Languages and the Natural Sciences.

Brother Daniel stated that it is the hope of the college that the entire program will be in operation by September of this year.

Education officials in the Mid-Hudson area have been enthusiastic about the plans being formed by Marist College and the State Education Department.

Beauty Hint

During the time of England's Queen Elizabeth I, a recipte for getting a beautiful complexion was to take a very hot bath and follow it up by washing the face with plenty of wine to make it fair and ruddy.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

There's a 'Why' Behind Lie Your Child Tells You

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In Somerset Maugham's story 'Miss Sadie Thompson,' you'll recall that a missionary to a tropical island meets a notorious but attactive girl. A high-minded man married to a cold fish of a wife, he is scornful of other people's sexuality as he is of his own. So he insists on undertaking to save Miss Thompson's soul. But in a climax that drives him to suicide, he discoveres that his zeal for her soul's salvation has been largly zeal for the possession of her body.

Poor Reverend Davidson was a liar.

And he lied for the reason that all of us lie, grownups and children alike: to preserve an image of ourselves as more moral, or more loving or more efficient or more successful than we actually are.

This is my answer to a reader who writes, "When do children's lies become serious? Once when our little girl told us that she'd heard some kittens talking, we did not punish her as we knew that small children lie out of imagination. But this week she denied that she had broken a bottle of cleaning fluid.

"She still refuses to admit the truth though her dress and the bathroom mat were wet with the fluid. . ."

Madam, a child who tells us that she has heard kittens talking lies because she wants to be a person who CAN hear kittens talking. And a child who lies about breaking a bottle denies the truth because she wants to be a person who CANT break bottles.

As the Reverend Davidson felt obliged to present himself to others as a man who was above sexuality, your little girl felt obliged to present herself to you as a child above the breaking of cleaning fluid bottles.

The experts who insist that children's lying is different from our lying do not help parents to understand and deal wisely with youthful falsehood.

It is only when we perceive that Janey lies for the same reason we do that her lie can lose its moral horror for us.

Then, when she lies about breaking a cleaning fluid bottle, we don't wring our hands or undertake to wrench the truth from her. Instead, we see that she has simply denied the bottle-breaking part of herself in order to preserve an image of herself as a little girl who treats bottles carefully.

So, we do not punish. We just say, "Where did you get the idea that I'm against bottle-breaking? Let's get this straight. Everybody sooner or later. . ."

McTague-Sill Wedding Is Announced Here; Exchange Vows Before Nuptial Mass Jan. 6

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM C. SILL
(Photo Workshop)

Miss Patricia Ann McTague, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. McTague of 56 Trenton Street, Kingston, exchanged nuptial vows with William Christopher Sill, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sill of 296 Broadway, also of this city, before a nuptial Mass at 11 a. m. in St. Peter's Church, Kingston on Saturday, Jan. 6. Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Theodore Schulz, assistant pastor of the Church of the Assumption, Peekskill. Father Schulz also read the Papal Blessing.

Seated in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph D. Ostermann, pastor of St. Peter's, and the Rev. John Murray, assistant pastor.

Miss Nan Goldrick was organist. Richard Scherer, tenor, sang the "Ave Maria," "Veni Jesu," and "Panis Angelicus."

White pompons and snapdragons decorated the church. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. It was fashioned with a scalloped neckline outlined with pearls and iridescents, long tapered sleeves and molded bodice. The bouffant skirt had a bustle effect in back that was trimmed in matching lace rosettes. A four tiered veil of French silk illusion was shirred to a crown of pearls. She carried a hand bouquet of white roses.

Miss Ann Lane of Ashokan served as the maid of honor. She wore a red velvet ballerina dress styled with a scoop neckline, bracelet sleeves and an apple skirt trimmed with bows. A matching velvet band of leaves held a short circular veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with red roses.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant. Serving as bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Rose Lamaro of Kingston, Marilyn McTague, the bride's sister, and Marjorie Barkley, the bride's cousin. They carried white fur muffs with clusters of red roses.

John Mellert of Zena was best man. Ushering were William Stevens of Albany, the bridegroom's cousin, Alfred Iannone of Saugerties, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Joseph Avnet of Kingston.

Approximately 110 guests were entertained at a reception given at The Flamingo.

The bride was graduated from St. Peter's School in Kingston and the Academy of St. Ursula with the class of 1958. She was also graduated from White Plains Hospital School of Nursing in 1961 and was employed by the Kingston Hospital as a staff nurse through December, 1961. Her husband is an alumnus of St. Joseph's School. this city, and Kingston High School, class of 1959. He is serving with the U. S. Army and is stationed in Germany.

When Mr. and Mrs. Sill return from their wedding trip to Virginia, they will leave for Weisbaden, Germany.

Program Outlines Given at Annual Meeting of YWCA

The Board of Directors of the YWCA convened Monday evening for its January meeting. Miss Marcia Clark, president, presided at the meeting.

Two delegates were elected to represent the YWCA on the board of the Ulster County Community Chest for the coming year. Elected were the Misses Margaret Schuetz and Mary Staples.

It was announced the winter terms for classes have started with good enrollments. Two piano classes, instructor, Ruth Burgess, meet for eight weeks; the Parents Class has the opening session Wednesday, Jan. 10 with Mrs. Gertrude Rathjen, staff nurse with the Ulster County Health department as the instructor; the swim and gym classes begin this week with instruction for adults on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Friday evenings, and for girls on Friday afternoons.

The board voted to continue to offer the use of its baby-sitting services with Mrs. Henry Eighmey in charge. Parents may leave their pre-school children at the YWCA while they go shopping, keep appointments or attend meetings. The service is available from 10 a. m. to noon on Tuesday and Thursdays and from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. on Wednesdays and at other times if a sufficient number make appointments. A nominal charge is made for this service on an hourly basis. Detailed information is available at the YWCA office.

The public affairs committee, Miss Sylvia Relyea, announced the next meeting of the committee is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 22. The topic for the meeting will be Civil Rights.

It was reported that in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth DuBois last month, the YWCA had lost its oldest member.

Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee, announced the annual Round the World cafeteria supper would be held on Wednesday, Feb. 28 at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church.

Attending the meeting were the following board members: the Mmes. Walter Danford, G. Robert Anderson; John Hill, Henry Eighmey, Henry Millonig, James Snyder, Donald Rifenburg and the Misses Clark, Jean Harvey, Schuetz, Staples, Evelyn Thomas, Frances Osterhoudt, Helen Anderson and Mrs. Eleanor Booth, executive director and Mrs. Mary D. Short, program director.

What's in a Name?

Take ours for instance. It might mean nothing at all to you. But to some folks, particularly our diamond customers, it means everything. For upon the prestige of our name, they have placed their trust. On our reputation hangs the confidence of a great many folks who have said, "Your name means Integrity to us. We know nothing of diamonds and we take your word for it that what we have purchased is what you say it is". We're so proud that we are so highly considered. It didn't come easily. And now nothing will induce us to diminish that trust in the least. We treasure it beyond all else. Wouldn't you?

Saugerties Girl Takes First Place In CYO Competition

A gold Forensic key was awarded to Miss Shelley Farrell of St. Mary of the Snows, Saugerties by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Ulster County CYO moderator, on the occasion of the second annual CYO elementary oratorical contest held Saturday, Jan. 6 at St. Mary's School in Kingston. Miss Farrell took first place in the contest. Topic was "Our Role in Influencing the World Today."

Runners-up were Miss Nancy Schordine of St. John's Church, Veteran, who received a silver Forensic key and Miss Deborah Harris of Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, a student at Academy of St. Ursula, who received a bronze Forensic key for third place.

Twelve contestants representing the various parishes in Ulster County competed for the privilege of representing Ulster County in the Archdiocesan finals in New York City next Sunday.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Ulster County CYO moderator, introduced the contestants and Eugene Loughlin and county director Leo A. Schupp were the judges.

Educational TV Is Discussed by AAUWMembersHere

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, the Kingston branch of the American Association of University Women heard Mrs. Henry J. Hund speak on the topic, "The Educational Potential of Television in This Area" in the music room of the George Washington School. Mrs. Hund is an educational television producer with the Mohawk Council on Educational Television.

After having shown a film about National Education Television, Mrs. Hund outlined the programs of educational television for adults, students; cultural programs for the community, and even in-service programs for business groups.

The Mohawk-Hudson Council has been working on educational television in this area since 1953 and consists of about 150 different school and civic groups. An educational TV station has already been approved by the FCC that will have a coverage area of about 160,000 pupils.

In closing Mrs. Hund suggested that the public might help by suggesting local school boards donate one dollar per student per year toward the support of the program and by offering suggestions and ideas after they have viewed it.

Mrs. Robert Buck, branch president, conducted a business meeting and outlined the structural organization of the national, state, and local AAUW. She also urged members to join at least one of the study groups within the local chapter: Africa, Book Discussion, Book Review, Consumer Problems, Creative Writing, Elementary and Secondary Education, Latin America, Music, Sketching, and New Developments in Science. These meet once during each month.

Mrs. Paul Prentice, hostess, was in charge of serving refreshments following the meeting.

Gore Vid al's New Play 'Romulus' Opens Tonight on Broadway; Stars Ritchard

Gore Vidal, playwright and area resident, has written an adaptation of a play by the Swiss author, Friedrich Durrenmatt. It opens tonight at the Music Box in New Yark City.

The play, "Romulus," stars Cyril Ritchard in the title role, and Howard Da Silva. It is a comedy about the fall of ancient Rome and is concerned with morals, according to the playwright who was interviewed by a leading New York newspaper.

Vidal, who is known for his two hits, "Visit to a Small Planet" and "The Best Man," is also author of eight novels, 32 TV plays and a half-dozen screen plays.

During the summer of 1961 he was associated with Hyde Park Playhouse. Area residents will particularly remember him for his excellent showing in the 1960 race for Congress. More recently he wrote a revealing article about Senator Barry Goldwater for a leading weekly magazine.

Viday's play "Romulus" is about a middle-aged emperor who raised chickens during 476

Doubling Again

MINNEAPOLIS, (AP)—If you think school was tough in your day, pity the poor scholar of five years hence. Dr. A. Richard Baldwin, research director of a farm products firm (Cargill, Inc.) estimates that man's accumulation of knowledge will double between 1960 and 1967. It will be the fourth time that man's volume of knowledge has doubled, says Dr. Baldwin. Previous times were between 1750 and 1900; between 1900 and 1950; and between 1950 and 1960.

OVERNIGHT GUESTS OF BOY'S PARENTS

Q: My daughter and a friend have been invited to a dance at a military school next month by two boys. The mother of one of the boys has written to me and the mother of the other girl, inviting them to stay overnight at her house after the dance. My husband and I will drive the girls to the boy's home and return for them the following day. I would like to know if the girls should each give a gift to their hostess or would one gift between them suffice? Also, should they take it with them or send it to her after they have returned home?

A. No gift will be necessary or expected. Your daughter and the other girl must, however, each write a bread-and-butter letter to the boy's mother when they return home.

Q: My parents died many years ago and I have been living at home with an older brother and sister. Both are unmarried. We always got on very well together and I am devoted to both of them. I am going to be married in the not too distant future and I would like to know if it would be proper to have the names of both my brother and sister on the invitations?

A: It would be unusual but not improper to have the invitations read:

Miss Mary Smith
Mr. John Smith
request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their sister
Judith Anne
etc.

Q: If there is a John Smith, Sr. and a John Smith, Jr., in a family, is the next person to be given this name John Smith, 2nd or John Smith, 3rd? There has been quite a big disagreement in our family over this.

A: If he's the son of Jr., he is "third." If he's a cousin or nephew, he would be "2nd."

KHS Graduate Has Made Recordings

GENE HEITZMAN

An alumnus of Kingston High School class of 1953, and native Kingstonian has composed two songs which have been recorded on an ASCAP record by Lew Douglas and his orchestra. The youthful composer is Gene Heitzman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Heitzman of Poughkeepsie.

The songs are "Spanish Lights," and "Sweet Marie," which were written in cooperation with Mr. Douglas who is musical director, supervisor and arranger for Mercury, Wing, Bally and Fraternity Records of Chicago.

Heitzman is an employe of IBM in Poughkeepsie. He was formerly employed by Radio Station WKNY in Kingston. He is active in the Newburgh Civic Theatre and has appeared in "The Matchmaker," "The Country Girl," "Ten Little Indians," "Heat Lightning," and "The Hitchhiker."

Junior Marrieds Hold Meeting

Junior Married Women held an auction Thursday, Jan. 4 at the YWCA. The Mmes. Bruce Winchell and Allen Kent were auctioneers. This benefit sale always adds a substantial sum to the club's treasury.

Mrs. Richard Rend, vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. William Keith, president.

Mrs. William Draper, membership chairman, announced she will be leaving and that Mrs. Edward Elbert will assume her post for the remainder of the year.

A letter from Mrs. Herbert H. Reuner was received regarding the results of the Christmas gift project. This year the club donated 76 gifts to the Ulster County Welfare Department for children in foster homes. The small gifts brought to the Christmas dinner by each member were turned over to the Ulster County Infirmary for distribution among the patients.

A letter of thanks was received from the YW Board of Directors for a gift the club has given to the YW.

Next meeting will be a covered dish supper January 18 at the YWCA.

Hostesses for the evening were the Mmes. Harry Blaber, Robert Lawatsch, John Burns and Frederick Burnett.

Ardonia Bowler Rolls First 300 Score at New Paltz Lanes

Kingston Cagers Hope For Upset Win Friday

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Can Kingston High beat what figures to be the best basketball team at Newburgh Free Academy since the 1956-57 season when the Hilly City five won their last DUSO cage title? The clubs are scheduled to play Friday at the NFA gym and the Goldies of Joe Gaspard will be entering the fray with a shiny 8-0 record.

Jack Gilligan, the Kingston cage mentor, can probably still remember that 1956-57 season, his second as head coach at the local school. The Maroon club was only 9-9 that year but they managed to upset the Goldbacks, 72-45, in a memorable game at the Kate Walton Field House. Since Newburgh lost only one league contest, you can see what kind of a team the Goldbacks were.

That DUSO triumph was the last one won by the legendary George "Lanky" Masterson. His team had nipped Kingston, 61-59, in an earlier meeting and was favored to make it two straight. However, that upset would have to rank as one of the biggest in the league and as Coach Gilligan recalls, "we did it with five players going all the way."

The situation this season is almost the same. Kingston has a lacklustre 4-3 record going into the game and hasn't looked overly impressive in any of its contests to date. The home side, meanwhile, has been rolling since the opening tilt and appears to be unstoppable.

Just the reverse of the situation could be last year when Newburgh came into Kingston and stopped Joe Uhl and Co., 68-57, after the locals had rolled over four straight league opponents.

This is Gilligan's seventh season as coach at the local school and his record against the Goldbacks is dead even—six wins and losses. Kingston won both games in 1955-56 and Newburgh captured the two in 1958-59. The other years have seen each side winning one game each.

The last two seasons, the home side has lost on its own court and won away from home. After the surprise NFA victory at Kingston during 1960-61, the locals went down to Newburgh near the end of the season and won a 76-56 triumph.

Friday night's tilt will see the home side as the decided favorite. A win by Newburgh will just about end the DUSO race for this season. It's up to Kingston to keep things interesting.

READY FOR THE BIG ONE: Scheduled to start Friday night for Kingston as the Maroon players attempt to stop the Newburgh Free Academy winning streak are Mike Ferraro (top) and John Falvey. Ferraro was an All-DUSO performer last season and is on his way to another good year. Falvey, sixth man on the 1960-61 championship club, is a rugged rebounder, good defensive player and steady scorer. The KHS five and the Goldbacks will meet at the Hilly City gym before an expected sellout crowd. (Freeman Photos)

Carl Ambrosino, 162-Average Man Turns the Trick

Carl Ambrosino, a 162-average bowler, has rolled the first perfect "300" score in the 13-year history of the University Lanes at New Paltz.

The Modena apple grower fired 12 perfect pocket shots in the middle game of his Tavern League series Tuesday night to crash into bowling's Hall of Fame.

Ambrosino, who also rolls in the Sport-Haven League in Kingston, placed all 12 balls squarely in the 1-3 pocket. On the fateful 12th shot, the 7-pin wobbled momentarily then toppled over.

The "300" followed a 236 opener giving Ambrosino a 536 double and visions of a big 700 triple. But the reaction to the perfect score set in quickly on the young kegler who slipped to a 134 in the third game and settled for a 670 series.

Ambrosino is a member of the Eichler Brothers Construction squad in the Tavern League. His "300" is the second of the season in KBA-sanctioned leagues. John Schatzel of Kingston posted one in October in the Invitational Classic.

Although the records are hazy, Preston Bennett, proprietor of University Lanes, said he believed the previous high single at New Paltz was a 289. He could not identify the bowler who rolled it.

The early closing events, for which entries close Feb. 1, include 24 at $5,000 each, 24 at $3,000 each, 24 at $2,000 each and 12 at $2,000 each. The $2,000 events will be 12 Class 24 trots and paces, 12 Class 23 Trots and Paces, six two-year-old trots and six two-year-old paces.

The $5,000 events will include 12 conditioned trots and 12 conditioned paces. The $3,000 early closers will be 12 Class 20 trots and paces and 12 Class 19 trots and paces.

The $264,000 total does not include the purses for Grand Circuit Week, June 25-30, which are estimated at $100,000.

All events will be raced in series and horses must be named in all legs of a series to be eligible to any leg. If money class events are split into two divisions, 50 per cent will be added to the purse, with horses declaring divided according to their accumulative earnings within the series.

There will be six legs of each series raced during the first five and a half weeks of the meeting, June 7 through July 14, with the remainder scheduled during the next seven weeks, July 16 through Sept. 1.

The fall meeting dates, Sept. 3 through Oct. 13, sponsored by the Orange County Driving Park Association, will provide a total of 111 consecutive nights of racing at Saratoga Raceway during 1962. Purses for early closing events for the fall meet are expected to be announced soon.

MayExtend Arizona Probation

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Arizona's probationary period may be extended and toughened today at the 56th NCAA convention.

NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers would confirm only that a representative of the school would appear before the powerful NCAA Council.

Speculation was lively that Arizona's one-year term, imposed a year ago for football recruiting violations, may not be terminated as scheduled.

Bill Orwig, Indiana's athletic director, also will appear at the closed session. Indiana was placed on NCAA probation for four years on April 27, 1960, also for football recruiting violations.

The Big Ten, which had taken similar action, restored the Hoosiers to good standing last spring and Indiana has appealed to the NCAA for a review of its penalty.

One Year Limit

When Arizona was placed on probation a year ago, the NCAA limited it to one year without additional sanctions because, Byers said, "of the corrective program undertaken by the university and its promise to take disciplinary action against the parties involved."

One assistant coach who was involved in the censured recruiting, Ron Marciniak, was subsequently rehired when his contract was due to expire. Another coach cited in the probationary report, Van Howe, resigned.

Both North Carolina and Loyola of New Orleans were restored to good graces Tuesday after a year in the doghouse for basketball violations.

The American Football Coaches Association Rules Committee was expected to make its recommendation today concerning the relatively high number of fatal injuries among sandlot, high school, semipro and college players last season.

Jack Curtice of Stanford, president of the AFCA and acting chairman of the Rules Committee, said the 24 members are inclined to feel—after studying reports dating back to 1931—that injuries run in cycles. He said, nevertheless, that thorough consideration was being given to possible changes in equipment, blamed in some quarters for many of the 37 football deaths last season.

Grand Jury Indicts Ten Men In Huge Basketball Scandal

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Ten men, including a major gambling king pin, face trial on 65 charges resulting from the nationwide basketball point-fixing scandal.

The Wake County Grand Jury returned the true bills Tuesday which mentioned for the first time games played in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament and the defunct Dixie Classic.

The action brought the number of players involved in the current scandal to 38 from 23 colleges.

Bonds of $10,000 each were set for Dave Louis Goldberg, about 46, and Steve Lekometros, 39, both of whom were arrested Tuesday night in St. Louis, where they live. They refused to waive extradition.

Each was indicted on 34 counts of actual bribery, attempted bribery or conspiracy to bribe.

Raleigh district solicitor (prosecutor) Lester Chalmers termed Goldberg a top "backer," a slang name for the supplier of payoff money in a rigged athletic contest. Chalmers said Lekometros was an associate of Goldberg's.

10 Games Listed

The indictments listed 10 games involving North Carolina State College from Dec. 5, 1959 to Jan. 7, 1961. State players Don Gallagher, Anton Muehlbauer and Stan Niewierowski were mentioned in the indictments. They were not charged.

The games included the South Carolina-N.C. State game played in the first round of the ACC Tourney of 1959. The indictment mentioned Mike Callahan of South Carolina as having been offered $1,000 to influence the game's outcome. State won 75-72. No South Carolina player had been mentioned previously in connection with the scandal. Callahan was not charged.

The State-Dayton game in the Dixie Classic of 1959 also was listed. The indictment said Gallagher was paid $1,000 to shave points. Dayton won 36-32.

Goldberg, Lekometros and Joseph Eugene Greene, Aaron Wagman, and Joseph Hacken, all of New York City, were indicted in connection with all 10 games.

Others indicted were Jake Israel and Paul Walker of New York, Frank Cardone and Morris Heyison, both of Pittsburgh, and Pete J. Martino of Biloxi, Miss.

Pioneers Rally for 60-47 Win Over Falls

Poughkeepsie High scored 40 points in the final 13 minutes of play to come from far behind and beat visiting Wappingers Falls, 60-47, last night.

The Fallsmen had a 32-20 lead three minutes into the third period. The Pioneers then started to get hot and they pulled away for the verdict.

John Flowers registered 18 points to pace the winners and Ty Elting finished with 15. He had only one marker at halftime. John Sullivan rimmed 22 for Wappingers.

The Falls team had quarter leads of 7-6, 25-20, and 36-35.

KBA Announces Tourney Dates

The Kingston Bowling Association has announced that the Feb. 10 (8 p. m.) and Feb. 11 (3 p. m.) team squads for the annual association championships have been filled.

There are openings on the 5:30 p. m. team squad on Feb. 11. Plenty of openings are available on Saturday and at 10 a. m. and 12:30 noon Sunday, Feb. 11.

Addison Jones, state committeeman, announces that the only openings for the New York State men's tournament are in March. He is accepting entries.

NFA Rally Gives Team 67-50 Win

After trailing by four points, 29-25, at halftime, the Newburgh Free Academy Goldbacks came roaring back in the third and fourth periods to swamp Monticello, 67-50, in a DUSO attraction last night at the Sullivan County gym.

Richie Scott, the backcourt ace, and forward Al Angelone were the chief factors in the eighth straight triumph for the unbeaten Hilly City five. Scott had his best showing of the season with 24 points and Angelone contributed 21. Willi Harden had 17 for the home side.

Monticello led, 15-7, and 29-25 but Newburgh moved to a commanding 46-35 margin after the third period.

The Goldbacks will face Kingston High Friday night at the Hilly City gym.

45th Straight Loss

New Paltz Gets Win, 54-45, Over Highland

Reserve Stu Glenn came off the bench in the final period to lead New Paltz Central to a 54-45 win over visiting Highland last night, stretching the losers' string to 45 straight games without a victory.

Until the heroics by Glenn, it looked as if the visitors might emerge from the long drought. They shot to a 17-6 first quarter lead and were ahead, 21-20, at halftime. It was 36-32 in favor of Highland starting the final eight minutes.

Ken Freer rimmed 18 points and Woody Osterhoudt had 15 to pace the winners. Randy Ferguson was the best for Highland with 14 points.

New Paltz has a 2-2 mark in UCAL play while Highland is 0-4.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

We seldom meet Art Hansen in Woodstock village but what the conversation invariably turns on mutual funds or bowling.

On this particular occasion it was bowling.

"What about this guy Craig Smith who's been cracking all those 600 triples?" we asked.

"He's coming along fast," replied Art. "Looks like he has the makings of a great bowler."

It was a prophetic statement. A few days later, Smith became the first bowler to break the sound barrier at Woodstock Lanes with a rousing 739 series. He did it with games of 238, 223 and 268. The latter and the 739 are all-time league records in Woodstock.

Fred Allen, the former golfer who operates Woodstock Lanes with his son-in-law, Harry Kennedy, reportedly has rolled several solos of 270 or better and 700 triples in open play on his home drives. But our informants tell us there is a wide variation between the scores Allen rolls in open competition and his league totals.

Woodstock Lanes, meanwhile, are mighty proud of Craig Smith, first man ever to roll 700 there in league action. He is a name to be reckoned with in the future.

• Tenpin Topics:

Chris Gallo's 711 series confounded critics who figured the Jones Dairy ace wouldn't make it this year. . . . Harold Broskie's 700 series at Newburgh recalls that nothing is more rewarding to a bowler than a 700 set on out of town lanes. . . . AMF has recently made the most revolutionary change in the Magic Triangle Pindicator, the unit which illustrates the pins that remain standing after the first ball has been rolled, since its introduction in 1952. The most dramatic change is the introduction of the "Sparemaker." The new gimmick is a lit arrow which indicates the path a ball should take through the remaining pins in order to make a spare. It figures to be useful to both the experienced bowler and the novice. Even the most experienced bowlers occasionally face a difficult spare combination and have some uncertainty in choosing the best method of playing it. One of the causes of this difficulty is the large number of possible spare leaves. There are no less than 1,023 leaves which can stare you in the face after the first ball. AMF engineers spent several years perfecting this item designed to make bowlers a happier lot. When they come up with the automatic 10-pin ball, they will have it made.

• Splits and Misses:

Do you have any idea how tough duckpins can be? We mean the hardwoods, not the rubber-bellied type. Well, the world's record is 542 set by Arthur Lemke of Lowell, Mass., back in 1933. One of the sport's all-time greats, Nick Tronsky, came within seven pins of the record with a 535 on Dec. 7. He did it with games of 164, 165 and 204. Tronsky leads the Connecticut Men's Major with a 133 average. . . . Sorrento's of Newburgh lead the nation's four-man teams with a 2716 series. . . . When Bert Aiello of Orangeville, Calif., tossed a gutter ball in a league series on Oct. 25 after having 11 straight strikes, he became the seventh man in history to come up with a 290 game under similar circumstances. Two men previously had rolled gutter balls after 11 in a row and four committed fouls. . . . When Bob Mergener rolled the season's high series of 835 in the Milwaukee All-Star League on Nov. 7, he missed an all-time triplicate by one pin. He had games of 278, 279 and 278. Therm Gibson holds the record with a 268 triplicate rolled in 1936 at Grand Rapids, Mich. . . . Leila Pattison, who decked 738 on Nov. 20, was the first Rochester woman bowler to roll a sanctioned 700 in 21 years. Think you have troubles? How about Betty Parrish of Tacoma, Wash., who shot a 77 game with 10 consecutive splits. All was not lost, though. She did make the 3-7. . . . Mildred Peachy, secretary of the California WBA, got her 525 series the hard way. She converted seven splits (5-6-10, 6-7, 5-7, 5-10 and 3 babe splits.

• Who's on Top?:

The loud silence emanating from Sangi's Bowlero has the curious wondering if something has gone awry in the Friendship League paradise. The faithful are accustomed to reading periodic reports extolling the Alpine squad for its heroics in leading the league year after year. But, alas, we hear that somebody is rocking the dreamboat. Elston's Sport led at the halfway mark we are told, but only the cautiously optimistic would predict they can go all the way and beat Alpine's for the crown. So, in the interest of fair play, it might be nice to have those periodic standings, regardless of which team is (or is not) leading the league.

Foss Gets New Five Year Pact

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The American Football League today voted complete confidence in its commissioner, straight-talking Joe Foss, in the form of a brand new five-year contract with an undisclosed raise in salary.

The ballot was unanimous. This meant that Foss's severest critic, Harry Wismer, president of the New York Titans, approved the ex-Marine fighter pilot ace to run the young league through 1967.

Only a few weeks ago, Wismer was publicly crying for Foss's scalp in protest of a move by the commissioner that nullified a secret draft of college players ahead of schedule by member clubs.

Wismer was on hand as the after-midnight announcement was made by the league's new president, Wayne Valley of the Oakland Raiders.

Wismer also had demanded that the league headquarters be moved from Dallas to New York.

This was defeated, in effect, when the owners voted not to revise the constitution to add Chicago as a possible headquarters to the list of eligible league cities. Nothing more came of this issue.

Foss two days ago said flatly he would "play out his option" and retire as commissioner if the headquarters was moved to New York. His old contract would have expired after 1962.

Wismer said his disagreement with Foss had been exaggerated by "some of the New York press, possibly inspired by the New York Giants" of the rival National Football League.

Wismer said he was upset by the Foss decision against the secret draft which was first announced without his knowledge.

Wismer emphasized he considers his beef with Foss over the draft matter, which was widely publicized, "as a closed incident."

The AFL bosses approved several changes:

It will be illegal for anyone to tackle a ball carrier by the face mask. (Earlier, this had been approved).

Upstate Tracks Dual Racing in New York Area

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Harness Racing Commission had before it today the request of two metropolitan area tracks to hold a concurrent meeting from April 23-June 16.

A vehement request for denial came from two Upstate plants and the Standardbred Owners Association.

Yonkers Raceway in Westchester County and Roosevelt, on Long Island have asked permission to hold a spring meeting together instead of singly, as in previous years.

The two Upstate raceways, Monticello and Saratoga, contended Tuesday that such a meeting would tie up the best horses and deprive their patrons of top notch competition, to which they've been accustomed.

"It's only reasonable to assume that we would lose our patronage to Yonkers or Roosevelt, or both, if they cornered all the good horses down here," Monticello president Frank Devlin said.

"We can compete against one or the other, but not against both at the same time."

The Standardbred owners contend that such an arrangement would violate anti-trust laws, and would be in direct conflict with an anti-trust complaint that Yonkers has instituted in court against the owners association.

But the two downstate tracks contend that a concurrent meeting would allow them a fair return on their investments in comparison with tracks in neighboring states, plus other industries in the state.

George Levy, counsel for Roosevelt, said failure to approve the concurrent meeting would force his group to appeal to the state for relief in some other form.

"We would like to try it our way first," Levy told the commission "but if this operation doesn't succeed, we will be forced to ask the Legislature to find some other way."

Saugerties 8th Grade Tops Onteora, 41-22

Saugerties eighth grade cagers toppled Onteora, 41-22, recently at the OCS court. The winners, coached by Bill Straub, led at all the quarter stops.

Johnson Gets 22

Rondout Valley Tops Pine Bush Club, 52-40

Lynn Johnson pumped in 22 points at Pine Bush last night to lead Rondout Valley to a 52-40 UCAL victory and keep the Ganders unbeaten in league play.

Rondout, Marlboro and Wallkil are knotted for the top spot with 3-0 records. It's quite a race.

With Johnson hitting from all angles, the visitors led, 10-7, after the opening period and it was tied, 23-23, at the half.

Coach Chick Meehan's club outscored the home side, 16-7, in the third quarter and this ended all doubts as to the outcome.

Dan Biedermann was high for Pine Bush with 12 points. The losers managed only 13 baskets.

Rondout Valley won a thriller in the jayvee contest, 27-20, getting the winning points in an overtime session.

Top Teams Ready for Key Tilts

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four members of college basketball's elite are involved tonight in games that in the past have developed into feudin,' fussin' and a bit of fightin.'

Foremost is the Missouri Valley Conference clash between Cincinnati (11-1), ranked No. 2 in the current Associated Press poll, and the Bradley Braves (8-2), at Peoria, Ill., a meeting that has always produced dogged battles.

In the Big Eight, fifth-ranked Kansas State (10-2) is host to Kansas (5-6). Duquesne (9-1) rated eighth, entertains tough Dayton (9-2). Bowling Green (10-1), ninth-ranked, has Mid-American rival Toledo (7-4) at its court.

A Southeastern Conference contest that promised to be a wingding was postponed Tuesday night when seventh-ranked Mississippi State, one of the nation's two major unbeaten teams, was turned back by icy roads on its trek to play Alabama.

Back on Top

West Virginia's Mountaineers are back to their old tricks, firmly atop the Southern Conference with a 7-0 mark after beating Virginia Tech 85-81 Tuesday night behind Rod Thorn's 30 points.

Southern Methodist, behind Jan Loudermilk's 26 points, took over complete control of the Southwest Conference by whipping Arkansas on the latter's court 77-70. Rice, which had been tied with the Mustangs, lost its first league game, 85-66, at Texas Tech.

SMU's victory tossed Rice into a second place tie at 2-1 with Texas A&M, 54-52 winner at Baylor, and Texas Tech. Texas' contest at Texas Christian was postponed because of bad weather.

Marquette upset Loyola of Chicago 63-60 in Milwaukee as Len Jeffries contributed four clutch points in the closing minutes.

Butler won its fifth in a row, and handed Notre Dame its sixth straight loss 83-67 at South Bend, Ind. Jeff Blue and Jerry Williams each tallied 26 points to pace Butler. Armand Reo had 24 for the Irish, now 3-8.

Jack Thobe's 24 points paced Xavier of Ohio to a tight 67-65 home court victory over Canisius.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall continued his push toward the top of the individual scoring race with 43 points in Baltimore as the Pirates raced by Baltimore Loyola 88-66. Loyola of New Orleans won over Oklahoma City 76-63 and Cornell came from a 16-point deficit to beat Colgate 73-70.

Penn State and Bucknell were tied 15 times before the Nittany Lions prevailed 61-50. Buffalo handed Syracuse its 16th straight defeat 68-66 and Rhode Island beat Connecticut in the Yankee Conference 70-63.

On the Pacific Coast, Washington State won over Idaho 65-60.

Yellow Jackets, Balotin Get Victories in 'Y' Cage League

Bob Smith and Mel Williams, a couple of former Kingston High cagers, led the Yellow Jackets to a 67-64 verdict over Trailway Cafeteria in the feature game of a Kingston YMCA Winter Basketball league doubleheader last night.

In the other attraction, Baliton bombed Byrne Chevies, 71-48, with Lee Roberts and Eddie Knight showing the way.

Williams and Smith rimmed 21 points each for the Yellow Jackets, who overcame a first period deficit to win the close game. Gary Barnes tallied 21 and sharpshooting Marty Kaye rimmed 18 for the Cafeteria five.

Baliton, which plays again tonight, had little trouble with the Byrne club. Only Walt Harder and Bruce Ruffner were able to hit with consistency for the losers, who trailed, 12-7, 26-20 and 45-31, at the quarter stops.

Roberts and Knight had 19 markers each for Balotin and two other players were also in double figures.

Wallkill Overpowers Onteora Five, 73-47

All five starters were in double figures as Wallkill Central bombed Onteora, 73-47, last night in a UCAL contest at the Wallkill court.

The defending champions were never in trouble as they zoomed to 23-10, 37-19, and 59-33, leads. Reserves played the last quarter.

John Hammond was the best marksman for the Indians with 17 points. Doug Edebohls rimmed 17, Eddie Mooney 16, Pete Sowa 12 and Larry Martinez and Dave Meyers 10 each for the victors.

Wallkill's jayvees won the preliminary contest, 35-12.

Marlboro Defeats Valley Central, 63 - 62

Steve Aurigemma made a jump shot with five seconds to play and Marlboro remained unbeaten with a 63-62 verdict over Valley Central last night at the Dukes' court.

The winning basket climaxed a well-played game as both clubs took turns in moving ahead. Coach Jack O'Donnell's cagers had a 15-12 and 34-23 margin after the first two periods. The visitors cut the lead to four points, 46-42, starting the last period and they then exchanged baskets most of the way.

Jim Woodward had 19 points and Vic Mandia 15 to pace the winners.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

NFL Will Sign New TV Pact For 9.3 Million

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League was expected to sign a new $9.3-million television contract today, giving the Columbia Broadcasting System exclusive rights to all regular season games for the next two years.

The new contract, calling for $4.65 million per year, would bring each of the 14 clubs about $320,000 after deduction of certain fees.

The contract was made possible by congressional action in late summer after a similar deal had been nullified last July by a federal judge who found it in violation of the antitrust laws. The new law permits such contracts by pro football, baseball, basketball and hockey leagues.

The NFL expected to end its three-day meetings today if a preseason exhibition schedule can be completed.

Rozelle relayed requests of the NFL Players' Association to the owners at Tuesday's meeting. He was authorized to meet with the players for further discussions.

The players association called upon the league to ask George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, and George Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, to work in cooperation with it insofar as membership by their respective players was concerned.

None of the Bears belong to the association and only a few of the Washington players.

The players also asked that pension and health benefits apply only to association members in good standing.

Syracuse Subs Defeat Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Old man Joe Graboski, an unheralded veteran of 12 years in the National Basketball Association, and Al Bianchi, another Syracuse reserve seldom in the limelight, finally had their day in court—basketball court, that is.

The two, subbing for the injured Dolph Schayes and Larry Costello, focused attention on the importance of reserve strength.

Coach Alex Hannum of Syracuse had plenty of compliments for the pair after the Nats defeated Philadelphia 129-120 Tuesday night in the nightcap of a Convention Hall doubleheader.

"The reason we won," said Hannum, "was Bianchi and Graboski —and our rebounding."

The Warriors' reserve strength couldn't match the Nats.

Graboski, a former Warriors' player scored 12 points. Bianchi finished with 19 points.

In the opener of the doubleheader, Detroit whipped St. Louis 122-113 as the Hawks had a poor shooting night.

At Indianapolis, in the only other NBA action, Oscar Robertson pumped in 33 points as Cincinnati turned back the Chicago Packers 113-106.

Spahn Is Happy Stan May Quit After '62 Season

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Warren Spahn, pitcher for the Milwaukee Braves, says he's glad to hear Stan Musial may retire after the 1962 season.

"I just want to play one year when that guy isn't around with his big bat," Spahn said Tuesday night at Houston's second major league dinner.

Spahn, winner of 309 games, was one of three stars who received awards at the dinner. The others were Musial and Mickey Mantle.

"These three men are tops in their profession," Warren Giles, president of the National League said. "At the appropriate time each will have a place in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y."

Giles was guest speaker at the dinner that drew about 1,000 guests. Houston's Colts start playing in the National League in April.

Spahn received the Dickie Kerr award for being the year's top pitcher. Musial was given the Tris Speaker award for his outstanding performance over the years. The St. Louis Cardinal outfielder holds more records than any other active player.

Mantle, the New York Yankee outfielder, won the Eddie Dyer award for being baseball's most courageous player in 1961.

Musial said earlier he plans to make the 1962 season his last. He made no reference to that Tuesday night, but he did say he is "probably a couple of years past my prime."

Y Volleyball Team Tops IBM

The newly organized Kingston YMCA volleyball team blanked a team from IBM, 3-0, in a match Tuesday night on the YMCA court. The scores were: 15-3, 15-12 and 15-13.

Making up the Y team were James Volker, Edward Minassian, Willis Locke, Robert Hillis, Gus Cunevales, Joseph Klonowski, William Boyle, Richard Little and Michael Edwards. Members of the IBM team were: Vincent Newland, Peter Hoffman, Harry Hill, Lawrence Williams, Merlin Jones and John Writnover.

A volleyball team composed of members of the YMCA business men's division will travel to Middletown on Jan. 24 to play the YMCA volleyball team there. All adult males interested in joining the business men's physical fitness classes or volleyball groups are asked to contact Physical Director Steve Orozco at the YMCA.

Writers Oppose Barred Helmets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The men in the press boxes generally don't pretend to be experts on football gear, but they're pretty well convinced that something should be done about injury-causing equipment — specifically the big, barred helmets that make a football squad look like a covey of caged spacemen.

Responding to questions in The Associated Press yearend poll, 167 sports writers and broadcasters said something should be done to protect players against the crippling and sometimes fatal injuries that became more frequent during the past season. Only 52 thought present safeguards were sufficient.

By an equally one-sided margin —162-48 — they designated the modern hard plastic helmet, with its big face bars, as the No. 1 cause of accidents on the field.

In commenting on the incidence of injuries, 69 specifically listed changing helmet construction as the first thing that must be done for the protection of players. The second suggestion was for stricter enforcement of rules against rough play, particularly against piling on a runner after he has been downed. That came from 39 experts.

Cleveland Seeks To Clinch Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland can win the Eastern Division first half championship of the American Basketball League tonight by defeating Kansas City.

But the Pittsburgh Rens still have a chance of tying and forcing a playoff Thursday night.

This situation came about Tuesday night when Cleveland whipped the New York Tapers 141-124 at Lorain, Ohio, while the San Francisco Saints surprised the Rens 128-119 in the opener of a twin Bill at Los Angeles.

In other games Kansas City, playing at home, nipped the Chicago Majors 122-120 in overtime and the Los Angeles Jets walloped the Hawaii Chiefs 140-103 in the second game of the L. A. doubleheader.

Syracuse Cage Team Loses 16th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse University's basketball team has lost its 16th straight game—although the 68-66 contest was the tightest game Upstate Tuesday night.

The University of Buffalo had to overcome a fourth-period rally by the host Orangemen, at that. A pair of free throws by senior sparkplug Nick Shosho snapped a 63-63 tie to give the Bulls a lead they never relinquished in the remaining moments.

Buffalo has a 5-3 record. Syracuse has lost 11 straight this season alone.

In other games involving Upstate teams:

Xavier (Ohio) outlasted visiting Canisius, 67-65.

Host Potsdam State handed Utica College its eighth straight loss, 68-56.

Upsala downed Rensselaer 65-56 in Troy, giving the Engineers their eighth defeat.

Cornell overcame a 16-point deficit to top host Colgate 73-70.

Hartwick slammed visiting St. Lawrence, 78-57, and Roberts Wesleyan inundated visiting Geneseo State, 106-57.

Host LeMoyne dropped Cortland, 75-55, and visiting Albany State sank the New York State Maritime Academy, 89-46. The Peds and the Middies committed a total of 58 personal fouls.

Weather forced postponement of a Brockport-Buffalo State tilt in Buffalo.

Goals of New Yorkers in Congress:

Medicare, More Defense Jobs, Tax Reforms, Main Matters

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new medical care plan for the aged, tax reform, and more defense contracts for New York firms are goals of individual New York lawmakers in the congressional session beginning today.

Some New Yorkers will support proposals for strengthened civil rights legislation, aid to higher education, money to complete a soil research center at Cornell University, money for flood control, legalization of New York's wiretap law and sale of the General Aniline & Film Corp. to private industry.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, New York City Republican, has made his chief project a compromise plan for medical care.

An aide described it as "the kind of thing that Gov. Rockefeller can support without any trouble." It combines the social security approach with key Republican principles, Javits' office said.

Javits and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, Rochester Republican, have served notice they will press again this year for more defense contracts for New York industry.

A bill they and other New York members of Congress introduced last year would provide for more competitive bidding in defense procurement.

A Senate judiciary subcommittee has said it will hold hearings this month on a bill to permit the sale of the General Aniline & Film Corp., with plants in Binghamton, Johnson City and Rensselaer, N.Y., to private industry.

The firm was seized by the government during World War II as the property of Germany.

Rep. Howard W. Robison, Owego Republican and a sponsor of the bill said he was "fairly optimistic" about prospects for House passage this year since the Justice Department favors it.

Keating plans to press again for congressional action on his bill to spell out the legality of New York's wiretap law.

He also expects to introduce an amendment to the administration's trade program to permit either the House or the Senate to veto a tariff reduction proposed by the President if either body acied within 30 days and mustered a two-thirds vote.

Other issues New Yorkers plan to press include:

Flood Control—The Senate Public Works Committee has authorized a $2-million survey of the entire Susquehanna River Basin. Robison said he wants to insure that the over-all study does not interfere with a $350,000 survey of the North Branch already underway. The North Branch study will become part of the comprehensive survey.

Tax Reform—Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, Attica Republican, plans to press for House passage of his bill to permit tax deductions for money spent on higher education.

Narcotics—Javits and Keating have suggested a federal air program to help build hospitals for drug addicts.

Soil Research Center—Ostertag has asked the Agriculture Department to seek funds for completion of a soil research center at Cornell University during the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The department awarded a $441,000 contract Oct. 25 to expand its soil and plant nutrition laboratory there but some New Yorkers want $900,000 more for a soil-water-plant relationship laboratory and $300,000 for a watershed hydrology laboratory.

Saugerties Boy Reported Missing

A 13-state alarm was issued today for a 15-year-old Saugerties youth reported missing by his parents Tuesday night.

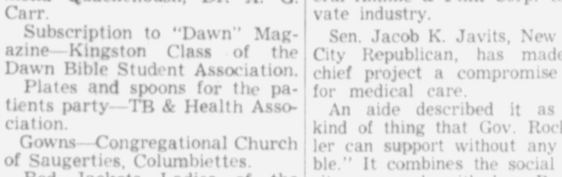

Raymond Newkirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Newkirk of Stonewall Gatehouse, Barclay Heights, was last seen by his family when he left for school Tuesday morning. A freshman at Saugerties High School, young Newkirk did not report for basketball practice after school.

The youth is described as five feet 10 inches tall, weighing 140 to 145 pounds and of slender build. He had dark blond hair, blue eyes and was wearing black shoes, dark gray trousers, blue plaid flannel shirt and grey car coat. He was reported to have no hat or gloves.

A check of Newkirk's locker at school indicated his books and other possessions were gone and it was assumed that he would be carrying them in a small brown equipment bag.

Saugerties police were checking local leads today.

Fire Company No. 1 Elects Hugo A. Schulz President

Hugo A. Schulz of Woodstock Gardens was elected president of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 at the annual election meeting Monday at the fire hall in Woodstock.

Other officers elected were: Eugene Snyder, vice president; Herbert Wyman, secretary, and Robert Rifenburg, treasurer; Chester Wolven, captain; Duncan Wilson, first lieutenant; Robert Hastie, second lieutenant; William Harder, chief driver.

The Rev. James Cook, pastor of Overlook Methodist Church, was designated chaplain.

Henry Bertsch was named a member of the Executive Board. Richard Kullman and Gilbert Glass were appointed delegates to the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Robert Breitenstein was named delegate and Eugene Koehn, alternate, to the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Convention at Tarrytown on June 21-22-23.

36 Fire Calls

Fire Chief George Haythorne's annual report listed a total of 36 fire calls during 1961. The calls were distributed as follows: Fire Company No. 1, Woodstock, 31; Fire Company No. 2, Wittenberg, 1; Fire Company No. 3, Lake Hill, 1; Fire Company No. 4, Zena, 3.

In addition, Fire Company No. 2 stood by once for Company No. 1 in Woodstock. The classification of fires was: 9 house fires, 6 car fires, 3 chimney, 12 grass and brush fires, two mutual and four emergency calls. The was one false alarm.

During the year, the amount of fire hose laid at fires was 1,200 feet of 2½-inch and 600 feet of 1½-inch and 400 feet of booster hose.

It was reported that nearly 200 children attended the special movie performance at town hall on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 23.

The company voted to attend the parade of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Convention to be held June 23 at Tarrytown and the parade of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association on July 28.

Jaycees Slate Orientation on February 5

The Woodstoock Jaycees have set Monday, Feb. 5, as the date for this year's orientation meeting. The Jaycees invite all young men in the community to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The Woodstock Jaycees were founded 5 years ago and have been a constructive force in the community during this period. Some of the many successfully completed community projects include: the community information booth, youth art competition, teen-age rodeo, Jay Teens, Woodstock post office dedication and many others.

The Jaycees motto is "Leadership Training Through Community Service." Over 300,000 Jaycees from 89 nations are presently working for community improvement. New York State, with nearly 7,000 members, has Jaycee chapters in over 140 communities. Other chapters in the area include: Kingston,, Saugerties, New Paltz, Hudson, Poughkeepsie, Wappingers Falls, Catskill, Hudson, Coxsackie and Ravena. A new chapter is presently being formed in Red Hook.

Any young man of good character, between 21 and 35, interested in improving himself and his community is invited to attend the next meeting, 8:30 p. m., Feb. 5th, at Deanie's restaurant in Woodstock. For further informaton, call Robert Carr or Robert Lindsay.

Annual Meeting Slated for WAA

The Woodstock Association for the Conservation and Improvement of the Township, Inc. will hold its annual meeting Friday, Jan. 19, at 8 p. m.

At that meeting the membership will elect three directors to succeed the three whose terms expire this month. Of the nine directors, three are elected each year. The directors whose terms expire are Alvin Moscowitz, J. C. van Rijn, and Benjamin L. Webster. Directors serving until January, 1963, are H. E. Landis Jr., and Carolyn Wilson. A vancancy exists in this class due to the resignation of Alf Evers. Those whose terms expire in 1964 are Harris Gordon, Sara Mulligan and Elbert C. Varney.

Benjamin L. Webster, chairman of the Association will make his annual report concerning the activities during 1961 and outlining a program of action for the coming year.

Institute Sets Varied Programs

The Albany Institute of History and Art announces a series of Education Programs, which include gallery tours with movies, slides and film strips on historical and contemporary subjects, art classes, special events and exhibits.

The programs are open to the public: children, adults, schools of all levels and special groups. Special programs and tours are arranged on request. Persons or organizations are asked to write Education Supervisor, Barbara Evans, Albany Institute of History and Art, 125 Washington Avenue, Albany.

The program for school classes last between 60 and 75 minutes and includes films covering such items as Netherlands and Early Albany, Colonial Living, American Battleground, Ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome, the Orient, Latin America and six films on various art masters and art forms.

Of special interest to many are the 1500 Carnegie slides which may be borrowed by teachers in the Albany area school systems. These slides survey the Arts of the United States from early Indian times through the succeeding four centuries, including visual communications and photography.

Film strips give background material on selected pictures in many fields of study: Art — ancient, middle ages, renaissance, 17th and 18th century and modern art, pioneers and colonial crafts; history — Epic of Man series, ancient Egypt and Athens, Heritage of the Maya, Middle Ages, Age of Exploration, American Revolution; miscellaneous — Northern European countries, Latin America neighbors, "Children of Many Lands" and "Christmas Around the World."

Set Bar Mitzvah For Alan Gordon

ALAN DEAN GORDON

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gordon of Phoenicia have announced that friends and members of the congregation are cordially invited to attend the Sabbath Service during which their son, Alan Dean Gordon, will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah.

The service will take place this Saturday, Jan. 13, at 9 a. m. at Congregation Agudas Achim, 24 West Union Street, Kingston.

West Hurley Auxiliary Picks New Officers

Barbara Ostrander was elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the West Hurley Fire Company at the annual election meeting in December.

Other officers named were: Harriet Craft, vice president; Joan Colemanfi secretary; and Ruth Ostrander, treasurer.

Join Lutheran Church

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Veiberg of West Hurley were received into the membership of Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, on Sunday, Jan. 7. The Veibergs are parents of three daughters — Nora, Linda and Randi.

The rickshaw used in the Orient was invented by a U.S. Marine who visited Japan in 1854 with Commodore Perry.

Does Not Store Food

Unlike many of his rodent cousins, the ground-hog does not store food for the winter. Instead, he battens on greens all summer and autumn. Then he sleeps through the cold months, resting up for another war on spring vegetation.
